Memorial Fund To Honor Name Of Late Solon

It was announced today that the family, friends, and political associates of the late H. James Shea, Jr. have decided to establish a memorial fund in his name.

Because of his involvement with the young, both as a teacher and a legislator, the monies collected will be used to educate students in the political and social processes with which he was concerned.

"The H. James Shea, Jr. Memorial Trust" will provide funds both for scholarship awards to students actively involved in the social problems of their times and for the sponsorship of lectures and symposia at local universities.

The trust will be registered with the Division of Public Charities of the Massachusetts Department of the Attorney General and will qualify as a tax exempt charity with the Internal Revenue Service.

It will have five trustees consisting of Mrs. Anita Shea, his wife, Mr. Herman Shea, and three others.

Permits NRA To Re-solicit Bids

Lower Falls Urban Renewal Hits Snag

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night turned down, at least temporarily, a rezoning petition that would have permitted construction of a $5 million state aided urban renewal project in Newton Lower Falls.

The aldermen denied without prejudice the petition of the Newton Redevelopment Authority for the rezoning of 178,000 square feet of land abutting Route 128 and Route 16.

The denial without prejudice was made to allow the NRA to re-solicit bids for the proposed office building and limited manufacturing project.

Spry Lady Turns 90 — And She Loves It

Mrs. C. Randolph Bennett of 57 Morton Street, Newton Centre, can bear witness to the fact that growing old can be more fun than anything. She has turned ninety — and loves it.

After a recent birthday celebration with her family, of son, daughter, in-laws and granddaughter, she plans to fly to Illinois for the marriage of her grandson.

Mrs. Bennett has lived in Newton Centre in the same house since 1923. "It's home!" she says "this is where I belong."

As one who was a young girl when Henry James was getting a foothold in the literary world, and her mother was wearing bustles, Mrs. Bennett can tell us the sights of the world farther back than many of us can remember.

Newton, for instance, had so many vacant lots when she moved there, baseball could be played without using the street.

And as for airplanes and automobiles: well, Newton was a quiet little town in those days. "On Morton Street, every auto that came by, we wondered if it was stopping at our house."

Mrs. Bennett was born in Roxbury, when there were huge fields between the houses, or spacious land expanses. As a little girl at the Cape, she would meet her father at the train, in her horse and buggy.

The year that Mrs. Bennett was born, Thomas Edison discovered he was well on his way to giving us workable electric light. He discovered a carbonized filament of cotton that would last for forty hours. Gas lights would soon be old hat.

Whale Bones! In Corsets! dresses sweeping the floor, hat pins, window ice boxes, and a time when NO man or youth was without SOME whiskers.

Mrs. Bennett spent her birthday afternoon, walking about her beloved Gardner Museum in the Fenway and taking in a piano musical there, listening to the

Bloodmobile At Memorial School Today

The Memorial School, at 60 Stein Circle, in Oak Hill Park, will be the location of the next bloodmobile for the Newton Red Cross, to be held today June 4th, from 1 until 6:45 p.m. It is open to the public.

The Newton Red Cross hopes that all the organizations, churches and schools in the area will send representatives, so that the blood needs of these groups will be covered. If members give, the entire organization is covered for one year.

Blood needs of our 204 Massachusetts hospitals exceed 18,000 pints a month. The usual summer holiday shortage is ahead, and we are using this opportunity to encourage donors to give.

1200 Hear Two Housing Sites Argued

Hearing Unveils More NCDF Opposition Here

Continuing heavy opposition to the controversial proposal to build 503 units of low and moderate income housing in Newton was reflected at a public hearing on Tuesday night attended by some 1,200 people.

The hearing, held at Newton South High School, marked the fourth of five nights devoted to the public airing of the rezoning petitions of the Newton Community Development Foundation, a non-profit group which seeks to build town house developments on 10 scattered sites in Newton.

Tuesday night's session before the aldermanic Land Use Committee and the Planning Board concerned probably the most controversial sites in the NCDF package — one at Goddard and Christian Sts. in Newton Highlands and one at Esty's Farm on Dedham St., Oak Hill.

The series of hearings was concluded last night at Newton High School with the rezoning petitions for Walnut St., Newtonville and Hamlet St. and Beecher Place, Newton Centre. After studying the entire NCDF proposal, the Land Use Committee will recommend to the full Board of Aldermen which must either approve or deny the rezoning petitions.

Proposed for the Goddard and Christian St. site are 53 units on 4.35 acres of land which is partially privately owned and partially owned by the city.

For the Dedham St. land which consists of 4.13 acres, 55 units are planned. Original plans for the site were revised after a series of meetings of NCDF officials and neighbors in an attempt to overcome some of the objections. The number of units was reduced from 56 to 55 and the number of bedrooms was cut to reduce the number of children that the project would attract.

In presenting the rezoning petitions on Tuesday night, NCDF President Robert Casselman said a need for this type of housing exists and he pointed to the fact

High Schools Hold Annual Commencements

1345 Seniors Graduate At Two Schools Monday

Monday, June 8, is Graduation Day at both Newton High School and Newton South High School. The two schools will graduate a total of 1345 seniors.

Beginning at 6 p.m., the Newton High School band will offer a half-hour concert under the direction of Mr. Jerry Gardner, and the outdoor graduation exercises will begin at 6:30 p.m. for the approximately 800 Newton High School seniors who will receive diplomas.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., of the Eliot Church of Newton, and the Commencement Address will be delivered by Prof. Howard Zinn of the Department of Political Science at Boston University.

Among those present will be School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith, Supt. of Schools Aaron Fink, and Mayor Monte G. Basbas who will bring greetings from the city. Mr. Howard Whitmore, President of the Newton High School Alumni Association, will present the senior cup.

Awards and presentations will be given by Newton High Principal Richard Mechem and the recipients' names will be published next week.

Elliott Baker, President of the Senior Class, will present the class gift. The housemasters will present the diplomas to the students of their respective houses.

At Newton South High School, the 545 Senior students will graduate at ceremonies to be held on the school grounds at 5:30 p.m.

A musical program will be offered by the Newton South High School Chorus under the direction of Mr. David Amer. Rev. Mr. Robert L. Griese, Lutheran Church of Newton, will give the invocation and Mr. Edwin Hawkridge will deliver greetings to the

Scouts Open Drive To Save Land Here

The fate of almost 500 acres of undeveloped, open land may hinge on the outcome of a meeting at the Union Church, Waban Village next Wednesday (June 10) at 8 p.m.

The land is owned by the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts of America, which includes boys in scouting from Newton, Weston and Wellesley.

The meeting is to introduce a capital fund drive to save the Boy Scout reservation, which otherwise may have to be sold by financially hardpressed Norumbega Council.

Known as Nobscot, the reservation is on Nobscot and Edgell Roads on the Sudbury-Framingham town lines.

Its forests, fields and streams are used by boys 11 to 18 years of age who are registered Boy Scouts and future Scouts of Norumbega Council.

There is concern that if the property is sold it will be developed for commercial purposes and lost forever as a green belt reservation.

Daley Is UF Chairman For West Division

Martin R. Daley of Newton will serve as West Division Vice Chairman in the 1970-71 Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign, according to Philip H. Peters, the West Division Chairman for this year.

As vice chairman he will organize and supervise the activities of the Community Chairmen in Natick, Needham, Newton and Wellesley.

Mr. Daley, the manager of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, has served in previous United Fund campaigns as a Loaned Executive.

He is a Director of the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts, Past Treasurer of the National Tax Association 1969 Conference and a member of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Daley, a graduate of Boston College, resides with his wife and daughter at 953 Watertown St. in West Newton.

DR. DiBENEDETTO

New Languages Director Named At College Here

The College of the Sacred Heart in Newton has appointed Dr. Ubaldo DiBenedetto, a professor of Italian and Spanish and a Cervantes scholar, as director of modern languages.

College president, Dr. James J. Whalen said formation of the new language program under Dr. DiBenedetto "was a major step forward in bringing the modern language curricula into better focus for the student who today must live in an international world."

DiBenedetto received his master's degree from Middlebury College and completed his doctoral studies with honors at the University of Madrid, Spain. He then came to Newton College as professor of Italian and Spanish.

A specialist in medieval and golden age Spanish literature, DiBenedetto is known for his recent study of the work of Cervantes

Registration June 15 For Jr. College Summer Class

Twelve different courses, some with multiple sections, will be offered in the Newton Junior College Summer Session, which starts June 15. The courses, drawn from the areas of the Humanities, Social Science, and Natural Science, will be conducted by members of the regular College faculty.

The courses are: History of Western Civilization, General Psychology, English Composition (First Semester), American Government, General Biology-Botany (With Laboratory), General Biology-Zoology (With Laboratory), College Mathematics (First and Second Semester), Preparatory Mathematics, American Literature, and Effective Speaking.

Of particular interest is a new course, the College Reading, Writing, and Study Skills Program. This program is designed to teach students the reading, writing, and study skills necessary for successful college scholarship and to help improve their attitudes toward learning.

The Reading will stress increased comprehension, reading rate, and study efficiency. Each student will apply specific skills to many types of reading materials including textbooks, reports, essays, novels, and journals. The course will be individualized so that each student can concentrate on the skills and materials he is most concerned with. Several of the skills to be presented are: phrase reading, skimming, summarizing, structuring, and rapid comprehension.

The Study Skills will include the taking of notes in class, preparing for tests, dynamics of vocational and educational selection, and the discussion of the relevance of abilities and interests to academic achievement. The Writing will stress getting ideas for writing, organizing paragraphs, and learning the grammar and usage necessary for clear, concise expository prose.

The Summer Semester is planned for high school graduates who wish to explore college level courses, reduce their first semester's load, or prepare for college instruction; for college students who desire to accelerate their degree programs or to remedy any academic conditions; for residents of the community who desire to study specific subjects at the College.

Classes will meet Monday through Friday, June 15 through July 24. First period classes will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., and second period classes will meet from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. AD laboratories will meet in the afternoon.

Registration will take place Monday, June 15, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville. For further information, call the College office at 969-9570 or write to Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the College, Washington Park, Newtonville, 02160.

The fund drive to raise $1 million to make the Norumbega Council solvent is being pushed by volunteers — scoutmasters, committeemen and others who work with troop units in the field.

They hope that persons interested in conserving the open space will contribute to the fund. Donors will receive a certificate granting them honorary "title" to a square foot of the reservation for every dollar contributed.

The drive will cover a two-year period. It is hoped that $1 million will be raised to establish a trust fund that will produce an interest income of approximately $60,000 annually. The interest income would be used to offset increasing costs of operation and maintenance of the green land.

One concerned adult, Frank A. Hurley of Waban says, "Once this land is gone... it will be gone forever."

Hurley says the reservation boasts the highest terrain in the Sudbury River Valley area, including "an historic view eastward to Boston that the earliest Indians enjoyed."

He adds, "Streams flow unpolluted, if such can happen in this day and age, and the land is as it was from the earliest ages."

"It can be kept that way, and off the auction block, if enough interested people attend the meeting in Union Church at Beacon St. and Collins Rd. in Waban, Village, next Wednesday."

Carol Talkov, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Talkov of 86 Clements road, Newton, has qualified for the dean's list at the end of the second semester at Centenary College for Women in Hackettstown, N.J.

Negotiating Since October . . . School Board, Teachers In Tentative Agreement

The Newton School Committee and the Newton Teachers Association have announced tentative agreement on salary and other matters under negotiation since last October.

The agreements, which were tentatively approved by the School Committee in Executive Session on Thursday, May 28, and are subject to a vote by the Newton Teachers Association membership later this week, call for an 8.1% increase in the basic teacher salary schedule and in the schedule of Newton Junior College teaching personnel.

Curriculum coordinators, principals and others in classified specialist roles will receive increases in accordance with the "classified" schedule previously established.

The total new money required to cover changes in salary schedules in 1970-71 is $1,095,226. Of this amount, $901,857 will be budgeted for elementary and secondary teachers, $21,585 for junior college staff, and $171,784 for additional increments of classified personnel.

Manuel Beckwith, Chairman of the Newton School Committee, states that no increase will be required in the 1970 school budget submitted to Mayor Basbas and the Board of Aldermen on April 1.

The 1970-71 teachers' salary schedule calls for a range from $7450 to $12,525 on the bachelor's degree scale, $8100 to $13,575 on the master's degree scale, $8700 to $14,425 on the master's plus one year scale, and $9300 to $15,325 on the doctorate scale. The schedule has also been reduced from 14 to 13 steps.

A plan to provide incentive for vocational education teachers without degree status to pursue further study has also been approved. This plan will cost $2500 in 1970-71.

The allocation for new merit awards to teachers is being maintained at a level of $20,000. Sabbatical awards will be reduced during the current calendar year from $80,000 to $65,500.

In addition to salary negotiations, the negotiations subcommittee of the School Committee and the Teachers Association have agreed to establish ad hoc joint study committee for differential staffing, and for the introduction of a comprehensive professional development program in the Newton Public Schools.

Also established is a committee of teachers and administrators to review periodically and make recommendations to the School Committee on classified categories of the salary schedule.

Saturday Date For Hadassah Group To Meet

Mt. Scopus Hadassah, the new Newton group will hold a barbecue on Saturday, June 6th at the Waban home of Mr. and Mrs. Rashi Fein. This will bring the years' activities to a close.

The host, Mr. Rashi Fein, will lead a discussion on the mid-east crisis. Funds raised from this function will go toward rebuilding the Hadassah Medical Center in Jerusalem. Mrs. Philip Herzog of Newton is president.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

by JANICE E. KAPLAN

The class of 1970 is in the final week of school at Newton South High. Graduation will be held on Monday, June 8 at 5:30 p.m.

Graduation exercises will be held outdoors in the rear of the Science building. If it rains on Monday, graduation will be postponed until Tuesday, June 9.

The senior prom will take place this evening, June 4. The prom is at the Independence Room of the Sheraton Boston. The dance is from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. The George Graham Orchestra will provide the music to the formal affair. The orchestra includes a rock musician and banjo to entertain the listeners.

The senior prom will be traditionally formal. However, semi-formal attire will be accepted. Gelah Bell was chairman of the senior prom committee.

Senior Symposium began Monday, June 1. Senior class explored the topic: "Individual Freedom: Threat to Survival?" Questions involving the topic included: What is the process of decision making in our present situation?

Two students from Newton South will speak on the topic of the symposium at graduation.

The first meeting of the newly formed Union was held May 21. The Union voted to loan fifty dollars to the Strike Committee as well as ten dollars to the debating team. Under the Union laws any group is eligible to become a Union Project and receive Union funds. Students in a club must find a faculty advisor.

Principal William D. Geer, Jr., recently informed the students at Newton South of his new final exam policy which will go into effect next year.

The policy calls for the final exam to be incorporated into the fourth term grade. However, if both the student and the teacher feel that a fifth grade would be beneficial to the year's mark, the exam may be weighted as one-fifth of the mark for the year.

Mr. Geer also accepted a review week to precede the final exam.

Mr. Geer's new policy was in response to a proposal passed by the Student Faculty Forum. Jessi Shohner and Steve Porter, originators of the proposal, felt that exams are not a learning experience and put too much pressure on the students. Finals presently count the same as one term of work.

Mr. Geer, however, felt that completely abolishing final exams was not possible at this time. He has been working with the department heads to compose exams which will be a learning experience.

Mr. Geer also changed the original term test to a unit test. The test will be given when sufficient work has been completed or a unit or section of the course is finished.

The fourth annual May Arts Festival was held May 13 through May 16. The strike had threatened to cancel the festival, but added hard work by many students pulled it through. Mr. Peter Atkinson, faculty advisor to the festival, was generally pleased at the May Arts Festival. More than anything else, great spirit typified the Arts Festival.

Although attendance was not quite as high as last year, it was very good. Thursday night at its peak over a thousand people were enjoying the festival.

The Festival opened Wednesday with students' poems.

That evening was one of music with the vocal ensembles, band, and concert choir performing.

Thursday night Newton South swung with the sounds of the Rock-Folk Festival. A light show accompanied such groups as the "Cellar Door" and "Band of Swine." Informal folk singing was held in the Music Room.

Art work displayed throughout the Festival was bold and uninhibited. The center of attraction was the room where students were working at their crafts. Silver jewelry, leather goods, and clay work were among the interesting creations made in the four days.

Student-created movies showed great insight and real talent. From cartoons to pollution the movies were sensitive and beautiful.

Four student-written plays had their world premieres on Friday night and repeat performances on Saturday. Dance led off the evening. Laura Garafalo and Mike Henderson performed one of the best dances to "Us." It was beautifully choreographed and very impressive.

The plays were interesting and unusual. Charlotte Crowder's "Araby" was a play of a disappointing fair. "Black Milk" by David Cohen entranced the audience with its weird plot. Acting was superb as Jed Fielding, Gerald Shrair, and Charlotte Crowder were excellent.

The third play was Steve Porter's "Someone Is Hiding in the Rain." The meaning of the play was thought provoking and open to many interpretations. The acting was excellent.

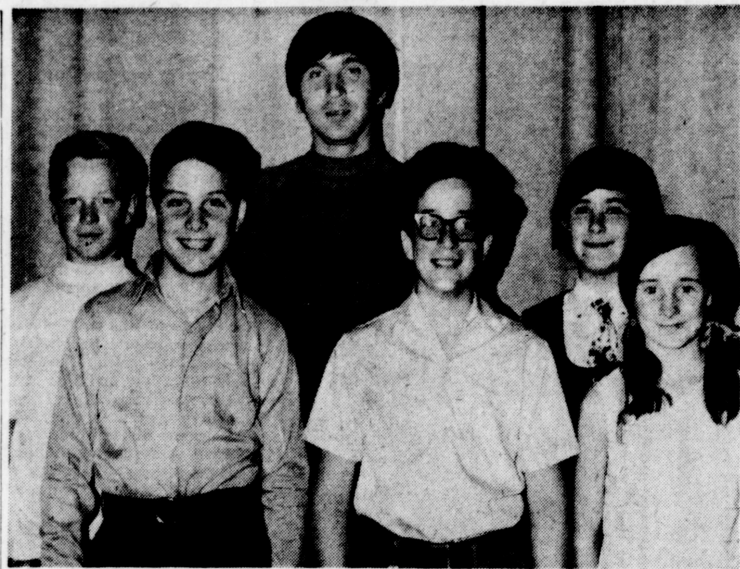

The evening ended with "The Sky's In Love." Paul Buxton's play evoked hysterical laughter from the audience. The actors were fantastic. Richie Levine as the Count of Monte Cristo, Paul Eisenberg as Superman, and Kathy Falk as Mrs. Goldshire were a great ending to the May Arts Festival.

The Newton South math team recently took part in the State play-offs. They finished as the seventh best team in Massachusetts. Joan Aron, David Simen, Andy Cohen, Neal Carpenter, and Steven Alexander represented Newton South in the play-offs.

Cheerleaders for 1970-71 have recently been chosen. Four teachers and last year's cheerleaders chose the girls for their appearance, school record, spirit, and how well they cheered. The nine chosen include Susan Charloff, Michele Gould, Marina Guidetti, Mimi Kaye, Cheryl Parker, Mal Saltzberg, Dale Sillin, Sessie Shubin, and Dana Thompson. Ellen Wallace and Donna Hopkinson are alternates. Dana Thompson was chosen captain by the squad.

Roger J. Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger J. Foley of 2077 Commonwealth Ave. and Peter Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kaufman of 115 Beethoven Ave., Newton, have been elected student marshalls for the Commencement Exercises at Bentley College. Foley is a member of the Honor Society, former president of the Newman Club and past Cabinet representative. Kaufman is a member of Beta Tau Alpha Fraternity, the Student Council and Honor and Falcon Societies at Bentley. Both men are New South High graduates.

School Marks 20th Anniversary

The entire faculty and student body of Memorial School presented a superb evening program on May 14th entitled, "A Big Look at a Small World," to commemorate the 20th anniversary of Memorial School.

The program was presented at the last general meeting of the P.T.A. at which officers are elected for next year.

A "look" at 12 different cultures from all over the world was an outgrowth of the social studies program in the school and parents, teachers and students, under the direction of Mr. Lelecas, 6th grade teacher, have been busily working out the many details.

Performances of song, dance, poetry and drama were put on by each class, showing how alike people are despite differences in color, language and beliefs, aimed toward a better understanding of other cultures.

The P.T.A. officers nominated and elected for 1970-1971 are: Arnold Lezberg, President; Eugene Black, Vice-President in charge of Program; Herb Hnecken, Vice-President in charge of Membership; Executive Secretary, Barbara Feldstein; Arthur Hersh, Treasurer.

The hospitality Committee under the leadership of Goldie Ungar and Ann Goldstein provided refreshments during the course of the evening to the children in their classrooms and to the parents and teachers in the Gymnasium creating the opportunity to talk over the excellence of the production and the pleasure it gave to all the guests.

Natural Childbirth Available at Hospital

"Now that we have had a baby this way, we can't imagine ever doing it differently. My husband had the opportunity to hold our son when he was only a few minutes old, and I will never forget the expression on his face."

"All in all, it was a wonderful, warm, memorable experience, due in part to the fact that (my husband) and I were together at a time when being together was the most natural and important thing in the world."

Mrs. L. made these remarks shortly after she and her husband became the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy. What she was praising was Newton-Wellesley Hospital's relatively new program of Family-Centered Childbirth.

Mrs. L. and her husband were one of the many couples who have taken advantage of this program which is available, together with the more customary procedure.

A year ago, it was decided to permit fathers to be present in the delivery room when the parents-to-be had prepared for the event through a course for orientation. The move was made, on a trial basis, in an effort to promote total family participation in the birth process. It was felt that the father should play a full role in the birth process and that his supportive participation could establish a most rewarding and permanently effective experience.

In the year since the new policy was instituted, reaction has been excellent. Those fathers who have chosen to accompany their wives to the delivery room have reported the experience to be a moving and exhilarating one.

Those who participated in the program were asked to give their views and reactions so that the hospital could evaluate the program.

One woman wrote, "I cannot speak enthusiastically enough about the 'Family-Centered Childbirth' program at Newton-Wellesley. I think it is a shame that so few men get to share in such a marvellous event as the birth of their child."

Another woman stated: "To sum this up, I can only say, barring unforeseen circumstances, I won't have another baby without my husband's presence. The attitude of Newton-Wellesley Hospital seems to be, 'Welcome, husbands.' The entire staff of nurses goes out of their way to make a mother more comfortable. The birth of my second child was a wonderful experience. It was made wonderful by Newton-Wellesley Hospital and family-centered childbirth."

A new father wrote, "My wife and I both agree that it was one of the most intimate relations we have ever enjoyed together. We can't thank the hospital enough for this opportunity."

And still another woman wrote, "(My husband) and I want to thank you and the nurses who assisted us in the labor and delivery of our baby. The sharing of this experience means more to us than we could ever express. There is now no doubt in our minds that our decision, late in pregnancy, to switch to Newton-Wellesley Hospital was well worth the effort."

"Thank you again and please convey to the labor room nurses our thanks for making the birth of our baby such a beautiful experience."

Newton-Wellesley Hospital has been most pleased with the results of the program.

William S. Brines, Administrative Vice President of the 260-bed teaching hospital, noted that, "When first approached, we felt that have taken advantage of the natural childbirth offered opportunity to share the more disadvantages than experience."

advantages. The extra person in the delivery room and the possibility that an unusual occurrence might cause the husband to panic and interfere are just two possibilities that concerned us.

"Today, the experience has proven that our fears were unfounded. The confidence, assurance, and co-operative participation of both parents has been complete. The resulting experience for all has been rewarding."

R. Leonard White, M.D., Chief of the hospital's Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, said, "I would like to point out that the presence of fathers in the Delivery Rooms at Newton-Wellesley Hospital is purely an optional affair, between the patient, her husband, and her obstetrician. The majority of deliveries are those in which the husband does not wish to be present. Another requirement is that the patient be either a candidate for natural childbirth, or under very light medications, so that she is awake and can enjoy it. The purpose of the husband's presence in the Delivery Room, is not to participate with his wife in the process of delivering their child. His status in the Delivery Room is to be beside his wife, at the head of the table. Both the patient and her husband can actually watch the delivery through a special mirror, if they so desire."

Although the Family-Centered Childbirth program at Newton-Wellesley Hospital has proven highly successful and has drawn praise from those who have participated in it, births taking place as part of the program are only a small minority of the total number of births occurring yearly at the hospital.

Since the program's inception, about 100 couples first approached, we felt that have taken advantage of the natural childbirth offered opportunity to share the more disadvantages than experience."

Secretary Romney Backs NCDF Plans

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney last week wrote Mayor Monte G. Basbas expressing his interest in the Newton Community Development Foundation's plan to build housing for low and moderate income families in the Garden City.

Romney maintained that the NCDF plan provides an opportunity to mix different income level families throughout the entire City instead of concentrating them at a single site. He stressed that the plan has been sponsored by a dedicated professional group concerned with planning and community involvement.

The text of Secretary Romney's letter follows:

"Dear Mayor Basbas: I am writing to you to express my deep interest and wholehearted support for the proposal of the Newton Community Development Foundation to build housing for low and moderate income families on 10 scattered suburban sites in Newton."

"Since becoming Secretary of this Department, I have stressed many of the concepts embodied in this proposal. It provides an excellent opportunity for dispersal of different income level families within the community at large without concentration on a single site. It is sponsored by a dedicated professional group concerned with planning, design, density and community involvement. I firmly believe that housing of this type will benefit the entire community. It will enable the residents of the new housing and the old to live, work and go to school with other families of different economic and social backgrounds. In this way, communities can be brought closer together instead of being separated by geographic boundaries."

"I look at this proposal as not merely an experiment for Newton, but as one having significance for other communities in the state and throughout the country. It represents a rational and responsible approach to meeting the housing requirements of the Boston metropolitan area. I realize that the road is not easy, but

Ceramic Exhibit Set For June 13

The public is invited to a preview showing of unique ceramic tile panels by Arthur Jose, leading ceramic artist of Portugal on Saturday, June 13 from 1 to 8 p.m. The gallery is located at 195 Harvard Street, Brookline, near Alton Place, 2 blocks south of Coolidge Corner.

Arthur Jose has won numerous prizes and awards. In addition to many one-man shows in Portugal, he has exhibited in international shows in Italy, Argentina and several times in Washington, D.C. This is the first showing of his works in this area of the country.

Arthur Jose is represented in many private collections and museums in Portugal and throughout the world.

Shame on These School Teachers

The classes in biology and science in many public, private and parochial schools have become a serious menace to the character development of the students.

In these classes teachers are to an increasing degree betraying their solemn trust. Their young and impressionable pupils are being subjected to the pernicious belief that experiments on live animals (vivisection) with all their revolting cruelties, their debasing effect on human character and their tendency to culminate in experiments on unsuspecting and unprotected human beings, is an unobjectionable method of so-called "scientific research," and a necessary form of medical instruction and, as such, blameless in the sight of the Creator of all life.

In fact, the actual practice of vivisection, long flourishing in many of our colleges for girls as well as boys, is increasing to an alarming degree in these schools.

This ominous situation emphasizes the truth that "Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined." To change the metaphor, we are sowing the wind with a vengeance.

The case histories of juvenile delinquents often reveal that shocking cruelties were first performed on dogs, cats and other helpless animals.

Puritans to Blame

Dr. Benjamin Spock, who became the world's best known pediatrician if not its wealthiest, as well, with his advice that parents allow their offspring to run on a loose rein from the play-pen days up, is more and more the philosopher these days.

In one of his latest bits of deep-writing he appears somewhat worried about the widespread use of language formerly considered fit only for the lowest gutter level.

He arrives at a truly Spockian conclusion. In the good doctor's opinion that filth you hear spouted at these so-called demonstrations; the sexual crudities you see flaunted on the stage; the garbage which makes best-sellers out of books which wouldn't get by the most naive publishers' readers in the old days—share a common source.

It's all due to the Puritans. Not the Comstocks of the last century; not the Nice Nannies who take root in every generation. The real Puritans who set up shop on this side of the Atlantic in the 17th Century are to blame.

Those super-good folk wouldn't understand the words that form the vocabularies of those attending an up-and-coming demonstration in the United States today. However, if they could get an interpretation they would have built more ships and in record time to take them back home.

Dr. Spock's explanation of this twist in his latter-day philosophizing is interesting.

"I think," he writes, "that Puritanism is still making us Americans uneasy even when we are going to extremes of sexual crudities in literature and drama and conversation in order to prove that we have overcome Puritanism at last."

Thus, we have the answer to a stage offering like "Calcutta." Thus, we know what forms the hep vocabulary of the bearded, hill-billy-garbed males and the unkempt foul-mouthed females who would dictate to educators and elected government officials alike how to do their jobs.

We thought some of them were the products of Dr. Spock's early-day philosophies. It appears we were wrong.

It's the Puritans who must take the blame.

Free Speech

Before the City Council of Berkeley, Calif., considering the municipal budget for the coming year was an item for the expenditure of $60,000 for the purchase of two helicopters for use by the police.

Berkeley has had more than its share of disruptions because of the geography which made it one of the major locations of the various installations of University of California. Just when it became accustomed to many of the trials and tribulations with which town-and-gown communities must live, the city found itself a development center for ultra-radicals.

It could use a little peace. Proponents of the helicopter purchases weren't thinking so much of the radicals but an all-around improvement in police operations. Honest opponents pointed out the helicopter price tag and argued Berkeley at the present time—like cities everywhere—could use a little money. In the meantime they counselled defeat of the measure in the interests of economy.

It didn't end with those two opposing factions. So-called activists declared themselves in on the act. They enlisted the aid of the ubiquitous American Civil Liberties Union which branded the use of helicopters as a brazen invasion of privacy and as probably unconstitutional.

Council deliberations were broken up by stench-bombs, screaming, packed galleries and threats of physical violence—all under the heading of free speech. Proponents got little chance to put in their side of the story.

Finally the Council got a chance to vote and it defeated the proposal by a 5-3 decision. It might have done that in the first place but even those members who were honestly motivated against the expense entailed had reason to shake their heads.

Free speech is becoming a precious commodity these days.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

"I guess I am like the chap who was riding along a backwoods trail and was caught in a storm. He kept plodding along until his horse gave out, then it grew dark. He had only the lightning to show him the trail. The thunder was terrifying, and, when one bolt seemed to crash at his feet, he fell upon his knees. 'O Lord,' he prayed, 'if it is all the same to you, give us a little more light and a little less noise.'"

There were tremendous contradictions in the last decade. We advanced in science and technology and were completely successful in making two landings on the moon, and recently were equally successful in returning to earth a crippled capsule without the loss of any of its precious cargo; we further advanced in the field of medicine to a successful heart transplant; kidney transplants occur weekly with an almost perfect score of survival of the transplantee.

On the other hand, there were the unprecedented assassinations; multiplying severity of race relations; constant unrest; uncertainty and actual disturbance; commotion and even death on the campuses; a drug plague which has expanded to contagious proportions which threatens our social structure, condemning our youth to a living hell. With the stormy sixties recorded for history, we might well inquire: "What will be the problems of the next decade?" We can only judge the future by the past.

Today many people live very shallow lives, without too much hope for a meaningful future. Social problems are certainly escalating and are not being solved. There remains a widening gulf between the haves and the have-nots. Both the educated and the illiterate are expanding. Governmental handouts are not enough. Well meaning words are insufficient, and educational programs, despite their intensive planning provide some answers, but only some.

We have resorted to program after program to solve the social ills of America, but found these plans to be unrealistic and many times insufficient; some never should have been allowed to leave the launching pad.

While all meant well, the road to hell is paved with good intentions, but the problems continue and even grow more severe.

It has been said that today, in terms of experience, a new generation is produced every five years. This new experience, along with such factors as improved teaching methods, expanded communications and an increasing rejection of accepted values, has implanted in today's young people a sense of separation from their elders.

This is what we commonly refer to as "the generation gap." In other words, it simply can no longer be said that the experiences, motivations, and ideals of the young are merely slight modifications of those of their parents.

To further complicate matters, the growing tensions of our ever-increasing complex society and the chronic lack of a constructive outlet for the vast energies of the young has produced a problem which ranks in potential with that of our other major modern difficulties.

This particular problem, however, is not one that can be avoided, put off, or assigned a low priority. For if it is, the new-found extremism which has become the refuge of a startling number of young people may become the norm of tomorrow. In this case, inaction, despite the laws of physics which state otherwise, breeds reactions.

We know from our unique national experience that what makes our system work is the willingness of its members to cooperate and work within the framework of its rules. Increasingly, today's youth find that their efforts to work within the system and to follow the regular channels of communications are thwarted from the very onset.

As a consequence, they are turning every day toward more direct and less legitimate means of self-expression. What results, of course, is an immediate response by society to punish these recalcitrants, and an excellent example of such response was the Chicago conspiracy trial.

The legality of the tactics employed by demonstrators during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, which the Chicago trial has determined, should lead none to believe that the episodes which led to this trial were not effective means of expression.

Expression, of course, which took place in the streets, expression which employed violent means, expression which broke all the rules of normal order but which nevertheless gained worldwide attention and produced a tremendous impact on nationwide politics that no leader sensitive to public opinion failed to take notice.

I am not going to suggest that these successes by young radicals are an indication of imminent revolution, but I am suggesting that the extremist method of expression is growing in popularity and effectiveness.

I am suggesting that behind the fringe element there is a sizeable mass of well-intentioned and responsible moderate youth who admire the idealism and goals of the radicals although not approving entirely of their methods.

I am also suggesting that everyday this moderate preponderance of young people is being further alienated and pushed toward extremism by the refusal of their elders to respond to the genuine needs of youth, and by the condescending and intolerant attitudes directed toward them.

There seems to be a feeling among our older and more conservative citizenry that time will cure all our problems, that we need only to wait until the troublesome and irrelevant new generation is saddled with the roles of family providers and becomes bogged down with preoccupations of furthering their social and economic status.

Then, feel these optimists, the problem will cease, the relentless need for involvement will degenerate, and the energetic and zealous drive toward change will dissipate.

Those waiting for the storm to die, however, or those who feel they can ride out this latest tremor without budging an inch are, in my opinion, in for a great surprise. Young people are rejecting the heretofore sacred values of confident materialism, organized religion, and superpatriotism with a steady vengeance.

Indeed there will be change, and all will be involved. Yet this change need not be, if we are willing to be flexible, of the sort which sweeps away institutions and replaces them with new and untried ones.

It need not be of the variety which destroys rather than preserves. It may be, if we try, the type of change which incorporates new elements within its present structure, the kind which will bring into the existing framework of society, politics and government. A new breed of energetic, educated and idealistic citizens.

I am speaking, of course, of our nation's young people between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one.

Had there been injected into the convention hall in 1968 a sufficient quantity of the youthful idealism, zeal, and involvement of which those outside were so infused, there would have been little need for the display in the streets.

What purpose would demonstrations have served if youth of the new intellectual and idealistic bent had been realistically represented inside the hall where they could have made themselves heard without resorting to such violent means of gaining attention?

Why, then, is the voice of youth heard in the streets and not in the convention hall? It is because no party is seriously considering allowing a politically and economically disenfranchised group of people to share in the process of determining its leaders.

Even those who are legally entitled to share in the election process by virtue of their age are crippled in their efforts to gain proper representation by their own inexperience and by the paternalism and doubt directed toward them by older party regulars.

In the meantime, politicians are telling this powerless group of young people on one hand to work within the system, to go through the regular channels but are denying them on the other hand the one real source of legitimate power available to the masses—the right to vote and the accompanying right to participate.

To much of the disenfranchised youth the con-

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Mayor Gets Letter

Editor of The Graphic:

Mrs. Helen Mastroianni, 91 Pine St., Auburndale, has sent the following letter to Mayor Monte G. Basbas:

"Dear Sir:

Everyone seems to be up in arms about the proposed NCDF project on River and Pine Streets. I for one am not against Low Moderate Housing when and if needed, but the parcel of land on Pine St., in all due respect to the City of Newton, belongs to the people of River and Pine Sts.

Yes, it belongs to us. I feel the city owes us a debt. We the people have lived for many a year with open dumping, fires that we lit twice a week to burn the accumulated rubbish, rats as big as dogs, bugs that resemble little creatures from the outer space comic books.

We have lived with smoke, dust, fumes and outright dirt. We still live with the Rumford Ave. dump, the incinerator, (that is always working under adverse conditions) radio tower just down the street from us.

Now that Pine St. has had a face-lifting with the new Burr School on it, and everyone taking great pride in their homes, we feel that the city should pay its moral debt to us by using this parcel of land for us.

This is a perfect spot for the swimming pool, tennis courts and park with benches that was promised to this area a long time ago.

Don't we, as taxpayers and voters, deserve at least this?

Mrs. Helen Mastroianni

Letter to Aldermen

(Following is a letter to the Newton Board of Aldermen with the request that it be printed in these columns)

Gentlemen:

My wife and I attended all of the Land Use Committee hearings last week as vitally interested residents.

We own a single family home at 21 Esty Farm Road, but we are not abutters, nor abutters of abutters to the Esty Farm site proposed by NCDF.

Naturally, we immediately opposed the building of multi-unit dwellings near us for the usual reasons of traffic congestion, lack of recreation area for children, high water table, overcrowding of the schools and the fear that property values would decline.

We were also concerned what a badly run housing project would do in this unique neighborhood and its effectivity-wide on our tax rate. However, we considered the possibility that a need existed and that sacrifices should be made to accommodate the needs of others besides ourselves.

Therefore, we went to the hearings with an open mind, to hear both sides of the issue. We were unfamiliar with many of the sites discussed, but it became apparent that supporters of NCDF were trying to brainwash people to approve their plan by stressing the ideals of helping the poor and disadvantaged while concealing the problems that plagued the sites they have chosen to have rezoned.

We were particularly disturbed by constant parade of proponents repeating conclusions without any basis in fact, figures or argument to support them. We know that emotionalism is prevalent on both sides of this issue but it seems highly suspect when the proponents must resort to innuendo, threats and lofty platitudes to gain approval of a vast housing project which will undoubtedly change the entire complexion of this City.

We have yet to hear a clear explanation of why one pilot project could not be built, and if successful, then a series of others to follow. NCDF admits that its plan has not been successfully tried anywhere in the country, and yet they insist on all ten sites or none.

Why? They cite cost as the big factor in answering this vital question and yet that does not make sense to us since a small project could be built on City owned land and there would be no cost factor involved.

We intend to attend all the hearings, and urge you (if you can keep awake during the rhetoric) to carefully listen to the defects in the particular sites and see if NCDF has overcome them or if indeed they even care. It would be a disservice to this community if you as Aldermen are coerced into accepting this program because in 1968 you approved a concept.

You are now concerned with the implementation of that concept, and how NSDF has changed it to meet the vagaries of statutory, monetary, political and social conditions.

From our study of the NCDF program this past month and a half, we feel that many of the sites are unacceptable (particularly, Esty Farm) program this past month and a half, we feel that many of the sites are unacceptable (particularly, Esty Farm) and we have lots confidence in NCDF management and the Pard Team of architects.

We urge you to protect our rights and our children's to live in a community where the quality of life is being improved and not downgraded by, denying the ten petitions for rezoning and permissive use before you.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Steinberg Newton, Mass.

Zinn Arouses Ire

Editor of The Graphic:

You have been misinformed to state in your paper (May 28, page 48, column 1) that the objection of parents to the current choice of high school graduation speaker is based on his antiwar stand. As a parent of a graduating senior, I will tell you why I object to the choice, and I believe the other parents with whom I have talked have the same reason.

In view of Professor Zinn's acknowledged position on the political spectrum, his chief claim to fame as a familiar figure at anti-establishment demonstrations, his diatribes as reported in the medium of the newspapers ("America has been a police state for a long time . . . Boston Herald Traveler, April 15, 1970), his position on violence as a means for achieving "the larger ends" of his own definition and on encouragement of student participation therein (Channel 2 David Susskind show, May 9, 1970), there is no reason to suppose that we will not be subjected to further polemics at an occasion that is not voluntary nor of a political nature.

This graduation occasion, the culmination of years of hard work by many intelligent young men and women, is not education which "involves airing of all kinds of ideas without in a setting like the school where they can be examined," to quote Superintendent Pink's comment on the choice (Newton Graphic, May 14, 1970). There will be no examination, and the ideas will be of one kind. And while the School Board chairman is piously upholding the right of the students to choose the speaker (Boston Herald Traveler, May 29, 1970) (just how many are involved in the initial choice? The vote to retain the speaker was an afterthought), he should give consideration to the primary right of the student in the school to guidance.

For such reasons the objecting parents feel compelled to speak out in rejecting such a nonrepresentative speaker as the inspirational keynote for their sons and daughters at a leading public high school graduation in the United States, and the matter cannot be swept under the rug by dismissing their protests as being against an antiwar stand.

Mrs. Blakeslee D. Wright, West Newton, Mass.

Opposes Half-Truths

Editor of The Graphic:

I have taken a position opposed to the program of NCDF on grounds of trust, aside from other objections I might have. I have felt that too many evasions, half truths and misleading answers have been given to various principled questions which have been raised.

I have also been disturbed by the tendency for positions to be polarized between the socially concerned and the rugged individualists.

If I find fault with misleading statements on the part of NCDF proponents, I similarly cannot abide opponents of the program using unsubstantiated "facts" or twisting information.

Specifically I refer to letter in this week's paper entitled "Letter to Mayor." The first of a series of points made by the writer, Mr. Burton Pike, is completely incorrect, and has absolutely no bearing in determining merits or lack of merit in program of NCDF. As a member of the Board of Directors of Temple Reyim, I participated in all the board meetings where the NCDF program was discussed.

The only position we took, as a Board of Directors, was to defeat a motion for us to act as official sponsors of NCDF.

No reasons for our position are part of the motion, and the motion dealt in NO WAY with any specific site announced by the NCDF. The motion was the same motion proposed at an earlier meeting when no sites had been announced.

For further clarification, contrary to the statement of the writer, Temple Reyim does NOT serve Waban. Its membership comes from almost every area of Newton, and from most of the surrounding towns (even using the word "serving" is not a proper terminology for our Temple).

Very truly yours, Irving Rosenbloom Newton vention and election process seems a grim hypocrisy.

The realization that here will be determined the leaders who will decide their future or whose decisions may send them to war and tax without representation only serves to deepen the feeling of mistrust and suspicion that has become part and parcel of being young.

It would seem, therefore, that it is time in this country to give serious consideration to the enfranchisement of the eighteen to twenty-one age group.

Briefing For McGlennon In Washington, D.C.

State Representative John McGlennon will be briefed on foreign and domestic issues by key Republican leaders during a 3 day conference in Washington D.C. beginning Tuesday (June 9th). McGlennon, a two-term State Representative from Concord, is a candidate for Congress in the 3rd District.

During the meeting, billed as a "1970 Republican Candidates Conference," McGlennon will meet with both President Nixon and Vice President Agnew.

President Richard Nixon will host a White House reception on Wednesday (June 10th) and Vice President Agnew will be principal speaker at a formal dinner scheduled for Thursday evening (June 11th).

Briefings on foreign issues will be under the direction of Congressman Brad Morse, of Massachusetts, Cong. Peter Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Cong. Robert Taft of Ohio.

In addition to the foreign and domestic affairs discussions, McGlennon plans to attend seminars on campaign techniques and regional problems.

Mrs. Mary Jane McGlennon will accompany her husband and attend a series of meetings relating to the role of the candidates wife in a political campaign.

State Representative McGlennon is also planning to visit with Senators Edward Brooke, Massachusetts, and Robert Mathais, R/Maryland during his stay in Washington.

Chamber of Commerce Endorses NCDF Plans

The Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce, in an official statement from Lewis B. Songer, its executive vice-president, informed the Board of Aldermen and Planning Board that it "firmly endorses" the program of the Newton Community Development Foundation to build low and moderate income housing throughout this city.

The statement of Mr. Songer follows:

"The Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce, representing more than 500 Newton business firms and at least 70 per cent of the total employment in Newton, firmly endorses the program of NCDF to build moderate and low income housing on scattered sites across the city. The Chamber of Commerce not only has endorsed the program and its goals but also in recent months has become a co-sponsoring organization of NCDF.

It is clear that a serious problem of housing exists in the community. Just one year ago this month the Chamber co-sponsored a city-wide housing conference to determine the extent of housing needs. Among the significant conclusions of the conference report which directly have bearing on the NCDF proposals are the following:

1. The private sector should be encouraged to build housing and this housing should be built at the level of approximately 50 units per site.

2. Newton should have a socio-economic mix of persons living in luxury, moderate and lower income housing throughout the entire city.

3. Newton will suffer if housing is not provided for young married couples who, quite clearly, are moving away because of the lack of moderately-priced housing.

4. Unless housing for moderate and lower income families is provided within the city, it is clear that a danger exists that the economic base of the community with respect to industry, trade and service (which together provide 86 per cent of all jobs in the community) will erode and decrease markedly.

The Chamber of Commerce recognizes the fact that Newton is a city, economically dependent upon a multitude of economic activity, jobs and services to survive. For Newton to continue as a desirable place in which to live, to work or to conduct a business we support the NCDF plan as a reasonable, viable and sound approach to help solve the housing problem which, by all measures of comparison in the past few years, is regarded by the Chamber of Commerce as Newton's number 1 problem.

Forty percent of Newton's employment is in manufacturing. Manufacturing alone in the past five years has grown 32 per cent with the result that 2,600 more persons are working in manufacturing than 5 years ago. Similarly, 2,300 persons more are working in retail and wholesale trade establishments and 12 per cent more in the service category. Overall, there has been an increase of 27 per cent or 5,729 more persons working in Newton than were employed here in 1963. In spite of wage increases, the average manufacturing employee still earns in the vicinity of $6,900. Clearly this type of employee would be eligible for NCDF housing.

The Chamber of Commerce also realizes that out of nearly 1,000 apartment units constructed in Newton since 1960 virtually all have been one bedroom or studio-type apartments. Anyone needing three bedrooms is excluded from new apartment occupancy. Single family home construction has become almost prohibitive, except for the most affluent. Where are the young couples supposed to live? The city is clearly losing the younger members of the middle class. Ultimately this is a situation where only the very rich, the very poor, or the very old can live in Newton.

Most importantly, in closing may I say this: In Newton with more than 90,000 residents, the Chamber of Commerce believes that the opportunity to work and live should not be restricted to only those who can afford single residences or luxury apartments. Nor does the Chamber of Commerce believe that Newton should expect or encourage those who work in Newton to live elsewhere. This is truly a fundamental position of equal opportunity.

League of Women Voters Elect New Officers Here

At its recent annual meeting, the League of Women Voters of Newton elected the following officers and directors to serve through May, 1972: Mrs. Walter F. Donnelly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. P. David Chernov, treasurer; and Mrs. Myer Erlich, Mrs. Edward T. Eady, Mrs. William F. Kahl, Mrs. Jay Orlin, and Mrs. Thomas E. Wolf, directors. Mrs. Bruce Fischberg was elected as a director through May, 1971. Serving on the nominating committee through May, 1971, will be Mrs. Elia Lipton, chairman, Mrs. Joseph Alexander, and Mrs. Lawrence Rubin. Continuing on the board of directors through May, 1971, will be these officers and directors: Mrs. F. Dow Smith, president; Mrs. John D. Montgomery, first vice-president; Mrs. Mark Yesley, recording secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Appelbaum, Mrs. Arthur Johanningsmeier, Mrs. Charles Lipson, and Mrs. A. Arthur Lowenthal, directors.

The League of Women Voters is undertaking a varied program of studies at the national level. There will be a study of environmental quality with an evaluation of measures to achieve and maintain a physical environment beneficial to life with emphasis on the relationship of population growth and distribution. Air quality standards will be the focus this year. Mrs. William F. Kahl will be the chairman of the Newton committee. The League of Women Voters will also continue to act on its water resources positions; support of national policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long range planning for conservation and development of water resources and improvement of water quality.

Zinn Object Of Curiosity Says Class President

Senior class president Elliott Baker of Newton High School has an explanation for the reason Prof. Howard Zinn of Boston University got so many votes to be retained as commencement speaker on June 8.

The vote by the seniors was 307 to 198 in favor of keeping Zinn, an outspoken critic of America's role in Vietnam, on the program.

Baker said, "The majority — I'd say 300 — wanted to hear what the gentleman had to say. The remaining seven voted for him because they believed in his philosophy."

"The kids at the high school are pretty politically inclined, and most know where they stand. The majority, I truly think, believed it would be interesting to have Zinn speak."

Mayor, Officials Are Waiters As Senior Citizens Hold Lunch

The Annual Newton Senior Citizens' May Luncheon was held recently at Aquinas Junior College in Newton. It was reported by Mrs. Edward Landy, luncheon chairman, that this increasingly successful event was attended by more than two hundred of the city's elder population.

Several aldermen and the Senior Citizens' Committee served as waiters for the affair, while Mayor Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of Newton, acted as honorary headwaiter.

Also present were Sister Mary Bosco, Principal of Aquinas Secretarial School, and Monsignor William J. Forster, Vice Chancellor of the Archdiocese.

Entertainment was provided by the troupe of Eddie Lyons and included Betsy Almeida, Angela Barker, Patsy Mortan, Karen Julian, Mary Ellen, and Andy Coroselli, accompanist.

Anthony J. Bibbo, Senior Citizens' Committee Chairman, stated that the Committee was most pleased with the large attendance for this affair.

In the three years of its existence he pointed out we have increased our attendance from 147 in 1968 and 177 in 1969 to 223 in 1970, despite the fact that there were other special events for Senior Citizens conducted in the community on the May 7th date.

The committee, he added, is indebted to all who worked towards the success of the event under the chairmanship of Mrs. Landy. Also the plaudits expressed by the Master of Ceremonies, Mr. James Murphy, should be echoed to recognize the following individuals as financial contributors for the event: Mr. Peter DiFoggio of the Brae Burn Nursing Home, American Legion Post 141, Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Ann Anthony, and Newton Lodge 1327.

Every man has his price.

These are ours. And you don't have to worry what the price will be after the extras. The price you see is the price after the extras. Because they're standard.

Things like heater/defroster, windshield washers, adjustable bucket seats, even a combination ignition key and steering wheel lock, with an alarm in case you leave your key in it, are all part of the car. You can't own a Volkswagen without owning them, too.

(Things like whitewalls are extra, as you might expect. But we tell you that in the *.)

A Volkswagen won't only cost you less to drive out in. It'll cost you less to drive around in.

Even the biggest VW, our boxy station wagon, averages 23 miles to a gallon of regular gas. (The sedans, even the Fastback and the Squareback, average 26.)

Even the expensive-looking Karmann Ghia (only takes oil by the pint).

And no Volkswagen ever cost anybody a cent for antifreeze.

Even with automatic stick shift the bug and the Karmann Ghia get about 25 miles per gallon. So do the Fastback and the Squareback with full automatic.

So even the VWs that cost you more to drive, out in still cost you less to drive around in.

*Suggested retail price East Coast P.O.E. local taxes and other dealer charges additional. Whitewalls optional at extra cost.

Miss Roberta Long Becomes Mrs. James R. Campbell, Jr.

At a 6:30 o'clock nuptial ceremony in the L. G. Hanscom Field Chapel, Bedford, recently, Miss Roberta Ann Long became the bride of Captain James Reynolds Campbell Jr.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James E. Long of Newton. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Campbell, also of Newton, are the groom's parents.

Chaplain Lt. Col. Philip R. Hampe officiated at the pretty May bridal. A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's Victorian gown of silk organza was styled with a front panel of Venice lace appliqued with Swiss embroidery. Her chapel length train and elbow length mantilla were edged with matching embroidered lace. She carried one large yellow throat orchid outlined with stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Margaret Barringer of Tazewell, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Nayd- Bermudez of New York City and Miss Barbara Campbell of Newton were the other attendants. They were dressed alike in empire gowns of floral screened silk styled with contrasting blue bodices.

Beth El School To Graduate On Monday June 15

The graduation exercises of the Beth El Community Hebrew School of Newton will take place on Monday evening, June 15th in the main sanctuary of the Congregation Building at 561 Ward Street, Newton Centre.

The commencement speaker for the evening will be Prof. William Schwartz, Fletcher Professor of Law at Boston University, Executive Director of American Trial Lawyers Assoc., Representative to the United Nations for Trial Lawyers Association, and President of N. E. Region of Mizrahi.

The Hebrew and English valedictorians are Hillel Ronald Alpert and Gerald Samuel Frim.

Presiding for the evening is Dr. Sumner P. Frim, Chairman of the Board of Education. Remarks by Mr. Nathan Pearlman, President of Beth El Community Hebrew School, and Rabbi Abraham Kooyk will be made.

The ceremonies will begin promptly at 7:45 followed by refreshments. All are invited to attend.

The graduates are Hillel R. Alpert, Edward A. Dier, Edward Z. Frim, Gerald S. Frim, Haskell Kingston and James Robin.

Wins Degree At Westfield

Jane Banas of 12 Marion St., West Newton, daughter of Lieut. Joseph Banas of the Newton Fire Department and Mrs. Banas will graduate from Westfield State College Sunday (June 7) with the bachelor of science degree.

She majored in elementary education. She attended schools in Newton and graduated from Newton High in 1966. She has been a dean's list student at Westfield for five of the first seven semesters and received a scholastic achievement award this year in student teaching for maintaining a straight A average. She also won honors recognition for a 4.0 average for the first semester this year.

Miss Banas will teach at the Whittemore School in Waltham this fall.

MRS. PHILIP D. BLAKE

Miss Laird-Mr. Blake Wed at Candlelight Service

At a 4 o'clock afternoon candlelight service on Sunday, May 24, in the Central Congregational Church, Miss Maryann Joy Laird became the bride of Philip Dana Blake.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dean M. Laird of 26 Whitney road, Newtonville. Mr. and Mrs. H. Bradford Blake of 76 Harding street, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Robert Harding officiated at the double ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Highlands in Newton.

Dr. Laird gave his daughter away. She wore a gown made of embroidered silk organza. The fitted bodice had a high neckline and long sleeves. She chose a full length embroidered mantilla and carried her Bible topped with an orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Marilyn Ruth Laird of Newtonville was her sister's honor maid. Miss Carol J. Larson of Somerville, cousin of the bride, Miss Jan L.

Horner of Newton, Miss Janet Fisher of Lexington and Miss Debra E. Durost of Worcester were bridesmaids. The flower girl was Donna Lee Blake of Pembroke, niece of the bride.

Robert Warner Blake of Billerica, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Bradford Wayne Blake of Cambridge, Bruce Leighton Blake of Pembroke, two other brothers of the groom, Warren Stanley Larson of Somerville, cousin of the bride, and Robert Keating Burns of Peabody.

The newlyweds left on a trip to New Hampshire. They plan to live in Newtonville.

The bride, who was graduated from Newton High School, will be a senior at the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts in the fall.

Mr. Blake is also a graduate of Newton High School. Having spent four years in the Coast Guard, which included a tour of duty in Vietnam and the Far East, he is now associated with Libon Motors in Brighton. (Photo by Westwood Studios).

MRS. BARRY STEINBERG

Miss Wendy West Is Bride Of Mr. Barry Steinberg

On Saturday, May 30, Miss Wendy Ann West and Barry Steinberg exchanged vows at an 8:30 o'clock nuptial ceremony in the Louis XIV ballroom at the Hotel Somerset in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Harvey West of 80 Farina road, Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Steinberg of Hillsdale, N.J., are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Ronald B. Gittlesohn officiated at the double ring service which was followed by a reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown. Re-embroidered Alencon lace formed the bodice, high neckline, cuffs of her Bishop sleeves, front panel of her skirt as well as the hemlines of both her skirt and train.

A matching lace Camelot cap was fastened with her cathedral length train. She carried a single white duchess rose.

Miss Susan Penny West and Miss Cindy Lou West of Newton, sisters of the bride, were honor maids. Miss Leslie Mann, Miss Carol Dana, Miss Betty Ann Blum, Miss Caryn Vigodo and Miss Claire Weisgold, all of Newton, joined Miss Erica Sagan of North Hollywood, Calif., and Miss Jane Steinberg of Hillsdale, N.J. as bridesmaids. They were costumed identically in yellow dotted Swiss gowns styled with Venice lace appliques at the waistline and cuffs.

Douglas Rossi of Hillsdale, N.J., served as best man. The ushers were Lawrence Feinberg of New York, David Chirsan of New Jersey and Larry Heyman.

The couple left for Europe where they will visit London, Paris and Rome. When they return, they will live at Windsor Gardens, Norwood.

The bride attended the University of Tampa and Chamberlayne Junior College.

Mr. Steinberg was graduated from the University of Tampa. (Photo by the Nurses).

Special "Summer Program" Helps 7,000 Children Improve Grades

WELLESLEY — A proven teaching technique that has already improved the elementary and high school grades of more than 7,000 under-achievers is launching its new summer program in this city.

Utilizing a uniquely effective educational method and a well-trained staff of certified teachers, the Reading Research Foundation Centers motivate children to become more interested students and achieve better grades. Classes meet for two hours twice weekly during the summer.

If your child has problems in school, if he doesn't pay attention, doesn't understand his assignments or doesn't like to read; if he has trouble concentrating, or seems fidgety and easily frustrated; or if he has to go to summer school to make up—the special teaching methods at your nearby Reading Research Center may be of considerable help. There are four R. R. Centers conveniently located throughout the Boston area. To arrange for a personal interview to determine whether your child can benefit from this extremely effective program, phone collect (617) 267-0390. Ask for Mrs. Price.

PROBLEM HAIR

Is thin hair troubling you? The best solution (besides brushing, massage, and diet) is a good hair style. Having your hair cut short will add curl and body and make it seem less thin.

Thick hair? A problem only if it is very curly, coarse, or frizzy. In general, thick hair is better to work with making many of the full headed or high crowned hairstyles.

Frizzy hair can be straightened. On normal hair go for a treatment about as often as you would go for a permanent and for the same reason. As hair grows out, so does the straightening.

Split ends can be caused by many things. Have a good trimming, more frequent oil treatments, and remember to brush!

Miss Roberta Long Becomes Mrs. James R. Campbell, Jr.

At a 6:30 o'clock nuptial ceremony in the L. G. Hanscom Field Chapel, Bedford, recently, Miss Roberta Ann Long became the bride of Captain James Reynolds Campbell Jr.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James E. Long of Newton. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Campbell, also of Newton, are the groom's parents.

Chaplain Lt. Col. Philip R. Hampe officiated at the pretty May bridal. A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's Victorian gown of silk organza was styled with a front panel of Venice lace appliqued with Swiss embroidery. Her chapel length train and elbow length mantilla were edged with matching embroidered lace. She carried one large yellow throat orchid outlined with stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Margaret Barringer of Tazewell, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Nayd Bermudez of New York City and Miss Barbara Campbell of Newton were the other attendants. They were dressed alike in empire gowns of floral screened silk styled with contrasting blue bodices.

Beth El School To Graduate On Monday June 15

The graduation exercises of the Beth El Community Hebrew School of Newton will take place on Monday evening, June 15th in the main sanctuary of the Congregation Building at 561 Ward Street, Newton Centre.

The commencement speaker for the evening will be Prof. William Schwartz, Fletcher Professor of Law at Boston University, Executive Director of American Trial Lawyers Assoc., Representative to the United Nations for Trial Lawyers Association, and President of N. E. Region of Mizrahi.

The Hebrew and English valedictorians are Hillel Ronald Alpert and Gerald Samuel Frim.

Presiding for the evening is Dr. Sumner P. Frim, Chairman of the Board of Education. Remarks by Mr. Nathan Pearlman, President of Beth El Community Hebrew School, and Rabbi Abraham Koolyk will be made.

The ceremonies will begin promptly at 7:45 followed by refreshments. All are invited to attend.

The graduates are Hillel R. Alpert, Edward Andler, Edward Z. Frim, Gerald S. Frim, Haskell Kingston and James Robin.

Wins Degree At Westfield

Jane Banas of 12 Marion St., West Newton, daughter of Lieut. Joseph Banas of the Newton Fire Department and Mrs. Banas will graduate from Westfield State College Sunday (June 7) with the bachelor of science degree. She majored in elementary education.

She attended schools in Newton and graduated from Newton High in 1966. She has been a dean's list student at Westfield for five of the first seven semesters and received a scholastic achievement award this year in student teaching for maintaining a straight A average. She also won honors recognition for 4.0 average for the first semester this year.

Miss Banas will teach at the Whittemore School in Waltham this fall.

Boy Scout Provides Blocks For Tots At Nursery School

The tots at the Cooperative Nursery School in Newton Upper Falls are using furniture-grade building blocks, instead of paper milk cartons, to develop manual skills. The three and four-year-olds who attend the school in the Methodist Church have been able to discard the milk cartons thanks to Eagle Scout Richard Smith of Troop 8, Needham.

Richard put together the open end blocks as his service project needed to attain the Eagle rank, after he learned the school did not have funds to purchase the commercial version of the blocks used in many kindergartens.

Richard got some early help from public spirited adults. A neighbor, Robert Gerrish had his company, Palmer and Parker, Inc., donate all long pieces for the project. They are solid African mahogany. A Wellesley firm donated oak for end pieces. Shop teachers at Pollard Junior High and Newman Junior High schools in Needham, sawed and planed the oak for him.

Then came Richard's turn and he labored 218 hours turning out the finished product. The jobs included sanding, which took more than 100 sheets of sandpaper, more than 100 countersinking operations for the 360 screw nails and all joints were glued. Richard sealed the wood with a polyurethane finish, gave the pieces a final sanding and then hardwaxed all surfaces.

When he was through, the youngsters at the Cooperative Nursery School had 28 super-grade building blocks to learn with.

Richard delivered his service project to the church on Friday (May 22). The Monday before that Richard Smith was awarded the Eagle Scout rank at a court of honor in Needham High School.

Presenting the coveted badges to Richard and five other Troop 8 recipients was former Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Then we will have surely abandoned their ideals and disregarded their rights."

Speaker-

The day before, the high school seniors had voted 307 to 198 in favor of keeping Zinn as speaker at their graduation. The vote was taken after some parents objected to his selection because of his anti-war stand.

Although unhappy with Zinn as commencement speaker, the veterans groups did not ask for his replacement. Instead, they proposed that a second speaker, one "of more moderate bent" be added to the program.

The commanders, whose organizations represent a total of more than 3,000 members, in noting their objection to Zinn said:

"We realize that the selection was made by the members of the high school's senior class, and we can think of no more democratic way of exercising a prerogative than by this type of free expression. We maintain, however, that the students have done a grave disservice to themselves in choosing an individual whose views represent a completely one-sided approach to international and domestic events and policies, not merely to a fashion but to an extreme.

"In these troubled times, when the voice of reason seems all too often stifled under the rantings and ravings of those from either end of the political spectrum, those who would either impede the growth the progress of our ideals and institutions or smash them violently under the guise of a "new freedom", it is of paramount importance that moderation prevail. Professor Zinn represents no such moderation, and makes no pretense to do so.

"In months hence, many of our young people, our children, will go on to higher institutions of learning. Hopefully, their educational experiences will prepare them to take their rightful place as the inheritors of a world that has developed and progressed through the hard work and dedication of countless generations of rational human beings, with no thanks to the irresponsible espousers of anarchy who have come to play from time to time in the procession of history.

"Also, hopefully, they will be able to pass this world on to their successors as one knowing the joys of peace, not the pains of war, so that none of them may have to know what we, their forebears, endured.

"Many of those who go on to higher education will become closely acquainted with the technique that is known as the political "teach-in", which is, in many cases, nothing more than a protracted diatribe against anything that smacks of Americanism, and possesses about the same flavor of objectivity as a Radio Peking broadcast or a Klan meeting.

"Professor Zinn has been a frequent participant in these "teach-ins" and has found a following, of sorts, among a certain narrow-minded clique of the new "culture". Of course, the lack of an opposing, or even moderate, viewpoint has made this immeasurably easier.

"Anyone with a varying opinion is generally unwelcome in this environment and, many times, either made a laughing stock or not allowed to speak at all.

"But we have been talking of our hopes and fears for times yet to come. Somehow, through all of this, sanity may yet prevail. We feel that now, while our young citizens are still learning the facts that will form the foundation for their future beliefs and actions, they should not be subjected to a one-sided presentation on issues as delicate as those facing our nation today.

"We will ignore the fact that the presentation of choices to the senior class for its vote showed, at very best, poor judgment. Choice 1, that of having Professor Zinn as previously selected by a student committee, is a very logical and appropriate one. Choice 2, that of having two student speakers, is ludicrous. What student is going to elect to hear two of his peers in lieu of a well-known "personality". Choice 3, that of having no speaker at all, is just as poor. Commencement exercises since time immemorial have been graced by the presence of a speaker, and to offer none as an alternative is an unfair and naive approach.

"It is our firm belief that a second speaker, one whose views are not of the opposite extreme but of a more moderate bent, be chosen to complement the program. We are not proposing a debate, but simply a true, representative expression of opinion on issues that are too important to be slanted. Our children are entitled to this. If we, as parents, permit them to hear only one side of the story, we are guilty of prejudice, for

All Newton Music School Elects Officers For Year

The Corporation and the Board of Trustees of the All Newton Music School met for the annual meeting recently to elect the officers and the new members.

The officers elected for the board are: George Brewer, president; Mrs. John Reichard, vice president; Keith Willoughby, treasurer, and Peter Kilborn, clerk. bids, the fact that the developer who was selected by the Newton Redevelopment Authority planned a six story building which was two stories beyond the limit placed by the aldermen and contained 50 per cent more floor area than had been specified.

The developer who had been selected by the NRA from two bids proposed to build a new home office building for the Boston Mutual Insurance Co.

The state aided portion of the Lower Falls urban renewal project is adjacent to an area slated for renewal with federal financial assistance. The land designated for the state aided project is mostly vacant.

If the aldermen had not taken some sort of action on Monday night a new public hearing on the entire matter would have been necessary since the 90 day limit since the previous hearing expired on June 1.

Bullen Named To NEL Equity Post

Jed W. Bullen of Newton Highlands has been elected vice president of NEL Equity Services Corporation (NELESCO), a wholly-owned subsidiary of New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Bullen joined the funds department of Loomis, Sayles & Company, a New England affiliate, in 1968 and moved to NELESCO with that department later in the year.

In his new post, Bullen will be responsible for the administrative operations of the NEL funds and the Loomis-Sayles funds. He also is treasurer of the three Loomis-Sayles funds and the two NEL funds.

Bullen is a graduate of Babson College. He and his wife, Deborah, with their two children, live at 11 Endicott Street.

Mark Minkin of Newton was graduated from the Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff, Nebraska, recently receiving a bachelor of arts degree.

Diane Farina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Farina of Crafts St., Newtonville, received her bachelor of arts degree from Mount Saint Mary College in Hooksett, N.H. recently. A Newton High graduate, and elementary education major she will teach in the fall. She was a member of the drama club and participated in the tutorial program at Concord State Hospital and St. Peter's orphanage while in college.

Hospital Gets More Than 115 To Give Blood

May 20 was a red letter day for blood donations at Newton Wellesley Hospital. More than 115 doctors, personnel and secretaries from the hospital's Medical Building turned out to give their blood to the Newton Red Cross, an increase of 19 pints over the amount given last year.

Specifically requested was type "O" negative blood, needed urgently for open heart surgery scheduled at Boston hospitals.

Chairman of Blood Donors Day at Newton-Wellesley Hospital this year was Dr. Arthur O'Dea, Chief Pathologist and Director of the Laboratories of Pathology. Dr. John Athans of Newton Centre, was chairman of the doctor's day.

Michaelina Lentino of Newton Center, an art teacher in the Norwood Schools, was invited to join the Theta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society (International) during mid-May.

David M. Benjamin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Benjamin of 131 Harding st., received the M.S. in Pharmacology degree during commencement exercises at the University of Vermont in May.

Lacrosse Round-Up

The Newton High Lacrosse team finished their season by downing the Exeter Junior Varsity last Saturday. The win moved the team's final record to 12 and 2. The only losses were to Roxbury Latin and Winchester. Newton and Winchester (Winchester won 8 to 7) and generally conceded to be the two top public schools in this private school dominated game.

Scoring statistics, compiled at the conclusion of the season show co-captain George "C.L. SLIM" Reynolds to be the most prolific goal scorer in Newton history. C.L. however, fell two points short of the total point record of Dean Foster, now at UMass who also held the goal record.

Last year Foster scored 23 goals and 22 assists for 45 points. Reynolds posted 33 goals and ten assists. Reynolds top game was against Newton South when he put seven shots past South netminder Gary Ross.

Reynolds, also a capable goal scorer for Coach Sarge Kinlin's sextet last winter is headed for a year or two of prep school at Mt. Hermon before attending college.

Second on the scoring list

Lee Loumos Says:

With the first hot weather in June, I hardly get a chance to answer the ever-ringing phone — let alone try to write this humble column. All I can say is happy days to those of you who have already taken care of your air conditioning needs and as for the rest we'll do our best to keep up! In spite of the shortage we started with in air conditioners this year — we still have stock on most of the important models — but for how long no one knows. Maybe this will be the year of an early complete sellout and the only thing left for me will be to finally take a summer vacation — oh yes — and happy night to you, too.

Pantomime Theatre Show At School Here June 7th

A unique children's treat will take place here Sunday, June 7, when the National Pantomime Theatre presents an "Afternoon of Pantomime" in a benefit performance for A.C.T. (Action for Children's Television).

Kenyon Martin, NPT Director, has studied with Marcel Marceau and is now on the Brandeis University faculty. He has designed a program especially for school-age children (over 4s) and their parents.

Mr. Martin, who has appeared on national television and performed extensively throughout the United States and Europe, is adept at filling the stage with imaginary clowns, balloons and dancers.

The show is at 2 p.m., June 7, at Meadowbrook Junior High School, Meadowbrook Road, Newton (near Route 9). Donation tickets may be obtained from Mrs. R. Gilbert, 103 Hunnewell, Newton. (Call: 332-0253).

Action for Children's Television, a Newton-based national organization working for quality TV for children, has over 2,000 members and supporters across the country.

Many come from the Boston area including Newton, Cambridge, Brookline, Belmont, Needham and Somerville. ACT's executive committee members (Mrs. Lillian Ambrosino, Mrs. J. Chalfen, Mrs. P. Charren and Mrs. E. Sarson) live in Newton.

Donna E. Bromberg of 135 Rosalie road, Newton Centre; Eleanor M. Hill of 69 Pine Ridge road, Waban, and Sandra M. Marcus of 308 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, were graduated from Cazenovia College in Cazenovia, N.Y. during recent commencement exercises there.

Edward H. Mara III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Mara, Jr. of 257 Chestnut st., Newton, is a candidate for the bachelor of science degree from Norwich University June 7th. He will also receive an Army Reserve commission as 2nd Lieutenant in the Infantry. He is a graduate of Newton High, and was a member of the Newman club and was on the track team while at Norwich.

Miss Arsenault Winner Of Emblem Club Scholarship

Miss Terry Ann Arsenault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arsenault, 125 Grasmere St., Newton, is a graduate of the Newton Emblem Club scholarship of Nursing in the fall. She has been very active in school, and in church and civic circles.

Newton Women Aid Success Of Farm and Garden Event

Many Newton women helped to make the annual Fund Raising May event of the New England Farm and Garden Association a success.

It was held recently at the Gore Place Coach House in Waltham and took the form of a picnic and fashion show. Clothes were shown by two Concord shops and members of the association modeled summer fashions.

Mrs. Miles N. Clair, president of Dorset Road, Waban, was applauding both her daughters, Mrs. John Stelling, and her two blonde granddaughters, Meredith and Allison, who quite stole the show modeling bright flowered bikinis with cover ups of floppy brimmed hats and fringed terry cloth ponchos, ideal for their grand parents beach in Falmouth.

Mrs. Louis E. Phaneuf of Newton Centre, more often associated with winning prizes for her beautiful flower arrangements, was another popular model showing both the ideal golfing outfit and handsome long skirt for patio entertaining.

Mrs. Bruce S. Black of Waban was busy at the table selling home made jams and jellies and Mrs. Andrew W. Edmonds of Chestnut Hill did a big business in the sale of plants, flats and the gorgeous red geraniums that decorated the tables.

Other Newtonites aiding the success of their benefit were Mrs. Joe Gerrity, Mrs. George Norton and her pretty daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Norton, Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen and former residents of Newton, Mrs. Frank A. Day and Mrs. George Willard Smith.

News Briefs from United Press International Wire Service

The World

COMMUNISTS MOVE LAOTIAN STOCKPILES INTO SO. VIETNAM

MILITARY SOURCES said Wednesday Communist supplies stockpiled inside Laos for the past five months have apparently begun moving into South Vietnam in an area that has been the scene of two days of heavy fighting. The sources cited the supply movements as the reason for massive B52 strikes early Wednesday near the Laotian border base of Tun Tavern where South Vietnamese defenders came under such heavy attack from North Vietnamese troops they had to call in air strikes on their own positions. The strategic need to protect the supply movements could also be the reason the Communists reacted so strongly to South Vietnamese forces in the area, the sources indicated. The upsurge of fighting along the border with Laos came as Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma announced in Vientiane his country would set up a guerrilla force to help combat North Vietnamese invaders but would reject any offer of troops from other nations. U.S. bombers dumped more than a million pounds of bombs on Communist supply lines.

BODY OF CBS CORRESPONDENT FOUND IN CAMBODIA GRAVE

A BODY tentatively identified as that of correspondent George Sylvester of CBS was found Wednesday in a shallow grave near the burnt out jeep in which he and his news team were riding when they disappeared Sunday. Five other newsmen traveling in two cars behind Sylvester's jeep were reported to have been taken prisoner by the Communists. But the bodies of three other men were found with that presumed to be Sylvester's. Three other men, including Gerald Miller of CBS, were believed to have been in the jeep with him when they disappeared.

OUTBREAK OF TYPHOID POSES EPIDEMIC THREAT IN PERU

TYPHOID has broken out in partly flooded and avalanche buried Callejon de Huaylas Valley posing the threat of epidemics in the wake of Peru's worst earthquake, a government spokesman said in Lima Wednesday. The presidential press office, meanwhile, reiterated a previous unofficial estimate the death toll could go to 30,000. The estimate appeared highly speculative but it was noteworthy there were only 2,500 known survivors of 21,000 residents of the buried town of Yungay, Jose Garaycochea, a Health Ministry spokesman, said the government has readied vaccine and was preparing other counter-measures to be applied as soon as rescuers could reach nearly 50 isolated dwelling places.

ARTILLERY SHELLS ISRAELI RESORT CITY OF TIBERIAS

LONG RANGE artillery firing from Jordan shelled the Israeli resort city of Tiberias and other Sea of Galilee settlements Wednesday two hours after two Arab rocket attacks smashed into the frontier town of Beisan in Israel's worst day of fighting since the 1967 war. The attack on Tiberias, a city of 23,000 on the Sea of Galilee, killed two persons and wounded four others. Earlier attacks on Beisan with Soviet-made rockets killed two schoolgirls and wounded 17 persons, 10 of them children, Israeli spokesmen said. Israeli jets struck back in waves against Jordan. Following the Beisan bombardment, Israeli planes raided Jordan, and Jordanian authorities said three civilians were killed and nine wounded.

The Nation

NIXON'S FACT-FINDERS DEPART FOR LOOK AT INDOCHINA WAR

A DELEGATION named by President Nixon departed for a first-hand look at the Indochina war Wednesday, promising an objective report and denying the mission was a propaganda ploy to support the administration's Southeast Asian policy. The group of legislators, governors and White House aides, most sympathetic to Nixon's war strategy, took off from suburban Andrews Air Force Base just a few hours before Nixon's scheduled war progress report to the nation at 9 p.m. EDT over radio and television. Bryce Harlow, counselor to the President, told reporters at the airport that the delegation would "report exactly what they see and what they hear with total objectivity." Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's director of communications, said the mission "is certainly not" a propaganda effort. He said it exemplified the administration's "open policy" and would permit the men to make up their own minds on the basis of what they see.

EXISTING SENATORIAL DISTRICTING RULED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

THE MASSACHUSETTS Supreme Court Wednesday declared the existing Senatorial districting unconstitutional and warned it might require at-large elections this fall if redistricting were not accomplished by midsummer. The House missed a chance to avert a possible constitutional crisis by adjourning for the day without voting on a motion to override Gov. Francis W. Sargent's veto of a Democratic redistricting plan that has been approved by the Senate. However, the plan fails to comply with the U.S. Supreme Court guidelines regarding the acceptable amount of population between districts. Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, D-Holyoke, said Wednesday that proposal is unacceptable. If the Senate is unable to draw up and enact such a plan by midsummer, Donahue said, the court will order at-large election for all 40 Senate seats or will redistrict the state by computer in time for the November elections.

that 1,454 city employees make less than $11,000 annually. In addition, Casselman noted that the recently released workable program reported that there are 827 families who occupy substandard housing in Newton and who make less than $6,000.

In discussing who would live in the proposed housing, Casselman said "Under federal law, NCDF could, if it chose to do so, establish a residency requirement. It has chosen not to do so, because this would defeat a very important part of the objective of this housing, which is to provide affordable housing for persons displaced, or forced out by high rentals, or excluded from the city they serve, or returning young people beginning their families, and many others on whom this city will depend for its future vigor."

Casselman declared that an appropriate method for tenant selection would be a personal interview in their homes where their sense of responsibility for their surroundings might be determined.

The NCDF president also stated that the proposed housing would not be exempt from local real estate taxes.

Several other proponents of the two sites claimed a need exists and NCDF's scattered site approach was the best means of solving the problem. They also maintained that a principle is involved.

Rabbi Edward Maline of Temple Beth Avodah in Oak Hill said, "Those who say they support a principle but not the specifics are merely blowing in the wind."

Rev. Harold Pulley of the all black Myrtle Baptist Church in West Newton, who favored the proposal, said, however, that he feared that even if the projects are built black people won't get a chance to live there.

"How do you think we feel about all this racist jargon?" he asked.

A hand count of members of the audience revealed overwhelming opposition to both sites.

Opponents decried the change in the character of the single family neighborhoods, the high population density that would result, the supposed reliability of zoning and the irreversible character of the rezoning. They also talked of the overcrowding of schools and the need to preserve existing open spaces in the city.

One resident declared that the 827 substandard dwellings in the city will be there even if the housing is approved.

Opponents to the Goddard and Christina site maintained it is a swamp and the money needed to prepare the land for construction would make the project economically unfeasible.

Mrs. Evangeline Kinchla presented a petition signed by 94 out of a possible 107 legal abutters who are opposed to the Goddard and Christina site.

Atty. L. J. Callas of Wellesley, representing the signers of that petition called the proposal of NCDF "mischievous and downright detrimental to the social fabric of the city."

Steven R. Sklar of 143 Christina St. also presented a petition with about 1,000 names of area residents opposed.

There are so many questions with so few factual answers being given," he maintained.

James D. Coletti, an abutter to the Goddard and Christina St. site, who said he has served for seven years on the Newton Police force, declared "Believe me, I'm low income." "The middle class is bearing the full brunt of other people's laziness or greed," Coletti argued. He stressed that he had personally overcome a background of poverty. "I was there and you want to put me back there," he pleaded.

Maurice Skoler, president of the Oak Hill Park Association, reported that a head count of residents of the Park which obtained the votes of 1021 people showed 266 in favor of the Oak Hill published in his book, The Three Faces of Don Quixote, for which he has received scholarly tribute both in the United States and Spain.

Dr. DiBenedetto states in his work that his purpose is to show whom Cervantes was satirizing, and to "pinpoint a remarkable similarity between historical fact and Cervantes' 'truth,'" indicating the great lengths to which Cervantes goes to establish his theory of literature within the bounds of the historical novel.

DiBenedetto holds the distinction of having prepared the most comprehensive Spanish-English Dictionary in use today, and has written a number of articles on Spanish themes.

As a hobby and avocation, DiBenedetto is a professional make-up artist, doing work for TV Channel 5, the Cohasset Music Circus, and the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company. He is also a short wave radio and electronics enthusiast, and an amateur film-maker.

Dr. and Mrs. DiBenedetto reside today in Cohasset in a home arranged to bring into their lives the beauties of the days of Don Quixote.

site and 644 opposed. There were 111 residents with no fixed opinions. A vote on the principle of low and moderate income housing for Newton in which 927 people participated revealed 481 in favor and 265 opposed.

Robert Stiller of 21 June Lane, Oak Hill, presented a petition with about 10,000 signatures of residents all over the city who are opposed to the NCDF proposals.

He said the group he represents is willing to sit down and discuss low and moderate income housing with the aldermen. They would like to see a plan that would retain existing zoning, he said.

NV Garden Club Annual Meeting Held Last Week

In the flower gardens at the home of Mrs. William R. Haney, Upland Road, Newtonville, the Annual Meeting and Luncheon of the Newtonville Garden Club was held on May 28, 1970. The regular meeting and Annual Meeting was conducted by Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, West Newton.

Members who assisted Mrs. William Haney on arrangements for Annual Meeting: Mrs. Walter Chase, Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman, Mrs. William B. Haney, Mrs. Edward Swainson and Mrs. Frederick Stevens. The Plant Sale was in charge of Mrs. Orvil F.

New Religious Radio Series Starts Sunday

A new radio series which attempts to come up with honest answers from a religious point of view for some of today's problems will be broadcast in this area, beginning, Sunday at 7:30 a.m. on station WNTN 1550 kc. Titled "The Bible Speaks to You." These 15-minute programs will be heard weekly at the same time.

The series deals with a broad range of subjects from discrimination, drugs, and delinquency to fear and the meaning of life. The question of how the Bible applies to the topic at hand is considered in each program.

The format of the series, prepared by the Christian Science Church, is a frank dialogue between a Christian Scientist and an interested questioner.

Two coming programs are titled: June 7th What is Your Income? June 14th What Overcomes Fear of the Dark? "The Bible Speaks to You" is sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Hagaman and subscription chairman for Newsletter, publication of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc. is Mrs. Robert S. Gaskell. A new member, Mrs. Florence Avery Moore was voted to membership.

RAYMOND'S TIRE QUALITY, ROAD HAZARD AND WEAR OUT GUARANTEE

All three features of this guarantee apply to the original consumer/purchaser. New Falcon tires are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and materials and against failure from blowouts, cuts, snags, bruises, or breaks caused by road hazards encountered in normal road passenger driving for the life of the original tread design. The road hazard feature excludes: repairable punctures; run-flat tires; irregular tread wear; willful damage or abuse; damage due to obstruction on vehicle; tire chains; fire wreck or collision; consequential damage or injury. Wear-out warranty will not apply on passenger tires used commercially or on trucks or taxicabs.

We will, at our option, repair or replace with an equivalent new Falcon tire any tire adjustable under terms of this guarantee, upon presentation of this guarantee card at any Raymond tire center, and the completion of our official claim form properly filled out and signed by the customer. Replacement will be provided on original tread design, depth worn off and based on the current regular selling price at time of adjustment, plus applicable taxes. As used herein, tread wear shall mean tread worn to tread-wear indicator.

We are concerned about credit cards...

Frankly, we are concerned.

Many people today are in financial difficulties, because of the use of credit cards. They have gone over their family budgets. Many can't go on a vacation this summer, because of their monthly payments. Added to these payments is the fact that they are paying up to 18% carrying charges.

Credit cards are convenient and play a role in our contemporary life. Their very convenience, however, tends to prevent us from realizing how difficult it is to meet these monthly payments, especially if we are paying monthly on our mortgage and on a car or a household appliance.

The Newton Co-operative Bank was founded 82 years ago to promote thrift. We know the frustrations of a family tied down to too many monthly obligations. We know how easy it is for a family to meet their needs by saving.

As a public service and instead of our regular advertising message, we are using this space to caution you to be careful in the use of credit cards.

Self-Styled "Revolutionaries" See Blood Flow in Streets Here

The Newton Study Group, were working to revolution - as distinguished from "just another" military coup - would need changes be brought about to give "true dignity" to the people and a "real right and opportunity" to control their own lives.

The Melvilles have given up on peaceful change in the United States and have responded to violence.

In March 1969 they invaded the offices of the Dow Chemical Company in Washington, D.C. "to spill human blood and destroy files and office equipment."

The Melvilles continued in their Open Letter to the Corporation of America: "We are outraged by the death-dealing exploitations of people of the Third World, and of all the poor and powerless who are victimized by your profit-seeking ventures. . . We deny the right of your faceless and inhuman corporation to exist."

When asked to predict the near future of events in the United States, Melville replied, "Blood will run in the streets of Newton, Boston and throughout the country by the end of the 1970s."

Most members of the Newton Study Group disagreed vigorously with the Melvilles and urged that individuals desirous of change in our society to work within the framework of current laws.

Shortly after visiting the Group, the Melvilles were sentenced to several months imprisonment for their part in destroying property at the Dow Chemical Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Public Pools Begin Summer Schedules

Newton Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney announces plans to open Gath Memorial Swimming Pool at Albermarle Road Newtonville next Saturday (June 6) at 1 p.m. providing staff is available and equipment functioning properly.

The pool has been painted, plumbing repairs are being made, and it will be filled and tested prior to opening day. The morning of opening day will be devoted to staff orientation. Mr. James Gifford, who has been the pool manager since its first season in 1966, will again be in charge, Penney said.

The pool will operate on an afternoon and evening basis for the next four weeks until public school closing with hours open to the public being 2:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. during the week, Saturday 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Sunday 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Plans call for Crystal Lake swimming area on Rogers Street, Newton Highlands to open one week later at 1 p.m., Saturday (June 13). It will be open also on an afternoon and evening basis only during the week until June 29 when full daily scheduling will start. Mr. Henry Barry will again be manager.

Commissioner Penney announced that fees for season permits and daily fees at the swim areas will be the same as charged for the last four seasons. Season permits for Newton residents will be $1 for students and $3 for adults. Individual swim sessions for those without permits will be 50 cents.

Children under six years accompanied by adults are admitted without charge at Crystal Lake and to the wading pool at Gath Pool. Resident senior citizens

The Biggest Roast Beef in Boston

You'd better believe it.
We've hired us a carver with strong wrists, a sharp knife, and an honest eye.

And here's what keeps him honest. If he ever once carves you a slice of roast beef that weighs less than a pound and a half, you get a second slice free. And he's in deep trouble.

So he makes sure every juicy, succulent slice completely covers the big, oversize platter it's served on.

Here's what comes with your roast beef: a nice big salad, ice cold and crisp. A nice big baked potato with sour cream. Your choice of vegetables. And a golden Yorkshire popover swimming in butter. It's not so much a dinner as a challenge. A roast beef lover's Everest.

Meet that challenge tonight, why not? Just because it's there.

Call Frederick for reservations.

South Lions Place Two On All Suburban Team

Newton South High juniors Rich Lerner and Clem Virgilio were named to the All-Suburban baseball team last week.

Lerner is a catcher who converted from the outfield, a spot where he saw considerable action as a sophomore. He batted .262, knocked in eight runs and scored nine, including two game-winners. He fielded at a .985 clip.

Outfielder Clem Virgilio, a stand-out hockey player, in addition to his baseball talents swatted away at enemy pitching at a .294 rate.

He accumulated 15 RBIs and six stolen bases. He also made two appearances as a pitcher, collecting two wins and compiling an impressive 0.84 ERA. Virgilio made only one error in the field through 16 games.

LASELL VICTORS RECEIVE CUP — William R. Tiesel, left, general manager of the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton, presents the giant gold Marriott Cup to the captain of the winning team in the recent annual River Day program for Lasell Junior College. Accepting on behalf of her canoe crew is Patty Freese with Muriel R. McClelland of Newton, director of athletics at Lasell for 41 years, participating in the presentation. The Marriott Cup, properly inscribed with the name of this year's winning team, Karandon House, will be presented annually to the top crew of Lasell's yearly canoe races on the Charles with the addition of the winning crew. The cup will remain in the Lasell Trophy Room.

Kates In All-Class Track Event; Kojoyian Sets Mark

Newton South track captain Rich Kates leaped 5-10 in the high jump to claim fourth place in the state high school class A championship meet, last week at White Stadium.

Kates was South's only qualifier for the finals. This marked the second medal won by Kates this year in his specialty. In the indoor championships he was fourth in Class B. His best jump came last Saturday in the qualifying round when he cleared 5-11.

Kates advances to the all-class meet this Saturday, also to be held at White Stadium.

On Thursday of last week South wracked up 15 points in the Suburban League track championships, finishing in a fifth place tie in the ten-team league.

The Lions had no individual winners and scored no second-place points, but had point-scorers in six events.

Kates earned a third-place medal in the long jump for a total of two in the week. Junior Aramen Kojoyian placed third in the discus, topping the 130-foot mark for the third meet in a row. In addition, versatile Dave Peters skinned the 180 lows in third place.

Sophomore Roger Cooper heaved the 12-pound shot 45-10-1/2 for a personal record, a fourth place medal and two points.

John Seeler sped to a 53.5, 440 for a fifth place medal and his best time of the season for a point and senior

Ron Schneider regained his school record in the triple jump with a leap of 40-3/4 for third-place and an 18-3/4 inch improvement on his lifetime best.

Schneider, South's original triple jump recordholder, last year, at 38-6 had not bettered the mark this spring. Steve Sahl, meanwhile, with some sideline coaching from Schneider had improved in literal leaps and bounds and had gone from a 34-9 best to 38-11 1/2 and the record in a single week.

Schneider had only two meets remaining to regain his record and made the most of them, upping it by over a foot.

On Tuesday, South completed its final dual meet of the season and its history in the Suburban League by losing to undefeated champion Brockton, 100-40. Next year, the Newton South sports teams will move into the Dual County League.

Despite the score there were still some high points for the Lions, the most notable being the new school discus mark set by junior Aramen Kojoyian. Kojoyian spun the disc 138-6-1/2 to erase the old record of 136 feet by Len Abrams in 1968. This spring was Kojoyian's first effort with the discus and he should improve his mark next year with more experience.

South had only three more winners in Kates at 5-6 in the high jump. Schneider, 37-11 1/2 in the triple jump and Peters who lowered his fastest time in the 120 low hurdles to 14.3.

Kates also registered a second in the 120 highs with a good time of 16.9. Peters chalked up three more points in the long jump to go with his hurdle win.

Other seconds came from Cooper with his best shot throw of 46.5 1/2, Chuck Pottey, 10:28 in the 2-mile, Steve Sahl a tie in the triple jump and Mike McKinney, also tying in the high jump.

Third-place points came from Dave Edelstein, backing up Peters in the low hurdles. Al Wattine in the 220, John Seeler in the 440 and Steve Hall in the pole vault.

Suburban League distance aces Dave Sylvia and Bob Caton both of New Bedford turned in two of the most outstanding performances in the state meet, last week. Sylvia captured the mile in 4:22.4 and Caton took the 2-mile in a swift 9:25.2.

Other outstanding marks came from Ray "Skip" Fawson of Newton with a 20.0 low hurdles 184-1 javelin double in Class A; Kurt Williams of Catholic Memorial in the B high jump at 6-4; Leon Sharpe, Andover, with all class triple jump record of 45-5 in Class B and a 10.1 class record-tying 100; Van DeBose, Andover, 14.8 in the 120 highs (Class B) record and Bob Connolly of Stoughton with a 4:20.7 mile, also for a B record.

Jon Barnecott of Norwell took the E long jump and set a low hurdle mark of 20.3.

League records in the Suburban championships went to Steve Scrimshaw of Newton in the triple jump at 41-6 1/4, Paul Mandernio, Arlington, shot-put in 57-9-1/2 and Barry Santini, also of Arlington, 14.6 in the 120 high hurdles.

Skip Fawson broke his own league 120-yard low hurdles record of 13.9 with a 13.5 clocking in the season's final dual meet.

Newton South finished in a sixth place tie with Waltham and Brookline during the regular season with a 3-6 mark, and in a tie for fifth with Weymouth in the league meet.

Scholarship For $1000 Granted To Technical High

The Directors of ITT Technical Institute, Boston have announced that a $1000 Scholarship has been granted to Newton Technical High School, Newtonville.

The purpose of the scholarship, according to C.H. Feistkorn, Regional Director of ITT Educational Services, Division of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, is to encourage more young men to enter the technical/vocational career fields.

Winner of the $1000 Scholarship, a male member of the 1970 graduating class, will be determined by members of the local school faculty.

The scholarship fund may be used by the winner for training at ITT Technical Institute, Boston, and applied as tuition toward any of the full-time day programs, in winner's choice of Electronic Engineering, Tool Engineering, or Architectural Engineering.

Further information about this scholarship may be obtained by contacting the local high school's guidance department, or by writing directly to Scholarship, ITT Technical Institute, 985 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02215.

Tigers Suburban Kings By Half-Point; Bow In State

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High Track Team put on a fantastic show, winning five events but fell to Needham 35 to 33 last Saturday in the Class A State Meet held at White Stadium. Indoor champion Lexington was third with 28 points.

It was the best Newton showing since 1968 when the Tigers finished third behind Weymouth and Boston College High. The margin between first and third was only a point and a half that year.

The incredible part about Newton's performance yesterday was that over half of their nine qualifiers were involved in a win. But Needham, who qualified twelve won by picking up seconds, thirds and fourths in addition to winning two events.

Although there are always many points in a meet where the difference between winning and losing can be pinpointed, this was particularly true in the triple jump.

Going into the final flight of jumps Needham's Ted Snyder had wrapped up the competition with a Class A record of 43'5". Newton co-captain Steve Scrimshaw held second with a jump of 41'11-1/2" and Needham's Dave Dusek was third.

Scrimshaw was unable to improve and Dusek leaped 42'2" to gain second by three inches. Needham gained ten points from this event and if the decision was reversed the meet would have ended in a tie.

Newton's first victory came in the javelin as Ray Fawson hurled the javelin 184'11". This throw topped all throws in the five classes and therefore Fawson has to be rated the favorite's role in next week's All State Meet.

On the track New Bedford's Steve Caton, only a junior won the two mile in an excellent 9:25.2 clocking but Needham's Paul Keating picked up four points for his second.

In the quarter mile Scrimshaw put on a fantastic kick to win and tie his school record time of 50.1. Through the first half of the race Scrimshaw hung back in fifth.

Coming into the final 130 yard straightaway Scrimshaw was seemingly boxed but all of a sudden came straight up the middle, passing runners on his left and right until 60 yards from the tape he went right between Weymouth's Kevin Dunn and Bill Teasdale who had formerly been fighting for the lead and held them off to the tape.

Needham's Bob Williams, coming up in Scrimshaw's wake nipped Dunn for second as the tired Teasdale, who had led from the outset faded to fifth.

The half mile was a Needham bonanza as Tom Blumer and Jack Davis were 1.4 for eight points. Blumer's winning time was 1:58.

The low hurdles were next and Fawson became Newton's first modern day State Meet double winner in 20.0. Fawson's time in this event was also the best of any class and he stands the distinct chance of becoming a double winner in the All State Meet.

Newton picked up six more points almost immediately as Alan Boyer sprinted to a 22.0 decision in the 220. Needham's Phil Massey managed a fifth however. In the 100 Needham scored two points as John Knox was fourth.

Going into the mile, the next to last event of the day Newton was down by four but Needham had two qualifiers for the event including the fastest qualifier, Steve Young.

Anything above a fourth would have put NHS out of contention but Dave Sylvia of New Bedford in 4:22.4, Kevin Hartford of Lexington, Paul Ciano of Quincy and John Desmond of Boston College High all obliged and Young finished fifth.

In the relay Alan Boyer led off and handed Skip Fawson a slight lead which he lost.

Fawson handed the baton to junior Jim Doolin five yards arrears and Doolin closed that to three as he handed the stick to Scrimshaw for the final leg.

Long blond hair streaming, Scrimshaw took off and destroyed Attleboro anchorman Bill Travers to carry the Newton team to their fifth win of the afternoon. Needham was third however, to secure the first place trophy.

After Lexington was Attleboro in fourth with 18 points, Natick fifth with 17 points and Arlington sixth with 12 points.

In other classes Andover won Class B, with 48 points, Class C was won by Barnstable with 42 points, Keith Academy and Lawrence Vocational tied for the Class D title with 30 points and Class E was won by Dover Sherborn.

For fourteen years the Boston Celtics dominated the NBA winning championship after championship. In 1967 they lost to Philadelphia and in 1968 they barely made the playoffs finishing fourth. In the playoffs, a whole new season, the Celtics came back to win.

Last Thursday the Newton High Track team, which had won ten of eleven Suburban League Championships won the All Star Meet by a half a point over New Bedford after finishing a distant third in the regular season.

The meet came down to the relay with New Bedford, still stinging from their loss to Brockton for the regular season league championship leading by a seemingly insurmountable 5-1/2 points.

All the Whalers had to do was to place and they would be assured of winning. The Newton team of George Norcross, Jim Doolin, Skip Fawson and Steve Scrimshaw won for six points.

Newton High Trackmen Bomb Rival Brookline

The Newton High Track team completed their regular season dual meet action last Tuesday as they bombarded traditional rival Brookline 102 3/4 to 37 1/4 at Newton High's Dickinson Stadium.

The win enabled NHS to finish third in the regular season action with a 6-2 slate. Brockton, who defeated Newton by a 76 to 64 count won the championship with an 8-0 record while New Bedford, who beat Newton by an identical score was second at 7-1.

In the twelve year existence of the league Newton has won the title ten times while New Bedford and Brockton have captured the title once.

After Newton Arlington was fourth with a 6-3 record and Weymouth was fifth at 5-4. Newton South, Brookline and Waltham all tied for sixth with 3-6 showings. The two Cambridge entries, Rindge and Latin finished in the cellar.

Two sophomores, John Alphin and Paul Fair began the NHS route by taking 1.2 in the 120 high hurdles. Coach Lem Boyle withheld some key personnel because of injuries and to rest them for the State and Suburban League Championships and otherwise the slaughter could've been much worse.

In the low hurdles Ray "Skip" Fawson and Bob Womboldt ran 1.2 in the low hurdles. In the 100 Brookline's Tom Fleming won in 10.5 but sophomores Gordon Muter and Steve Ross were 2.3.

In the furlong Jim Doolin, captain elect of next year's squad along with Alan Boyer won in 23.9. Dave Douglas, running his first race after a series of injuries and illnesses came in third.

The quarter mile was won by the Wealthy Towner's Jeff Sawyer in 53.6 John Fray and

New Bedford appeared to tie for second with Brockton and won the meet but Meet Director Ed Grant said the New Bedford baton pass between the third and fourth man was outside the zone.

It capped one of the most satisfying Newton wins in years as the team had finished second last year to Weymouth in this meet and lost to Brockton and New Bedford during the regular season for the most Newton outdoor dual losses in many springs.

Newton started well with co-captain Steve Scrimshaw winning the triple jump in Suburban and school record distance of 41'9". Consistent senior John Fray finished fifth for a single point which looked quite big at the end.

In the shotput Arlington's Paul Manderino threw a hefty 57'9" to win easily. Weymouth's Jim Taubert was second and Dan Borden, in his first season out for track threw a personal best of 48'8" for third.

New Bedford picked up ten big points in the discus with Dan Shea and Alan Zexter finishing 1.2. Newton's Marc Simon who has had some problems during the spring came through for fourth place.

Co-captain Skip Fawson needed only one throw to win the javelin. Fawson was undefeated during the season in the event and won with a throw of 175'8".

The high jump was won by Waltham's Steve Segien at 5'8" but Newton's fast improving junior Fran Murphy got in for a tie for fourth. Paul Price leaped 5'11-1/2", by far his best of the year yet was beaten on the last jump by Bill Coriarty of Brockton who reached 20'4".

Bill Magliano triumphed for third place Arlington in the pole vault at 11'6" but Newton managed a fifth with Warren Lomax wrapping up his high school career in good form.

On the track Arlington football star Barry Santini won the 120 yard high hurdles and broke Geln Stec's nine year old record of 14.7 by a tenth of a second. Newton's John Alphin, only a sophomore, picked up a fifth.

In the low hurdles Skip Fawson wiped out the rest of the field winning in a 20.2 time. Stan Birdwell, co-captain elect of next year's indoor team, was fifth.

The century dash was won by Brookline's Tom Fleming who tied the league standard of 10.1. Last year Newton's Joe Disieglio was the sixth one to tie that mark which was originally set in 1960.

George Norcross picked up three markers for Newton with a third. In the 220 New Bedford's Bill Chadwick won in 22.8 but Jim Doolin was third.

If Newton had lost by a slim margin Coach Boyle and the rest of the team would have to wonder because of this event, Alan Boyer, who won Saturday's Class A competition was held out by Coach Boyle so as not to risk injury before Saturday.

Steve Scrimshaw, almost unanimously conceded to be NHS' top senior athlete added the 440-mile title to his growing list by winning with a 51.5 showing.

Charlie Duckworth of Waltham was probably the top Massachusetts school boy track performer last season recording a fantastic 1:12.4 600. In the middle of the outdoor season Duckworth pulled a hamstring muscle and only a week before this meet ran a poor 2:10 half.

But Duckworth, the great competitor that he is got into pretty fair shape in a week and ran a quite respectable 1:59.6 to win the half mile.

New Bedford picked up twelve points in the distance as Dave Sylvia won the mile in 4:23.4 and Steve Caton triumphed in the duce in 9:31.2. Newton's Chris Doolin was a non scoring sixth in the mile but recorded a 4:45.6 mile. This is a pretty fair accomplishment for a runner in his first season.

Finally, Newton took the relay and the team trophy as the unfortunate New Bedford team were once again runners-up. Arlington, with a fine group of individual stars was third with 45-1/2 points and Brockton, regular season champs were fourth with 44.

Newton South finished a distant fifth tied with Weymouth with 15 points apiece. Rindge Tech was seventh with 13 and Brookline and Cambridge Latin brought up the rear with six and four points respectively.

A jubilant Lem Boyle commented, "I never thought we'd win but everyone came through and did his part. The boys who were expected to win won and we got some unexpected help in the lower places which were very necessary in order for us to win as the score shows."

Top 10 Senior Athletes At Newton Are Selected

Jeff Grossman, sports writer, has picked a top ten list of the best Newton High senior athletes. He has also selected a top ten list which encompasses just this year. In some cases there were conflicts. Following are Jeff's selections.

NHS TOP TEN SENIOR ATHLETES
1) Steve Scrimshaw, soccer and track. Picking between Steve Scrimshaw and second place finisher Ray "Skip" Fawson was quite difficult as Coach Lem Boyle has called them "the two most versatile athletes I've coached in 32 years here."

For two years Scrimshaw was an outstanding halfback on Gordon Elliot's soccer team. Last fall the team made it all the way to the State semifinals before losing to New Bedford three to two. But Fawson is by far Scrimshaw's forte as witnessed by the records and wins the outdoor captain leaves behind. He holds three school records. He ran the 600 in 1:16.4 last winter while finishing fourth in the State Meet for one record, ran a 50.1 quarter mile while winning the Class A title last Saturday for another and finally jumped 4'11 1/2" to finish third in the triple jump and break his own school record in the event.

He anchored Newton's winning relay team last Saturday and has had parts in various Newton relay teams which have placed in State competition.

2) Ray "Skip" Fawson, football and track. Fawson, also this year's outdoor co-captain, climaxed a fine career by becoming the only Newton track man in the modern era to win two events in the State Meet last Saturday. He won the javelin, the 180 foot hurdles and ran the second leg on the relay team which won.

In addition, Fawson finished third in the low hurdles last spring and has been a successful relay runner. To illustrate his versatility, Fawson has entered and won the javelin, high jump, shot put, high and low hurdles and won in all of them during his three years at NHS. He has the potential to be a fine decathlete man.

After being injured his junior year Fawson was a key member on last fall's Suburban League co-titlist football team. Besides possessing one of the best punting averages in the State, Fawson played a fine defensive end and returned a past Waltham, 3-2 earlier in the week.

The shut-out over Wayland was the eighth of the year for the netmen. Junior Cohen remained unbeaten in two years in the first singles position with a 6-1, 6-2 triumph. Stan Mescon dropped the first set 3-6, then stormed back for a 6-0, 6-1 win. Mike Glasser, performing in the third singles spot since Jim Oppenheim suffered an injured ankle responded once more with a 6-0, 7-5 victory.

In doubles Bobby Kellner and Nat Kaitz continued undefeated this season with a 6-2, 6-4 decision. The other tandem consisted of Jim Karol and Oppenheim, who was moved by Coach Robert Franke because he has to cover less territory in this spot. They carried away a 6-4, 6-0 win.

South found Waltham surprisingly tough in the Suburban League play-off semi-final, But Cohen, 6-0, 6-2, Mescon, 6-2, 6-3 and the Glasser-Kaitz duo, teaming together for the first time, 6-0, 6-1, all were victorious, propelling South into the finals against Newton.

Every match was close, but the Tigers pulled off a surprising upset by toppling the Lions, 4-1. Earlier this spring South had beaten Newton, 3-2.

Dave Cohen had the easiest time of anyone, recording a 6-4, 6-1 win over Rich Martin. What followed was a disaster. Mark Brass edged Mescon, 7-5, 6-4, John Golub overtook Glasser, 5-7, 9-7, 6-2. Oppenheim and Karol fell 6-2, 7-5 and Kellner and Kaitz were up-ended, 6-3, 6-3 to spoil their unbeaten streak at 14.

The loss was only the Lions' second of the year against 13 wins, but dropped them into a virtual tie with Newton for the Suburban League title. Newton is presently a half-game behind and must win this week in its final match to tie.

However, the Tigers face Weymouth, a team they have destroyed 4-1/2 - 1/2 this year and with so much riding on the outcome it is doubtful if the Tigers will be stopped. Newton and South could conceivably meet again this year in the state tournament.

Brockton kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown.
3) Bob Wargin - football, basketball and baseball. Despite being one of the most injury plagued athletes at NHS in recent years Wargin still managed to come up with some timely performances. In his sophomore and junior years he played parts of football seasons well before being hurt. As a junior in the opening game versus Everett Wargin rushed for 125 yards and scored twice but then broke his collarbone versus Brockton.

Last fall he played solidly while co-captaining the team. His sophomore and junior basketball seasons were interrupted by the football injuries and last season he was a solid sixth man for first year Coach Jerry Phillips. Last spring Wargin hit 289 and played a good defensive centerfield for the Eastern Massachusetts State Championship team. This spring Wargin, co-captain of the team has had his hitting woes but adjusted well to playing catcher, a position he hadn't played before this spring. Coach Howard Ferguson commented that, "We would never be in the tourney if Bob had folded. Its tough learning how to play behind the plate but he did it."

4) Doug Tomb, cross country and track. In three years Doug who followed his brothers John and Bill was by far the best of the very good Tomb family, which

Election For Newton South Chess Club

On Friday afternoon, the final meeting of the Newton South High Chess Club was held. Besides evaluating the team and the club for the 70-71 season, the new officers for the 70-71 period were elected.

Andrew Schmidt, a junior, was elected President of the Club, and Michael Turner, a sophomore, was voted Vice-President. Charles Kaplan, the best player in the school, will become Captain of the team in 1970-71. David Edelman will be secretary and public relations director. The team this year had a 5-5 record, scoring 3 losses, forfeits, and 2 win forfeits. The incoming President and Captain both look forward to an excellent season next year. Fawson played a fine good.

South Lions Tennis Team Halted by Newton Highers

It was an unsettling week for the Newton South tennis team although the Lions captured two of three matches and Dave Cohen reeled off his 29th, 30th and 31st consecutive dual match victories. South dropped an important contest to rival Newton High.

South white washed Wayland, 5-0, and squeaked past Waltham, 3-2 earlier in the week.
The shut-out over Wayland was the eighth of the year for the netmen. Junior Cohen remained unbeaten in two years in the first singles position with a 6-1, 6-2 triumph. Stan Mescon dropped the first set 3-6, then stormed back for a 6-0, 6-1 win. dominated NHS distance running for the last seven years. His most outstanding accomplishments were in cross country. As a sophomore he was sixth in the Suburban League and 21st in the State. As a junior he was Suburban League champion and tenth in the State Meet, the best a Newton harrier has ever done. He also broke the Newton High record by 33 seconds and tied the fastest time there ever.

As a junior he finished fifth in the State in the 1000 yard run and broke the Newton High two mile record running 9:53 for the distance. This year he annexed another league title and finished sixth in the State in cross country. He was also captain.

5) George "C.L. Slim" lacrosse, Reynolds, headed for Mt. Hermon next fall smashed the school goal scoring record in lacrosse this spring tallying 33 times to break Dean Foster's former standard of 23. Last year he followed Foster in scoring and in hockey he was second high scorer for the last two seasons.

6) George Norcross, football and track. Norcross, a 145 pound scrapper was easily the fastest back ever to mark for Newton the last two years. His last start and quick acceleration were responsible for many long gains to the outside. He was also an effective punt returner. In track he enjoyed a fine season last winter winning all his dual meet races in the 50 and finishing fifth in the BAA and State Meet 50.

7) Mike Butts, football. Butts was the only single sport athlete to make this list as his fine play at linebacker and fullback the last two years rate him this honor. Besides averaging four yards a carry into the heart of the line Butts received rave notices at his linebacker spot. He was an All Scholastic pick last fall and will attend Tufts next year.

8) Jerry Beatrice, football, basketball. Beatrice was a three year varsity basketball performer, a rarity at NHS but he will be remembered for his one year of varsity—football. Beatrice led all receivers with 21 catches, good for over 400 yards. The highlight of his whole athletic career came at Brookline last Thanksgiving when he faked a handoff and returned a Brookline punt 75 yards for a touchdown which was largely responsible for the NHS win. He captained the basketball team last winter and averaged in double figures for the last two seasons.

9) John Myerson, football and lacrosse. Myerson was a three year varsity performer in football and lacrosse. In his sophomore year he was thrown into the Waltham game against Waltham All Scholastic Russ Hammond and performed well earning a starting role against Brookline. This spring he captained the lacrosse team.

10) Richard Johnson, football and lacrosse. Johnson, as Myerson was a three year man in varsity football and lacrosse. He played tackle on the line that opened the holes for the highest scoring Newton offense in the modern era. He was also a solid midfielder for the lacrosse squad.

3) Chuck Pendergast, football, basketball, baseball. Junior Chuck Pendergast is one of the few athletes to attend NHS, excepting track athletes that hasn't played below varsity competition. In football Pendergast tied for the team lead in interceptions with five. In basketball he averaged 10.4 points a game while acting as quarterback of the team. He will captain the

College News

Deborah M. Karff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham S. Karff of Newtonville, graduate of Newton High School in 1966, was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at recent ceremonies at the University of Wisconsin.

4) Len Gentile, basketball, baseball. From the standpoint of improvement Gentile is improved athlete at NHS this year. Gentile led the team in scoring with 267 points during the 18 game schedule. He scored 30 against Brockton and averaged almost 25 a game for one short span towards the end of the season. In baseball he had a 5-0 mound record with a 1.20 ERA. He was the third leading NHS hitter with a .273 mark.

5) Steve Frager, football, wrestling. Frager was the most agile of the Newton frontline defensively picking up numerous fumbles and even intercepting a pass and returning it for a touchdown. He received All Scholastic rating. He was also one of the top wrestlers in the area.

6) Alan Boyer, track. The lean sprinter, only a junior captured two major titles this year, the BAA 300 and the State Class A 220. He has also been a key cog, the leadoff man on the successful Newton relay team. He is co-captain elect of next year's indoor and outdoor track teams.

7) Jethro Mills, baseball. If it weren't for co-captain Mills' hitting and pitching it is questionable whether Newton would be within non paying distance of the Eastern Mass. tourney this year. Mills' was the stopper on the pitching staff twirling the big games and coming in on relief when Gentile or Steve Matloff fell into trouble. He weiled a lethal bat this spring hitting .352. He had a .991 fielding average at first and on the mound.

8) George Gardner, football, wrestling, lacrosse. Gardner, considered to be by many the best of a very good offensive line last fall recovered the Brookline fumble after snapping the ball back for the punt to set up a very important Newton score. He was a valuable heavyweight wrestler and a tough defenseman in lacrosse.

9) Mike Butts football - see above
10) David Douglas - track. Although Douglas was only able to compete one season he impressed Coach Lem Boyle as "The best sophomore middle distance runner we've ever had. In fact he might already be the best ever." Running in his first big meet Douglas barely missed placing in the BAA and then stormed home third in the State Meet 1000 in the school record time of 2:20.7. Through this spring he has suffered through an ulcer and a muscle pull. If he is healthy in the next two years he will, undoubtedly obliterate any and all middle distance records around.

10) John Myerson, football and lacrosse. Myerson was a three year varsity performer in football and lacrosse. In his sophomore year he was thrown into the Waltham game against Waltham All Scholastic Russ Hammond and performed well earning a starting role against Brookline. This spring he captained the lacrosse team.

Dave Cohen had the easiest time of anyone, recording a 6-4, 6-1 win over Rich Martin. What followed was a disaster. Mark Brass edged Mescon, 7-5, 6-4, John Golub overtook Glasser, 5-7, 9-7, 6-2. Oppenheim and Karol fell 6-2, 7-5 and Kellner and Kaitz were up-ended, 6-3, 6-3 to spoil their unbeaten streak at 14.

The loss was only the Lions' second of the year against 13 wins, but dropped them into a virtual tie with Newton for the Suburban League title. Newton is presently a half-game behind and must win this week in its final match to tie.

However, the Tigers face Weymouth, a team they have destroyed 4-1/2 - 1/2 this year and with so much riding on the outcome it is doubtful if the Tigers will be stopped. Newton and South could conceivably meet again this year in the state tournament.

dominated NHS distance running for the last seven years. His most outstanding accomplishments were in cross country. As a sophomore he was sixth in the Suburban League and 21st in the State. As a junior he was Suburban League champion and tenth in the State Meet, the best a Newton harrier has ever done. He also broke the Newton High record by 33 seconds and tied the fastest time there ever.

As a junior he finished fifth in the State in the 1000 yard run and broke the Newton High two mile record running 9:53 for the distance. This year he annexed another league title and finished sixth in the State in cross country. He was also captain.

5) George "C.L. Slim" lacrosse, Reynolds, headed for Mt. Hermon next fall smashed the school goal scoring record in lacrosse this spring tallying 33 times to break Dean Foster's former standard of 23. Last year he followed Foster in scoring and in hockey he was second high scorer for the last two seasons.

6) George Norcross, football and track. Norcross, a 145 pound scrapper was easily the fastest back ever to mark for Newton the last two years. His last start and quick acceleration were responsible for many long gains to the outside. He was also an effective punt returner. In track he enjoyed a fine season last winter winning all his dual meet races in the 50 and finishing fifth in the BAA and State Meet 50.

7) Mike Butts, football. Butts was the only single sport athlete to make this list as his fine play at linebacker and fullback the last two years rate him this honor. Besides averaging four yards a carry into the heart of the line Butts received rave notices at his linebacker spot. He was an All Scholastic pick last fall and will attend Tufts next year.

8) Jerry Beatrice, football, basketball. Beatrice was a three year varsity basketball performer, a rarity at NHS but he will be remembered for his one year of varsity—football. Beatrice led all receivers with 21 catches, good for over 400 yards. The highlight of his whole athletic career came at Brookline last Thanksgiving when he faked a handoff and returned a Brookline punt 75 yards for a touchdown which was largely responsible for the NHS win. He captained the basketball team last winter and averaged in double figures for the last two seasons.

9) John Myerson, football and lacrosse. Myerson was a three year varsity performer in football and lacrosse. In his sophomore year he was thrown into the Waltham game against Waltham All Scholastic Russ Hammond and performed well earning a starting role against Brookline. This spring he captained the lacrosse team.

10) Richard Johnson, football and lacrosse. Johnson, as Myerson was a three year man in varsity football and lacrosse. He played tackle on the line that opened the holes for the highest scoring Newton offense in the modern era. He was also a solid midfielder for the lacrosse squad.

GOP Women's Club Names New Officers at Meeting

For its final meeting of the club year, the Newton Women's Republican Club met at luncheon at the Highlands Restaurant on May 27th. Guests and new members were greeted by outgoing president, Mrs. Rene Marcou. The officers and board members voted unanimously for a slate of officers for the year 1970-1971.

Newly elected president, Miss Charlotte Thornbury, expressed pleasure at the performance of her first official duty — to present to Mrs. Marcou, a token of the club's appreciation and esteem — a lovely serving tray.

Miss Thornbury will represent the Newton Club at the annual State Republican Club Fund Raising Dinner on June 9th.

The officers, executive board and ward representatives for 1970-1971 are: Pres. - Miss Charlotte Thornbury; 1st Vice Pres. - Mrs. Robert McWilliams; 2nd Vice Pres. - Mrs. Whelan Vincombe; Rec. Sec. - Mrs. Arthur Taylor; Corr. Sec. - Mrs. Spencer Deming; Treas. - Mrs. L. T. Reed; Auditor - Mrs. Robert Tennant.

Program Chairman - Mrs. David Schulman; Finance Chairman - Mrs. George Shannon and Miss Augusta Hornblower; Publicity Chairman - Mrs. Morris Adler; Membership Chairman - Mrs. Giles N. Dawson; Hospitality Chairman - Mrs. George Brookhiser and Mrs. Donald Uhlmann; Advisor - Mrs. Rene Marcou.

Women's Division Elects Newtonite New President

At the annual Achievement Tea held on Wednesday, May 27th, at the home of Mrs. William Ratner of Newton, the Women's Division of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society installed their incoming officers for the years 1970-1972.

Heading the slate as President is Mrs. Eugene F. Black of Newton, a former vice-president. For many years Mrs. Black has been active in various programs of the women's division.

She has been membership chairman, headed the annual luncheon, and edited the ad book. The Women's Division is a most active chapter in helping the raise funds for its program of research, education, and treatment of multiple sclerosis.

This puzzling disease affects many young men and women right in the prime of life.

The tea honored the many dedicated workers in the Women's Division. Mrs. Arnold Levinson conducted the installation of officers. Mrs.

Mrs. Ralph Garrett; Ward 4 - Mrs. Fred Marshall; Ward 5 - Mrs. Harry Brenner and Mrs. George Bent; Ward 6 - Mrs. William Bruce and Mrs. Michael Lipof; Ward 7 - Mrs. Florence Parker and Mrs. Morgan Campbell; Ward 8 - Mrs. Dino DiCarlo.

Following the business meeting and luncheon, Mrs. Edward Becherer, program chairman, introduced Mr. Robert W. Anderson, gemologist, of the Anderson Jewelry firm of Wellesley who gave a very interesting and informative illustrated talk on "A Woman's Best Friends — Diamonds and Precious Gems."

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

Yogurt—once identified as sour milk—and confined only to health-food addicts is making history. The taste for this exotic refreshment has swept across Europe and North America. Yogurt was first brought to the United States in 1784 by the Turks. In the 1900s, it was rediscovered by health-food addicts; and though its somewhat unusual taste kept it from becoming truly popular, it became the beneficiary of many astounding claims. Once Yogurt was changed from something that was supposed to be good for you to something that tasted good (fruit-flavored now), its success was assured.

For a welcome change, eat out today at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. The Highlands Restaurant was created to satisfy discriminating diners who will settle for nothing less than the very best in beverages, food and service. Daily Double Lobster Special featured.

Newton South Scored 2d Golf Win Over Medford

The Newton South High golf team clubbed Medford, last week, 7-2 to close out their Suburban League season with a 2-7-1 record. Both wins in the season came against Medford. The tie was against Brookline in the first match of the year.

The win was by far the team's best all-around performance of the year. Jim Role and Bill Davine were perfect, netting three points each while the other two tandems of Captain Howie Terban and Don Cohen and Roger Seletsky and Billy O'Brien each collected two points. All but Role and Davine will graduate. Davine is a sophomore.

NCDF Housing Continues As Strong Newton Issue

Put Up Smokescreen

After attending several aldermanic hearings on the proposal to build 10 housing projects in Newton and also with past experience at NCDF sessions I have come to the conclusion the proponents are not serious. What they are doing is putting up some sort of smokescreen or stalling horse to mask their real intentions.

For no cleverly intelligent people, however perverse, as are many of the supporters and proponents of the housing projects, they would not expose themselves to the ridicule which followed slapdash site selections, including the front lawn of the city (this is what the Commonwealth Avenue-Walnut Street site is) and basic land faults at other sites.

The real purpose is hard to discern at this time. It is not hard to imagine, however, that when a "compromise" is announced the major opponents will breathe with relief while residents in the actual target areas will be stranded.

While the NCDF uses a fist to push through its program, the residents fight it on a neighborhood or "open finger" basis.

All city residents have a stake in their community and housing projects must certainly will lower property values as witness the current drop of about 20 per cent in real estate values in the Hyde Park, Rosindale, West Roxbury areas as reported recently in the Sunday real estate sections of Boston newspapers.

There is a definite lack of information provided by proponents and penetrating questions and requests for simple facts are greeted with "we'll get it for you... I don't have those facts on hand... I'm sure school officials can provide that information..." and on it goes.

What we are dealing with is a situation which will certainly would have been laughed out of the city a few years ago. Now, in the era of Zinn and sin, it is entertained. The well organized package comes complete with a brochure depicting the "peace symbol."

Some people are beginning to wonder if the hammer and sickle has taken the new form of the "peace symbol" and the Communist Manifesto comes to us in the guise of "new think" sloganeering such as "new priorities."

At one of the aldermanic meetings a black man walked up and down the aisle at the high school session making the clenched fist sign and shouting "black power" in a naked attempt at what could be considered intimidation and other proponents tried to develop a sense of guilt by saying city residents are opposed because of fears (well justified) that outsiders would be chief beneficiaries of the housing.

Let there be the libel of discrimination we should examine some facts. Today in the suburbs of Boston live more black people than the entire black population of Boston in World War II.

Since 75 per cent of all blacks in Boston were not born in this state and have arrived in the past 10 years, it is a most idle claim to say discrimination is the cause of Boston residence when most people in Newton took two or three generations to get to the suburbs.

Another factor overlooked in the presentation is that this program, although suspecting claiming priority for Newton residents or persons with "Newton ties," could in effect have a double impact.

Every Newton resident who moves into the housing project will vacate an apartment or home in the city and another family will move in to occupy the vacated apartment. In effect we could be talking about a project for 1,000 families -- not 500.

The low and moderate income housing shortage cannot be considered critical if 1,000 of the 15,000 housing project apartments in Boston are vacant and there are no takers. Or consider that 600 to 1,000 apartments are abandoned each year in Boston.

Teachers, firefighters and policemen under state law can take a test and be appointed in Newton regardless of home residence in the state. The NCDF says the projects are for such city employees.

To begin with, most wouldn't be caught dead in non-conforming construction proposed, but if housing is part of the hiring agreement it more properly belongs in the area of collective bargaining and not this alleged foundation.

And on and on go the contradictions, paradoxes, misrepresentations, lack of facts, and a slick, well-financed public relations campaign, supported by past and former city payrollers, federal activists, and out-of-town found-

Son Answers Dad

Editor of The Graphic: I am writing in reply to my father's letter of a few weeks ago which dealt with the student strike at Newton South.

As you will recall my father stated that he was basically against the strike and is also against long hair and sloppy dress which seem to be a symbol of the youth today.

Although I respect my father's opinions about the situation, I strongly object when he says that most South students do not know where Cambodia is, or that we do not know Bobby Seale from second base.

I am speaking for most South students when I say that I had known where Cambodia was long before American troops were involved there and that since I have known about the Black Panthers organization for a long time, naturally I have heard of Bobby Seale.

I feel that the basic goals for this strike were realized during this five day period. The strike committee worked very hard in preparing workshops and committees and did a fine job in lining up excellent speakers for the occasion.

In my opinion these five days were an educational experience far more important than regular classes.

One South student summed it up best when he said "What is the use of knowing what the quadratic formula is when we are dying in Cambodia?" I observed that during the strike, there was a rare feeling of comradeship towards one another and for the first time all year, I noticed that people were working together towards a common goal for a change and not fighting each other which seems to be the main cause for all of the country's troubles.

Most of the students at South either went to classes or participated in the strike activities. The students that really believed in the strike should have been at strike activities but most of the students that didn't were in classes.

It would be a foolish thing not to attend classes in this case because most teachers were teaching regardless of the number of students attending.

I feel that most of the students realized that it would be more beneficial to attend classes regularly than to be forced to make up work towards the end of the year.

Too many parents judge kids on the way they dress and whether they have long hair or not. What many older people don't realize is that long-haired kids can be just as intelligent, just as intelligent, and can make just as good a contribution to the world as anyone that has short hair.

Perhaps these kids are more aware of the world situation than anyone realizes. They act this way because they want to be noticed by people who think that kids should be seen and not heard. They feel that if they act differently and show their concern for world problems then maybe people will sit up and respect them and perhaps listen to them.

It is apparent now that their plan has worked. I must point out to my father that the world is constantly changing and if people stand pat, then they are going to be lost in the shuffle.

There are so many tremendously important things happening today that we should feel proud of kids who are willing to stand up for what they think is right regardless of their dress or hair style.

Sincerely,
Mark Levine

dations and non-resident members of the Needham-Newton Chamber of Commerce.

The entire fiasco, because it is seriously being considered, points out that the people of this city have been sleeping and a hard core of activists took from us our city, our churches, our schools.

The fault is ours only and next year the activists will be back and won't rest until this city and other communities are one vast slum. For to justify their philosophy, redistribution of wealth brings about equality. Their minds cannot tolerate invidious comparisons.

And behind the "concerned rhetoric" and the face screwed up in contortions of evangelistic fervor, lies the true face of promised blight which a New York Times writer recently accelerated to the word "leprosy."

Answers Mr. Arnstine

Editor of The Graphic: For the first time in my life, I feel compelled to sit down and write a letter to the Editor, in response to a Mr. Arnstine's remarks concerning the N.C.D.F. plan, printed in the Newton Graphic of May 28th.

I am not going to rebut his comments on the brochure sent out by the Newton Land Use and Civic Association. Suffice it to say that every statement in that pamphlet can be backed up by facts. If Mr. Arnstine would take the trouble to look up the word "fact" in Webster's Dictionary he would find that the word is defined as "that which has actual existence; the quality of being actual; reality as an event."

Instead, he chose to list several reasons why he feels the N.C.D.F. plan should be supported and acted upon, all of which reasons are specious, but will not stand the test of intelligent examination.

First of all, Mr. Arnstine, you are assuming that all Newton children are overprivileged, and over-advantaged and therefore do not deserve a low pupil-teacher ratio or a quality education. You are comparing apples and oranges with this statement.

Please be advised that there are some citizens of our city who are paying our tax rate at a considerable sacrifice, merely to give our children a better teacher - pupil ratio, and hopefully a better education than other cities offer. This is one way at least in which to try to upgrade a curriculum and keep education at a high level.

What teacher can teach a class of 45 and hope to make an impression? Isn't a class of 25 or 30 a lot easier to reach? But you must be aware of this elementary principle, being an Associate Professor of Education.

As for your second allegation that the residents of Newton are crying Poor (to quote you exactly) I should like you to know that in everyone here is in the enviable state of your neighbors who "do pretty well." Have you examined every bank book and savings account in this city?

Perhaps you had better take off your blinders and take a tour of your city. There are neighborhoods in every village of Newton where residents are having trouble making ends meet. Which citizens are worthy of your sympathy?

Yes, we are serious when we say that by and large Newton children do not have enough recreational and play areas. We do not have one M.D.C. recreational facility entirely in this city of almost 100,000 persons, therefore it is up to us to provide for our own. Yes, we can say this to any resident of Boston with a clear conscience.

Boston has for too long a time been deficient in providing for the needs of its own people. Boston has for years been the recipient of the lion's share of M.D.C. recreational funds while we have received nothing, and have paid our fair share.

Of course, the crown jewel of all, Norumbega Park, was handed away by our city fathers, so we lost out there, too.

Don't think of the school yards as play areas either. Most of them are filled up with broken bottles, beer cans, and other unmentionable litter. I, for one, am considering sending my children to Boston to play.

You're wrong when you say that most people fear entrance of low-income people from outside Newton. What we really fear is that our low-income people in Newton will remain forgotten. Let's take care of our own first and foremost.

You can call this xenophobia if you wish, but I prefer to say that charity begins at home. When everyone in Newton has fair and adequate housing then I will worry about outsiders.

How much more heterogeneity would you like to add to our population? We have an abundance of socio-economic and racial groups here now, and I am fortunate enough to live in the village of Auburndale which has a representation of all of these groups. Maybe you should move out of Newton Centre to a more heterogeneous area, and then your children could go to school and mix with everyone.

In fact, I suggest if the N.C.D.F.'s site of Stanton Avenue is approved, maybe you would be eligible to move in. Then your children would have a magnificent play area of a steep, treeless hill bounded on one side by M.B.T.A. tracks, but the plus factor would be that they could go to the Williams School and see democracy in practice and action.

Better still, Mr. Arnstine, if the aldermen approve of the N.C.D.F. plan, as presently

Battle of Thinking

(The following letter was addressed to the Board of Aldermen and submitted to The Graphic for publication.)

Gentlemen: The following are a few thoughts I had while listening to both sides argue for and against the Hunnewell site for the proposed middle and low income housing of NCDF.

It seemed to be a display of positive thinking versus negative thinking, also the age of the proponents who spoke seemed to average considerably younger than the age of the opponents. From this alone one might draw a few general conclusions.

The opponents constantly referred to it as the "low income project," having visions no doubt of some of Boston's low income housing projects such as those on Heath Street, perhaps, NCDF's proposal, I think, is not a "low income project."

It seemed to me that most of the opponents felt that this kind of housing is needed in Newton "as long as it's not my neighborhood."

Another opponent referred to hers as a "fragile neighborhood." A neighborhood which is so "fragile" that it cannot accommodate newcomers is not a true neighborhood at all.

None of the opponents proposed alternative plans.

Not one of the opponents showed the slightest concern for the people who truly need this kind of housing.

One man with a distinct European accent suggested that this kind of housing might be all right if Newton instituted some sort of "quota system" whereby for each new family moving in, it made sure a family moved out. If the United States had followed such a policy when this man came here where might he be today?

One opponent felt that Newton should not be asked to take on the additional burdens that would come with five hundred new families, when have good people ever refused to help share the burden of people less fortunate than they?

Newton is indeed a beautiful city and a wonderful place to live but it is incorrect to say that I take PRIDE in our beautiful homes, our lawns, our gardens, and to say "I'm proud of our city and I want it to remain as it is" is a false use of the word "pride."

On the other hand, a spirit of help, a spirit of willingness to share the burdens of others, a willingness to accept new and possibly less fortunate families is a matter of pride.

I am truly sorry that NCDF did not choose a location in my neighborhood because during the twenty-one years I have lived in Newton, the spirit of NCDF and its founders and supporters is the first tangible movement in my city to which I can point with real pride.

It is frustrating to sit in silence at such a hearing and my admiration goes out to Mr. Barkin and the rest of the board and also to all the speakers for the manner in which the entire hearing took place.

Ernest A. Singer

Comments Chairman

Editor of The Graphic:

I would publicly like to congratulate Alderman Alan Barkin, Chairman of the Land Use Committee, for his superb handling of the difficult hearings having to do with NCDF. Even though at times tempers got out of hand, the chairman never lost his cool.

He showed partiality to none and fairness to all, keeping complete control and perfect order. His performance was most impressive and the city owes a debt of gratitude to him.

I believe that the aldermen should keep in mind Mr. Barkin's example of fairness when they vote on this vital issue.

It is to be hoped that they will not be swayed by the flaring emotions and over reactions of people who fear change for our city.

constituted, I'll let you buy my house, and I shall move out of this city altogether to some place where my tax money will go toward alleviating overcrowded schools, where my trash will not sit out in front of my house for 4 days waiting to be picked up, where my children will have a decent recreational area fairly close by, and where the city fathers are a little more receptive to the needs and desires of their citizens.

Very truly yours,

Conservators' View

This letter was sent to the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen: Honorable Alvin Barkin, Chairman
Land Use Committee
Board of Aldermen
City Hall
Newton, Massachusetts

Dear Alderman Barkin:

The following is intended to set forth the position of Newton Conservators, Inc. with respect to the various proposals of the Newton Community Development Foundation for zoning ordinance changes and city-owned land acquisitions required for implementation of its proposed low and medium income housing project.

There is general agreement among the Directors of Newton Conservators with the purpose of the NCDF plan and the desirability of its accomplishment.

From a conservation standpoint, the Conservators have objections to the choice of certain sites and the contemplated use of others, but hopefully they are objections that can be satisfied without prejudice to the NCDF plan and they are offered in that spirit.

The objections are six in number and may conveniently be considered under three groupings. The first group relates to land use and involves relatively minor problems reasonably soluble by decision of NCDF itself.

As to the Stanton Avenue site, it is recommended that a playground area of approximately one acre be set aside at the top of the hill adjoining the water tower in place of the proposed one-third acre playground near the foot of the hill.

This result can be obtained by movement of the six units now planned for the hill-top to a point in the proposed parking area and by reduction of the required parking space requirement consistent with the site's proximity to the Woodland Station parking lot.

Such a change would meet the purposes of NCDF and at the same time satisfy the long-evidenced interest of the neighborhood in a playground at that location of adequate size.

As to the Estey Farm site on Dedham Street, it is proposed only that the most southerly portion of the tract, subject to flooding at certain times of the year, be maintained as open space and that the units now planned for that portion be located instead at the northerly end of the tract.

Again, such a revision appears to be entirely feasible without a reduction in the number of units planned for that site.

The second group of sites to which the Conservators object are the two properties which we feel are accurately described as wetlands and unsuitable for housing on that account: 1) Beacon Street, near Beethoven School; and 2) Goddard and Christina Streets.

In each instance, the Conservators' Board is unanimously of the opinion alternative locations should be obtained. As to the Beacon Street site, it suggests for replacement either the City-owned property further east on Beacon Street which has already been filled and is now used only for snow disposal or a location at the end of Beaconswood Road.

As to the Goddard-Christina site, we have no specific alternative except possible use of the City Infirmary property.

Given the enormous problem of drainage at Goddard-Christina and the consequent excessive cost of development, it may well be that even if given necessary clearance NCDF may have to abandon this site on its own initiative and our objection to it therefore may well be academic.

The third group of sites is made up of 1) Commonwealth Avenue at Walnut Street and 2) Hunnewell. As to these two locations, the Conservators' Board is evenly divided in its sentiment. Half of the Board members have no objection to either site. The remaining half is opposed to the Commonwealth Avenue property mainly on the basis of aesthetic considerations affecting the City Hall.

As to Hunnewell Avenue, their principal objection is that an area set aside by the City for a playground is being pre-empted for another purpose.

It is the earnest hope of Newton Conservators that you will not only give serious consideration to the points we have raised but that somehow in conjunction with NCDF will be able to resolve the limited conflict that now exists between the need in the community for low and medium income housing and the desirability of following sound conservation policies.

In making this difficult

Deplores "Baloney"

Editor, The Graphic: The NCDF Plan is unfortunately doomed to failure.

1. Priests, Ministers and Rabbis: the public relations defending this plan have amounted to elephants in a china shop. Those who oppose it have been forced to assume rolls of "villains," racists, snobs or hypocrites.

The zoning should have been settled before the idea involving re-zoning was forced onto areas of Newton. This amounts to blackmail, forcing areas to re-zone by "public opinion." Now "Citizen Vigilante" Committees like The Newton Land Use and Civic Association have gained power.

Once this happens, one could not sell a window fan to a Newtonite if it were 120 degrees in the shade. The climate is hot concerning NCDF. Public relations, persuasion and presentation by 22 Priests, Ministers and Rabbis have been naive, subjective and insulting to neighborhoods involved.

"Personal relations" are better than mass media.

2. Hypocrisy: Five hundred units have gone up in the past three years on the Newton Brighton-Lake Street area. No one said a thing about traffic, schools, etc.

Five hundred units went up on the Dedham-Newton line near the VFW Parkway. No one mentioned schools, playgrounds, etc. then. Five hundred units went up in the Newton-Waltham area near Brandeis.

No one said anything about re-zoning problems, ghettos, etc. But put a forty or fifty low income inter-racial unit up next door and the baloney hit the fan.

The schools will increase over 2,500 pupils in the next two years anyway. Will everyone panic? I doubt it. (Not to mention traffic.)

3. There is a Need: Problems will be created by any and all new housing in any area. Newton will not be the better or the richer for this 508 unit plan.

Many will have to make some sacrifice in their comfort so that those who enjoy much less comfort can live decently at all. The need for this NCDF plan supercedes neighborhood selfishness, hypocrisy, and infatuation.

4. It is Feasible: If every site guarantees a baseball field, basketball court and toddler areas, swings, etc., the plan is a good one. Objections have not been coepethetic.

Bad public relations by NCDF have infuriated us all.

Infantry Reunion

Editor of the Graphic:

The 167th Infantry Regiment, 31st Division is going to have its first reunion. It will be Aug. 1, 1970, at Fort John C. Persons Armory, on North 5th Ave., Birmingham, Ala. from 11 till midnight.

The only way we have to get in touch with the many men that were in this outfit during WW II that fought in the South Pacific, is write and ask you to put a notice in your paper.

As many of the boys came from your area, it will be greatly appreciated if you would run this notice somewhere in your paper as soon as possible, and if you will, please run it again in July.

Thanks a million. They can write me if any more info is desired.

Thanks a million
Yours,

Thanks The Graphic

Editor of The Graphic:

On behalf of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston and its affiliated agencies, may I take this opportunity to express to you our deep gratitude for your cooperation in connection with our 1970 Appeal and Israel Emergency Fund.

The newspaper coverage that you gave us was an important factor in helping us inform the community of the urgency of the needs, and in making it possible for us to raise more than $10,000,000 this year.

The family of agencies that we support here in Boston, nationally, and in Israel, and the thousands of men, women, and children who benefit from the work of CJP, join us in thanking you.

Rejects Racism

Editor of The Graphic:

It is regrettable that the spokesman for the Myrtle Baptist Church (Graphic, May 28th) should have seen fit to resort to strident accusations of racism in his support of the NCDF proposal.

This divisive issue has caused serious damage to the Newton community, which can only be injured still further by immoderate statements such as that of the Myrtle Church.

Furthermore, when the author speaks of a "human right to a decent home," he is begging the question as many people including ourselves, see it.

Surely it is not a "racist" position to regard housing as a commodity whose price, like that of soap, automobiles or vacations, is determined by the long established rules of the market place.

Housing is expensive (for all races) in Newton because demand exceeds supply. But demand by itself is not enough — there must be effective demand, which means that there must be something to offer in return.

There may be people in Newton who should be assisted in buying housing, but there are clearly issues other than racism involved. It is not necessarily a "racist" position for Newton residents to object when asked to subsidize (i.e., pay part of the cost of) housing for people from outside their community.

If those in opposition to any specific proposal are expected to cringe before the bludgeon of "racism," there clearly can be no constructive discussion of the issues.

This would obviously result in an absurd situation in which a wide variety of minority-supported reforms could be enacted without due regard for the rights of others materially affected. Experience has shown that the ensuing reaction to such a situation is likely to be equally extreme.

Sincerely,
Dr. & Mrs. Terence J. Elkins
Newton Centre

Reasons for Opposing

Editor of The Graphic:

With reference to the NCDF proposals to erect housing projects throughout the city of Newton, we are particularly opposed for the following reasons:

1. Esty Farm is in the midst of a densely populated area. The 500 homes surrounding the farm are on relatively small lots of land — most of the area is zoned for single residence C.

2. At present there is not adequate recreational facilities available for the children in the area. What would become of the mass of children who would be thrust into such a project?

3. At present public transportation barely exists. How would people of low income afford to get to their places of employment?

4. There are not adequate shopping facilities in the area.

5. There are not adequate medical facilities in the area.

6. The erection of 57 units would create a hazardous traffic problems in the narrow streets surrounding the farm.

7. The erection of such a project would serve to destroy the drainage and ecological balance of the area. This would aggravate cellar flooding conditions that are even now quite serious to residents surrounding the farm.

Even if their entire plan were otherwise feasible, there is a more desirable site than Esty Farm.

A Vote In Favor

Editor, The Graphic:

The shortage of decent low and middle income housing is a metropolitan rather than strictly a Newton problem. Since neither Boston nor any single community in the metropolitan area can solve our common problems alone, I think it is essential that one of the larger and wealthier members make a beginning and point the way.

It is through such accomplishments as the proposed NCDF projects, that the edge of strife between poor and rich, black and white, young and old, is blunted.

I realize that the public schools in West Newton are crowded now and will become more crowded if St. Bernard's School closes. All the more reason, I think, to get on with a far-sighted school building program now which allows

The following letter is in response to a pamphlet sent to all residents of Newton by the Newton Land Use and Civic Association.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert Stiller
Newton Land Use and Civic Association
21 June Lane
Newton Centre, Mass. 02159

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Stiller: In your pamphlet published at considerable expense to private citizens you suggest that our city will be destroyed by N.C.D.F. unless the silent majority exercises its silent chance to save the Garden City by speaking out. Nonsense!

We have heard what's happening in Newton, as you ask, and we are frightened. While the N.C.D.F. plan is not flawless, we support it and believe it to be a creative, responsible and ethical approach to a most critical domestic need.

If Newton is in trouble it is not of N.C.D.F.'s making. Rather, it is due to near hysterical newsletters such as yours which help to create the climate of fear, bigotry and polarization within which any community can be destroyed.

Finally, you refer to Isaiah 58 where he warns against covetousness

Nonantum To Conduct Third Drug Meeting

The third in a series of interested participants in these meetings have been Aldermen Andrew Magni and Thomas Concannon, plus State Representative Paul Malloy.

Serving on the Committee for these Nonantum Community Meetings are David Berkeley, Dee Morris, Anthony Pellegrine and John Webber.

The Sons of Italy Hall, 196 Adams St., Newton, has offered by the Sons of Italy for all the meetings.

At a May 12th drug education meeting for parents and teenagers, a film on drug abuses was shown by Mrs. Morris of the Day Jr. High Guidance Dept. followed by a general discussion.

Dr. Albert B. Sanarawer, of the Mattapan State Hospital Drug Clinic, addressed the group on drug problems and rehabilitation services.

At the April 26th meeting, Lt. Dargan of the Newton Police Dept. discussed the "law and order" aspects of the drug problem. Among the

Middlesex Ends Superior Court Building Pact

The Middlesex County Commissioners announced they have terminated the contract with the company constructing the Middlesex Superior Court House in Cambridge.

The commissioners said the contract with Geyn Construction Corp. of Mamaroneck, New York, was terminated Wednesday (May 27), for failure of the contractor to perform the work required by its contract.

The firm, the commissioners said, suspended work at the job on April 21 and has refused to resume operations. The commissioners said the job had been slowed by frequent delays and that "the contractor's failure to diligently prosecute the work has resulted in increased costs and a delayed completion date."

They said steps are being taken "for the early resumption of the work and the expeditious completion of the project" by a new contractor.

NEWTON INITIATES — More than 100 University of Massachusetts undergraduates, the largest group to date, were initiated this year into the UMass Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is the highest national honor conferred in recognition of scholarly attainment as an undergraduate student in the liberal arts and sciences. Among those initiated, left to right: Nancy J. Freedman of 222 Bonad Rd., Chestnut Hill and Harry P. Ellison of 17 Walnut Hill Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Ward 7 Democrats Meet To Pick Officers, Honor Shea

At its May meeting at Grace Episcopal Church the Newton Ward seven Democrats elected officers, discussed an appropriate and fitting memorial to honor H. James Shea.

Dr. Cavin Leeman was elected chairman. Other officers include Mrs. Constance Kantar, vice chairman; Mrs. Sonia Michaelson, recording secretary; Mrs. Anne Fitzpatrick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kim Hopper, Treasurer; Mrs. Elinor Persky, publicity; Dr. Cavin Leeman, program; and various members of the committee were commended for their vitally active participation during the past two years.

Gordon Martin, committee members and Mrs. Betty Taylor, will coordinate Newton's efforts for Father Robert F. Drinan's political campaign. In addition the committee agreed to work toward increased voter registration.

All candidates interested in running from the 12th Middlesex District for State House of Representatives are invited to speak at the June 9 meeting of the Ward 7 Democrats. The meeting will be held at Grace Church at 8:15 p.m. The meeting is open to all and interested citizens are invited to attend and meet the candidates.

Local Scouts Selected For '71 Jamboree

First Scouts approved to represent the Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the XIII World Jamboree to be held in Japan in August 1971 were announced today.

They are: James E. Long, Jr., Newton, Troop 322; Andrew Salzman, Weston, Troop 157; Barry M. Wald, Newton Centre, Troop 272; Peter H. Wald, Newton Centre, Troop 272; Michael Turner, Waban, Troop 225; Jonathan P. Whitaker, Weston, Troop 157; and Philip J. Hutchings, Weston, Troop 157.

The World Jamboree will be the largest gathering of Scouting's international brotherhood since the XII World Jamboree was held in Idaho in 1967, according to Mr. Arthur Goodwin, Norumbega Council's Jamboree Coordinator, Scoutmaster of Troop 152, Weston.

Additional applications are being accepted with a $100 reservation fee by the local Scout Service Center, 2044 Beacon St., Waban, 322-2220, for next year's World Jamboree. The 20-day trip will include an 8-day tour of Japan, including the 9-day encampment at Asagiri Heights in Shizuoka Prefecture on the west side of Mt. Fuji.

At the Jamboree, Scouts will compete in Scout skills, trade friendship tokens, meet around campfires, sample each other's foods, play wide games, and learn how Scouts live Scouting around the world, Mr. Goodwin said.

The first such Jamboree called together by Lord Baden-Powell, Scouting's founder, was held in 1920 in England. Since then every 4 years, except during World War II, Scouts have met in a World Jamboree.

Sacred Heart High School Presents Diplomas Sunday

The Sacred Heart High School in Newton Centre held commencement exercises Sunday evening at which 36 diplomas and 13 awards were conferred.

Msgr. William A. Granville, pastor, presented the diplomas and the awards.

Receiving awards were:

Stephen John Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cummings, 40 Adams St., Newton, received the award for the highest average in history. He is the recipient of a scholarship to Columbia University School of Engineering and to Tufts University School of Engineering. He will attend Columbia University. He is a member of the National Honor Society.

Car Crash Takes Life Of Girl 14

A 14-year-old Newton Highlands girl was killed and her uncle seriously injured when their car struck a tree on Quinobegun Rd., Waban, Sunday.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesley Hospital was Michele Roberts of 115 Dickerman Rd.

Her uncle, Myrle E. Roberts, 27, of 129 Galen St., Watertown, suffered fractured legs and facial injuries. He was placed in the special care unit at the hospital.

MDC police said the car apparently went out of control, left the road and hit the tree.

Two other persons were injured in separate traffic accidents Sunday.

Police said Donald R. Ferreri, 39, of 19 Shute Path, Newton Centre, suffered a lacerated scalp when his car struck a utility pole on Clark St. Ferreri said he was forced off the road by another car.

Police said a Brockton woman, Julia MacAllister, 59, suffered a lacerated scalp when her car hit the guard rail at Langley Rd. and Boylston St. She was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and released.

Egelson Puts Brake On Hassle ... Aldermen Heat Up In Debate Over Cambodia

Alderman Louis L. Egelson "charter objected" to the anti-Cambodian invasion resolution at the regular board meeting on Monday night and thus killed chances for immediate passage.

Egelson said the board has "other, more important issues to address itself to than state or national issues."

A charter objection is the privilege of any alderman, and merely by stating so, the objection delays further action on any item until the next board meeting.

Egelson defended President Nixon's move and claimed it will deescalate the war. "The question is to take an objective view and not allow ourselves to be whipped awed into thinking the United States is always wrong," he said.

In an ensuing debate, Alderman Harry Crosby insisted that the Vietnam War is a local problem, too, and cited a national report on violence showing that the war is a contributing factor in crime at home and prevents effective action against such social problems.

Alderman William Carmen declared that they "should be impatient in this hour of tragedy for those who are dying or are being maimed tonight in Southeast Asia, for we are grains of sand that might never have been, and our significance can only be that we are granted a brief 'now' to create a world that never might have been."

"Our role now should be to help reduce the number of young men who will die or be maimed in the hours between 'now' and the 'then' of some vague tomorrow."

This led to Egelson's "charter objection" which angered his colleagues since it prevented them from making further public comment on the Indochina War.

Lipof was quoted privately as saying that Egelson's action "is the most irresponsible thing I have ever seen."

Other Aldermen tried to block Egelson's move through Parliamentary procedure but this attempt failed when President Bauckman upheld his right to charter object.

This is the second time the resolution has been before the Board of Aldermen without decisive action. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Merit Medal To Newton Officer

First Lieutenant David G. Shapiro, son of Mrs. Irvin D. Shapiro, 163 Oliver Road, Waban, has received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Wakkana Air Station, Japan.

Lieutenant Shapiro, an information officer, was decorated for meritorious service while assigned at Headquarters, Ogden Air Material Area, Hill AFB, Utah.

He is now at Wakkana. The lieutenant was commissioned in 1967 through Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Texas.

A 1960 graduate of Newton High School, he received a B.S. degree in 1965 from Emerson College, Boston.

Victory Field Plan Gets Hearing Delay

The Land Use Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen voted to hold requests from American Legion Post 440 to build a clubhouse and community center on Old Victory Field. The action followed a public hearing Monday night.

"Changes in the original plans" was the reason given for the delay. According to Chairman Alan S. Barkin, "there are serious deficiencies relative to the number of parking places."

Many residents of the area attending the public hearing spoke in favor of the plan, citing community need of the proposed gymnasium and other recreational facilities in the center. Also submitted was a petition in favor with 400 to 500 names.

Margaret Heckler Tells How Congresswoman Does Her Job

For too long, we have bemoaned political apathy in America. Now a new spirit of involvement is emerging, and it is a healthy sign for our American democracy. The involvement of our younger people has undoubtedly given impetus to this trend.

Newton Profs Honored For Publications

Two professors at Boston university, who are Newton area residents have received Centennial Awards for their books recently published.

Paul Roman of 51 Rockledge road, Newton Highlands, professor of physics at BU is author of "Introduction to Quantum Field Theory," published by Wiley and Prof. Marx Wartofsky of 324 Ward St., Newton Centre, chairman of the Department of Philosophy at BU, is author of "Conceptual Foundations of Scientific Thought," published by MacMillan.

Both men received awards of $350, supported in part by the Shell Foundation, and they were honored at a sherry reception at the Castle.

First Cooke Awards Given To 2 Seniors

Two Newton graduating Seniors have been named recipients of the first Lawrence E. Cooke Memorial Awards. Nancy Myerson, Newton South High School, and Rebecca Crosby, Murray Rd. branch of Newton High School, were chosen for this newly established honor because of their outstanding efforts on behalf of the Freeport Foundation.

Freeport, a concept initiated and carried through by a group of students, will provide a temporary home away from home for High School students with troubled home situations.

The Misses Crosby and Myerson were singled out by the Rev. David Parachini, Freeport Director, as the two graduating Seniors who have contributed most to the founding of Freeport.

The late Lawrence E. Cooke, a former Assistant Attorney General and Chairman of the Newton Democratic City Committee, was a founder of C.O.D., the reform Democratic organization.

He also was a member of the Board of Governors of the Massachusetts Committee to Abolish the Death Penalty, active in the Catholic Interracial Council, Fair Housing and the Peace Center.

The Lawrence E. Cooke Memorial Foundation has been established to encourage graduates of Newton's public

Zinn Gets Peaceful Protest

In a peaceful but open display of their objection to the speaker approximately 150 seniors, faculty members and parents walked out of the Newton High School graduation exercises Monday night while Dr. Howard Zinn addressed the audience of 4000. Those who remained gave the radical Boston University professor a standing ovation at the close of his controversial half-hour speech.

Conspicuous by his absence, although his name appeared on the commencement program, was Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who announced last week that he would boycott the graduation ceremonies.

Many of the seniors wore peace symbols — upside-down flags on the backs of their gowns or red armbands, while a number of other boys and girls carried small American flags as "anti-Zinn symbols."

Zinn, a well-known anti-war activist who went to Hanoi in 1968 to aid in the release of three captive American pilots, told the group: "Maybe we need a new slogan about patriotism — 'War is Unpatriotic.'"

Citing his experiences as a bombardier during World War II, he stated: "All through history, leaders of governments have been putting guns in the hands of boys and sending them to kill each other by the thousands. With rare exceptions, these wars have been useless slaughters, and the justification for them is the same: 'War is Unpatriotic.'"

Aldrmn Concannon Enters State Legislature Contest

Alderman Thomas B. Concannon Jr. of 279 Linwood Avenue, Newtonville, has announced his candidacy for State Representative from the 12th Middlesex District. The 12th Middlesex District consists of Wards 1, 2, 3, and 7 of Newton.

Concannon, a lifelong resident of Newton, was elected Ward 2 Alderman in November 1968 by a margin of better than two to one. He is a graduate of Newton High School, Boston College, State College of Boston, and Suffolk University Law School. He earned degrees in economics, education, and law.

In his statement Concannon said, "I firmly believe that legislators should function as direct representatives of the people and am deeply committed to a program of truly responsive representation."

"Primary emphasis should be given to reforming our tax structures. Property owners presently carry too large a tax burden. Areas in which I will concentrate my efforts are: reorganization of state departmental authority to eliminate overlapping functions and duplication of expenditures; programs that will encourage school plant renovation in addition to new construction; investigation of the County system of government; and restudy of the MBTA deficit apportionment to reduce the inequitable assessment levied against Newton."

Concannon further stated, "I have maintained a 100% voting and attendance record as a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen, and I am pledged to continue this performance as a full time state legislator."

Concannon is presently employed as an attorney with the special education staff of the Boston Model Cities Administration. In this capacity he is responsible for formulating legislation and programs to benefit retarded children and children with learning problems.

As Ward 2 Alderman he serves on the following committees: License and Franchise; Public Building; and Joseph, a math major in the College of Arts and Sciences, will be entering a multi-disciplinary program in math, computer sciences and business management at MIT in the fall.

Brother Brian, graduating from the School of Education, is committed to two years in the Navy and plans then to start teaching.

A second double graduation father is William Haggerty of 13 Jennison St., Newton, a member of the Philosophy department at the Jesuit university.

His daughter Marylou will graduate from the Evening College and daughter Jane will receive her sheepskin from the School of Education.

Jane, an honors graduate, spent her junior year studying at Louvain University in Belgium and plans to commence graduate work at the University of Indiana next semester. Marylou plans to teach in the local area.

Ward 7 alderman agreed this would solve the Nonantum site problem for NCDE as well.

However, Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell warned that the owners of property that would be affected have "political influence" that could be used to block the idea.

Carmen suggested that if housing does go into Victory Field it should be built along the river, which is the area Post 440 now wants. This more pleasant spot, away from busy California St., is more conducive to housing in his opinion.

Speaking of Post 440's location, City Planner Michael Ferris said: "From an economic or political point of view, it might be feasible; but not from a planning point of view."

Carmen suggested that all the aldermen get together so that a comprehensive plan for Victory Field could be decided.

Not having 440's revised plan, the board voted to table the matter.

Only one of the would-be abutters on Rustic St. was not contacted and all the others were in favor, according to club member Alan Licari.

Urging the delay was Mrs. Elizabeth Ruiz, chairman of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, who agreed that the center would be an asset to the area but stressed the unresolved housing shortage as a reason to hold off action.

The Board of Aldermen has already approved the sale of a portion of the city-owned field to the post, which is now asking the required rezoning.

Mrs. Ruiz wants a decision regarding housing in Nonantum before the board acts. She emphasized the two current proposals for housing before the board, 43 units at the Stearns School by the Newton Community Development Foundation, and 20 units by the Newton Housing Authority at the remaining portion of Victory Field. She asked the board to wait until these two proposals are decided.

"In the context of a city-wide plan, each and every section of Newton should participate in the solution of our housing problem," she insisted.

In a later discussion among the Land Use members, Alderman William Carmen offered several suggestions, including the construction of 40 to 50 units at the field. He thought this could be done by utilizing the city-owned land remaining after the post is built and then adding to it property obtained from eminent domain.

Ward 7 alderman agreed this would solve the Nonantum site problem for NCDE as well.

However, Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell warned that the owners of property that would be affected have "political influence" that could be used to block the idea.

Girl Scouts Make Hit In Parade Here

One of the highlights of the Newton Memorial Day Parade was the Girl Scout delegation of Bay Path Colonial Council and their colorful float, headed "ACTION '70."

Scouts from all the Newtons participated in decorating the float, which this year emphasized ecology and conservation, keeping our countryside clean and free of litter, and the restoration and conservation of our forests which may have been affected by fires or disease.

Leaders of troops involved in the preparation were: Mrs. Julius Feldman, chairman; Mrs. Lawson Gassett, Mrs. Kathryn Cushman, Mrs. Edward Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Michael Tyler, Mrs. Robert Balaney, Mrs. Paul Gold.

The Scouts appearing on the float were: Brownie, Melissa Vitello; Brownie (representing Japan), Marlen Tlac; Juniors, Diane Macmillan; Anne Portnoy, Elaine Chin, Teresa Fitzpatrick; Cadettes, Linda Gassett, Sharon K. Cushman, Barbara Belaney, Lisa Thorman, and Patricia Carey.

The Oak Hill School will have a family night on Tuesday, June 16th at 6 p.m.

Highlights of the evening will include a picnic supper on the lawn of the Oak Hill School. Drinks and ice cream will be sold.

There will also be a Fine Arts Festival, featuring all the children of the Oak Hill School. This festival will include physical education demonstrations, art displays and musical performances.

The final general PTA meeting of the year with election of officers will also be held at this time.

All members of each Oak Hill School family are cordially invited and urged to attend this gala evening.

Committee chairmen of Family Night are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Wasserman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurwitz.

Teacher From Newton To Take Summer Course

Norton A. Levy, a teacher of mathematics at the Concord - Carlisle High School in Concord, is among 50 secondary school teachers to attend a National Science Foundation Summer Institute at the University of Maine this summer.

The institute is designed to improve the subject matter competence of teachers, to emphasize the teacher's role in motivating able students to consider careers in mathematics and afford an opportunity to discuss teaching problems.

Participants receive a weekly stipend and tuition for the institute, and courses can be applied to master of education degree requirements.

Kenneth Kurson Re-elected Head Jewish Service

Kenneth M. Kurson of Waban was elected to a third term as president of the Jewish Family and Children's Service at the agency's annual meeting recently at the Belmont Country Club.

Incumbent officers in addition to Mr. Kurson, who were re-elected are Robert C. Schaye, first vice-president; Joseph B. Manello, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Salter, secretary.

Burton J. Gens was elected second vice-president, succeeding Harvey I. Potcher who will continue to serve on the JF&CS board of directors.

Three Graduate From Lowell Tech

Three Newton students received their bachelor's degrees from Lowell Technological Institute last Sunday, June 7. They are Fred B. Kaplan, Gerald N. Goldberg and Charles Frederick Sterling III.

Kaplan is the son of Mrs. Harry Kaplan of 521 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton. He will receive the B.S. in electrical engineering. He is vice chairman of the Lowell Tech Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and a resident advisor at Leitch Hall.

Goldberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goldberg of 20 Lewis Street, Newton. He received his B.S. degree in plastics technology. A member of the Society of Plastics Engineers, he is active in Delta Kappa Phi fraternity.

Sterling, a resident of 74 Rockland place, Newton, graduated from the Lowell Technological Institute in service training program.

The principal speaker at the commencement exercise was Elliot L. Richardson, Undersecretary of State and former attorney general and lieutenant governor of Massachusetts. He received an honorary Doctor of Science degree.

Mrs. Edward W. Brooke of Newton, wife of the U.S. Senator, is chairman of the art auction. David Lilly of Newton, right, president of the David Lilly Construction Co., Inc., is general chairman of the art school's development program. Looking on as plans are discussed, are, left, Atty. Herbert Tucker, and William F. Kenney, executive vice president of King's Department Stores.

Zinn-

tions for them have been lies. "Young men go (to war) full of life, and come back across the oceans in plastic bags and wooden boxes."

Each time the radical speaker touched a sensitive nerve, a few more students and guests stood up and strode out, until about 150 protestors were gathered behind the stadium.

During the address, the loudspeaker system failed three times. On several occasions he was heckled and once, near the end of his talk, a group of parents began to sing "God Bless America."

Demanding an end to the war in Vietnam, which he termed "stupid and immoral," Zinn attempted to define "two kinds of patriots" but was interrupted by a student who rose and shouted: "And you're not one of them, you ding-dong."

At another point in the speech, an adult, probably the father of a graduating student, called out: "We came here for a graduation; get off the podium."

Although the majority remained silent throughout the talk, many appeared to be quietly expressing their disagreement by constantly waving small American flags. Zinn claimed that "most of the people fighting us are not North Vietnamese, but South Vietnamese" and added "If Vietnamese does go Communist, so what?"

In addition to attacking our intervention in Vietnam, he stated "our election system is a fraud. Elections are not democratic, they are only a pretense of democracy." He also announced that Newton citizens will participate again on Friday in a non-violent action by blocking buses at the Newton draft board.

It was noted that Senator Edward W. Brooke, whose daughter, Edwina Helene was among the 820 graduates, remained throughout the controversial speech but did not join with those who gave the speaker a standing ovation at the finish.

Professor Zinn's selection as speaker by a vote of Newton High seniors last month set off a controversy among parents and city officials. Twice, the School Committee voted not to take a stand for or against the student choice, and for this "hands-off" policy, the Committee was commended at the ceremonies by Class president Elliott G. Baker who also praised the administration and Principal Richard W. Mechem for their support.

"It could be said they had no other choice," Baker stated, "because how could they say no and then say that the students, after 13 years in the school system, are mature enough to make decisions in later life. The two contradict each other."

However, a group who called themselves "concerned parents of graduating seniors," stated that, in their opinion, members of the School Committee and Superintendent Aaron Fink "exercised very poor judgment in sanctioning someone as controversial as Prof. Zinn to talk before a captive audience."

"These days," they said, after walking out "where extremism right and left is so prevalent in our society, Prof. Zinn is out of place at such a significant event."

When Zinn concluded speaking, some of the students rose, raised their fists in the "strike" salute and shouted "Right on." Many of those who had left the stadium in protest then returned to their seats in order to receive their diplomas.

One senior, Peter Forte, said: "He spoiled my graduation."

His work on his Thesis Topic "A Study of the Relationship of Non-Cognitive Factors and General Intelligence to Academic Achievement" led to his developing a parent counseling program at Meadowbrook to aid parents of under achieving students to work more effectively with their children.

Dr. Goff began his teaching career in 1954 as a Grade Six teacher in the Norwood Public Schools and later he taught Special Class (educables) Children there. In 1960 he came to Meadowbrook Junior High School as an English and Social Studies teacher.

Before becoming Assistant Principal, Dr. Goff served as a Counselor for six years and for 2 years he was Director of Research for the school under a special ESEA Title III project grant.

In addition to his job as Assistant Principal, Dr. Goff is a Lecturer on the staff of Boston University where he teaches in the Department of Counsel for Education and the Department of Curriculum and Instruction.

He has also been a consultant to Interactives Learning Systems in Boston, a company established to provide computer based guidance support systems to schools.

Dr. Goff has worked as a consultant to the Tupelo School System, Tupelo, Mississippi, the Jericho School System, Watertown, South Dakota, and the City of Newton Art Projects.

He has delivered papers at the American Personnel and Guidance Association Conventions in Boston in 1963 and in Minneapolis in 1965, and at the University of Connecticut in 1967.

Other experience includes: Researcher, Newton-Baker Cabot School Project, a program designed to aid alienated boys in the age range 12-16; Resident Foster Father, Walker Home for Children, Needham, Mass.

A clear camera eye and an artful printing hand make John's showing worth viewing. Rivers Country Day student, John will be a sophomore in September. He has already contributed to his community with his camera by screening a slide-tape he created, "Pollution Paradox," at Newtonville Branch Library's Earth Day Teach-In in April.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney T. Green of 1935 Beacon Street, Waban, John has experimented with unusual printing techniques and papers, such as the method he used to point up the gentle delicacy of the single portrait in his library show, giving a cobweb-like effect to the photo.

John has also experimented with use of a small aperture to utilize deep perspective and with a wide aperture to produce limited field depth. After printing a predetermined number of each shot, John, unlike most photographers, destroys the negative.

Master of his own darkroom, he built himself a rube goldberg press for $5.56 on which he turns out professionally matted pictures.

Photos by John Huss Green have been selected for use in his school's magazine and yearbook, and have also been shown at Accents Limited, Waban.

The one-young-man show remains on view through late June.

"Cultural Insanity"

Four of 10 defendants found guilty of destroying the records of a Chicago Selective Service Board offered an unusual defense.

They pleaded they suffered "cultural insanity."

They argued that their political beliefs and their behavior at the draft board office were a form of insanity induced by America's participation in the Vietnam war and by the racist policies of Selective Service Boards.

It required five weeks to try the case. A mixed jury of men and women, black and white, returned the verdicts after deliberating less than three hours.

The basic facts did not appear in dispute. It appears a group of 15 persons had forced its way into a Selective Service office, seized files and burned them in an alley. They waited until police arrived to arrest them. They made sure newsmen were on hand before they set a torch to the files.

Four disappeared before trial. One was adjudged mentally incompetent. The remaining 10 during the five weeks of trial used, said the judge who presided, "every tactic that could be attempted, playing to the public to encourage others to carry out the same objectives."

The blatant attempt to turn a court of justice into a mocking vehicle of propaganda failed. The defendants who included a clergyman and a seminarian, did their best to impose on a court of justice a brand of hysteresis suited only for enkindling the passions of a street mob.

The "cultural insanity" plea helped four of them to open avenues of testimony which served their propaganda purposes.

It is quite possible they have added a new phrase to the glib present-day vocabularies of the devotees of the extreme left.

It could have an effect they do not desire on the minds of normal persons.

Courage

Once again a spectacular air hi-jacking has brought into sharp focus the imperative need of finding an effective answer to this insane threat to air traffic safety.

Once again the entire nation has known the icy post-deed horror of contemplating the frightful loss of life — "if that plane had crashed."

Some day — and the sooner the better — an answer will be found to these hi-jackings.

Meanwhile, the enormity of the crime has served to obscure one factor which has prevented a high loss of life in the long series of air piracies which have afflicted this most important modern form of transportation.

The industry points with pride to the incidence of fatal crashes when compared with the millions of air and passenger miles flown by commercial aircraft. That incidence is indeed small and there is every reason to believe that it will be further reduced in the future.

The fact that there has been no wholesale loss of life in hi-jackings can be attributed in a very large measure to those men and women on whose shoulders rest most of the responsibility for the operation of a plane once an intruder has taken command.

In a hi-jacking those crews are subject to split-second decisions which must always be right. In many cases they are dealing with insane armed persons. They are at the mercy of the hi-jacker. One unguarded remark could mean death for all on board. One ill-advised gesture toward overcoming the intruder could bring about the same result.

The pilots, the co-pilots, the engineers and the stewardesses who have manned those hi-jacked planes have established a proud tradition in this newest form of transportation. The airlines themselves have been wise in advising crews to obey the pirates until the plane is finally delivered out of the hi-jacker's hands.

The wounding of a pilot in Boston and that of another at Dulles Field could easily have been fatal.

Those crews deserve the thanks of a grateful nation. They have uniformly exhibited skill, courage and a sterling knowledge of human psychology under near-impossible conditions.

2nd Masters For Newton Teacher

For many persons in the academic world the attainment of one master's degree usually is a difficult enough task, but not for Mary Iatridis of 288 Prince St., West Newton.

The wife of Dr. Demetrius Iatridis, Director of the Institute of Human Sciences of Boston College, will receive her Master's in Urban Education, having already won a Master's degree in Chemistry from Carnegie Tech.

In addition, Mrs. Iatridis has been accepted for the Ph.D. program in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. During the past year she was a chemistry instructor at Newton High School and taught the second semester at the New School in Roxbury. In the months ahead, Mrs. Iatridis will devote her time to her four young children and to teaching science to nursing classes at Boston City Hospital.

Deborah L. Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crosby of Newton was recently graduated from the management course at Burdett College, a junior college of business in Boston.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHICWill It Work?

Editor of The Graphic:

No one knows if the plan will work. It's never been tried. But Newton residents have voted against their scattered sight low-income housing program three to one.

Supported by HEW Secretary, George Romney, the local Chamber of Commerce and religious organizations for the most part, the Newton Community Development Foundation plan to house approximately five hundred low and moderate income families from Newton and surrounding towns on ten scattered sites throughout the town of a hundred thousand has literally caused panic in the neighborhoods involved.

Zoning has not been settled. An organization of twenty two priests, ministers and rabbis bombed Newton with the dramatic concept, brilliant in composition, a first in public housing ideas.

NCDF had ten sites picked out by a Boston engineering firm without regard for zoning laws, then attempted to use public opinion to force rezoning.

The plan is brilliant engineering-wise, but public relations-wise, those who refute the idea have been forced into positions of hypocrisy, racism and snobs. It has infuriated them.

The individual neighborhoods in opposition have no desire to host fifty inter-racial low-income families. Traffic, no playgrounds, taxes, overcrowded schools, and lack of adequate garbage collection are the patent issues concocted by abutters (those who live on the borders of the proposed sites). "Bless Our Garden City," say they.

The local black church has called the objections an act of racism and class struggle. Probably racism has a little to do with it.

And class struggle based on comfort and income have something to do with it, but most of all the sudden attack on the integrity of the individuals living in the neighborhoods by public opinion have caused most Newton residents to oppose any idea of public housing on so vast a scattered site basis.

Somewhere along the line, do-gooders at the top failed to understand that people prefer courtesy to public self-righteousness, and personal contact and persuasion to public opinion pressures. Those Newton residents to host the new projects were not called upon personally nor appealed to one family at a time.

The entire idea, a good one for the most part, fell on Newton like an earthquake. It became a national issue before residents had had a chance to cough. Now neighborhood vigilante committees have left the idea of public housing altogether and defend the right to live according to class comforts; the right to buy privacy at the expense of the poverty stricken. (In short, "zoning," come Hell or high water).

Lost in the tempers are those who cannot live decently. Some in Roxbury live eight in a room and eat noodles and spaghetti. Rent based on "problems" is not the difference between a rowboat or a motor boat, a trip to the zoo or a trip to the Cape.

It's the difference between hamburger once a week, for many, or three meals a day of cereal and spaghetti.

The Newton Housing Authority have somehow kept out of the fracas and remained with its rent subsidy program based on 4400 dollars per year income for a family of two and 400 dollars extra per child.

It subsidizes these families with the interest of HUB by as much as twenty eight dollars a month. (Newton residents only).

The need for a large public housing project, similar to the one proposed by NCDF, is based on the fact over seven hundred applicants (none now make less than $6,000 annually. As well, over four hundred applicants (none displaced by federal projects) have registered with the town housing authority. Only a small percentage, however, can actually qualify based on a 4400 dollar a year income.

The NCDF plan has qualification limits based on annual income of between 5500 and 11,000 dollars depending on family size. A family of eight, for example could apply to the NCDF group even if the family made 10,000 annually. For the most part under $8,000 a year is the limit set.

meetings, infuriated abutters shout taxes, traffic conditions, flooding (three sites are on wetlands) over crowded schools, improper garbage collection as it is, pollution, no

To Mayor on Zinn

Mayor Monte G. Basbas

Newton City Hall
Walnut Street
Newton Centre, Mass. 02159

Dear Mayor Basbas:

As a Newton voter, a Newton High School graduate and more recently a graduate of Tufts University, I feel compelled to inform you of my reaction to your views on the choice of the Senior Class for the speaker at their commencement this year.

First, although I know few of the details surrounding the method of selection, I am skeptical of the Mayor's role in it under any circumstances.

Your voice in opposition to the student choice is guaranteed you under the Constitution, but as a citizen, and not in your capacity as Mayor. Further, as I understand that the selection was to be made by the students, it seems that you have fallen into the trap so often described by radicals to moderates: allowing yourself (and the students who accepted the procedures as a bond fide one) to think for a moment that students have anything to say about their lives—the 'student as nigger' is once again vindicated by your actions; I hope the radicals appreciate your having stoaked the fires of their rhetoric.

When will you and your generation understand that if you mean to give the students or any other group decision-making power, you must be sincere and really follow through, not by refusing to take part because their selection was not according to criteria you thought of as a justification for why you will not attend after the choice has been made.

While I agree with you that Mr. Zinn espouses somewhat less than moderate views, since when was this established as a criterion for the selection of the speaker? Certainly if the elected School Board has the discretion to stay out of the matter entirely, as was the original intent of the arrangement as I have understood it, who are you to be advocating the indiscretion they so wisely avoided?

I think you are establishing room for playground, and the fact that those displaced by federal projects would have first choice, while on the other side the defense rocks with philanthropy concepts, charity, pity, "have heart" and blacks are human too.

Neither side is answering the other. Silently underlying the total argument is quite simply "We don't want those kind of people in our neighborhood" versus "Gee, ain't it too bad to be poor."

Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF)

In 1968 a group of ministers, rabbis, and priests in Newton decided that it was time to do something about inadequate housing and in Newton, Boston in general. Newton already had a program of a kind based on rent subsidies. Also the Housing Authority had two plans in mind to build public housing projects.

The young families in Newton, who were believed to give vitality to the town were moving out, housing being too steep for the most part for the young. ($200.00 a month).

The idea was to build high quality housing for low-income families. This is not low-cost housing, but the finest housing available. To meet neighborhood character, the houses involved would be only two stories high, semi-independent dwellings, forty percent landscaping (including play facilities) for the space involved, 3,000 plus square feet.

Each housing site would provide homes for about fifty families. There would be ten sites each near one of Newton's fourteen villages. In this way schooling would not be a problem, in that one school would be burdened with more than a few students.

Newton has some thirty odd schools. Ideally FHA loans with only 1 percent interest, federal support, and state support, eradicated building-cost problems. Allegedly five hundred thousand to one million dollars a year taxes as well would come out of the residents of the new housing.

It all sounded too good to be true. And it was. What's more, since the fracas began, the new Housing Authority project to be constructed in Newton Lower Falls, a 5,000,000 dollar state aided innovation, has fallen through mysteriously.

Few know the connection between the sudden reversal in this urban renewal concept and the politics of NCDA and neighborhood vigilante committees.

Sincerely,
Leslie N. Davis

Now I see a change in pattern in this involvement—a change for the better—and a far more effective approach. They have turned from demonstrations to dialogue.

During the past month, I have spoken with hundreds of students in my Washington office and with countless others on visits to Massachusetts. Among them were a few radicals who would not listen, but with the vast majority it was not difficult to engage in rational debate because of underlying mutual respect and sincerity. This candid exchange, I believe, was as fruitful for the students as it was for me.

Throughout the course of our discussion, I stressed how important it is for students who are genuinely concerned to separate themselves from anarchists and revolutionaries who are capturing the headlines. These vociferous few possess no faith in democracy and seek to destroy it without offering a constructive alternative. They "turn off" Congressmen just as they "turn off" other American citizens who value the American heritage and the freedom it offers to seek ways to make our world a better place to live. The student radicals, I pointed out, have created a public backlash.

Most of the students with whom I have spoken have shared my objective to improve the quality of American life. With this starting point of mutual interest bridging the generation gap, it becomes clear that the assets and energy of youth are a promising resource for problem solving in the seventies.

New and innovative approaches must be devised if we are to cope effectively with ever-changing conditions and ever-increasing needs. Greater understanding and mutual respect for the opinions of others must be nurtured among the generations as a necessary step in the implementation of our cooperative problem-solving process. As long as channels of communications are open, reason is bound to flourish. My student discussions opened areas of agreement and disagreement. In my judgment, honest debate cannot be dangerous.

When our young people work within a system of government that has proven its merits over the past two centuries, it augurs well for the future strength of our country. Politically active students will become politically active adults. The flexibility of democracy fosters the further development of an improved society. If the youth of today will respect democracy and its fundamental basis that the majority will rule and the minority will be heard, their powers of persuasion will be much enhanced, producing some disappointments but also some potentially very satisfying results.

Many of these students were surprised that I was willing to see them, that I, as a Member of Congress would be accessible to them. Their surprise rather puzzled me, for I feel it is my responsibility to be available to all my constituents.

But the students comprise only one of many factions of opinion. A Member of Congress seeks to keep the lines of communication open to all segments of the community. In the legislative process, which is essentially educational in nature, the Member of Congress derives enlightenment as well as inspiration from the views of his constituents.

Of course, not everyone can come to Washington to see his Representative in Congress as the students are doing. It is for this reason that I make as many trips to Massachusetts as the legislative calendar and my other Congressional responsibilities will permit.

I attend public meetings, address civic organizations, and travel around the Tenth District whenever I can. I have also found it very helpful to maintain a trailer as a mobile office so that my constituents will have an opportunity to confer with me privately in the local community. I value highly these visits with my constituents because I learn firsthand their problems, their needs, their concerns on an individual basis.

When personal contact is not possible, the telephone is a good second best. Although I cannot always be at my desk in Washington because of frequent committee meetings and roll calls in the Capitol, from eleven to twelve o'clock each Tuesday morning I am available for "Hot Line" calls from constituents regarding legislative opinions or personal problems. This service is available through my District Offices in Wellesley and Fall River, where my staff is always glad to make Hot Line arrangements.

Written communication is also very important to me as a Member of Congress. I rely on the arguments presented by well informed persons as a significant part of my legislative decision-making. Letters are an extremely helpful source of information in keeping in touch with my District.

Not everyone is inclined to write his Congressman to register opinions, just as not everyone can come to the Capitol in person. In order to reach all my constituents and solicit their views, I sent out an annual legislative questionnaire to all residents of my Congressional District. The citizens completing my legislative questionnaire will be faced with the same dilemma that often confronts me. It is extremely frustrating to have to vote "yea" or "nay" on a complex issue. Yet on a daily basis, the Member of Congress must decide yes or no on very complicated matters.

Each and every vote in the House requires a judgment on the part of the Member. The cross-fertilization of ideas between Congressman and constituent has a very influential role in the legislative process.

The Congressman must fit into place information from many different sources in order to arrive at a truly well considered decision. Committee hearings and expert testimony are very instructive. Experts, of course, frequently disagree. Once again the individual congressman must sift through the facts to formulate a relevant position on any given issue.

I do a great deal of reading, using both general background materials as well as specific reference sources. Daily newspapers and the daily Congressional Record, as well as weekly and monthly periodicals, are indispensable sources for the Congressman. I might add, too, that the fine daily and weekly newspapers serving the Tenth District are very helpful to me in keeping in touch with news of my constituency, their opinions, and problems.

All Members of Congress are occupied to a great extent by the details of the legislative process. Law making must be a perpetual process of seeking insight and inspiration, of establishing realistic goals and evolving means to attain them. The Congressman strives to assess the public need and to fulfill this need through means that are fair and equitable, to meet the needs of the public with the least amount of private inconvenience possible, one might say.

The legislative process is an unending search for truth in terms of effective solutions. The challenge of equitable law-making is implicit in our American heritage, and the mandate of each new Congress has been to carry on in this tradition of the past.

The legislative process is by no means the only responsibility of the Congressman. And because of the seniority system, it is not the role in which the Member without long seniority derives his greatest satisfaction.

Congressional reform is another topic entirely but closely interwoven into the fabric of legislative decision making. Time and space will not permit discussion of this issue, but let it suffice to say that it is long overdue and hopefully not too far away.

The role of the Congressman has many important facets. It is unfortunate but true that in a bureaucracy the size of ours the individual does not always receive the attention he deserves. A Member of Congress may be helpful to his constituent by unraveling federal red-tape. Only recently we were able to expedite payment of a badly needed social security claim that was years retroactive. It required a long overdue but handsome check for the recipient.

Families with sons wounded in Viet Nam often seek my assistance in obtaining rapidly a medical report. There are countless other human problems that require Congressional intervention in order to be resolved.

It is also the job of the Congressman to champion federal projects important to the development of his District. In recent months I have spent a great deal of time speaking out in behalf of federal funds for sections of my district. I have time and again urged the Post Office Department to resolve the critical problem posed to mail service by the inadequate postal facilities in Needham and Natick. I have also spoken out in strong protest to discontinuance of commuter service in the Boston-Providence corridor—a serious complication to an already urgent transportation problem in New England.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Democrats Write

The following letter to Mayor Basbas was sent by the Ward 2 Democratic Committee with a request that it be published in The Graphic.

The Honorable Monte Basbas
Mayor of the City of Newton
City Hall
Newton, Massachusetts

Dear Mayor Basbas:
The Ward 2 Democratic Committee wishes to express its approval of the ideas behind Directive No. 13-69 dealing with Equal Employment Contract Compliance. However, upon closer scrutiny, we feel that adherence to its principles would be enhanced by requiring use of specific numbers and dates, especially in the following sections of the directive:

In section 2a, rather than expressing the negative aspect, "will not discriminate", a specified percentage of qualified minority group workers should be hired for each job to be performed.

Section 3a states that "Each contractor... shall file... compliance reports with the contracting agency. Compliance reports... shall contain a statement that the provisions of Directive No. 13-69 have been complied with." The Committee feels that a statement that Directive No. 13-69 has been complied with is meaningless, unless the contractor lists how many or what percentage of minority group persons are employed in carrying out his contract.

Section 3b states that "the decision of the contractor... as to qualification (of a prospective employee) will be final." Nevertheless, it seems that in the case of a person who is a member of a trade union as a journeyman, regardless of race, creed, or color, he has already been qualified for a job, and therefore the decision of the contractor is irrelevant.

Section 4 states that "The City may, when it deems that special circumstances so require, exempt a contracting agency from the requirement of including any or all of the provisions of section 2 of this directive... contracts of all types involving less than one hundred thousand dollars will be exempt from this directive... Since special circumstances could be used by one who does not wish to comply, and since many city contracts are for amounts under one hundred thousand dollars, this section provides a loophole which could greatly diminish the value of this directive.

Section 5a states that "each contracting agency... (is) further directed to appoint or designate... compliance officers." To augment this, we feel that these compliance officers should be directly responsible to the City Clerk or one Administrative Assistant to the Mayor. This person would then have a clear pic-

Need for Housing

Editor of The Graphic:

I am in favor of the NCDF plan to build low and moderate income housing in the city of Newton. In this day and age with racial and social problems as they are, the opportunity to have people of varied backgrounds, income levels, religions and color, living closely together in a city or town is a step in the right direction to help solve some of these problems. Newton can do its part by giving support to the NCDF plan.

Surely you are all aware that there is a need for decent, low and moderate income housing in Newton. If you are not cognizant, you should be, because there are people living in housing in our city that have no hot water, leaky roofs, broken windows, poor heating, rats, roaches, inferior plumbing and wiring, falling plaster and all the other ills of poor housing. NCDF could be a solution to this type of housing and support of this plan could be a giant step in the right direction to supply decent housing for all people living in inferior housing.

As a black man I am very concerned about a lot of the remarks that I hear from the opponents of the NCDF plan regarding, "those kind of people", "outsiders", "non-Newton people".

As a black man I wonder who are these people that the ture of the degree of success in achieving compliance with this directive.

The phrase "reasonable time limitation" used in section 5b for securing compliance with this directive, is open to loose interpretation. A time limit should be set.

Sections 6a, 6b, and 6c state, respectively, that "In the case of contracts for the erection of public buildings, it shall be the duty of the Architect for such building to report any violations of this directive to the Public Buildings Commissioner... In the case of other Public Works Contracts, the department head responsible for the execution of the contract will also be responsible for the carrying out of this directive... In the case of other contracts solely for the purchase of supplies and materials or for services, it shall be the duty of the Purchasing Agent to carry out the requirements of this directive... As already suggested in the Committee's comment on Section 5a, only one person should oversee execution of this directive. This person should be required to submit reports to the Mayor at specified intervals.

We hope that you will see fit to follow up these suggestions. The Committee feels that only after these are added to the content of this directive, can the training and employment of qualified minority group workers be achieved successfully by the City.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. Margaret Hannigan
Chairman,
Newton Ward 2 Democratic Committee

For Sex Education

Editor of The Graphic:

The officers of the Hyde School P.T.A., Newton, Mass., wish to be recorded as being in strong and unanimous opposition to House Bill No. 5730, which would bar public school instruction in sex education.

This matter is an emotional opponents refer to, for I find it difficult to believe that white people are referring to other white people when using these terms. I find it difficult to believe that white people are worried or concerned about what kind of other white people are going to live in or near their neighborhoods, for if this is in fact true, Newton and the rest of the country is in a sorry state.

The opposition stated that just because people oppose the housing is no reason for them to be labeled racists and this is in fact true, but on the other side, when other requests by builders, to erect apartment houses, garden type apartments, high rise apartments and even homes for the elderly are brought before the Board of Aldermen the citizens of Newton never have questioned "who is going to live in the housing", "transportation is going to be a problem", "the people will not be able to afford to shop in the stores" and the "impact on the tax rate".

The opponents and I know that when these questions are asked they are talking about black people. There have been many apartment houses built in Newton, to name a few, Imperial Towers, Hammond House, Langley Rd., Chestnut St., North St., Washington St., Grove St., and Washington Park, and I honestly ask you have any of the objections you hear to NCDF been raised regarding the above mentioned apartments.

As a native of Newton, I am shocked and disappointed and disillusioned at the so called liberal citizens that are supposed to live in Newton, who it appears are not so liberal when the problem comes into their backyard. I am not so naive as to believe that racism and prejudice does not prevail in Newton as it does all over the country, but to the degree that it has raised its ugly head in Newton is amazing.

I am afraid that the opposition's objections to NCDF are only masks for their real concern, that black people may move into their neighborhoods, or should I say "those kind of people", more than one family at a time.

Society needs to revalue its priorities before there is no society left and it must strive to get its people to begin to live harmoniously with one another. We must ask ourselves when did we last do something to benefit someone other than ourselves. Newton citizens and members of the Board of Aldermen, I urge you to lend your support to NCDF and do a small part to help make Newton a better place to live.

Mr. Walter Haywood
Newtonville, Mass.

Letter to Legion

American Legion
Post No. 440
142 Adams Street
Newton, Mass.

Dear Sirs:

I read today in the Newton Graphic of the veterans organizations' letter to the School Committee objecting to Newton High's Senior Class choice of Professor Howard Zinn as a commencement speaker. The objections disturbed me greatly.

First of all, I believe that the students have every right to choose whomever they want for a speaker without outside advice. I believe Newton educates its students well - they are not by any means making an irresponsible choice; and furthermore, I believe that a high school senior's graduation is an important event and choosing their own speaker is a reflection of their assumption of their responsibility to the world they live in. It is their ceremony, not yours.

Secondly, your portrayal of Professor Zinn as one who would be an unthinking, one-sided, ranting and raving would be no further from the reality. I have known him for many years as a close family friend, and I find him to be one of the most admirable men I have ever met. He is a deeply thoughtful, intelligent, loving and kind man who has tremendous courage.

His actions are motivated by an immense concern for our country and for all humanity. He listens well, and I am sure that he understands and considers other points of view - his opinions are a matter of the wisest choice.

You imply that a person with an opinion is somehow evil and bad - "one-sided." If that is so, everyone who has ever had the courage of their convictions would be exempt from speaking, no matter what they believed.

I think that in choosing Professor Zinn to speak, this year's seniors have acted in a thoughtful, independent, timely and admirable way.

Sincerely yours,
Cara Crosby
Newton High, Class of 1965

Should Praise Nixon

Editor of the Graphic:

It is fortunate that the so-called "Anti-Cambodian" resolution was "charters" by a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen and its passage prevented.

While people of goodwill will sympathize with members of the Board who wish to articulate the yearning for peace, common sense dictates another hard look should be given the proposed resolution.

Passage of the resolution would indicate that the board members fail to understand the recent maneuver in Cambodia as a "tactic of disengagement" which is succeeding in expediting the safe withdrawal of American troops out of Vietnam.

In order to carry out the announced withdrawals of our troops, it was necessary to eliminate the threat to the exposed flank of our forces and this is what was done. Instead of criticism, the President deserves praise for taking a bold and courageous step to speed up the end of warfare in Vietnam.

The Board of Aldermen should look at the overall picture. If they do so with open minds they will be moved to commend the Administration for moving our nation in the direction of peace and demilitarization.

When President Nixon took office he found more than five hundred thousand troops in Vietnam. He has brought home more than one hundred thousand and by next June we will have reduced the American forces in Vietnam by more than 50 percent.

Related to this reduction in manpower is the welcome overall curtailment of defense expenditures announced by from speaking, no matter what they believed.

I think that in choosing Professor Zinn to speak, this year's seniors have acted in a thoughtful, independent, timely and admirable way.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird. With four hundred thousand fewer men now in uniform than when President Nixon took office, and with additional cuts in the making, defense expenditures are down by nearly eight billion dollars a year.

Draft calls are approximately one half what they were when the administration took over.

In the light of the overall facts the Board would be well advised to drop the proposed resolution. If any resolution is justified it should be one expressing confidence in our country and a prayer for success of the continuing efforts to extricate ourselves from our difficulties abroad.

It is utterly wrong for us to constantly burden our own country with blame and criticism and at the same time completely ignore the responsibility of aggressor communist forces which imperil us and freemen everywhere.

Balanced judgment calls for recognition of the very real threat that exists to the safety of the United States and free nations all over the world because of communist paramilitary adventures.

Members of the Board must be aware of the pressures being exerted on our country by Russia and China in every area of the world, particularly in Southeast Asia and the Middle East where free men are actually fighting for their lives.

We must face the hard fact that peace is not ours simply by asking for it, or by wishful thinking. Peace will not be achieved by our unilateral action. The so-called "Anti-Cambodian" resolution would not hasten the day of peace. Indeed, there is good reason to believe it would do the cause of peace and freedom disservice since it is unrelated to facts or reality.

In our democratic society it is especially imperative that leadership at the local level avoid irresponsible emotionalism.

We need to hold on to our reason and courage lest as we seek peace we fall victim to deception and fear, achie-

2 Newtonites Elected By B.C. Alumni

Giles E. Mosher Jr. of 32 Helden Road, West Newton, was elected President of the Boston College Alumni Association for the coming year and Dr. John McGillicuddy of 88 Devonshire Rd., Waban, was elected Treasurer during recent alumni elections held at the Chestnut Hill campus.

Mosher served as first vice president of the Alumni Association and is a trustee of St. Elizabeth's Hospital and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. A member of the class of 1955, he succeeds Richard J. Schoenfeld, class of 1943, of Newton as president.

Dr. McGillicuddy, an orthopedic surgeon on the staff of St. Elizabeth's Hospital and Chief of Orthopedic Service of Santa Maria Hospital was elected Alumni of the Year in 1966. He is a member of the class of 1934.

BREAK the smoking habit

telephone 536-3370 today

Can you give up cigarettes without gaining weight?

It's not as difficult as it sounds. A research team associated with the Harvard Medical School—working under a grant from the American Cancer Society—developed a new approach to the smoking problem. It's not designed to test your will power. Some people just can't kick the habit overnight. Others who try the "candy" cure simply start smoking again to control their weight. The Habit Control Program is designed for people who want to give up cigarettes but who don't want to disrupt their families or jobs.

The Habit Control Program gradually disassociates smoking from the signals that prompt you to light up—situations like having a cup of coffee or talking on the telephone. You give up smoking a little at a time.

It's really as simple as that. If you follow the program you can give up cigarettes. If you'd like to learn more about the Habit Control Program from the behavioral scientists who developed it, telephone our office at 536-3370. There's no obligation. You'll get all the details firsthand from one of the scientists on the original Harvard research team.

Senior Concert Tomorrow Night

The All Newton Music School invites the public to its Senior Concert on Friday evening, June 12th at 8:00 at the Newton Center Women's Club, 1280 Centre Street, Newton Centre.

The following seniors will present movements from piano concerti: Susan Wilbar (Newton), will play Allegro from Mozart concerto in D major K. 175 and Jane Guterman (Worcester) will play Beethoven's Allegro con brio from Concerto No. 3 in C minor.

Other soloists are Carolyn Mosher, soprano (Newtonville); Jeanne Meserve, flute (Waltham); Sheila Schneider, soprano (Newton Highlands); and Esther Salmi, flute (Holden).

An original composition called "Allegretto" by Lila Pradell which was written for a performance at the All Newton Music School had on Channel 5 this winter, will open the concert. Mrs. Pradell is on the piano faculty of All Newton Music School.

Some of the younger students in violin, cello, flute, clarinet and recorders are performing this piece.

The concert is free, no tickets are required.

Graduation Awards By Phi Beta Kappa Group

As has been their custom for several years, the Newton Members of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic honor society, have, through their steering committee, made awards to outstanding students graduating from the two Newton high schools and from Newton Junior College.

Prize books are awarded at the high schools for excellence in studies, genuine intellectual interest and high moral character, whereas a cash prize is given at the junior college for distinguished scholarship, outstanding citizenship and intellectual promise.

At Monday's graduation ceremonies Joan Leslie Arons of Newton South High School and Martha D. McDaniel of Newton High School were honored through the presentation of two books, "Civilization" in which Kenneth Clark explores history and culture through the creative works of Western man and "Our Vanishing Wilderness" by Mary Louise

He also deplored the absolute moral certainty that is so often flaunted by persons on both sides of the public debate, and cited this as an example of the refusal to communicate.

Two of the graduates also addressed the audience, while Dr. James J. Whalen, newly installed president of the college, awarded the 211 degrees.

4 Local Scouts Due For N. Mexico Trip

Four Boy Scouts from Newton will leave July 11 for a high-adventure trip in the mountains of Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base in northeastern New Mexico.

They are James E. Costa, Kenneth Hiller and Douglas H. Wilkins of Newton Upper Falls, Troop 214, and Marc Wexler of Newton Centre, Troop 218.

Representing the Norumbega Council, BSA, they will travel to Philmont by air, according to Parker McCartney, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 145, Wellesley, member of the Westwell District Camping and Activities Committee, and a registered Scouter for 32 years, who will lead this year's contingent. Mr. McCartney is a member of the Wellesley Fire Department.

At the 214-square-mile ranch, the expedition will meet their ranger who will lead and train them on the trails for the first three days of their 10-day wilderness trek.

On the Philmont trails, the Scouts and Explorers will participate in various programs offered in many mountain camps by more than 400 trained staff members.

These programs include earth science, gold panning, mining, rock climbing, archaeological study and digging, burrow packing, and horseback riding.

The boys will be among the 17,000 other Scouts who will meet the rugged Philmont challenge this summer, Mr. McCartney said, and the rugged hiking and camping experience will reinforce the slogan of the Boy Scouts of America that America's manpower begins with BOYPOWER.

The 1970 expedition represents the 17th year that the Norumbega Council has provided the opportunity for local Scouts to take part in the high-adventure activity.

Second Baptist Church Sets Up Musical Events

During the dates of June 16-21, the Second Baptist Church will have Joe Talley and his musical family bringing special music and messages.

These musical artists have appeared in many of the largest city auditoriums in America and have been featured on over 300 radio stations in Canada and the United States in addition to a wide television ministry.

They are heard around the world by missionary radio. The Talleys have been three times around the world with the gospel reaching 70 different countries. They have had a wide hearing in many high schools and colleges.

They play trombone, piano, organ, electric steel guitar, banjo, accordion and flute. Marion Talley, wife of the evangelist, is the organist and the daughter, Carolyn is the flutist. Son Paul plays the accordion. Rev. Joe Talley is not only a great musician but an outstanding speaker.

The public meeting will be Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m. (June 16, 17, 18, 19) and Sunday, June 21 at 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

The visiting musicians are from Greensboro, N.C. One highlight will be the Saturday Night Western Roundup at 7:00 p.m. for everyone with a special emphasis on country and western sacred music.

Zinn Remarks Criticized By Senator Brooke

Senator Edward W. Brooke was among the audience at the Newton High School graduation exercises on Monday night. His daughter, Edwina, received her diploma with the Class of 1970.

At commencement exercises on Tuesday evening, at Revere High School, Senator Brooke took issue with the controversial Newton speaker, Prof. Howard Zinn, and some of his remarks made here on Monday.

Brooke speaking at the Revere exercises told his audience that the right to dissent is not the right to destroy and paralyze.

"I'm here to report with pride that this is still the greatest nation on earth — and don't you forget it," Brooke told his Revere listeners.

He said he was in favor of peaceful protest but denounced disruptive protest.

Newton Summer School Sign-Up Due June 15, 16

Registration for the summer school classes will take place at Newton High School, Building I, Room 1302, on June 15 and June 16, from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. for Newton students.

Registration of students from outside Newton and of adults will be held in the same place from June 17 through June 23, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Newton students may also register at these times.

Students now in grade 9 through 12 who are interested in make-up or review courses and also enrichment courses may register for a variety of subjects, such as English, Mathematics, Languages, Science, Social Studies, Business, Driver-Training courses, Auto Repair, and Physical Education.

Classes meet for either two or four hours, depending on the course, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. School will start on June 29, 1970 and run for six weeks through August 7. Tuition varies according to the course taken.

Inquiries may be directed to Richard M. Adams, director, at Beals House, Newton High School, or by telephone to Mrs. Charlotte O'Hara through the Newton School Department number 969-9810, Ext. 349.

"After School" Program Helps 7,000 Children Improve Grades

WELLESLEY — A new teaching technique has improved the elementary and high school grades of more than 7,000 underachievers in 32 centers in major cities throughout the country.

This unique educational approach, developed by the Reading Research Centers, uses certified teachers and proven educational methods to motivate grade school children to become better, more interested students. Classes meet once each week without interfering with regular school.

If your child has problems in school, if he doesn't pay attention, doesn't understand his assignments or doesn't like to read; if he has trouble concentrating or seems fidgety and easily frustrated — the special teaching methods at your nearby Reading Research Center may be of considerable help. There are four R. R. Centers conveniently located throughout the Boston area. To arrange for a personal interview at no obligation to determine whether your child can benefit from this uniquely effective program phone collect (617) 267-0390. Ask for Mrs. Price.

Academic Honors Given At Beloit

Two Newton youths have been named to the Dean's Scholarship list at Beloit College in Wisconsin for the spring term. They are Ronald Sagall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Elliot Sagall of 178 Old Farm Rd., Newton; and Mark Friedell, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Friedell of 122 Temple St., West Newton. Sagall is a freshman and Friedell is a sophomore.

To be eligible for the Dean's list at Beloit a student must achieve at least a B average while carrying a full course load for the term.

Beloit is an unusual four-year undergraduate college in that its undergraduates may go to school 12 months a year and hence are divided into three groups (instead of the usual four) called underclassmen, middleclassmen and upperclassmen. The under and upperclassmen remain on campus but middleclassmen may work in industry, do social work or study abroad.

Music Award To Lindsay Henes

Miss Lindsay Henes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nomi C. Henes of 23 Bemis St., Newtonville, has been awarded a musical scholarship at Colby Junior College, New London, N.H.

Miss Henes, who graduated from Newton High School Monday, was awarded an Adelaide B. Nichols Music Scholarship of $1,000.

She auditioned for the scholarship at Colby Junior College in May. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of talent, technical proficiency and "ability to make an outstanding contribution to music life on campus."

Miss Henes auditioned in piano and voice.

2 College Senators

Two Newton girls have been elected by the student body at Framingham State College to act as senators in the Student Government Association for the coming academic year.

Roberta J. Casey, 73 Grove Street, Auburndale, Class of 1973, was elected as Senator-at-Large, and Mary K. Gallagher, 5 Fayette Street, Newton Class of 1973, was elected Senator.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

Sunday worship services will begin at 10:45 a.m. at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville. Everyone is invited.

Man's protection from enemies, insecurity, and danger, is brought out in a Christian Science Lesson-Sermon titled "God the Preserver of Man" to be read this Sunday.

One Bible citation from Psalms states: "If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

A corresponding statement from Science and Health With Key To The Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Beauty Care Today
By Norman of RONALD COIFFEURS

NUTRITION YOUR SKIN AND
Complexion care begins with what you put in your market basket. The skin is sometimes called the mirror of your body, therefore, you reflect what you eat.
As you stride down the aisle of your supermarket this week imagine yourself a composite of potato chips, soft drinks and cookies. It may make you think twice. Better still it may send you to fresh fruits and vegetables.
Wise women never go shopping first without having eaten first. They are less tempted to purchase starchy between meal snacks.
Keep fresh fruits in your home. You will be amazed 8:30-8:30.
how much more enjoyable it is to nibble on grapes than an accustomed cookie or chip. The full satisfaction will come when you look into your mirror.

Fair Housing Committee To Meet June 15

Mrs. Antonio Ruiz, 9 Stephen Place, newly elected chairman of Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, announces a joint meeting of the old and new board members will be held Monday, June 15, at 8:00 p.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church.

Alvin Glazerman, outgoing chairman, at a recent annual meeting reviewed some accomplishments for the past year, including assisting families to find housing in Newton, growth in Fair Housing membership and contributions to NCDF.

Some stated goals for Fair Housing are "to welcome anyone who wishes to live or work in Newton on his merits, not his ethnic, religious or economic background; to inform the community regarding problems of discrimination whether in Newton or elsewhere; to guarantee the rights of every person to fair employment opportunities; and to support legislation for non-discrimination in housing, education, employment and protection of all civil rights."

Honor Newtonites In Heart Memorial Fund

Late friends and relatives of Newton honored by memorial gifts to the Heart Fund during the past four months were announced by Dr. Harrison Black, president of the Greater Boston Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

"Heart Fund memorial gifts express remembrance and love of our friends and dear ones who have passed away," Dr. Black said. "They also give hope of a longer life to others through support to research, education, and community service programs of the Heart Association."

Any sum may be given as a memorial through the Greater Boston Chapter of the Heart Association at 667 Beacon St., Boston 02215.

Couples Club Gala Picnic Due June 14th

Couples Club will wind up a very successful season with their annual family picnic. All members are urged to pack their lunch, bring their hamburger and hot dogs - the fireplaces are there - and come to Auburndale Playground in Newton on June 14, flag day, from 1-4 p.m. Admission is free with or without kids, everyone is welcomed. Soda, cup cakes, and other goodies and surprises will be distributed to all those attending.

Chairmen of the picnic are Lee and Joe Feinstein. They have scheduled many games, and the father-sons baseball game has a spot for everyone. A special feature will be a Kite Flying contest.

Make or buy a kite and send it soaring - prizes for the most original design, for the highest altitude, and for trying the hardest. Spirits will soar with the kites, so some join the crowd at Auburndale Playground.

Easiest route is west on Commonwealth Avenue, right onto Lexington Street, proceed one block and bear left onto Freeman street. Proceed down Freeman and take left onto West Pine Street. Parking lot is at end of West Pine street. Couples Club will set up camp over to the left and towards the river.

Degree At Maine Inst.

Dean V. Karobis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor B. Karobis of Newton, was among 61 members of Maine Central Institute's fifth year preparatory graduating class, Thursday, May 28.

For the past several years the Institute's large post graduate class has been graduated as a group.

Local Women Are Grads At Conn. College

Five young ladies from the Newtons received bachelor of arts degrees at the 52nd Commencement ceremonies held recently on the campus of Connecticut College in New London.

They are:
Miss Martha Everett, daughter of Mrs. Mary B. Everett of 85 Hawthorne Avenue, Auburndale. A graduate of Newton High School, Miss Everett majored in history.

Miss Myrna Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig A. Chandler of 112 Brackett Road, Newton. Miss Chandler, a Dean's List student, served as a representative to the Religious Fellowship Organization, was a sophomore dormitory representative, and was editor of the college newspaper.

She was employed as a library aide and dormitory residence chairman. A sociology major, Miss Chandler's honors project was research in "The Socialization of a Soldier." She plans to pursue studies toward a Ph.D. in sociology.

Miss Joan Marjorie Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz of 90 Greenwood St., Newton. A Dean's List student, Miss Schwartz majored in American History.

She served as a dormitory representative, participated in the junior show kickline, and was a member of the C-Synchers swim group. She was employed as a dormitory aide and receptionist and is a graduate of Newton South High School.

Mrs. Martha Young Hasselbacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young of 21 Jules Terrace, Newton Centre, and wife of Mr. Peter Hasselbacher. A Dean's List student, Mrs. Hasselbacher was a member of Theater One group and the Russian chorus, and in her senior year served as housewife in charge of dormitory living.

An English major, her honors project was a study of the symbolism in plays of Eugene O'Neill. She is a graduate of Newton South High School.

Miss Nancy Ruth Hearst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin D. Hearst of 60 Oxford Road, Newton Centre. A French major, Miss Hearst was a Dean's List student, and was a member of the French Student Advisory Committee.

She participated in the Sweet Briar program for junior study in Paris, and her honors project included a study of Modern Art in the theater of Jean Genet. She is a graduate of Newton South High School.

College News

Sondra A. Ostrosky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ostrosky of 83 Fordham road, West Newton, received the B.S. in nursing at commencement exercises at the University of Rhode Island in Kingston recently. A 1966 graduate of Newton High, she was on the Dean's List and a member of Chi Omega sorority and Phellenic Council. She will be a staff nurse at Memorial Hospital in Binghamton, N.Y.

Junior College Annual Athletic Banquet Held

Newton Junior College conducted its Fifth Annual Athletic Banquet on Saturday, June 6. The annual affair was held this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Judge in West Roxbury. Mr. Judge is the Dean of Student Personnel at the College.

The annual affair which honors the College's student-athletes, was a departure from previous years in that the "formal" sit-down banquet was changed to the informal atmosphere of a "backyard" barbecue.

Invited guests included: Charles W. Dudley, President of Newton Junior College; John Matook, Director of Student Activities at Burdett College and President of the Massachusetts Junior College Athletic Conference; James Bradley, Head Basketball Coach at Emerson College and President of the Massachusetts Junior College Basketball League; Richard G. Rollins, Director of Physical Education and Athletics at Newton Junior College and President of the Massachusetts Junior College Baseball League; Miss Jean Turnbull, Physical Education Instructor for Women at Newton Junior College; and Jerry Ready, Head Basketball and Baseball Coach at Newton Junior College.

Baseball: First year Lettermen: Ron Clardy, Mike Deehan, Dudley Hall, Jack Margolin, Dave Qualters, Frank Sullo, Frank Tirro, Wendell Wilson (Capt.) Second year Lettermen: Joe Magni, Tom Marquis, Warren Ross, and Billy Wellford. Best Hitter: Joe Magni; Best Infielder: Ron Clardy; Best Outfielder: Wendell Wilson; and Most Improved Player: Joe Magni. Mass. Jr. College Baseball League All-Stars: Ron Clardy, Jack Margolin and Billy Wellford.

Recognition Awards: Wayne Mackie received the Student-Athlete Award for the 1968-1969 season. Wayne is now a student at Babson Institute; while at Newton Junior College, Wayne lettered in both basketball and baseball, was President of the Student Council and a Dean's List student.

Dave Silverman and Charlie O'Brien were both recognized for their unselfish contributions to the Newton Junior College Athletic Program. Dave, a junior high school student in Newton contributed his time and efforts by helping both the basketball and baseball teams as both a statistician and team manager. Charlie O'Brien, a former student at Newton Junior College, has given of his time to act as scorekeeper and statistician for the basketball team every season since 1965-1966.

Mary Gay Ryan, daughter of Mrs. John W. Ryan of 130 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, and Karen J. Segall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Segall of 36 Brackett road, Newton, received A.B. degrees at commencement exercises at Trinity College, Washington, D.C. recently. Miss Ryan majored in political science and Miss Segall, a cum laude graduate, majored in sociology.

Rep. Mann Named For Legislative Pollution Force

Rep. Theodore D. Mann has been appointed to the Special Legislative Commission for the Study of New Safety features and Air Pollution Controls for Motor Vehicles, according to an announcement by Speaker of House David M. Bartley. Mann was sponsor of House Bill No. 761 which called for such a study.

The activities of the Special Commission will give its members first hand information concerning present and future steps being taken by automobile manufacturers for the production of safer vehicles through improved design and construction.

The investigation by this new commission is expected to develop new facts and legislation to help implement the program being launched to reduce costs of motor vehicle insurance.

A basic phase has already been proposed by the Legislative Insurance Committee of which Rep. Mann is a member. The plan has won the praise of Governor Sargent and others and is expected to be enacted. Referring to this, Rep. Mann observed:

"I have been involved in the preparation of legislation designed to bring about changes which many of us feel will help bring about a reduction of motor vehicle insurance costs. What we propose is a basic step. However, I do not want to raise false hopes for long range insurance savings without pointing out that we need action to bring about the manufacture of safer automobiles and more satisfactory control of the cost structure of medical bills. It is for this reason I consider the creation of the Special Commission to which I have been appointed a very necessary adjunct to the program we have undertaken for the reduction of insurance costs."

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

The vegetable crop looks good across the state, says the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, with about 35 per cent of total acreage already planted. Blueberries and strawberries have set well, and both promise bumper crops.

Peas are now in full flower, right on schedule to with the fresh salmon on the Fourth of July.

The fruit tree bloom in Bay State orchards was heavy, but the set - pollination to bring forth fruit - appears spotty.

Best Buys this week, with heavy market receipts, are native asparagus, Boston lettuce, radishes, and greenhouse cucumbers and tomatoes. The rhubarb harvest has peaked, and supplies will not begin to dwindle.

Extremely popular, as the season begins for the salad crops, is native Boston lettuce. Used for salads, of course, it is also an excellent sandwich filler, and for hearts of lettuce with your favorite dressing. The rich green color of its outer leaves is highly attractive, and some creative homemakers even use it as a centerpiece. Developed in England, Boston lettuce shows the inside leaves for which the "butter" heads are famous. A Best Buy - priced on produce counters at 19 to 23 cents a head.

Old Fashioned Leaf Lettuce Bowl (for 8) - 3-4 heads Boston lettuce, washed, dried and chilled; 2 cups chopped green onions (scallions); 1 hard cooked egg, coarsely chopped; 6 slices lean bacon; 1/2 cup cider vinegar; 1 tsp salt; fresh black pepper (to taste) and 2 tbs light brown sugar.

Break greens lightly - do not cut - pile high in salad bowl. Top with eggs and scallions. Pan fry bacon until crisp, remove from fat, drain, crumble, set aside. To fat in pan, add vinegar, salt, several grinds pepper from the mill, and brown sugar. Heat to boiling, simmer 2 mins., remove. At serving time, reheat to boiling, pour over prepared salad bowl. Toss until lettuce is wilted. Add bacon bits. Adjust for seasoning, especially as to pepper. Serve at once.

Co-ed Tennis Lessons Are Given By 'Y'

Throughout the summer the Newton Y.M.C.A. is conducting co-ed tennis lessons for beginners and intermediates fifteen years and older.

On their two fine outdoor clay courts you will receive expert instruction and guidance from instructors with years of playing and teaching experience.

Beginner lessons are held on Tuesday and Thursday - either in the morning from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon or in the evening from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Intermediate lessons are held on Monday and Wednesday, evenings only, from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

There are five one and one-half hour lessons in a series. Openings exist in the third intermediate session starting June 22, and on the beginning level in the fourth session due to start on July 14, 1970. Classes are limited in size.

For more information and/or applications call 244-6050; ask for adult tennis information.

Gary Miller Wins Babson Swim Letter

Gary Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Miller of 4 Overlook park, Newton, received his varsity letter in swimming from Babson College at the annual all-sports award banquet recently.

The featured speaker at the dinner was Tom Dowd, director of community relations for the Boston Red Sox.

This was Miller's second year on the swim team.

Newton Nine Bows To Whalers In Tourney

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High baseball team lost to New Bedford behind the no hit pitching of Ken Medeiros and Steve Rezendes last week as they bowed out of the Eastern Massachusetts tourney in the semi finals. Previously Newton had edged Stoneham 3 to 1 and Woburn 6 to 4 to reach the semis. Following is a game by game report of Newton's participation.

For the second year in a row the Newton High baseball team entered the Eastern Massachusetts tournament. Last year they finished 13-3, good for sole possession of first place in the Suburban League.

This year, with an almost completely new team, "Ferguson's Phantom's" tied for the league title with Brockton. Both squads had 13-3 slates. A coin toss, conducted over the phone dictated that Newton would play the first place Middlesex squad and Brockton would face the second in the opening round.

Woburn, Stoneham and Reading had finished in a three way deadlock for first in the Middlesex league. After coin tossing and play-offs it was decided first place Woburn would play Brockton, loser of their coin toss at Woburn, and Newton would play second place Stoneham at home.

Len Gentile, Bob Doyle and Jethro Mills all played significant roles as Newton started its second tourney season well by winning 3-1 at Lincoln Park, Waban.

Doyle scored two of NHS's three runs and drove in another while Gentile pitched one hit ball and Mills twice moved from first to the mound to stifle possible trouble.

Doyle started things going in the first inning by walking and stealing second. Bob Fabiano singled to left, moving Doyle to third and Jethro Mills slow roller to second sacker Tom Anderson scored Doyle.

Versatile centerfielder Dave McDowell came to the mound and fanned the next two Newton batters to end the threat. Newton scored two more in the second to open up the lead to 3 to 0.

With one down, soph Eric Bell walked and stole second. Bob Wargin lined to right but Doyle looped a Texas leaguer down the left field line to score Bell. Chuck Pendergast and Fabiano connected for bingles to score Doyle. Fabiano was the only Newton player to collect more than one hit.

Meanwhile, Gentile was having some difficulty with the Stoneham batsmen. Pete Kelly was passed and Chuck Pendergast erred on Jim Farrell's grounder putting runners on first and second with no outs.

Centerfielder Dave McDowell came up and blustered a line shot to the box which Gentile managed to stab and throw to first to double off Farrell.

Stoneham challenged and scored the only run in the fifth. Joe Caprio led off the inning with a shot to left. It was Stoneham's only hit of the game. With one out receiver Bob Timberly walked and Tom Anderson was hit by a pitch.

Gentile then unloaded a wild pitch scoring Caprio and walked Kelly to fill the bases once more. Coach Ferguson then moved Mills in to do the hurling and the portside, the

Both teams played percentage ball as Newton worked sacrifices twice and Woburn used the maneuver three times. New Bedford bumped Durfee 8 to 4 to gain the right to meet Newton. Last year Newton clobbered the Whalers, 13 to 1.

The Newton juggernaut, which had won 18 and lost three was finally stopped at Natick's Mahan Field last Thursday 2 to 1 by New Bedford.

Beverly defeated Somerville 3 to 1 and New Bedford and Beverly will meet this week at Rockland to determine the Eastern Massachusetts champion.

From either side it was a well pitched ball game as New Bedford's Ken Medeiros and Steve Pezandes combined for a no hitter and Newton's Len Gentile allowed only three hits.

Medeiros went eight full innings before yielding to Razendes after feeding dangerous Jethro Mills two straight balls to open the ninth.

Razendes went to three and two on Mills and then got the Newton first sacker to pop up. Len Gentile popped to first and Mike Lally struck out to end the contest.

Razendes compiled a 5-0 record and a 0.000 ERA during the campaign for the Bristol County champs.

Newton broke on top in the third. Bob Wargin grounded out but Steve Matloff and Bob Doyle were both passed.

recipient of the Howard Whitmore Most Valuable Player Award got Jim Farrell to ground out to Bell at third to end the frame.

The Whitmore Award is annually given to the Most Valuable Player on the Newton High squad. This year a Bill Hamill Award has been set up with the outstanding high school ball player in Newton receiving it.

A nomination from each of the five high schools in Newton will be entered and Mills certainly has to be rated in contention for the award.

Gentile started the sixth in a troubled manner, walking two and Mills once again came to the rescue. Gentile mopped up pitching three hitless, walkless frames after this minor incident.

Stoneham's Jim Caprio collected Stoneham's only hit but Bob Doyle robbed him once and possibly twice. In the second frame Doyle went deep into the left field foul area and made a diving catch and in the sixth Doyle slid to his knees while taking one off Caprio's bat in left center.

Righthanded batter Bob Fabiano smacked a two-run single down the right field line to key a Newton comeback in the 6 to 4 quart-final win over Woburn at Woburn last Tuesday.

Going into the final set Newton trailed 4 to 3. Co-captain Bob Wargin walked and Doyle forced him. Junior Chuck Pendergast came through with a ground rule double to right center to put runners on second and third against Woburn reliever Al Houston.

Houston had come in earlier during a Newton rally and allowed one run in 5 2/3 innings. Woburn Coach Paul Sweeney pulled in the infield hoping to hold on to the one run lead but Fabiano, who had gone 0 for 4 and committed an inexcusable error rammed the ball into right for the two runs.

Starter Denny Galante then returned after complete game winner Jethro Mills was walked by Houston, a transfer from Suburban League rival Cambridge Latin.

Lenny Gentile hit into a fielder's choice and Mike Lally was passed to load the bases. With second baseman Steve Matloff up Galante rifled a wild pitch past catcher Jim Lynch to score Mills.

Newton jumped off to a one-run lead in the second and scored single runs in the third and fourth as did the Tanners, who added runs in the fifth and seventh.

The home town losers had three standouts at the plate. Dave Greenwood went two for five driving in the tying run and working the suicide squeeze perfectly for the lead run in the seventh.

Galante had a perfect day at the plate going three for three, including two doubles and he walked twice. Jeff Lentz, who drove in Woburn's only run in their 1-0 win over Brockton also had two hits.

For Newton offensively Pendergast went two for three and stole two bases.

On the mound, Mills, who had pitched in almost every Newton game this spring overcame the heat and tiredness to outlast two Woburn hurlers. Mills walked five and fanned 13 and put his fine pickoff move to use catching one Woburnite leaning the wrong way.

Both teams played percentage ball as Newton worked sacrifices twice and Woburn used the maneuver three times. New Bedford bumped Durfee 8 to 4 to gain the right to meet Newton. Last year Newton clobbered the Whalers, 13 to 1.

Dave Fish To Compete For Prentice Cup

Waban's Dave Fish has been chosen as a member of the Harvard-Yale tennis team which will play a team from Oxford - Cambridge for the Prentice Cup in England this summer.

Fish, a 5-11, 160-pound sophomore, recently completed an outstanding season with the Harvard tennis team, which ended up with an 11-5 record and tied Pennsylvania for the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association title.

Playing at the number two, and occasionally number three singles spot, Fish won 10-6 of 12 matches against northern competition, while in doubles, he teamed with Joe Cavanagh to register an 8-1 mark at the number two position.

Also an excellent squash player, Fish compiled an 8-2 record for the Crimson, which won the Intercollegiate championship this winter.

Fish, a 1968 graduate of Exeter Academy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robinson Fish of 26 Dorset road.

In addition to the Cup matches, the team will tour England and Ireland throughout July and August.

Ten Tips To Tune Up For The Turnpikes

Motorists will have 30,000 miles in Interstate Highways - more than ever before - open for their use this summer, according to the American Automobile Association. When completed, Interstate Highways will total 42,500 miles.

"Driving the Interstates is fast and safe," said Robert S. Kretschmar, General Manager of AAA's Mass. Division. "But your car has to be tuned up and so do you."

Here are "Ten Turnpike Tips":

- Make sure your car's equipment is in good shape.
- Check the tires. They should be in top condition and properly inflated. Turnpike driving is tough on tires.
- Stay within speed limits. Don't drive too fast or too slow.

- When switching lanes, use directional signals well in advance to warn other drivers of your intentions.
- Keep plenty of distance between cars in front and behind you. If someone is following too closely, slow down and let him pass.

- Try to anticipate what the other driver will do. Check your rear view mirror constantly.
- Guard against highway hypnosis. If you're tired, stop at a rest area. Get out and walk around. Or get a cup of coffee. When behind the wheel, let some fresh air into the car. Play the radio, hum, talk or sing. Vary your speed for short intervals.

- Ask your front seat passenger to help with signs and routes. Know where to get off and move into the proper lane to do so.
- If you miss your exit, don't back up. Keep going and get off at the next exit.
- And after you leave the

Whaler catcher Pete Wojtowicz dropped the third strike however, and then threw the ball into rightfield to score Matloff. New Bedford responded with a run in the bottom of the frame.

Rightfielder Bob Gadeau walked and Tom Holden struck out. Wojtowicz put down a bunt which Gentile decided to go to first with. Second baseman Steve Matloff wasn't covering, however, and both runners moved up.

Julian Pina grounded out but Alan Mikas slashed an opposite field single to tie the game. New Bedford retaliated in the eighth for the final and winning run of the game.

Pina walked and was sacrificed to second by Mikas. Roy Jesus, a regular season hitting phenom with a .486 mark but hitless in this tourney to this juncture, laced a liner to left to score Pina with the game winner.

New Bedford Coach John Pacheco declared, "This is one of the greatest wins I've ever been involved in. After that drubbing Newton handed us last year you can't imagine how much we wanted this one."

Explaining his pitching change Coach Pacheco remarked "Medeiros had been complaining about a sore arm since early in the game and Rezendes has pitched so well for us this year."

Newton Coach Howard Ferguson commented that, "Gentile pitched his finest game for me today - it was a fine effort."

South Lions' Kates Compiles Track Lead

Newton South High outdoor track captain Richard Kates accumulated the staggering total of 73 points this season, winning 11 different times in nine dual meets and earning medals in the league and state meet.

Kates had winning performances in the high jump, long jump and high hurdles, with best marks of 5-11, 19-9 1/2, and 16-8. He won a third-place medal in the Suburban league long jump and a fourth place medal in the Class A high jump.

Second high scorer was junior Dave Peters who collected 40 1/2 points in the high hurdles, the 180 lows and 120 low hurdles, the 220 and long jump, triple jump and relay. His best effort was a 14.3 timing in the 120 low hurdles. Peters claimed a third-place medal in the Suburban 180 lows.

Third man in the South point tabulation was senior Ron Schneler, captain during the indoor season. Schneler utilized the 440, 880, relay and triple jump to score 41 1/2 points. He extended his school jump record to 40 1/4 from 38-6 after briefly losing it to Steve Sahl.

Sophomore Roger Cooper, 33, junior Chuck Pottey, 32, junior John Seeler, 30 1/2, junior Dick Dickinson, 30, were the other top point-getters for the Lions.

Other highlights this season for South were: Aremam Kojoyian's 138-6 1/2 discus toss, good for a new school record; Steve Hall's 10-foot clearance in the pole vault, South's first man over that height in four years; Roger Cooper's 46-10 1/2 heave in the shotput; and the strong distance running of Pottey. Pottey, the school indoor 2 mile record holder improved his best time at that distance to 10:24.8 and pushed his mile time down to 4:49.4.

George Domeniconi, one of 49 eighth-grade students who are doing independent research papers this term.

Mr. Robert Frost, Bigelow's principal, encourages such student-centered work where students utilize their teacher as a resource person.

Teacher Mark M. Meltzer's students, who started their assignments in late April, must complete them by mid-June. The subjects, individually chosen from the broad field of English and from the 7 disciplines of social studies, range from Judy Hyatt's The American Indian to Mike Auciello's Causes and Effects of the American Civil War, to Parachuting by Barry Cocuzzo.

The young researchers have spent many class hours at the Main Library, 414 Centre Street, around the corner from their own junior high, though Mr. Meltzer also introduced them to the intricacies of the Boston Public Library, where they put in a long day's studying. Members of the two classes now have Boston Public Library cards in addition to borrowing privileges at the Newton Library.

Mark M. Meltzer, who developed the project to help his students familiarize themselves with library-use techniques, taught social studies last year at the Middle School, Duxbury, Mass. A Hyde Park native, he is particularly well qualified for effective work in his English and Social Studies classes with his B.A. in history and government (B.U. 1967) and his M. Ed. in guidance (B.U. 1968).

Many of his students are now probably more knowledgeable than their teacher in their special interest areas. For instance, Mark Spencer, who became involved with the continental drift as a subject because of his natural curiosity about science, has learned why the continental drift is of particular concern to Californians living near the San Andreas fault.

Some students found they were choosing fields too broad to cover successfully in 10 or 15 pages, like Leah Rosovsky, who started out with drama, first narrowed down to American dramatists, and then zeroed in on her final choice, a comparison of works by O'Neill and Aeschylus. Still other students picked a topic and then shifted when they were not satisfied with available material. Holly Echlow, for instance, started with euthanasia but is now writing on drugs and society.

Self Service Post Office Is Opened

A self-service Post Office, open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, officially opened yesterday at 10 a.m. in the lobby of the General Post Office, located at Milk and Devonshire streets, Boston, Ma. 02109, according to George K. Walker, officer-in-charge, Boston Postal District.

The new mini Post Office is the last word in convenience to the mailing public; providing vending machines from which may be purchased stamps or books of stamps, as well as post cards, envelopes, and even minimum parcel post insurance, all at regular prices.

Have a package to mail and your local Post Office is closed? The self-service Post Office provides all facilities for mailing packages. Scales and rate charts indicate the required postage and a special depository is provided to speed your package on its way.

Other services provided are:

Letter collection boxes with frequent pick-ups.

Currency bill and coin changers.

Letter scales.

Detailed postal information sign.

Certified mail forms.

Change of address cards.

Writing stands and waste receptacles.

Frequent collection service.

A complete ZIP code directory.

Officer-in-Charge Walker stated that the self-service unit will provide a worthwhile community service that permits the public to buy stamps and services plus the luxury of mailing packages and letters at any hour of the day or night.

Members of the two classes and subjects they selected from psychology, economy, government, geography, history, sociology, anthropology and English are Ralph Gott, Minority Groups in America; Maria Hinteregger, Immigration; Joyce Kliman, The Vanishing American Indian as a Minority Group; Will Manning, Prejudice; Mike Ross, Slavery; Joan Gallagher, Racial Criticism; Amy Lainer, Housing of Low-Income People in U.S.A.; Lon Webber, Black Power; and Linda Slafsky, Integration and Segregation in American Schools.

Also Mike Brody, French Revolution; Danny Chalfen, Cultural History of Mesopotamia; Debbie Hunt, History of Spain; Debbie McLeod, South Africa; Jessie Aronow, Study and Comparison of Two African Nations; Gary Herendeen, Pompeii; Douglas Yoffe, Modern Mexico; Celestino Dimambro, Italian Patriots.

Lenny Bacenius, Ecology; Mike Wish, Water and Air Pollution; Robin Fisher, Ecological Effects of Air and Water Pollution; Linda Graham, Environmental Pollution Control; and Danny Jarnis, Pollution: Air and Water.

In their work the 49 Bigelow students have been perfecting library skills learned in their own school library with Bigelow Librarian Mrs. Theodore Brameld, such as how to use the card catalog, the Reader's Guide, the microfilm machine, and how to find what they need in the various areas of Newton's Main Library.

After the papers have been read and graded, they will be exhibited at the Main Library along with some of the books and periodicals Bigelow students have used in their individual projects. The combined display, on view the last two weeks of June, also includes papers by Debbie Goldsmith on Drugs, their Use and Abuse; Stephanie Oppen, Special Impact of Drugs in the U.S.; Diane Cerundolo, Drugs; Diane DeSimone, Drugs: Effects on Population; and Robert Handler, Alcohol.

Charles Barstow, Battle of Gettysburg; Jeff Smith, Revolutionary War; New England Battles; Jeff Kramer, Space; and Howard Ullian, History of the Automobile.

Also Merrily Weiss, Shoplifting; Ellen Ravech, Mental Illness; Leon Navickas, Psychological Motivation; Susan Souliotis, Witchcraft; Jennifer Mitchell, Teaching of Blind Children; Debbie Barron, Heredity and Environment; Janice Goldberg, In-Depth Study of State Welfare Program; Lynn Blackman, Mental Illness; Karen Nardone, Child Psychology; Janet Solov, E.S.P. and Other Aspects of Mental Telepathy; and Rachel Teplow, Genesis.

New Building For Temple Has Grounding-Breaking Here June 7

An impressive groundbreaking ceremony for Temple Beth Avodah's new building was held Sunday, June 7, on the thirteen-acre wooded site on Puddingstone Lane, Newton Centre.

Prominent invited guests who took part in the meaningful program included Newton's Mayor Monte C. Basbas; the Hon. Moshe Ofer, Counsel General of the State of Israel; and Frederick Ober, President of the Newton Savings Bank.

The keynote speaker was Dr. Beryl Cohen, founding Rabbi and Rabbi Emeritus of Temple Sinai, Brookline, who recalled "his groundbreaking" 31 years ago and who praised Rabbi Edward M. Maline, of Temple Beth Avodah, and the entire congregation for continuing the 2,500-year-old tradition of creating a synagogue as the foundation for the survival of the Jewish people.

Rabbi Maline, spiritual leader of the Reform Congregation's 175 families, years, during which period the number of families will probably double.

The builder of the 1 1/3-million-dollar house of worship is Sta-Mar Construction Co. of Sudbury.

Architect Robert Dion planned the structure which will house the sanctuary seating 265 people, social hall accommodating 300, kitchen and offices. Future anticipated expansion will include new school wings, memorial courtyard and multi-purpose rooms.

Construction is scheduled to be completed by January of 71. The congregation intends to use the existing facility for the Temple religious schools which have a current enrollment of 300 students.

Additional features of the new building include: amphitheater concept for the expanded sanctuary seating during the High Holy Day services which will permit approximately 600 members to worship together in an intimate atmosphere; library-chapel which opens onto a courtyard; youth-room facilities, and administrative offices.

Mr. Fisher, a past president of Temple Beth Avodah, said that one of the most difficult aspects of the planning for the new facility was in trying to accommodate present needs in harmony with the substantial growth of membership anticipated over the next five years.

Speaking at the Norfolk and Middlesex Senatorial District Delegates meeting and candidates night in Newton, Spaulding hit the theme that he was the sole candidate "who has put in the time and effort and possesses the credentials and organization to capture the office on behalf of concerned Americans."

The Manchester attorney told his Sidney Hill Country Club audience that he had been campaigning tirelessly "all over the state for six months in search of support."

"And I've been getting that support," he emphasized, "getting it from solid groups of Republicans in every part of the state. I want that support and want it to stick with me because it means we can beat Ted Kennedy in state unequivocally that I can do better for Massachusetts in the 1970's than the incumbent."

The former Marine Corps flyer said that this support was a prime necessity "if the people truly want to start turning out that tired, unimaginative crowd in Washington."

"We're geared up for the campaign because we started this race when we should have months ago. You can't start late and hope to win. The task is too big and without the organization and inspired determination of the Spaulding campaign you can expect only to lose."

Six Newton students graduated from Columbia College this week. They received their bachelor of arts degrees in ceremonies which honorary degrees were presented to a group including Frederico Fellini, the film director, Swiss psychologist Jean Piaget and Columbia president-elect William J. McGill.

They are Paul Warren Burlingame at 31 Jefferson St., Newton; Robert Elliott Freeman at 15 Cynthia Rd., Newton Centre; Bruce Steven Kirlie at 45 Deborah Rd., Newton Centre; Gary Jay Suttenger at 5 Montrose St., Newton;

Also Peter Kim Hoffman of Joseph Francis Durocher, Jr., 48 Palmer Rd., Waban, and

New York state has about 20,000 producing oil wells.

Newtonite Is Elected As General Contractor Head

Edmond H. White, Jr., vice president of Richard White Sons, Inc., contractors for over 50 years in Newton, was elected president of the Associated General Contractors of Massachusetts, Inc., at the annual meeting of the association held this past weekend at the Red Jacket Beach Motor Inn on Cape Cod.

Mr. White is the first second generation member to head the statewide association which is comprised of 125 leading general building contractors who perform about 80 percent of the commercial, industrial, and public building construction and is a leading spokesman for the construction industry.

His uncle, William F. White, president of Richard White Sons, Inc., served as president of AGC in 1945.

Edmond White has been active in the affairs of the Association having served as a trustee of the Boston Carpenters Joint Apprenticeship Committee in 1959 and 1960, as a member of the Massachusetts AIA-AGC Liaison Committee since 1967 and co-chairman of that committee this past year, and is presently a member of the national AIA-AGC Liaison Commission.

Mr. White is a graduate of Newton High School and received a B.S. degree in Business Administration from Boston College in 1951.

He has been a director of Woodland Golf Club since 1964, and served as a director of the West Newton Co-operative Bank and the Newton Co-operative Bank.

He is married to the former Ruth Sikes of Auburn, Mass.; they have four children and reside at 29 Cleveland St., West Newton.

Cost of educating students in the nation's public schools has more than doubled in the past decade.

Eastern Artifacts On View At Newton Library Exhibit

Newton peeks at Persia via a magic carpet in a Spring showing of Eastern artifacts at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre St., Newton Corner, on loan from Arthur T. Gregorian of Newton Lower Falls.

A shepherd's samovar, saddlebags and saddle, weaver's tools and a wine ewer, and a brilliant orange horse cover are among the exotic items on display at the Main Library. Traditionally decorated tin and copperware, woven tent rope and a primitive loom from central Turkey are also included in the group.

On the loom is a small Kayseri mat of fairly sophisticated weaving from a metropolitan area, a fine, small design similar to Tabriz, which is Persian. As the rug is woven it is rolled underneath so the work area remains in the same place. Vegetable dyes and wool for the mat are produced by the weaver himself, who raises special fat-tailed sheep found in that part of the world.

Other striking pieces in the exhibit are a nomad's goat skin jacket, a bejeweled pipe and a rifle inlaid with mother-of-pearl. The rifle, dated 1803, was used by Afghans in fighting Indians in Hindu Kush, a mountain range which separates Afghanistan from India.

Mr. Gregorian, who makes two or more trips yearly to the Persia-Turkey-Afghanistan area, came to the U.S. via France as a refugee some 26 years ago. A graduate of New Britain (Conn.) High School, Mr. Hermon Schol and Boston University, he is an authority on oriental rugs as well as a brilliant linguist and Middle East scholar.

Author of "Oriental Rugs and the Stories They Tell" (Nimrod Press), Mr. Gregorian knows rugs from their first knot to their final marketing.

Associated with him in his Newton firm are his son John, and one daughter, Joyce. A second daughter, Mrs. John Christian, who teaches at the Northeastern University, lives in Waban.

His wife has for many years been active in community affairs, and is just completing a term as chairman of Region I, National Board, Girl Scouts of America.

The Gregorian exhibit, together with a complementary book selection, will remain on view through mid June.

3 Newtonites Graduate From Middlebury C.

Three Newton area residents are among the 300 seniors who received bachelor of arts recently at the 170th commencement of Middlebury College.

They are Lawrence R. Colvin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl B. Colvin, 103 Collins road, Newton, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Karol of 25 Old Farm road, and Glenn A. Jarrett, son of Mrs. Julian E. Jarrett, formerly of 134 Wendell road, Newton, and now of 280 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill.

A graduate of Rivers Country Day School, Colvin majored in Economics at Middlebury. He played freshman football, served as treasurer of Zeta Psi fraternity, and earned his pilot's license through the ROTC Flight Program.

In addition to his degree he also received a Reserve 2d Lt. commission in the U.S. Army Transportation Corps.

Karol, a graduate of Newton South High School, majored in Psychology at Middlebury. He has made plans to enter Berkeley School of Music in the fall.

Jarrett, who is also a Newton South graduate, was a Political Science major at Middlebury. The Dean's List student plans to enter law school in the fall.

GOP Forces Here Prepare For Active Election Aid

Newton's Republican leadership is moving into high gear to coordinate election and pre-convention activities in the community.

The thirty-seven delegates who will represent the community at the forthcoming Republican State Convention June 27 are busy attending a series of receptions sponsored by various groups for the purpose of gaining support for individual candidates. Only the hardest of delegates can take them all in.

Of special interest to delegates and the public at large is the open annual meeting being held Wednesday evening, June 10, by the Newton Republican Club. This affair at the Work Shop is attracting much attention with nearly all of the announced Republican candidates committed to attend. A brief business meeting for reports and election of officers will precede the program according to Anthony J. Medaglia Jr., the Club's president.

In addition, the Newton Republican City Committee's Executive body will meet just a week later, Wednesday evening June 17. According to Julius L. Masow, Chairman, this meeting is particularly important coming as it does just ahead of the Summer months. We are concerned with pre-convention matters.

Doctor Degrees For The Romans

Is there a doctor in the house? The reply at 450 Old Connecticut Path, Framingham, is a resounding Yes! Victor J. Roman and Jane D'Ercole Roman received their Ph.D.'s in Chemistry together from Boston College at Commencement on Monday, June 8.

Dr. Victor Roman, a native of Newburyport, will be teaching at UMass, Boston, this summer, while Dr. Jane, who is a Newton girl, awaits the birth of their first child in September.

2 Residents Win Cardinal Cushing Bachelor Degrees

Sister M. Margretta Flanagan, O.S.F., was awarded a Bachelor of Arts Degree at the sixteenth commencement of Cardinal Cushing College, Saturday, May 30. She also won distinction in her major field, Business Education.

Sister is a member of the Order of Franciscan Sisters and resides at 790 Centre street, Newton.

Mary K. O'Rourke was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree and her major field was English. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Rourke of Needham and now the wife of Wight Manning and resides at 41 Pearl street, Newton.

Graduates From William & Mary

Robert Morris Saller of Newtonville is among some 650 students who received their degrees this month from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia, in ceremonies which took place in the college yard. The commencement address was given by U.S. Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the College.

An Hour Of Sacred Song To Be Presented Here June 14

Edith Ione Lockwood, soprano, of 55 Brow Ave., South Braintree, will present "An Hour of Sacred Song" on Sunday afternoon, June 14, at 4 o'clock in the Central Congregational Church, 218 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Organ accompaniments will be by Richard J. Reynolds, B.M., F.T.C.L., (Fellow, Trinity College, London, England), and George Butler, Master of Music, of Weymouth. Mr. Reynolds will also present some organ selections.

Mrs. Lockwood has presented several recitals of secular songs, some under the aegis of her teacher, Mr. Reynolds, and one for her former teacher, the late Blanche Haskell.

Now soprano soloist at the Melrose Highlands Congregational Church, she has been soloist at the First Congregational Church, Braintree, and at the Church of St. John, the Evangelist, Hingham.

Many solo appearances have been made with Braintree Choral Society, Quincy Symphony Orchestra, and various choirs in works of J. S. Bach, Schubert, Handel, Mendelssohn, Faure, Durufle, etc. All of these composers will be represented on this program.

Mr. Reynolds of Boston received his Bachelor of Music degree from New England Conservatory, and his F.T.C.L. some time later. He is presently Director of Music at the Melrose Highlands Congregational Church, and at Temple Shalom of Newton, where he recently presented "Elijah" with these two choirs honoring Jewish Music Month.

Mr. Butler received his Master of Music degree from New England Conservatory, and has presented organ recitals in major U.S. cities. He has presented organ recitals in Methuen Memorial Music Hall where he will play again on July 15, this year. He is Music Director at Thayer.

"Generation Gap" Scorned By College Commencement Speaker

"It is downright frivolous to talk about such platitudes as a generation gap," Dr. Fred M. Hechinger, Education Editor and Member of the Editorial Board of the New York Times told the graduating class of Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, last Saturday. "There is no gap in the reality that faces all generations of Americans today."

Dr. Hechinger warned that the reality of a crisis that divides the nation more seriously than at any time since the Civil War forces all generations to work together to prevent society from disintegrating.

He scorned slogans which claim that the generations are unable to talk to each other or to "sort out interests they share rather than those which divide them."

"If you and I cannot talk together, how will you talk to your children?" he asked. "Yet, I am sure that you will want to bridge the gap when you are parents, just as I am trying to do between me and my children."

Dr. Hechinger said that most Americans appear "fundamentally agreed on our desperate search for an end to the war abroad and for peace amongst ourselves at home. 'It is to our credit that so many American shuddered at the news of Milat, Kent State and Jackson,' he continued. 'We do not — and we never must — grade tragedy by the nationality, race or color of those who are its victims.'"

But, he warned, "the moral confusion, although it helped us get into the Indo - China war, is deeper than the war itself. The greater danger is that we lose faith in our glacier."

institutions and ultimately in ourselves."

Dr. Hechinger insisted that "the American blueprint," despite its faults, "offers remarkable scope and promise to the advancement of freedom." The danger, he warned, is not with the system but with "the men who work the system."

"It is the fault of all of us who elect the wrong men; beyond that, it is the fault of all of us who create the wrong atmosphere, who abandon sanity and morality, who put the Constitution and the Bill of Rights on an automatic pilot."

"Repression is intolerable whether it comes from reactionary government officials, legislatures and police forces or from coercive students who want to force other students, faculty members or the colleges themselves to submit to their views or demands," Dr. Hechinger said.

"There is no difference between construction workers who assault student protesters and student dissenters who forcibly prevent their opponents from speaking or who employ arson and 'trashing' against those with whom they disagree."

Dr. Hechinger also warned against "nationalizing or Americanizing" what are essentially human failings. He urged action to fight against such evils as prejudice, injustice and exploitation but warned that it is futile and misleading to view such evils as American rather than human. He called it important to deal with the problems rather than "raging against America."

Norwood Speedway Plans Double Action Weekend

It's the only automotive sport in the world where a driver deliberately goes out of his way to wreck an automobile. On Friday night, June 12th, at 8:00 p.m., the Norwood Arena Speedway will run a four-heat and feature event Bay State Championship Demolition Derby and, in the process, see over $4,000.00 worth of used and second hand cars demolished.

The secret of success for the majority of drivers is to use that reverse gear and back up into the radiator of another car. But with a three minute contact rule in effect, this is not always possible since while a driver may be going after another car the chances are that someone has his car as a target for destruction. It is this type of zany and quick action that has made the demolition destruction program a crowd pleasing affair to watch. And with prize money of $1,000 to go after, over 100 cars will be in action at Norwood on Friday night.

On Saturday night the second section of the double action program will be held when the NASCAR Late Model Sportsman Division cars and the novice Street Division cars return for fast and hot stock car racing competition. Race time on Saturday will be at 7:45 p.m.

No individual driver has a firm hold on the drivers' championship point lead in either division and so one poor showing by any of the leaders could see that driver's position change downwards in the standings. The field of cars at Norwood has increased on each and every week so that a full eight race program is conducted on each and every stock car race date.

The following is a partial listing of entries for the Demolition Derby: Bill Lapham, Pawtucket, R.I.; Jim Leahy, Lexington; Jim Liebfried, Acton; John Winward, Hope, R.I.; Steve Boudreau, Hyde Park; Tom Holland, Waltham; Jim Walsh, Newton; Dick Gillespie, Newton; Wally Bessett, Newton; John Volpe, Woburn.

Jonathan A. Aisner, son of Dr. and Mrs. Mark Aisner of Waban, was recipient of the Brown Prize as a third place winner in the Prize Speaking Contest at Bridgton Academy in Maine. Jon is planning to attend Ohio Wesleyan University in the fall.

Robert A. Feldman of 25 Woodward street, Newton Highlands and Martha Plotkin of 100 Walnut Hill road, Newton, were among the 1900 plus students and faculty of the University of Wisconsin at Madison who gave a pint of blood during this spring's All-Campus blood donations.

Bob Deardorff, Dedham; Bob Downey, Jr., Quincy; Robert Duff, Hanson; Al Crockett, Randolph; Aubrey Elms, Marlboro; Jim Foley, Randolph; John Gerbrands, Weymouth; Dick Inman, Attleboro; Dave Gibbons, Plainville; Dave Goding, Billerica; Robert Harrison, Nashua, N.H.; Jim Katsiroubas, Lexington; Gilbert Bucknam, Lynn; Robin Bucknam, Lynn; Jerry Cardorette, Norfolk; Sebastiano Cordina, Melrose; Newton Centre.

David Pasbrig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad A. Pasbrig of Maplewood avenue, Newton Centre. David was a volunteer worker at the Y.M.C.A. He was a Study Hall proctor and a headwaiter, and worked in his senior year with the computer seminar.

David won his letter on the football team in his senior year, and played league volleyball and basketball.

McGlennon Is Speaker Here Last Thursday

Representative John McGlennon, a candidate for Congress in the Third District, spoke at a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Nay, of 111 Suffolk Road in Newton on Thursday evening, June 4.

Rep. McGlennon discussed the mechanics of his campaign to unseat incumbent Philip Philipin of Clinton.

Currently the McGlennon campaign is concentrating on a massive Signature Drive involving Republicans, Independents and Democrats alike. The goal is to collect 10,000 signatures before July 15.

As a legislator, McGlennon has devoted much of his energy toward solving drug and conservation problems. He serves on the Special Legislative Committee on Drug Abuse and has authored much of our Conservation legislation.

In 1968, he drafted and sponsored the "Environmental Bill of Rights" which was finally enacted just last month.

Rep. McGlennon stated that events of the last month have been clear indicators of the need for more responsive representation in the U.S. Congress.

"We need to elect candidates with energy and imagination to meet the rapidly increasing challenges of the seventies. It is important that we take this opportunity to place men in Congress who can bridge the gap in understanding and confidence that is evident in our country today," McGlennon concluded.

David Pasbrig Wins Diploma At Gov. Dummer

Among this year's graduates of Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield was David Conrad Pasbrig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad A. Pasbrig of Maplewood avenue, Newton Centre.

David was a volunteer worker at the Y.M.C.A. He was a Study Hall proctor and a headwaiter, and worked in his senior year with the computer seminar.

David won his letter on the football team in his senior year, and played league volleyball and basketball.

MRS. DAVID B. STEARNS

Mrs. Stearns Has Second Term As CJP President

Mrs. David B. Stearns of Newton Centre will be nominated for a second term as president of the Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston at the Division's annual meeting next Monday, June 15, at 1:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held at Hebrew College, 43 Hawes street, Brookline.

The announcement of the slate of officers to be nominated at the meeting was made by Mrs. Arthur Zanditon, Chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Mrs. Stearns was campaign chairman of the CJP's Women's Division in 1967 and has served on the Campaign Coordinating Council. She is a past member of the board of the Jewish Family & Children's Service and has served as co-chairman of the Life Membership Committee of the Beth Israel Hospital.

Officers serving with Mrs. Stearns will include Mrs. Joseph Michelson, Mrs. Otto Morningstar, Mrs. Simon Queen, Mrs. Bertram C. Tackeff and Mrs. David Weltman, vice-presidents; Mrs. Eugene Eisenberg and Mrs. William R. Sapers, secretaries.

Centenary Dean's List

Carol Talkov, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Talkov, 86 Clemens Road, Newton recently qualified for the dean's list at the end of the second semester, her second consecutive dean's list semester, at Centenary College for Women in Hackettstown, New Jersey. Carol is a member of the Class of 1971.

Exec. Board Elected By Ward 5 GOP

A new executive board was elected this past week for the Republican City Committee from Ward 5.
Robert Corbett was elected chairman; Lawrence Applefield and Charlotte Hirschberg, vice-chairmen; Arnold Garrison, treasurer; Jean MacMillan, secretary.
In the absence of the incoming chairman, Mr. Applefield, vice-chairman, conducted the meeting. Tribute was paid to the outgoing board officers, especially to Vivian Baird for her many years of service and to former chairman Joe Weinreb.
Vacancies on the board were filled by adding the following new members: Albert Frank, Norman Holtz, Joyce Young.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

Crisp or creamy — celery is tasty. It is more than just a relish. Turn it into a delightful addition to salads and casseroles. In fact, it's a first-rate vegetable on its own. You might braise celery in chicken broth, then serve with chive butter. Or, top cooked celery with butter-toasted almonds. Don't ever overlook celery as an appetizer — stuffed with a snappy cheese filling or peanut butter — the kids' love this. Serve celery whenever you can... it's quite versatile!

For delightful atmosphere and gourmet food enjoy an evening out at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114, Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Wide variety of entrees including choice beef, seafood and poultry. Plan to bring the family here on Father's Day — June 21. Daily Double Lobster Special.

HELPFUL HINT: Spreading trick for peanut butter. Add a teaspoon of hot water just before spreading.

The Biggest Roast Beef in Boston

You'd better believe it. We've hired us a carver with strong wrists, a sharp knife, and an honest eye. And here's what keeps him honest. If he ever once carves you a slice of roast beef that weighs less than a pound and a half, you get a second slice free. And he's in deep trouble. So he makes sure every juicy, succulent slice completely covers the big, oversize platter it's served on. Here's what comes with your roast beef: a nice big salad, ice cold and crisp. A nice big baked potato with sour cream. Your choice of vegetables. And a golden Yorkshire popover swimming in butter. It's not so much a dinner as a challenge. A roast beef lover's Everest. Meet that challenge tonight, why not? Just because it's there. Call Frederick for reservations.

COMBAT SHIFTS TO LAOS AS JETS HIT COMMUNIST POSTS

COMBAT EMPHASIS in the Indochina War shifted Wednesday to Laos, where American jet fighter-bombers raided Communist positions around the town of Saravane that fell Tuesday to North Vietnamese troops. The U.S. military command said an F4 Phantom jet, flying out of Korat Air Force Base in Thailand, was shot down by Communist ground fire in one of the strikes over southern Laos. Its pilot was rescued but the second crew member was missing. It was the 43rd American aircraft reported shot down in Laos since the U.S. Command began announcing such losses three months ago. Saravane is strategic to control of the area and its infiltration and supply routes into both South Vietnam to the east and Cambodia to the south. A force of about 500 North Vietnamese troops overran the town before dawn on Tuesday, routing a 200-man government garrison that fled to another outpost to the east. Allied sources said the thrust on Saravane was the second major Communist thrust in Laos within a week.

U.S. ENVOY KILLED, EMBASSY HIT, 32 HOSTAGES IN PERIL

AN AMERICAN diplomat was killed at his home by crossfire, the U.S. Embassy was hit by snipers, and Arab guerrillas threatened the safety of 32 foreign hostages Wednesday as the Jordanian capital of Amman was plunged into open warfare between guerrillas and army troops. The guerrillas and Jordanian troops ignored repeated calls for a ceasefire and battled into the night with tanks, artillery and Russian-made mortars and rockets. It was the second consecutive night of fighting. While the fighting raged, Israeli war planes raided Egypt's Suez Canal front-line positions for 10½ hours and Lebanon reported that an Israeli army patrol crossed into Lebanese territory and clashed with Lebanese forces. The dead American was identified as a U.S. Army attaché, Maj. Robert B. Perry, 34, a native of Chicago and a specialist in Arab affairs. A spokesman said he was caught "in a crossfire" at his home "apparently this morning."

The Nation

NIXON PROPOSES NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE SYSTEM

PRESIDENT NIXON proposed a system of national health insurance Wednesday for 5 million poor families as part of the innovative welfare reform program he revamped to overcome the objections of conservatives in and out of Congress. The new health insurance — under which all but the poorest of the poor would pay part of the premium — would replace Medicaid, the federal-state program of free health care for the needy whose skyrocketing costs have become troublesome. Except for the blind, aged or handicapped, the Medicaid program created under Lyndon Johnson's "Great Society" would be junked for good. Also to be dumped is an existing $300 million a year program of welfare covering 90,000 jobless fathers. But the President retained in his new plan the two basic principles of the far-reaching "family assistance" plan he outlined to the nation on television 10 months ago. Nixon called his plan the "most comprehensive and far-reaching effort to reform social welfare in nearly four decades." He said the poor could receive food stamps through the mail with their welfare check instead of waiting in line once a month in sometimes remote distribution centers.

SEC. SHULTZ SWITCHED TO HEAD UP NEW BUDGET AGENCY

PRESIDENT NIXON announced his second cabinet shuffle in five days Wednesday, switching Labor Secretary George P. Shultz to head up a new executive management and budget agency. As director of the Office of Executive Management and Budget, Shultz will take over what would become the second most powerful post in the federal government. Nixon named Labor Undersecretary James D. Hodgson to succeed Shultz in the cabinet post. The President announced Saturday he was shifting Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch to the White House where he will serve as a top assistant to Nixon. Nixon called Shultz "a distinguished economist" and "one of the best administrators in the government."

FACT-FINDERS SAY CAMBODIAN CAMPAIGN MILITARY SUCCESS

A BIPARTISAN task force, just returned from an Indochina inspection tour, told President Nixon Wednesday his decision to attack Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia was a military success and expressed hope it could accelerate U.S. troops withdrawals from Vietnam. But one member, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., a persistent critic of Nixon's war policy, complained he was unable to "obtain an unequivocal reply to my inquiry about whether the Cambodian action justified an earlier withdrawal." The 13-man party of congressmen, governors and White House aides reported personally to Nixon on the eve of a critical Senate vote of confidence on the President's conduct of the war.

U.S. PROBES AWARDED OF NASA CONTRACT TO G.E.

GOVERNMENT auditors and congressional investigators are seeking to find out whether the Space Agency showed favoritism and improperly awarded a $50 million contract to General Electric Co. for a design of a new satellite. The inquiry began after the Fairchild-Hiller Co. protested, implying that officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration conspired with GE in awarding the contract for construction of two experimental communications satellites. The protest said GE was permitted to submit its bid a week later than Fairchild-Hiller; that the GE bid contained technical advances engineered by Fairchild-Hiller; and that the GE bid was less than 1 per cent lower than Fairchild-Hiller's.

DPU REJECTS PHONE CO.'S BID FOR $55 MILLION RATE HIKE

THE DEPARTMENT of Public Utilities, criticizing company service and management policies, rejected Wednesday a New England Telephone Co. request for an annual rate increase of $55 million, granting instead an increase of $7.71 million. The company called the approved increase "unrealistic." The action will mean an increase of about 14 cents a month in the cost of having a private phone and an increase of between 28 and 42 cents for business phones. Reacting to the decision, the telephone company issued a statement charging the action "actually undermines the company's efforts to meet service expectations of the public." The Massachusetts Consumers Council called the DPU action "a tremendous victory for all the consumers of the state." The order gives the phone company a revenue increase of about 2 per cent. The new rates are expected to be implemented in July or August. DPU Chairman William I. Cowin said "The evidence is clear that the quality of service offered by the company has deteriorated seriously. He was also critical of management policies, charging the company has failed to utilize certain available cost-saving measures.

GOVERNOR ORDERS PLAN TO INTEGRATE COUNTY-STATE GOVT.

GOV. FRANCIS W. SARGENT said Wednesday he has ordered a comprehensive plan to integrate county government with state government in Massachusetts. Sargent said the Executive Office for Administration and Finance would develop the plan to bring about "the reform of county government and the development of meaningful regional approaches to governmental problems." Sargent said, however, the plan would not be ready for the current session of the legislature. He said: "The question is no longer whether certain county government functions should be integrated with similar functions of state agencies, but rather how this integration should take place."

Political Highlights

These are just a few issues out of many for which my District has needed a spokesman on the federal level. Other Congressional Districts have similar problems—as well as their own unique difficulties. As our way of life has become increasingly complex, so has the character of each Congressional District become more complicated, too. And likewise, the job of being a Congressman is also increasingly intricate.

But certain basic elements of the American way of life remain starkly simple. Our nation has grown and prospered from humble beginnings. It has done so because its citizens cared and cared deeply about the policies the government pursued and because the legislative body of our nation has been directly responsive to the will of the people.

Above all else we must preserve that basic strength that has caused our stable form of government to endure for almost 200 years. This strength will continue to carry us forward in a constructive way only through renewed political participation on the part of Americans from every walk of life and from every age group in our society.

The enlightenment gained by a Congressman from his constituents remains the real essential in the law-making function of the House of Representatives. The opinion of each individual is important to his Congressman.

This is the reason that I value my legislative questionnaire as almost the only means of reaching each and every constituent in my Congressional District to let him know that I need to have his participation in my annual opinion poll.

Political activism is the watchword of our future. If America is to have balanced and responsive form of government, all Americans must participate in the political process and the decision making.

YOU GET HOT WATER AT LEAST 3 TIMES FASTER WITH OIL HEAT THAN WITH ANY OTHER FUEL

An oil-powered water heater with a typical 30-gallon tank will give you 100 gallons of hot water per hour. A gas water heater would heat only 30 gallons per hour. An electric water heater would heat merely 8 gallons.

If you're tired of running out of hot water — if you want to start saving money now — call us and we'll give you a cost estimate in writing. No charge or obligation. So act today.

You might expect to pay extra for the big advantage an oil-powered heater gives. But in fact you will be paying considerably less.

Newton Junior College Has 23rd Annual Commencement

"In a society grown far more complex, more competitive, and altogether more confusing, the individual is literally assailed, besieged, and bombarded by a formidable array of sophisticated techniques of public and private persuasion. The arsenal is squarely aimed at the personal, his social, his political, and his material life. . . . His only effective retaliation is his knowledge and his capacity for logic and reason . . . his ability to discern the truth!"

Addressing the Twenty-Third Commencement of Newton Junior College, Charles W. Dudley, president, gave the Commencement Address, marking the tenth anniversary of his presidency of the College.

Speaking on the "Uses and Misuses of Truth," he attacked "the fragment statement, the word, the phrase taken out-of-context, the planted lie, the evasive communication," and the "created credibility gap."

Referring to the more generalized manipulation of truth as a political strategy, Mr. Dudley gave as an example of falsified information an issue of Pravda he read while in Moscow, "truth" as it is falsely labeled in Russia.

"The truth must be sought, dug out, scrutinized, analyzed, and finally weighed in the balance with logic and reason. Charging the graduates to use their knowledge, he urged them to be informed and to comport themselves with reason and intelligence and to 'forever seek truth.'"

The Newton Junior College Commencement exercises were held Sunday, June 7, at Aquinas Junior College in Newton. Dr. Robert C. Senior of the Department of Social Sciences convened the exercises with the following quotation, the theme of the commencement:

"So, then, to every man his chance — to every man regardless of his birth, his shining golden opportunity — to every man the right to love, to live, to work, to be himself, and to become whatever thing his manhood and his vision can combine to make him —" (Thomas Wolfe).

Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the College, introduced members of the platform party, distinguished members of the City of Newton, Mayor Monte G. Basbas brought the greetings of the City of Newton; Dr. Richard M. Douglas extended the congratulations of the Newton School Committee; Mr. Aaron Fink, Superintendent of Schools in Newton, offered the good wishes of the Newton School Department and charged the graduate to assume the responsibilities of this troubled world; and Mr. Bertram H. Loewenberg, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the College, spoke of the accomplishments of the graduates.

Other distinguished platform guests included: Mr. Wendell R. Bauckman, President of the Board of Aldermen; Dr. James D. Laurits, Assistant Superintendent of Schools; Mr. Francis P. Frazier and Mrs. Eleanor Rosenblum (also a Director of the College) of the Newton School Committee; Mr. David Fitts, Mr. Edward L. Dashefsky, Dr. James L. Tullis, Mr. Norman Krim, Dr. Wendell Yeo, Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, Mr. Wignmore Pierson, Representative Theodore Mann, Mr. Philip J. McNiff, and Mr. Mario Di Carlo of the Board of Directors; Mr. Franklin Jerome, Former Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Mrs. George J. Brookhiser, founder of the Women's Council of the College.

The Presiding Officer of the Commencement was Dr. Charles D. Merrill; the Commencement Marshall was Mr. Leo P. Judge, Dean of Student Personnel; the Student Marshall was Mr. Paul L. Sweeney, President of the Student Council; and the Faculty Marshall was Dr. Emil A. Freniere, Chairman of Humanities. Mrs. Mabel Greeley, College Librarian, represented the College Faculty in the conferring of Degrees and Certificates.

President Dudley presented the President's Citation, the highest honor bestowed by the College, to Mr. Franklin D. Jerome, charter member and first Chairman of the Newton Junior College Board of Visitors, later named the Board of Directors, for his "boundless time and energy, and unflinching loyalty and devotion"; his "diligent efforts in support of civic causes and active involvement in a variety of worthwhile enterprises"; to Mr. George F. Martins, Associate Professor in the Department of Science and Mathematics at the College, "as a distinguished lecturer, supervisor of the Adult Program in Continuing Education", and for his professional and civic distinctions; to Mr. Paul L. Sweeney, outgoing President of the Newton Junior College Student Council, for his leadership, academic distinction, oratorical honors, and his high standard of citizenship. The graduates are:

The new appointee is Robert Bernheimer of 210 Bellevue street, Newton. His term will also expire in 1977.

Red Cross Gives Awards At 52nd Annual Meeting

The 52nd Annual Dinner Meeting of the Newton Red Cross was recently held at Brae Burn Country Club.

Robert B. Nickerson was elected Chapter Chairman to replace Stanley M. Epstein. Other new officers elected were: Stafford E. Davis, Vice-Chairman; Paul L. Shakespear, Treasurer; Mrs. Jack Kaplan, secretary.

Henry J. Wilson was Chairman of the Dinner Committee. Others serving on the Dinner Committee were Mrs. George P. Norton, Mrs. Jack Kaplan, Philip L. Miller and John N. Sullivan.

Special awards were presented to Gilbert Champagne for 35 years of continuous service, to Mrs. Edmund Miller for 30 years, and to Mrs. Archie MacDonald and Mrs. Walter Chase for 25 years each.

The speaker of the evening was William J. Phillips, Assistant National Director of Disaster Service for the American National Red Cross. In his talk, Mr. Phillips discussed his expedition to North Vietnam last December with Ross Perot, multi-millionaire philanthropist who tried to deliver Christmas relief packages to United States' prisoners of war held in North Vietnam.

The Hospitality Committee consisted of Mrs. Morten Smith - Petersen, Mrs. Kenneth W. Rogers, Mrs. Morris Adler, Crafton Wolfson, T. Arnold Ferguson, Gilbert Champagne, Parker Wahn and Morris Newman.

The Executive Director of the Newton Red Cross is Robert J. Julien.

Registrations Still Open For Girl Scout Camp Here

Calling all Bay Path Colonial Girl Scouts who want to go to day camp. Registration is still open for several sessions. The Council operates five day camps to serve girls of the 29 communities. They are located as follows: Bird in East Walpole, Cedar Hill in Waltham, Mary Day on the Natick-Weston line, Nacochwa in Cohituate and Winnetaska in Ashland.

These day camps provide outdoor program for all four age levels. For Brownies, ages 7 and 8, it is an introduction to the fun and adventure of going camping for girls who have had at least one year of Brownie troop program. For Junior Scouts, ages 9 through 11, it is the excitement of learning, through a wide variety of activities, how to live in the out-of-doors.

For Cadettes, who are Junior High age, it is the challenge of testing their camping abilities and the satisfaction of developing new skills.

For Seniors it is an opportunity to be of real service as Program Aides, by sharing their skills with younger campers.

Small groups of girls and their leaders plan their group's activities which include crafts, nature, swimming, outdoor cooking, dramatics, singing and folk dancing.

Low fees are possible because the staff are adult volunteers, generally troop leaders, mothers and graduate Senior Scouts. They find great satisfaction in working and playing with girls in an outdoor setting. Fathers and older brothers help put up the tents and other equipment.

Girls are transported to and from camp on special buses which pick up at convenient locations so that campers arrive at camp by 9:30 a.m. and leave at 3:30 p.m. Bus fare is included in the camp fee, except for Camp Bird.

All Girl Scout camps meet the health and safety requirements prescribed by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and the American Camping Association. A registered nurse or certified First Aider is on duty at all times. The swimming program meets American Red Cross standards and includes instruction by a certified Red Cross Water Safety Instructor and qualified waterfront staff.

Further information about Day Camps is available from Troop Leaders or the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Office in Newton Upper Falls.

Newtonites Are B.C. Graduates

Nicholas Siciliano of 61 Pelham st., Newton Centre, son of Romance Languages professor Ernest Siciliano of Boston College, received his degree in psychology from the College of Arts and Sciences at B.C. during recent commencement exercises.

A counselor with the Newton Recreation Department, he plans to start graduate work in Psychology in the fall.

Ellen Boudreau, daughter of B.C. Director of Placement for Alumni Walter Boudreau of 44 Billings Park, Newton, received her degree from the School of Education.

An elementary education major, she plans to teach locally in the fall.

Not prescribed

The Dutch are spending about 200 million guilders ($56 million) a year on medicines not prescribed by their doctors, which is about one-fourth of the total use of medicines, according to pharmaceutical industry statistics.

GS Troop 614 Tackles Three Service Jobs

Junior Girl Scout Troop 614, Auburndale, (Burr School) of Bay Path Colonial Council, recently completed three service projects. The first was a "thank you" project for the Centenary Methodist Church where the troop meets.

The girls cleaned the nursery and kindergarten rooms for the Sunday School. They used some of the money they received from the sale of Girl Scout Cookies to buy art supplies, such as crayons, paper, etc., for the Sunday School.

They also collected stuffed animals and other suitable toys.

The second project found Troop 614 busily at work in the Burr School Library. Here they managed almost to complete the much needed task of classifying all the books in the library with different colored tape markers.

This will enable the library volunteers to return the books to their proper places such more quickly.

The third project took place on two Saturday afternoons when the Junior Scouts with their leader, Mrs. Harold Mahon, donned rubber boots and old clothes and picked up litter along the banks of the Charles River in the Ware's Cove area.

Although it is the policy of Troop 614 to do service projects where and when needed, these projects will help to qualify the Junior Scouts for the Sign of the Star, for which they are currently working.

Rubbish Pick-Up Back to Normal, Bolduc Reports

Newton Street Commissioner Edmund C. Bolduc has announced that the rubbish collection situation in that city is back to normal. "With the agreement on terms reached between the city and the Street Department employees," said Bolduc, "collections can now be made again on an overtime basis."

The workers had elected to not work overtime until a contract agreement was reached. Consequently, the city found its rubbish collection running about two and a half days late during the period of negotiations.

"I'm glad we were able to reach an accord, and will now be able to return to business as usual," Bolduc added. He further reminded Newton residents that they can now put their trash out for collection on their regularly scheduled pick-up day.

Corbett Will Head Ward 5 GOP Committee

Robert Corbett of Meredith ave., Newton Highlands, has been elected Chairman of the Ward Five Republican Committee.

Corbett has been identified with civic activities in the community for many years and assumes leadership of the ward after a broad experience in political affairs. He succeeds Joseph I. Weinreb, now Republican State Committeeman for the area, who served several terms as the ward chairman.

Elected with Corbett as officers are Mrs. Eugene M. Hirschberg and Lawrence Applefield, Vice - Chairmen; Miss Jean MacMillan, Secretary; Arnold Garrison, Treasurer.

In a special resolution the Ward Committee expressed its appreciation to Mrs. Vivian D. Baird who served the group as its secretary for many years.

Ward Five's delegates to the Republican State Convention being held in Boston, June 27, are Lawrence Applefield, Robert Corbett, Albert French, Eugene M. Hirschberg, Marc A. Slotnick, and Harry L. Walen.

Community Service Center Summer Camp Season Nears

Only a few weeks remain before the start of the fun-filled Summer day camp programs, operated by the Newton Community Service Center, Incorporated.

With this as a reminder, parents of youngsters 3½ years of age through 14 years of age are urged to make their reservations now to insure a place in one of the Center's exciting camping programs. In commenting on the activity, Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., stated that the office is open Monday-Friday during the hours of 9 a.m.-12 noon and 1 p.m.-4:30 p.m. for those interested in registering for the program.

Individuals who are unable to get to the Centers main office at 429 Cherry St. in West Newton should call 969-5906 and make special arrangements for enrolling. Mrs. Stanley Aston is the registrar for the camp activity.

There will be a Summer Kinder Kamp for boys and girls 3½-6 years of age located on the beautiful grounds to the rear of the Warren Jr. High School. Activity will include supervised play, varied games, stories, trips to farms and other points of interest, such as zoos and play areas, cookouts and use of a wading pool. Children bring their own lunches—milk and a morning snack time of crackers and juice are provided.

The private camp site located at the Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood, includes 30 acres of tree covered land, swimming facilities, cookout accommodations and 300 acres of long winding nature trails for boys and girls 7-12 years of age attending Day Camp.

Day Campers leave from Warren Jr. High School by bus each morning at 9 a.m. and return at approximately 4 p.m. Activity is varied with swimming (free swimming and instruction, arts and crafts, hikes, sports, cookouts and trips included. Children bring their own lunch and are served milk.

The eight-week camp period is divided into four two-week sessions, with each child obligated to enroll for at least one complete two-week session. Campers may be registered for any number of sessions desired. Pick-up and return service to and from designated elementary schools is available.

For additional information, contact the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., at 969-5906 during the hours specified above.

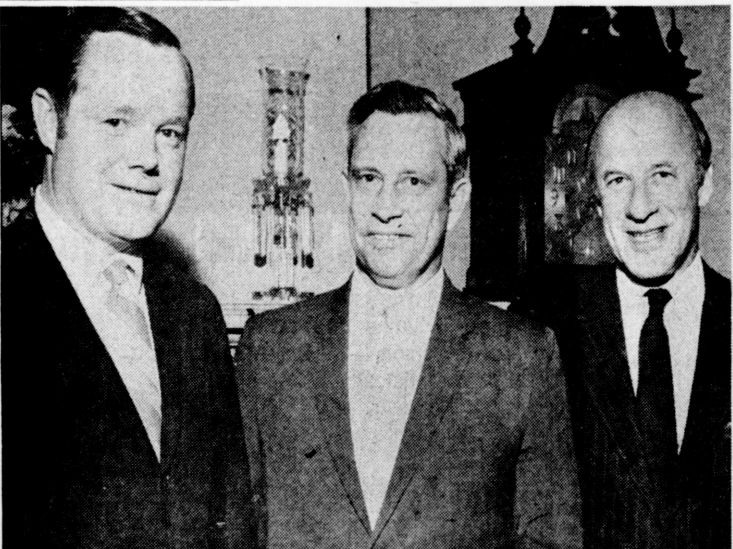

"Rock Concert" Aids Cerebral Palsy June 12

Frank Fuller, executive director of United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston, Inc. announced that a group of Newton teen - agers will conduct a "Rock Concert" on Friday, June 12th, from 7:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m. at 515 Centre St., Newton, featuring the evolution, Mother Zampacks, Bacon Band, Firework, What God Wants, and Blitz.

All proceeds will go to Cerebral Palsy.

Alumni Award At Framingham

Margaret M. McPherson, of Newtonville, was designated for an award from the Framingham State College Alumni Association at the recent annual meeting on the campus. Chairman of the Award Committee was Sheila Gough of West Newton. Presentation will be made during the Recognition Day Program.

AT THE ANNUAL RED CROSS DINNER—Newton Red Cross' annual meeting was recently held at the Brae Burn Country Club. Shown attending the dinner meeting are Robert B. Nickerson, newly elected Chapter Chairman for Newton; William J. Phillips, Assistant National Director of Disaster Services for the American National Red Cross who was guest speaker; and Stanley M. Epstein, outgoing Chapter Chairman.

Aldermen Say Stop War' Now' By 10-6

A strong resolution calling for an end to this country's military involvement in Southeast Asia "now" was passed on a 10 to 6 vote by the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

The resolution had been presented two weeks ago by Alderman Michael Lipof and was revised by Alderman William Carmen. A charter objection by Alderman Louis I. Egelson prevented action at that meeting.

The resolution urges President Richard Nixon, Senators Edward Kennedy and Edward Brooke and all Massachusetts Congressmen "to end our military involvement in Southeast Asia now and work toward complete military withdrawal from this highly questionable war."

The resolution also states: "We have witnessed American involvement in the Vietnam War enlarge over (Aldermen—See Page 3A)

"Satisfaction in Difficult Job"

Police Academy Has 14 Local Graduates

Fourteen Newton men were among 31 officers graduating from the Newton Police Academy who heard Police Chief William F. Quinn say within the framework of "most of the time you will find satisfaction in performing a most difficult job."

Ceremonies for the fifth graduating class were held at the War Memorial auditorium, Friday (June 12).

Chief Quinn told the new officers, "We need men with compassion and understanding of current issues; men who recognize a need for law enforcement that guarantees the rights of all men within the framework of order, of land and of justice."

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

(Editor's Note: Attorney General Quinn is guest columnist this week as the substitute for James G. Colbert who is now convalescing after recovering from a massive attack of pneumonia. Mr. Colbert hopes to resume his column next week. Attorney General Quinn is a former member and Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.)

BY ROBERT H. QUINN

Atty. Gen. Quinn Discusses Many Functions of His Dept.

The title Attorney General calls to mind the image of a stern chief prosecutor, enforcing the state's criminal statutes and bringing criminals to justice.

I view my function as chief prosecutor, however, as only one very important aspect of my job as the people's lawyer — the chief advocate for the people of Massachusetts.

Moms, Dads, Are Happy Little 5-Year-Olds Just For A Night

Parents of Memorial School pupils wandered back down life's lane to those "dear little golden rule days" of totdom at an unusual workshop held at the school recently.

The workshop entitled "Come to Memorial School to be Five Years Old For an Evening" was held by Miss Julie Silverman, kindergarten teacher. And, quite a class of "kindergartners" she taught that evening!

Many activities were planned for the parents to give them a glimpse into the many stimulating ways in which their children are involved during the day.

They could choose to: paint at the easel, type at the typewriter, make designs with sand, pour water through a maze of funnels and plastic tubes, create inventions from styrofoam

John A. Hill, T. D., chairman of the Kent County Council of England visited the United States last week, in order to make a fact finding survey of our methods of local government.

In England there will be a major reformation of local government next year and there has been a Royal Commission set up to inquire fully into all the possibilities.

Mr. Hill met with House Speaker John McCormack and Senator Edward M. Kennedy in Washington, and Mayor John V. Lindsey in New York City.

In Massachusetts he had meetings with Governor Francis Sargent, Mayor Kevin White, Boston Council President Gabriel Piemonte, Middlesex County Commissioner John Dever, Registrar Richard McLaughlin, and Boston Police Commissioner Edward McNamara.

A delightful showing of color slides followed, accompanied by a sound tape of the children busily at work and play in their projects throughout the school year.

Dr. Eldridge, principal of Memorial School, gave a brief talk commending this year's program and explaining the valuable concepts and ideas the children are obtaining from these games and activities which are building a good foundation for use in the upper grades.

Charter Referendum Is Scheduled For July 21

Newton voters will have an opportunity to decide on July 21 whether they want to change the city charter so that vacancies on the Board of Aldermen may be filled in the future by special elections.

The aldermen on a 16 to 3 vote on Monday night set the date for a referendum to go before the voters. Results of the referendum will resolve a matter which has raised considerable controversy in the city in recent years.

The state legislature on June 10 approved special legislation calling for the referendum. The Board of Aldermen had voted in April to request such legislation.

If the voters decide to revise the charter, which now calls for vacancies to be filled by the aldermen themselves, a special election will then be called to fill the vacancy created last February when Franklin N. Flaschner resigned as an alderman to become Judge of the Newton District Court.

Elliot K. Cohen, chairman

Aldermen O.K. Davidson As NRA Appointee

The appointment by Mayor Monte G. Basbas of Robert Davidson as a member of the Newton Redevelopment Authority until April 12, 1973 was unanimously confirmed by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

Davidson was named to fill the post from which James K. Fitzpatrick recently resigned. His appointment is the second in the last month.

Msgr. John M. Quirk was invited to serve in the position created when Robert C. Casselman resigned.

Davidson, who resides at 9 Mount Vernon Terrace, Newtonville, holds a Masters Degree in City Planning from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He has served as the Executive Director of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, a member of the Boston Planning Board for five years, a member of the Newton Planning Board as well as in the capacity of planning engineer for the MBTA.

Among the other posts he has held was that of director of research for the Boston Port Authority.

of the aldermanic Legislation and Rules Committee estimated that because of various technical regulations regarding voting procedures, the special election to fill the open seat on the board would probably be called for late December, if the referendum in July gets an affirmative vote.

The referendum is being set for July because the legislature decreed that the matter be put before the voters within 45 days of the state approval which occurred on June 10.

Alderman Joseph McDonnell questioned why the special election to fill Flaschner's former post could not be held between the July 21 referendum and the Sept. 15 state primary election. Alan Licarie, executive secretary of the Election Commission, explained that 10 weeks are required to prepare for a city-wide election.

Paper ballots will be used for the referendum to decide on the charter change. Cohen pointed out that each city wide election using voting machines costs $18,750, but the cost would be considerably less with the paper ballots.

When the aldermen requested the special legislation last April they expressed the hope that the referendum might be held at the same time as the September 15 state primary and that the special election itself might coincide with the general state election in November, but the legislature would not permit this and stated that the local matter must be handled separately.

Opposed to setting the July 21 date for the referendum were Aldermen Michael Lipof, Alan Barkin and Board President Mendell Bauckman.

Barkin said that "if we can't have an election until Dec. 22 I think we have made a terrible mistake in not using the method now called for by the charter to fill the vacancy."

One of 2 Women In Class

Miss Carol Horgan of Chestnut Hill, a teacher of history and French literature, who won her master's degree in business at Babson College last Sunday. —Barry Jefferson Photo

"Women Have To Be Well Trained"

Her Way Of Life Is Advanced Education

Would a gal with a background in history and French Literature be interested in business? Miss Carol Horgan, of 528 Newton St., Chestnut Hill, has a pretty good answer.

The attractive Newton High School teacher received a master of business administration degree from Babson College on Sunday, June 14.

She's always been a student and went after a business degree because, "I wanted to see what the world of business was like and women do have to be well trained."

Although advanced education is a way of life for her, graduating from Babson College was somewhat special for two reasons.

One, the ceremony culminated five years of evening classes and study, and two, she was one of only two women in the class of 280 degree candidates.

Technically, Miss Horgan was the first woman degree candidate to enroll in the evening program at Babson.

But she missed the distinction of being the first woman to receive a degree from the college, however, when Miss Carolyn Levisky of Newton Highlands graduated last year with an MBA.

About studying business, she said, "It was a retraining

Police Arrest Break Suspect

A Newton Centre man was arrested Saturday (June 13) after police followed a trail of blood from a cleaning firm that had been broken into on Langley Rd., to a third floor apartment on Union St.

Police arrested Richard A. Mandile, 33, of 11 Chesley Rd., and charged him with breaking and entering in the nighttime. Mandile later was arraigned in Newton District Court and the case was continued to June 24. The defendant was released on personal recognizance.

Patrolman George Brennan said he heard the sound of breaking glass while patrolling his beat about 3:30 a.m.

Brennan said he found glass broken in the front door of Vogue's Deluxe Cleaners, 61 Langley Rd., Newton Centre.

Inside, according to the patrolman, was a trail of blood from the door to a cash register. The trail then led back out the door to the apartment on Union St., around the corner.

Brennan, assisted by Sgt. John I. Likely and Patrolman Joseph E. Sullivan, followed the trail up the stairs to the apartment where Mandile was found.

Persy Ragsdale, 40 Gleason St., owner of Vogue's Cleaners, told police apparently nothing was missing.

Creative Art Centers To Shift Program to Peirce

At Hurwitz, Coordinator of Arts, Newton Public School, announces that, due to renovation problems at Warren Junior High School, there has been a change of plans for the Newton Creative Arts Centers.

The program that was scheduled to meet at Warren has been transferred to the Peirce Elementary School, 170 Temple Street, West Newton.

The center at Newton South High School will continue to function there. The following faculty has been selected:

At Newton South High — Constructive Design, Cortlandt Bellavance; Drama, George Bolton; Film Animation, Yvonne Falcone; General Art Studio, Neal Cotton; Intermedia Workshop, Virginia Kirshner, Aline Shader, and Fern Abrams; Light Workshop, Rose Gravelles; Music, Henry Lasker.

Assistants at this center will be Cathy Weisman in Art, Helen Hurwitz in Drama, Henry Wiktorowicz in Music, Carol Sones and Mimi I' in Film Animation.

At Peirce — Constructive Design, Roosevelt Davis; Drama, Philip Hunt; General Art Studio, Willard Robinson; Light Workshop, Michael Zolli; Music, John Bavicchi. Judy Lehr will be assistant in art.

Kenneth Roberts will be the Director for both Centers again this year. Roosevelt Davis, from Atlanta, Georgia, will be our guest instructor and sculptor; Mrs. Marsha Zonis is a community volunteer; and Mr. Jerry Gardner will work with students at both centers, exploring some new directions in music.

There will be a teacher training program in conjunction with Suffolk University involving nine student teachers in the fine arts. The program runs from June 29 to July 31.

Other communities represented in the graduating class were Weston, Lynn, Marlboro, Sherborn, Grafton, Natick, Needham and Winthrop. The Pennsylvania Railroad also was represented.

The new officers were trained in police-community relations, narcotics, first aid and water safety, use of radar, study of sexual deviates, substantive law, analysis of Supreme Court decisions and mob and riot control.

Capt. Albert Yanco directed the academy assisted by Lt. Richard Nugent as classroom supervisor and patrolmen Raymond Thibault and John Coffee, co-ordinators.

Officials attending the ceremony included Mayor Monte G. Basbas, members of the Board of Aldermen, Thomas E. Quinn, Roger E. Newton District Court Spring and Domenic J. representatives, Dist. Atty. Piselli Jr.

Freeport Plan Is Step Nearer Goal

Freeport Foundation moved one step closer to its goal of establishing a cooperative home for Newton High School students in need of temporary separation from their families, when it took title on June 2nd to its 10-bedroom, $50,000 house at 361 Commonwealth Avenue.

This is the location which had been the focus of Freeport's petition to the Board of Aldermen for permissive land use, and of the Land Use Committee's April hearing, held at City Hall before an overflow crowd.

By an 18-3 vote, the Board granted the permissive use on May 4, subject to 29 restrictions designed to meet concerns and objections on the part of those in the neighborhood who expressed opposition.

Among the restrictions are a limitation on the number of student residents - a maximum of 9, all of whom have to be of the same sex.

Also requirements for exterior and interior repairs and remodeling to meet the City's fire safety and health standards, and requirements for landscaping and parking (although none of the students are allowed to have cars); in addition, the permit is good for only six months from the beginning of operation, and can be renewed only after a full review.

Not satisfied with these safeguards of the public interest, five residents of the area have filed a petition in Middlesex Superior Court against the Board of Aldermen and the Trustees of Freeport Foundation to annul the special permit, and also sought a temporary injunction to prevent alterations and the repair work from getting underway.

After hearing arguments on June 11th by Attorneys Robert Bonin for the petitioners and Frederick G. Fidler, Jr. for Freeport, Judge Edward A. Pece refused to issue a restraining order, and set July 7th as the date for a hearing on the annulment.

Freeport began in February 1969 in a Newton High School psychology class, and evolved out of the concern of students for their peers.

With an established need, it has gained widespread community support, and last week became the recipient of the Graduating Class gifts of both high schools.

This summer and fall, for the third time, a new group of students will again take the place of those who graduated, to carry on the work of readying the house for occupancy and of raising the necessary operating funds.

Bruce Rosenblum, an incoming senior at Newton High School will take over as student coordinator. Contributions are welcome and may be sent to the Freeport Office, P.O. Box 141, West Newton 02165.

A move to adjourn the meeting before Alderman Robert Tennant was defeated by a 13 to 3 vote.

Voting in favor of the resolution were Aldermen Richard Bullwinkle, Carmen, Harry Crosby, Thomas Concannon, Peter Harrington, Lipof, Sidney T. Small, Matthew Jefferson, Eliot Cohen and Arthur Sullivan.

Those who voted in opposition to the resolution were Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, Alan Barkin, David Jackson, Egelson, Tennant and Board President Wendell R. Bauckman.

John J. Droney and civic leaders.

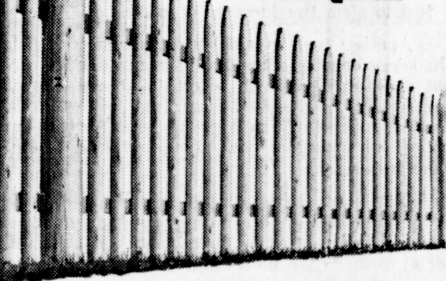

The Newton officers graduating were James L. Guaragna, president of the class; Francis X. Barrett, Paul C. Cantiloro, John J. Cox Jr., Francis H. Doherty, Joseph W. Donahue Jr., Thomas W. Frost, Robert J. Greeley, Francis A. MacKenzie, William H. McDermott, Jr., Ronald J. Morreale, Thomas E. Quinn, Roger E. Newton District Court Spring and Domenic J. representatives, Dist. Atty. Announce Fund Drive At Pine Manor Conclave

Two Newton residents were panel members at the recent Leadership Conference at Pine Manor Junior College in Chestnut Hill. Marvin S. Joslow, Coordinator of Counseling Service, of Newton Highlands and Miss Edith T. Rowe, Dean of Students, of Chestnut Hill, participated in a one-hour session on "Pine Manor's Counseling Program."

A capital campaign for over $5 million to be known as "The Fulfillment Fund" was announced at the concluding luncheon meeting of the conference. Many Pine Manor leaders, alumnae, parents and friends attended the meeting at the College.

It's easier to drive than a Volkswagen.

Just for the record, there are two kinds of Volkswagens around:
The Volkswagen.
And the Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift.

Now the idea of driving a Volkswagen with a regular stick shift may scare you.

But the idea of driving a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift, shouldn't.

It makes everything very easy.

It does away with the clutch pedal.

It does away with shifting every other mile. (You merely put it in Drive 1 to start. Then Drive 2 at 55 mph.)

And best of all, it doesn't do away with giving you a good 25 miles to a gallon of gas. (The average car only gives you 14.)

After all, why make a Volkswagen that's easy to drive.

If you take away the best reason for driving it.

Ninety-Nine Percent

Eighteen-year-olds were among those who cast their vote in Russia's election last Sunday.

The government made it as easy for them to participate in its election as it did for the older citizens. This year the commissars in Moscow who handle such things, decided to make it as comfortable as possible for the voters to cast their ballots. Vote trucks moved through neighborhoods. People could vote at their weekend retreats, on a train or bus or at an airport.

It was all in the line with the desire of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics to bring the ballot to the people.

There were 1,517 candidates divided into districts across the vast expanse of land. All candidates were members in good or approved standing of the Communist Party. They'll serve in the two houses of the Supreme Soviet for four years—if they maintain that standing.

The vote tally represented about 99 percent of those eligible to vote. That's a pretty good turnout. It couldn't happen in the United States. In 1968 we had the largest voter turnout for a Presidential election in our history. More than 73 million went to the polls. That, however, was only 61 percent of those eligible to vote. Percentage-wise, that compared with 62 percent in 1964; 63.8 percent in 1960 and 59.9 percent in 1956.

Maybe, we could hike the voter response by sending the polling places out to the people. A more effective method, however, would be the Soviet system of making certain the delinquent voter knew such over-sights weren't considered lightly by his government.

No one stayed up all night waiting for the Soviet returns. The government didn't have to hire any computers for its TV stations to project early returns into guesses of what the final results would be.

We're doing something wrong about getting out more voters on Election Day, but we'll just have to cede to Russia that 99 percent turnout championship.

Time for Action

Since June 2, 1967, when a convicted murderer died in Colorado's gas chamber, no one has been executed in the United States for a capital crime.

In those states where death remains as the supreme penalty for certain major crimes, there are a number of prisoners who have heard a judge pronounce their doom at the hands of the state. Some have appeals pending. Some have exhausted their appeals. They're just waiting.

The moratorium on the use of electric chairs, the noose and the gas chambers is due to the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States is expected to consider and decide whether or not the states or the federal government have the right to punish certain law-breakers by taking their lives.

Juries in Massachusetts and other states are still bringing in first-degree verdicts, in some cases without a recommendation of mercy. Judges, in obedience to laws still in the statute books, are ordering the execution of persons found guilty under so-called capital punishment statutes.

Massachusetts itself hasn't had an execution since 1947. Whatever stand one may take on the right or wrong involved in the question of capital punishment, no one can approve of the situation under which convicted persons must live for years under the Damocles-sword existence of mental torture.

Sooner or later the highest court in the land will address itself to the question of capital punishment. For its justices it will be no easy decision to make.

Yet, that court itself must recognize that delay serves no good purpose. The longer the present moratorium lasts, the longer will be a punishment law-makers never conceived as an integral part of our penal statutes. The longer it is extended, the longer will the statutes of several of our states stand in juxtaposition to actual fact.

Our high court should place this matter on the agenda for the final decision in the near future.

Praise For Meecham

Editor of The Graphic:

As parents of a member of Newton High School's 1970 graduating class, we wish to commend publicly Mr. Meecham, Mr. Fink, and those members of the school committee who, whether they agreed or not with the choice, confirmed the right of the senior class to choose its own commencement speaker.

We also wish to commend Mr. Meecham for the dignified way in which he conducted the entire graduation ceremony.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Levy
Newtonville, Mass.

Thanks The Graphic

Upon the culmination of a very fruitful year of work and a highly successful fund raising luncheon, we wish to thank you and your very fine staff for your excellent cooperation. Every courtesy you extended us is greatly appreciated. The publicity we receive through your publication is widespread and immeasurable. We shall look forward to your continued support as always.

Letter To Mr. Meecham

Mr. Richard W. Meecham, Principal
Newton High School
Newtonville, Massachusetts
Dear Mr. Meecham:

Your recent letter endeavoring to explain why you positioned Howard Zinn in the middle of last night's graduation exercises was vacillating and weak. However, I accepted it as the best response you could give under the extreme pressures to which you were subjected. Those who could not tolerate listening to Mr. Zinn were free to leave and return when he was through assailing the U.S.A. But Mr. Meecham, why did you have to insult and outrage we parents by declaring - "The 1970 graduation exercises were not set up for parents and adults?"

And then you almost choked adding - "Delighted as we are that so many of them are here"

And finishing off with these words - "The graduation is for the students and the students of the Class of 1970 indicated their desire to have Prof. Zinn."

I ask Mr. Meecham, who pays your salary? The students or we parents?

I ask another question. Wasn't the ballot stacked in favor of Zinn on the second go-around? First of all the students had the following choices -

a. Do you prefer Prof. Zinn
Yes - 307
b. Do you prefer 2 student speakers
Yes - 97
c. Do you prefer no speaker
Yes - 101

Total Voting 505
App. not voting 295
App. Number graduating 800

First of all, what kind of choice was that? Secondly, why didn't 295 students receive an opportunity to vote?

My wife and I left our seats when Zinn became unbearable and returned when he was through. Several of the people around us said "We wish we had the courage to do the same as you". When we asked why, they said "The previous speakers made us feel we were bigots if we vacated our seats and we didn't want to do anything to upset our child's graduation."

The language came on quite strong and for quite a number, you actually had a captive audience.

But the evening was brightened by Mr. Beckwith's remarks as he gave due credit to the parents and grandparents of the graduates as having contributed much before them. Finally, I felt for the only time last evening, as a first class citizen of Newton.

Perhaps some good will come from last evening's experience. Next year you may consult with and advise the students that perhaps some one who still believes that this Country is the best in the world, is a better choice than one who wants to destroy it by any means which is expedient.

Sincerely yours,
Harry G. Johnson
West Newton, Mass.

Irritating Problem
Editor of The Graphic:

In these days of major earthquakes events, may I take a moment for a minor but irritating problem.

Has anyone taken a look at the grounds surrounding the schools in the Oak Hill area?

We may have smart kids at these schools, but we also have the most unkempt, paper-strewn, and least "garden city" appearing schoolyards in a radius of many miles.

I suppose in these days, when seemingly it is what's inside that counts, not outer appearance, nevertheless, I still think there might be some beauty attached to a clean, flowered and neat school area.

If the department of the city whose job it is to do this work is short-handed whether in money or personnel, possibly the PTA of each school could have "beautification" of grounds as a project. This should be an easy banner for all to rally around because polarization on the subject should be at a minimum.

I can even visualize the children participating in the clean-up on a regular basis, possibly with the forming of garden clubs. Instead of travelling to other parts of the state to help people renew their neighborhoods, they might get early training in taking care of a problem right in their own vicinity.

Plan Has Merit

Editor of The Graphic:

By now, we are sure, we have all heard a great deal of flamboyant rhetoric on both sides of the NCDF question. Much of the discussion has been highly emotional and almost always loud.

We believe the basic concepts put forth by NCDF contain a great deal of intrinsic merit; it would be a tragedy for the plan to be defeated due to minor defects. We urge the application of reason at this time in an effort to remove those defects so that the proposal can proceed toward realization.

To name two, we suggest the elimination of the City Hall site completely and the moving of the Beethoven site to the snowdump in order to leave the school room for expansion.

Many opponents have asked, "Why Newton? We don't see any other suburbs doing this." We believe Newton is uniquely equipped among suburban and exurban Boston communities to accomplish the NCDF objectives.

Newton boasts a nationally recognized school system, well developed town services, an outstanding network of parks and recreation facilities, a functioning government, an intelligent, prosperous, and progressive electorate, and many available sites.

Precisely because of these factors, Newton is in the enviable position of being able to pioneer.

In fact, we believe the implementation of the NCDF plan in a slightly amended version will actually make Newton a more attractive community in which to reside.

Very truly yours,
Walter S. Bernheimer, II
Waban, Mass.

Letter To Mr. Stiller

Dear Mr. Stiller,

During the recent NCDF public hearings before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen, virtually hundreds if not thousands of Newton citizens spoke out vigorously for the preservation of open spaces and recreation lands in our city.

Yet, on Monday evening June 8, at the public hearing (also before the Land Use Committee) to re-zone a large open space and recreation area, Victory Field, not one, not even one of all those thousands was present to speak for preservation of this city-owned land.

Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights was the only organization to oppose the re-zoning of Victory Field at this time. I am extremely disappointed at your silence now over an issue which, only last week, you stressed as so vital to Newton.

I now ask you, as Chairman of Newton Land Use and Civic Association, to clarify this group's position regarding open spaces and recreation areas so that all citizens may understand the implications of this apparent inconsistency.

Sincerely yours
Mrs. Elizabeth Ruiz

New Housing Concept
Editor of The Graphic:

The nation looks on. There is a new concept in public housing that probably will never get past the drawing boards. Small high quality sites supported by the state and federal governments scattered throughout a city may nevertheless revolutionize housing concepts in the future.

The Newton Land Use and Civic Association oppose NCDF. A pamphlet distributed to Newton residents explains the alleged practical side of such opposition: "The Newton Land Use and Civic Association, a citywide coalition of concerned private citizens," states the pamphlet, dramatized with headlines inferring the "destroying" of "our" city, "strongly objects

ANOTHER GENERATION GAP

In 1970, the Attorney General not only fights organized crime and those who would defraud the state; he also represents the interests of all citizens of Massachusetts in such diversified areas as consumer protection, drug abuse, air and water pollution and civil rights.

Violation of laws controlling these areas of growing importance has perhaps a more adverse effect on the daily life of the average citizen than what we have traditionally regarded as crime.

Although we have expanded the protection of the rights of the average citizen, we have continued to fight vigorously against organized crime and corruption in government.

The Department of the Attorney General has been aggressively involved in the investigation of criminal activities. In the first three months of 1970 we obtained indictments against 42 persons for crimes ranging from the theft of more than $700,000 in negotiable securities to pollution of the Charles River to receiving stolen lobster pots.

In addition to investigating specific crimes and obtaining indictments against specific individuals and firms, we have worked to give our law enforcement officials a greater and a more sophisticated knowledge of modern law enforcement techniques and to give these officials better tools with which to work.

One such tool is my witness immunity law — recently passed by the legislature — which crime-fighters can now add to their arsenal of weapons in the battle against the growing menace of organized crime.

In 1968, the President's Crime Commission recommended that immunity statutes be enacted at the state, as well as at the federal, level to overcome the "wall of silence" that so often defeats the efforts of law enforcement.

The witness immunity law protects the witness's constitutional privilege against self-incrimination while compelling him to give testimony that may lead to the conviction of criminals.

Although a witness granted immunity after a hearing before a justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court may be compelled to give testimony which on its face is self-incriminating, the state is prohibited by the immunity grant from using that testimony or fruits of that testimony in any prosecution of that witness. The witness is also protected from civil suits that might be based on that testimony.

At the same time, the bill protects the Commonwealth against the grant of immunity when it could frustrate the prosecution efforts of another arm of state government.

Before a district attorney can receive an order granting immunity to a witness, he must notify every other district attorney in the Commonwealth and the Attorney General of his application.

By requiring such notice, a witness about to be arrested or indicted in one county can not try to obtain immunity in another county without notice and so defeat a valid prosecution.

A witness who refuses to testify after being granted immunity may be prosecuted for contempt and jailed for up to one year or until he complies with the order to testify, whichever occurs first.

This legislation has given us a fair and effective tool to stem the increase of crime.

Another tool to aid law enforcement officials is the series of drug education I have sponsored throughout the Commonwealth to create an enlightened law enforcement body which recognizes both the legal and medical aspects of the drug problem. Several hundred police officers have now graduated from these two-week courses.

Last year, the legislature passed a comprehensive drug rehabilitation bill, prepared by members of my staff, that treats drug abuse more as a medical and social disease than as a crime.

The legislation, which combines an innovative approach to rehabilitation with more sophisticated drug education and effective law enforcement, authorizes treatment—in-lieu-of-prosecution for all persons dependent on drugs—not just hard-core addicts.

I am supporting changes in our present legislation which would remove mandatory sentences for drug users and permit certain minor drug crimes which are now felonies to be treated as misdemeanors. Both of these changes would give courts greater discretion in dealing with youthful drug offenders.

Throughout the school year, I have been speaking with high school students about the problems of using marijuana, amphetamines, hallucinogens and narcotic drugs. My office has a speakers bureau which provides speakers on the topic of drugs to any organization or meeting.

In addition, my office issues a monthly newsletter informing law enforcement authorities, school administrators, and drug rehabilitation programs on the latest developments in the field of drug abuse.

In the area of consumer protection, as in the area of drug abuse, Massachusetts has passed legislation that is among the most advanced in the country.

My office is working to create yet stronger and more comprehensive legislation to give us even better tools with which to protect consumers—and we are all consumers—from the abuses that pervade the marketplace. The Consumer Protection Division has coupled the drafting of new legislation with the investigation of schemes that defraud the consumer.

In many cases, the division recovers money or property taken from the consumer by means of a deceptive or unfair trade practice. In the first three months of 1970 alone, the lawyers and investigators in the division settled 1,250 individual cases and recovered more than $568,000 in the settlement of consumer complaints.

In a recent consumer action, tenants were returned security deposits that were being illegally withheld by a Boston realty firm to cover tax increases.

The Consumer Protection Division is now drafting legislation that would require banks to give full disclosure of home mortgage terms and limit increases of mortgage rates to one-half percent for every five years after the maturity date of the note.

This legislation was prompted by the recent attempt of a bank to increase by three percent the interest rates of the mortgages of 350 Chelsea and Revere homeowners who were unaware that their interest rates were subject to increase.

Because of this lack of knowledge, the division intervened and the increase was limited to one percent in the next five years and a rate ceiling of seven percent was set.

Perhaps the area in which the most complaints are received by the division is in the sales of both new and used automobiles.

Several used car dealers who our investigations disclosed had been altering mileage readings on cars on their lots, have signed promises to cease this illegal defrauding of the consumer.

New car manufacturers have been requested to clarify the terms of ambiguous warranties and guaranties that do not conform to Massachusetts consumer laws and that compose approximately 25 percent of the division's automobile complaints.

As chief advocate of the people of Massachusetts, the Attorney General is not limited to fighting the problems of crime, drugs, and consumer abuses. Man's ability to violate the rights of his fellowman sets the limits. I regard it as my duty to continue to seek new and better ways to protect the rights of the citizens of Massachusetts.

Retired Teacher To Be Feted At Meeting Tues.

Mrs. Cecile P. LeClair recently retired from Newton High School where she has been a guidance counselor since 1956.

She will be an honored guest at the annual Newton High School Faculty Luncheon which will be held at Ken's Steak House, on Tuesday, June 23rd.

She was graduated from Putnam Academy and Worcester State Teachers College. In 1938, she received a Master of Arts degree from Columbia University where she majored in Pupil Personnel Administration.

She began her professional career in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, where she was a teacher of English and Social Studies.

Then, she taught English at Southbridge High School where she later served as Dean of Girls. From 1952-1956, she was a guidance counselor and Dean of Girls at Needham High School.

The students at the high school will remember her for her kind, friendly manner; the faculty will remember her as a pioneer in pupil personnel.

to NCDF's plan to build 508 units of low and moderate income housing on ten sites scattered throughout Newton. This proposal is wrong for our "Garden City." Newton residents currently associating themselves with the Civic Association are Margaret Cormier, Albert Bibbo, Loerto Tocci, Edward Sullivan, Steven Borgesen, Phillip Cohen, Albert Lebel, Marjorie Nessen, Cecil Caldwell, George Mitchell, Jr., Melvin Rabinovitz, Robert Stiller, Herbert Henken, Colmen Goldberg, Phillip Richmond, Stephen Sklar, Comenic Taglienti, and Wilfred Smith. Other backers are not known openly. Most Newton residents sympathize with them. Their objections are cogent and somewhat accurate: (1) The Housing Authority already has a sufficient program. (2) The NCDF plan will not house city workers. (3) Schools are already overcrowded. (4) Newton residents won't have first choice but rather those displaced by federal projects. (5) Crushing city taxes imposed. (6) Insufficient play areas now. (7) Too much additional traffic. (8) Wetland housing. (9) Zoning regulations. All powerful and well thought out objections. NCDF has not for the most part even begun to answer them. Zoning cannot be overcome at the moment. This latter point is the only legal one. Re-zoning can prevent the program from taking place, unless the new "Anti-Snob" zoning law introduced in the state not long ago is brought into effect. (This law of Massachusetts can possibly force certain residents to re-zone for public housing). NCDF believes that Newton residents will re-zone out of the "goodness of their hearts." NCDF has spent too many years behind the well isolated "storied halls and ivied walls" of their pulpits and churches to understand tough infighting. Ignorance is bliss. At least it was until now.

Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., Chairman of the Newton Housing Authority, on April 23 this year, submitted a letter to Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas, in which he states: "Presently under the program the Housing Authority has 115 units leased and occupied. . . . Since June of 1969 . . . new rent subsidy units units per month . . .

"As of April 17, 1970, the applications for eligible individuals on file with the Authority consisted of 138 elderly applications; and 29 non-elderly. The Authority has received non-eligible applications consisting of 226 elderly, and 71 non-elderly." Non-elderly applications involve five members per family on the average according to Authority statistics. In total, the Authority is involved with (eligible and non-eligible) 464 families totaling about 1,228 individuals. The authority is able to handle 25 to 30 percent of these people so far. (Not to mention over 700 Newton residents now making under $6,000). The interest of the Newton Land Use and Civic Association may indeed prevent the pendulum of naive do-gooders from swinging too far into a religious utopia until there is nothing left of the wealth of Newton, but their comment regarding the Newton Housing Authority program being adequate is not true entirely, through no fault at all incidentally of the Authority to all appearances. "Politics", and federal guide lines for rent subsidies, are rather strict and must be followed to the letter. Actual Authority "building" projects are for the elderly so far.

The Civic Association's argument concerning city workers is true; few city employees will be eligible. If this is the key issue rather than annual income then all public housing programs in Newton should simply be abandoned and any one who cannot make nine or ten thousand dollars, work for Newton, or is over sixty five, may just fall between the cracks in the earth. The Civic Association's commentary on overcrowded schools is true. Newton schools are already over-crowded. Five hundred new families in Newton, elderly and otherwise, will mean five hundred or more new students in the city's thirty some odd schools. Some might advise therefore that all new families moving into Newton, building in Newton, or with a business not be allowed to do so if they bring in any more un-Godly little creatures with them. Newton is a growing city and new schools are a must from time to time, with or without NCDF ideas. The Civic Association fears that hundreds of people will pour into Newton who have been displaced by federal projects. Applications now on file are not based on federal displacement; all who have applied, 464 families, have done so on the basis of other than federal displacement. (By law, those displaced by federal projects will have first choice to public housing). Imposed taxes are a potent issue, but it must be understood five hundred families making 5500 to 10,000 dollars a year are taxed about $800,000. NCDF is not total charity. These people will pay their way. Traffic? Traffic conditions will double over the next decade without the NCDF program. Consequently all newcomers with cars "keep out?" Wetland housing is not to be welcomed if it causes problems of drainage, but it must be said that homes are now in the neighborhoods deemed as "wetlands," and so far, none have floated away. It is quite possible, engineering-wise, to build a housing project over Boston Harbor. In fact, it has been planned already. Insufficient play areas is the final point made by the Civic Association. Burke In 12th District Representative Contest

Atty. James R. Burke of 99 Fairway Drive, West Newton, has announced he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House seat in the 12th Middlesex District formerly held by the late Rep. H. James Shea, Jr.

The district, which takes in Newton Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7, includes areas of Newton Corner, Newton Centre, Nonantum, Newtonville and West Newton.

Burke, speaking before the Newton Ward 7 Democratic Committee recently, referred to Shea's use of the "power of the Constitution to recall America to her highest ideals" and called for a restoration of state government manifestly interested in human problems.

He said he will dedicate his campaign to closing the gap between government and the governed, restoring credibility in political leaders and in being concerned with the disadvantaged, including the elderly in the area of public housing.

Burke told the group, "We must look for new avenues to solve the problems of today. We must not only identify their symptoms but attack their deepest roots in our society."

He said further, "we must begin as a people examining what we stand for, what we have done, both good and bad, and then we must embark on a new quest for government, in which the people really know they share."

The Newton Democrat is the son of Newton Deputy Police Chief and Mrs. William J. Burke. He was educated in Newton public schools, graduated from Boston College and received his law degree at Suffolk University Law School. He served in the Marine Corps Reserve following his graduation from B.C.

He is married to the former Jane Suhy and they are the parents of two sons, Jimmy Jr., 2, and Gregory M., 1.

Burke is a member of the Massachusetts Bar Assn., the Newton Chamber of Commerce and the Knights of Columbus.

Bride's Uncle Officiated at Aries-Macdonald Wedding

A trip to Montauk, Long Island, N.Y., followed the recent marriage of Miss Loretta Anne Macdonald to Michael Lewis Aries which was solemnized at St. Paul's Church, Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Macdonald of 11 Edinboro place, Newtonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Aries of Wellesley.

The Rev. K. F. Macdonald, uncle of the bride, officiated at the two o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception was held at Holiday Inn, Newton. Mr. Eugene K. Macdonald of Newtonville, brother of the bride, gave her away. Her full length organza gown was trimmed with pink ribbon and marked with lace inserts at the neckline, and on the long sleeves.

Her cathedral length illusion veil, edged with lace mantilla, was marked with pink ribbon. She carried a bouquet of pink and white daisies.

Mrs. Patricia Lesley Pouche of Malden, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Moia Macdonald and Miss Stella Macdonald, both of Newtonville and sisters of the bride, joined Miss Eileen Aries of Wellesley as bridesmaids. Young Mary Macdonald of Newtonville was her big sister's flower girl.

Frank McGourty of Newton served as best man. The ushers were Joseph Brown of Watertown and Robert Carr of Medford, both brothers-in-law of the groom.

Mr. Aries and his bride will live in Framingham.

A graduate of the Academy of the Assumption, Mrs. Aries models for the Carol Nash Agency.

Mr. Aries attended Lowell Tech and served two years with the Air Force.

Stork News

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Reilly of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., which makes known the recent birth of their first child, a son, Michael Francis, at Vassar Hospital.

Mrs. Reilly, the former Jacqueline A. Obert is the daughter of Mrs. Oscar D. Obert of Newton Centre and the late Mr. Obert. Mr. and Mrs. William Reilly of Bronxville, N.Y., are the paternal grandparents.

To Be On TV

Jeff Warschauer and Ben White, two fifth graders at the Mason - Rice School in Newton Centre, will appear on the Father's Day show on Community Auditions, Channel 4, Sunday, June 21st at 11 a.m.

They will sing "Feeling Groovy" and will accompany themselves on the ukulele and guitar.

MRS. STANLEY H. DOLBERG

Harvard-Simmons Juniors Wed at Temple Emanuel

Temple Emanuel, Newton, was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Karyn Faith Scheier to Stanley Harris Dolberg.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scheier of 17 Jene road, Newton and Mrs. Alexander Dolberg of 10 Dwhinda road, Waban.

Cantor Gabriel Hochberg officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double ring service. Poetry reading and original prose by the groom highlighted the evening ceremony. A reception followed at the temple.

The bride wore an ivory satinized silk gown misted with re-embroidered lace appliques on the bodice, sleeves, front of the skirt as well as bordering the hemline of both her skirt and train.

She chose a Camelot headpiece of the same lace which was caught with a long bouffant illusion veil and she carried an duchess rose trimmed with lilac ribbon.

Miss Karen Segel of Brighton was maid of honor. She was attired in a lilac and blue print skirtmaker gown designed with bishop sleeves and caught at the waistline with lilac ribbon. A band of matching velvet was caught with a circular lilac veil. She carried a white basket of lilac flowers.

Identically gowned, but carrying lilac baskets filled with white mums and carnations the bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Dolberg and Miss Joyce Dolberg, both of Waban, Mrs. Jody Scheier of Brighton, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Robin Lowenstein of Dumont, N.J. Miss Janet Lefkowitz of Newton and Miss Anne Robinson of Washington, D.C.

Marvin Stanley Swartz of Waban was best man. Ushering were Mark Scheier of Brighton, brother of the bride, Edward O'Rourke Jr. of Kalva, Hawaii, David Ryder Bishop, Richard Tarnis and Reay Brown, all of Michigan, and Jonathan Dauld Raben of Waban.

The couple plans to live in Cambridge.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the title of the Lesson - Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The creation of man and the universe is ascribed to God rather than to a chain of material reactions, according to Isaiah: "I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded."

Also in the lesson from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy are the pertinent questions:

"Did man, whom God created with a word, originate in an egg? When Spirit made all, did it leave aught for matter to create? Ideas of Truth alone are reflected in the myriad manifestations of Life, and thus it is seen that man springs solely from Mind."

All are welcome to attend First Church of Christ, Scientist at 391 Walnut St., Newtonville with Services beginning at 10:45 a.m.

Miss Green-Mr. Sokolowsky Wed: Living in Somerville

The marriage of Miss Norma Susan Green to Chaim Sokolowsky took place recently at Chateau Gaillard in Brookline.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Tabachnick of 100 Tyler terrace, Newton Centre, and the late Mr. Robert Louis Green. Mr. and Mrs. Jona Sokolowsky of 1015 Washington street, Newtonville, are the groom's parents.

Cantor Gabriel Hockberg officiated at the 12:30 o'clock double ring service. A reception was held at the chateau.

Mr. Tabachnick gave his step daughter away. She was attired in an embroidered voile gown made with long sleeves and a modified cowl neckline. Her illusion veil terminated at her fingertips and she carried traditional flowers.

Mrs. Nanci Ellen Coleman of Brookline was her sister's honorary matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Hope Zaroff of Forest Hills N. Y., Miss Elaine Furman of Newton Centre, Miss Carolyn Novick of New Bedford and Miss Patti Baker of Pittsfield.

Young Lori Sue Coleman of Brookline was her aunt's flower girl.

Bernard Mass of Allston, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man. Michael Sokolowsky of Newtonville, brother of the groom, William

"After School" Program Helps
7,000 Children
Improve Grades

WELLESLEY — A new teaching technique has improved the elementary and high school grades of more than 7,000 underachievers in 33 centers in major cities throughout the country.

This unique educational approach, developed by the Reading Research Centers, uses certified teachers and proven educational methods to motivate grade school children to become better, more interested students. Classes meet once each week without interfering with regular school.

If your child has problems in school, if he doesn't pay attention, doesn't understand his assignments or doesn't like to read; if he has trouble concentrating or seems fidgety and easily frustrated — the special teaching methods at your nearby Reading Research Center may be of considerable help. There are four R. R. Centers conveniently located throughout the Boston area. To arrange for a personal interview at no obligation to determine whether your child can benefit from this uniquely effective program phone collect (617) 267-0390. Ask for Mrs. Price.

SPRING TRIP — Mr. and Mrs. George W. Erickson of 139 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, pictured at the Bermudian, Hamilton, Bermuda. The Ericksons celebrated their 23rd wedding anniversary during their visit. Mr. Erickson is advertising salesman for the Boston Globe.

Miss Hilda G. Hope, Executive Director of the Association, welcomed the volunteers and thanked them for their cooperation during the year.

Mr. William E. Halliday, President of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, thanked the volunteers for their loyalty and announced the merger of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association with the Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, which was effective April 1, 1970.

He emphasized the fact, that there would be continuous need for the volunteers, and that a great service could be rendered to Newton residents in programming. However, the preparation and mechanics of the annual Christmas Seal Campaign would no longer stem from the Newton office. This would originate from Boston.

It was deemed advantageous to merge so that the residents of Newton could receive the ultimate return for their donation in terms of service, programming, research and education, and the two Associations could further the purposes for which each has been incorporated.

Mr. John N. Sullivan, past president of the Association, and public relations director, thanked the ladies for the many hours contributed this year.

Dr. Martin, President of the Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, spoke and expressed his gratitude over the merger, and thanked everyone for their cooperation.

Miss Hope assisted by Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, awarded certificates to the following clubs: Newton Centre 11 hours, Waban Woman's Club 51 hours, accepted by Mrs. John Orrok. Auburndale Woman's Club 65-1/2 hours, accepted by Mrs. Imiti Tsutsumi. Woman's Club of Newton Highlands 178 hours, accepted by Mrs. Harold Hockridge. Newtonville Woman's Club 275-1/2 hours, accepted by Mrs. Samuel Melick. Newton Community Club, Inc. 327 hours, accepted by Mrs. Arthur Wood. West Newton Hobby Club 740 hours, accepted by Mrs. Ralph Barter. Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club 1414 hours, accepted by Mrs. Frank Herman. Newton Federation of Women's Clubs 2,926 hours, accepted by Mrs. Susan Jenkins.

Special tribute was extended to the following who contributed more than 100 hours of service: Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, Mrs. Frank Herman, Mrs. Ralph Barter, and Mrs. Francis Quinn. Certificates and African Violets were presented to these ladies who gave so much of their time.

Mrs. Francis Pitts, Executive Director, of the Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, was introduced by Miss Hope. Mrs. Pitts expressed her elation and optimism over the merger of the two Associations, by combining more could be accomplished economically. The volunteers were commended by Mrs. Pitts for their untiring efforts, and hoped they would continue to work as they had in the past.

Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, Christmas Seal Chairman, acknowledged the Hobby Club of West Newton for the favors they had made for the trays to be used at the Middlesex County Hospital, which were contributed by the West Newton Woman's Club, Newton Upper Falls, Newton Community and Newtonville.

Others attending were Mrs. Edythe Anderson, Mrs. Osten Anderson, Miss Adelaide Ball, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Constance Bradley, Mrs. Walter Brown, Mrs. Langdon Chandler, Mrs. John E. Cox, Mrs. George Dean, R.N., Marjorie Ellicott, M.D., Hazel Foley, Miss Helen Gale, Mrs. Esther Hadley, Miss Fanny Garrison, Miss Elizabeth Harlow, R.N., Mrs. Reginald Holmes, Mrs. G. Andrew V. Levin of West Newton, was awarded a varsity lacrosse numeral at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.

Laura Jane Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard I. Kaplan of 1451 Beacon street, Newton, received a bachelor of arts degree from Sarah Lawrence College at commencement exercises at the Bronxville, N.Y., school Miss Kaplan, president of the senior class, spoke at commencement telling why the graduates changed the traditional program as a statement of their concerns.

He said he has $30,000-a-year executives coming in to buy $600 second-hand minks when normally they would spend $2,000 or $3,500 for new ones.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

JANICE E. KAPLAN

The 1969-70 school year is extended to twenty-five nearly over. Today marked the last day of final exams. Students will go to school on Monday and Tuesday, June 22 and 23, before leaving for the summer.

Classes will be from 8 a.m. to 11:35 a.m. on Monday, and 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday. These days will be to complete obligations, discuss exams, and return books.

Graduation was held Monday, June 8. Steve Porter and Mary-Louise Kiley received top awards along with many other deserving and outstanding students who won awards and scholarships.

Steve was honored with the boy's senior cup, an award given to the outstanding boy graduate. In addition to being an excellent scholar, Steve was an active leader in the school. He served as chairman of the Student Faculty Forum and founded and headed the Newton Educational Workshop. Steve recently represented Newton South in Washington where he discussed the strike with Senator Brooke and Senator Kennedy.

Steve served as editorial editor of Denebola. He wrote and directed the controversial "Someone's Hidden in the Rain" which was presented as one of four student written plays at the May Arts Festival.

Mary-Louise Kiley received the Girl's Senior Cup. She was president of the Girls Athletic Association and active in sports. She played on the tennis, volleyball, basketball, and field hockey teams. She is a superb student who was a member of the SAC for two years. Mary won the DAR award, the Cutler House Scholarship Award, and the PTSA scholarship award.

Joan Aron was the recipient of the Phi Beta Kappa award for exceptional academic achievement. Her future plans include Radcliffe next year.

Federico Virgilio won the Mendelson Athletic Award for outstanding sportsmanship and leadership in athletics. Donald Levin, Editor-in-Chief of the 1970 yearbook, received the Orr Award. This is for all-around excellence.

The faculty awards were presented to ninety-two seniors. Sophomores and juniors were also eligible for the honor. Faculty awards are given for character, leadership, service, and a mature sense of responsibility. Teachers nominated students, and the faculty and housemasters made the final decision.

Fifty-two members of the junior class won faculty awards. The honor was also extended to twenty-five sophomores.

Next year's junior class committee was recently chosen. Winners of the election include Robert Beaser, Laura Berkowitz, Joan Cooper, Nancy Gehr, Janice Kaplan, Randy Lampert, Janet Perlmutter, David Schlakman, and Amy Sugarman.

The Harvard Book Prize and University of Wisconsin Book Prize, given to the outstanding boy and girl in the junior class were presented at a junior assembly. Karl Seeler and Prassade Calabi won the prizes.

The Student Faculty Forum elected a student and faculty member as chairman for the coming year.

Jessi Shober was chosen by the students. The faculty unanimously elected Mr. Robert Stegeman.

The class of 1972 chose their class ring. The round stone with school insignia and year on the sides will be the official ring. Students may get the ring at Hendricks Bros.

The final exam policy this year was new. It called for the final to count one-fifth of the final grade if it will help the student, the final was weighted as a significant part of the fourth term grade. Departments were urged to comply with the new policy whenever possible.

This column will continue bi-weekly next year to again bring you all the news from Newton South High. Have a nice summer!

Stanley Forman Gets Degree At Northeastern U.

Stanley Mark Forman, 974 Chestnut St., Waban, received his bachelor of science degree from Northeastern University at the commencement exercises held June 14.

While majoring in Electrical Engineering at Northeastern Mr. Forman received numerous scholastic achievement awards including membership to Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honor society.

He was also a member of Eta Kappa Phi which is an electrical engineering honor society at Northeastern.

Mr. Forman was a Deans List student for his entire stay at Northeastern and a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

The Waban resident was also a member of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society for outstanding scholastic achievement, and he will graduate third in his class.

'Buyer Beware' Unit Organizes Summer Camps

James E. Magner was still hopping mad over a raw typewriter deal when his wife, Helen, began bugging him about the sofa.

The sofa had been sent out to be upholstered. "They told us it would be back in four weeks," Magner said. "Here it is almost three months and no sofa. Every time my wife saw that empty space in the living room she got on my ear."

That's when the 66-year-old Magner decided to do something about consumer runarounds. He organized Caveat Emptor, Inc., in June, 1969, to protect consumers.

The Magners finally got back their sofa after a wait of four months. The upholsterer explained that the material Mrs. Magner had chosen was not in stock.

"If the material was not in stock, then it should not have been among the swatches we were shown to make a choice," Magner said.

Magner, an insurance broker, said the sofa incident occurred before he had had enough time to cool off from the frustration and aggravation of the typewriter deal.

"It was an electric typewriter and it cost me about $2765," he said. "But the 'period' key wouldn't work and I sent it back to be repaired. Apparently, it couldn't be repaired because 100 days later they gave me back my money. In the meantime, my secretary had turned to a portable typewriter."

Caveat Emptor means "Let the Buyer Beware." Magner said he kept the Latin title for his firm because it arouses curiosity.

The organization has a membership of 300 in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. When the group grows into the thousands, Magner said, he hopes to open branches in other cities.

Magner said picketing is the key weapon of his organization to assure a fair

Solomon Schechter School Fetes Retiring Headmaster

The P.T.A. of the Solomon Schechter Day School, located in Newton at Temple Emanuel, honored its retiring headmaster Irving Karol, a resident of Brighton.

Dr. Chaim Mayman, President of the P.T.A. and Rabbi Joseph Schultz, a Member of the Board of Trustees, presented volumes on Hebrew poetry to Mr. Karol as a token of the parents' and the children's respect for him. The presentation was made during the final P.T.A. meeting of the year. The officers of the P.T.A. for the 1970-1971 term were installed by Dr. Myron Rosenbloom of Lexington.

The new officers are: President, Dr. and Mrs. Chaim I. Mayman; 1st Vice Pres., Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Pucker; 2nd Vice Pres., Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rosenstein; 3rd Vice Pres., Dr. and Mrs. Richard J. Wurtman; Secretary, Rabbi and Mrs. Laurence Silberstein; Treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rubin.

The school's half-day nursery and kindergarten will meet at Temple Mishkan Tefila and grades 1-6 will meet next year at Temple Emanuel, Newton. Registration for all grades is open. Please call 277-0420 or 876-3821.

Mrs. Albert Schilling of Waban and Mrs. Luster Delany of Chestnut Hill were members of the committee arranging the day's program. Mrs. Schilling was 1st Vice President of the Alumnae Association during 1969-70 and was re-elected this year and Mrs. Delany is a member of the Alumnae Association's Board of Directors.

Miss Patricia Nesson of 60 Halcyon road, Newton Centre was installed as 2nd Vice President during the day's activities. She received her master's degree from Lesley in 1969.

deal for consumer members, who pay an annual fee of $65. Pickets, usually college students, are hired for about $1,650 an hour.

"We've only had to picket once since we organized last year," Magner said. "It took the merchant only two days to realize he had made a mistake. He ran a dry-cleaning shop and had offered to pay $65 in payment for a $265 pair of trousers he had lost. He paid in full."

We'll get your kid through his language exam. Or we'll give you your money back.

This offer is not as crazy as it sounds. After years of tutoring students who have fallen behind in their studies, we have developed the ability to zero in on each student's difficulties. So we teach him only what he needs to know.

In fact, we're so sure, we're prepared to give you this iron clad guarantee.

If your son (or daughter) follows the course we prescribe, he will pass his French, Spanish or German exam.

(No matter what it's for. Summer school, fall make-up exam, or language requirement for Ph.D.) If he doesn't, we'll give you your money back.

So tell him to see us now. Exams have a habit of creeping up on people.

Young Y' Campers Await Season Opening June 29th

Hundreds of boys and girls are anxiously awaiting the arrival of summer and the opening of Camp Massasoit, June 29th. Housed at the Newton Y.M.C.A., 276 Church St., Newton, Camp Massasoit is a packed, fantastic day camp for children ages 6 to 14.

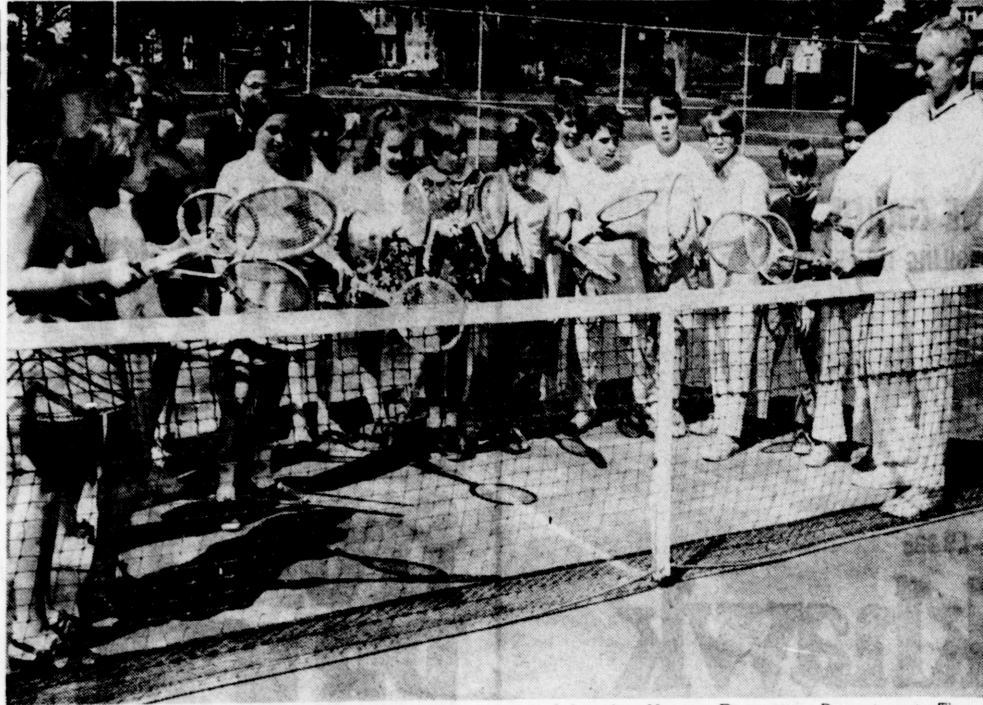

As many of last year's campers remember, there's never a dull moment. The activities are many and varied—including swimming, archery, tennis, arts and crafts, softball, soccer, and other field sports. Special trips are always fun, and we take several during the camp season. Last year we traveled to George's Island in Boston Harbor and spent the day exploring the old abandoned fortress there. The New England Aquarium, a Red Sox game, and a visit to the Franklin Park Zoo rounded out the trip schedule.

Additionally, we have athletic and archery competition with Camp Chickadee. Last year we had a few tennis matches as archery contests, as well as watermelon for everybody. Since the Y.M.C.A. facilities are used, we have an advantage of outdoor and indoor facilities, so that rain doesn't interfere with our program. The counselors are thoroughly experienced and trained personnel. Although all of them have a working knowledge of our program, specialists will be used in areas such as swimming and arts and crafts.

The massive look

The word is BIG in decorating today. Sofas have grown to huge proportions, even three walls; massive club chairs let you sink comfortably into upholstered pieces; and coffee tables are giant slabs of wood, glass, or slate, on which you could practically serve a full course dinner.

That's the decorating scene, as reported by Ward Furniture Manufacturing. To keep pace the firm is introducing what it calls the super dresser. It is 80 inches long.

PLENTY OF "ANYONES" FOR TENNIS HERE—This corps of alert Newton small fry were among 75 local girls and boys who turned out for the recent tennis clinic conducted by pro Jack Lynch, at right, and sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department. The clinic was held as a kick-off to introduce youngsters to the opening of the annual summer playground tennis lessons which start July 1st.

'Hurrah for Hats' Theme For Party At Free Library

"Hurrah for Hats," will be the theme at the West Newton Branch of the Newton Free Library on June 18, this afternoon at 2:30, when Mrs. Dorothy O'Connor, branch librarian, welcomes all patrons to a wear-a-hat tea party.

Patty Savill and her baton will lead a parade of hats around the library garden from 2:30 to 2:45, when Boys' and Girls' Librarian Jane Granstrom will tell a story to young participants.

The Warren Jr. High School chorus, directed by Dr. Robert Weiss, will give an outdoor concert in the garden, accompanied by Mrs. John Webber of Nonantum on a mini-organ/piano. Judging of hats will take place at 3:35 with judges Miss

Mason Rice Boys In Charlie Brown Play

Sixth-Grade boys from the Mason Rice School in Newton Centre have recently completed seven performances of the musical play, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," in their own and other Newton schools.

Under the guidance of sixth-grade teacher, Mary Lou Rey, and their musical director, Saul Stern, the boys won high commendation for their surprisingly professional production.

The singing actors included Barry Davis as Charlie Brown, Bob Stern as Lucy, John Ingbar as Snoopy, Robbie Dobler as Linus, David Boruchoff as Schroeder and David Lecoq as Patty.

Manning the Lighting Crew were Eliot Andler, Ben Barber, Glenn Cahoon and Stephen McDonough. Chris Alexander served as Prompter.

Athletic Assoc. Football League Fair On June 27

The Newton Athletic Association Football League will hold its annual Fair on Saturday, June 27, starting at 10:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Newton Centre Playground.

The purpose of the Fair is to help defray the heavy operating expense of a youth football league.

This year's Fair will be bigger, with a wider variety of attractions including: Games, prizes, Polaroid pictures of the children on the pony rides, antique Paddywagon rides, food, Dunk-the-Crown, Balloons and introducing a new game for the street hockey buffs — Beat the Goalie.

A white elephant and cake sale will be directed by the Womens' Auxiliary.

The Newton Recreation Department has cooperated fully with the enlarged program by expanding the Fair Grounds in anticipation of the large turnout.

In case of rain the Fair will be held Sunday, June 28.

NIXON URGES LABOR AND BUSINESS TO CURB DEMANDS

PRESIDENT NIXON declared Wednesday that "the American economy is the strongest in the world," but urged labor and business to curb their wage and price demands to help control an inflation more persistent than he had anticipated. In a speech to the nation broadcast from the White House, the President renounced mandatory wage-price controls, unwanted Congressional authority to impose them on a standby basis, or even direct presidential pressure for wage-price restraint of the type popular in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. Instead, he announced creation of a new commission that would issue periodic "inflation alerts" to focus public attention on excessive wage-price increases. And he expressed confidence that his moderate policies would produce prosperity without inflation.

The stock market gave a cool response to the President's economic message and closed mixed in moderate trading. The Dow Jones industrial average of 80 selected blue chips was off 1.30 at 704.96 near the closing bell.

On the political and labor front, spokesmen assailed Nixon's speech. Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien charged the President "sold out to the big business interests that have historically dominated the Republican Party." O'Brien's sharp criticism was joined by other Democrats in Congress. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., commented: "We are now in the worst recession since the Eisenhower-Nixon recession of 1957 and all the President offers is partisanship and palliatives." AFL-CIO President George Meany said Nixon's study commission on increasing productivity and his plan for "inflation alerts" to spotlight excessive wage and price demands "may increase public education on economic issues, but I fail to see how they will curb inflation, reduce unemployment or cut interest rates." Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., who favors a wage-price freeze said: "This latest policy is too little and too late."

HOUSE ADOPTS PACKAGE GIVING 18-YEAR-OLDS RIGHT TO VOTE

THE HOUSE Wednesday passed and sent to an uncertain fate in the White House a voting rights package giving 18-year-olds suffrage and extending electoral safeguards for Southern Negroes. The final vote was 272 to 132, an unexpectedly wide margin which could mean President Nixon would have difficulty in making a veto stick. Just before the vote the House rejected, by a 224-183 roll call, an attempt to separate the 18-year-old voting features from the proposal to extend for another five years voting rights safeguards in the South. Separation would have entailed sending the bill to a House-Senate Conference Committee, where supporters warned in debate the bill almost certainly would die. Opponents, contending Congress lacks constitutional power to set the voting age by a statute, predicted a crisis in the nation's electoral machinery while the law was tested in the courts. Supporters dismissed that criticism as a Southern strategy aimed at scuttling the bill's safeguards for black voters in the South. Besides permitting some 10 million 18 to 20 year-olds to vote in federal, state and local elections, effective Jan. 1, the bill would extend expiring key provisions of the 1965 Voting Rights Act under which close to 1 million Negroes have been added to the voter rolls in seven Southern states.

SENATE REJECTS JET FIGHTERS FOR THAILAND

THE SENATE rejected a proposal Wednesday to provide Thailand with modern jet fighters to protect itself against Communist air raids. An amendment by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to permit the Defense Department to give Thailand the planes directly, without going through the Congressional Foreign aid process, was defeated 45 to 36.

NATHAN VOLOSHEH PLEADS GUILTY TO CONSPIRACY CHARGES

NATHAN VOLOSHEH, shadowy power broker who worked out of House Speaker John McCormack's office allegedly with the help of McCormack's chief aid, pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of conspiring to defraud the U.S. government. Voloshen, a 72-year-old attorney who maintained a Manhattan office, faces a maximum prison sentence of 20 years and $16,000 in fines. He changed his plea from innocent to guilty on one count of conspiracy and three of perjury when his trial opened in federal court Wednesday morning. Voloshen's co-defendant, McCormack's former administrative assistant, Martin Sweig, 46, did not change his plea of innocent and selection of a jury to try him began immediately. McCormack said in Washington he had no comment on Voloshen's guilty plea. Among the government agencies Voloshen and Sweig were charged with attempting to influence, often using McCormack's phone and even his name, were the Justice, Treasury, Defense, Post Office and Justice departments, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Selective Service System.

CAMBODIAN UNITS RUSH TO PUNCH COMMUNIST BLOCKADE

CAMBODIAN ARMY units rushed to the railroad town of Kraing Lovea Wednesday to try to punch a hole in a Communist road and rail blockade that has all but isolated the capital city of Phnom Penh. Vietnamese Communist units late Tuesday blocked the railway to Bangkok, trapping a passenger train and a freight train laden with rice at Kraing Lovea, 40 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. They took the rice. They also cut the Highway 4 oil route to the port of Kompong Som after it was briefly reopened by combined South Vietnamese and Cambodian forces.

KENNEDY CRITICIZES EXTREMISTS IN BUNKER HILL ADDRESS

SEN. EDWARD M. KENNEDY pleaded Wednesday for a restoration of the American dream which, he said, was under attack by extremists on both the left and the right. Debate over the war is threatening to rip American society apart, he said, and those who exploit and aggravate differences on both sides should have no part in the debate to solve it. The young senator, outspoken critic of President Nixon's Vietnam policies, made the remarks in a speech at the foot of the Bunker Hill Monument where a tiny cluster of people had gathered to commemorate the 195th anniversary of the 1775 battle in which American Colonists fought bravely but lost to British regulars. "Did not the men on this hill seek a life for their children free of repression, free of other men's prejudice, free to advance to the limits of their talents?" he asked. "Then how can we avoid the same search? How can we flee from the problems of our society only to seek quiet — when prejudice and repression exist?" He added: "And those who wrap themselves in the flag, who use that loved symbol as a weapon, who judge a man by his education, the length of his hair, or some other meaningless symbol — those are the people who have no place in this debate." While making no direct reference to the war in Southeast Asia, Kennedy linked the battle of Bunker Hill to the war of today. "Today the battles are different, the people are different, the definitions are different — all that is left that is common between us and those who fell here is the dream," he said.

Farout Men's Outfits Worn To Met Opera

By WALTER LOGAN

Nureyev really brings them out. Sequined evening trousers. Black sealskin opera capes. Emerald green velvet evening jackets. Flaming red blazers. Satins and laces. And velvet by the acre — some of it trimmed with brocade.

Nureyev, of course, is Rudolf Nureyev the ballet dancer who leaps higher than anyone and has been compared with Vaslav Nijinsky, another Russian who could leap higher than anybody. As a matter of fact Nureyev probably will star in a film on Nijinsky's life.

The occasion was he appearance of Britain's Royal Ballet at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and specifically opening night with Nureyev and Dame Margot Fonteyn, another favorite of the far out ballet set.

It might be an exaggeration to say that the evening clothes worn to the Metropolitan are an immediate forerunner of male evening wear in general. But the current revolution in men's styles was preceded by some weirdo getups from Carnaby Street and Greenwich Village.

Opening night was a gala affair, mostly black tie, and only a handful of balletomanes wore screaming getups. The Old Guard gathered in the restaurant on the Grand Tier level during the three intermissions of "The Sleeping Beauty" was eminently correct.

There was a smattering of full dress suits, a vasy array of dinner jackets or tuxedos as they used to be called, mostly double breasted on the younger members of the Old Guard, and a number of Bill Blass and Cardin black velvet evening suits.

There were so many big floppy black velvet bow ties from Turnbull & Asser in London they made the occasion small skinny black tie look ludicrous. The well dressed people in black velvet suits wore black satin bow ties, large size.

And now we come to the frivolous or even outlandish evening wear.

There was a tall and stately looking young black in an Afro haircut who wore a purple suede jacket with fringe hanging from his shoulders to his knees. With it he wore a lilac colored satin shirt with puffed sleeves and bell bottom purple trousers.

Then there was the boy in sequins. His jacket probably was fairly humdrum but nobody saw the jacket — they just saw the pants. They were fawn colored and hung with sequins an inch across, or maybe they are called spangles. In gold, red, orange, blue, black and white.

There was a man in a gold and silver brocade like Jacket, or mess jacket, cummerbund and plain black trousers who looked oddly 18th Century. With the brocade jacket he wore sideburns so long they swept back behind his ears. He also had a moustache and a beard and carried a handbag.

It was a comfortable 72 degrees but one youth strode through he assembled intermission rinkers with a black velvet cape slung over his shoulder, bullfighter fashion. Another had a black caracul topcoat slung over his shoulders, European fashion.

Then there was a man in a green velvet Robin Hood costume, some hippie types in ragged sweaters, one rugged type out on the terrace in a frayed denim shirt, and a few in outdoorsy looking tweed coats. But most of those not in evening clothes wore blazers. Fire engine red or peacock blue, for example.

There were a few nonsuits — a Cardin knitted tunic and matching pants worn with a wide leather belt, a zippered Cardin tweed outfit better at a football game, a fawn colored satin tunic worn with black pants and a gold chain and an evening shirt in peach worn with a plum colored velvet vest. The man with the satin tunic wore a diamond ring bigger than Liz's.

Rock Festival Planned In Watertown, June 20

A modified "Rock Festival" will be sponsored by the Rotary Club of Watertown on June 20, from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. at Building 215 on the old Watertown Arsenal property opposite Arlington Street. Newton talent will take part.

Featuring bands from Belmont, Newton and Watertown, the Festival is being held to raise funds for the Watertown Boys Club Building Fund.

Unlike the larger, more commercial Rock Festivals, this one will be a local affair directed toward the Senior and Junior High School students of Belmont, Newton and Watertown and will feature local talent. At least six popular Rock Groups will compete for cash prizes and will be judged by the estimated four to five thousand students who are expected to attend.

To fulfill a $10,000 Rotary pledge, all proceeds from the Festival will be donated to the Boys Club Building Fund. Tickets are on sale at the local schools or at the Watertown Boys Club Office, 56 Main Street, Watertown.

The Rotary Club, comprised of the leading businessmen of the community, have the full cooperation of the Town, which should contribute to the success of the Benefit, and also offer an exciting musical afternoon for the students.

Flower Thieves Hit Here; Nab Trees, Plants

"Greenery Rustlers" made off with a Canadian hemlock tree, six upright yews and 22 petunia plants from three locations in Auburndale last weekend.

The tree was part of a $2,200 beautification project at the new Auburndale Library park. It disappeared last Friday night.

Mrs. John B. G. Palen of the Auburndale Garden Club, which had undertaken the landscaping effort at the library, estimated the tree's value at $30.

The flowering plants were part of another project of the garden club. They were taken from window boxes at the Auburndale Post Office sometime Saturday night.

The third theft, which apparently occurred on Sunday night, involved removal of six plants belonging to Franchi Brothers Construction Co. at 2000 Commonwealth Ave. The yews have an estimated value of $20 each according to Anthony Franchi of the company.

Mrs. Palen, who is beautification chairman and past president of the garden club, stated that there was evidence of "professional" removal of the tree and flowers. The tree was apparently dragged across the sidewalk to a vehicle waiting at the curb, and a scooping instrument plus a ladder were used to steal the petunias.

Garden club members, working at the library site on Tuesday, said they are doubtful about continuing this community beautification project.

Leon Shulman To Infoton Board

Leon M. Shulman of 11 Galyann Rd., Newton, a partner in the insurance firm of Breznjak & Shulman of Boston, has been elected to the Board of Directors of Infoton, Incorporated.

Infoton manufactures cathode ray tube display terminals and optical character recognition systems for the information and data processing fields.

Shulman, who was graduated from Northeastern University, is a Trustee of the Brookline Hospital and the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for the Aged, and is President of Market Lodge, B'nai B'rith.

Rugo New Director

Paul R. Rugo, a partner in the Boston law firm of Goodwin, Procter & Hoar, has been elected a director of Instron Corporation.

Mr. Rugo was graduated from Harvard College in 1955 and from Harvard Law School in 1958. He is a Trustee and member of the Board of Investment of the Newton Savings Bank, Newton, Mass., and a director of several privately owned companies.

Texas plans to spend $340,000 on tourist advertising this year.

New, Young Leadership Is Evident In City GOP Club

New and young personalities moved to the top leadership of the Newton Republican Club as a result of the annual election of officers this past week.

Charles E. Aucoin, well known in civic and political activities of the community, was elected president of the club, one of the largest and most active of its kind in New England.

Joining him on the team of officers as first vice president is Stephen P. Crosby. Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Second Vice President, and Lawrence Applefield, Administrative Vice President, were also elected.

Re-elected were Norman Buchbinder, treasurer, and David A. Lurensky, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Robert L. Tennant became recording secretary, succeeding Mrs. David S. Bard who served several terms in that office.

Aucoin succeeds Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr. who served several successful terms as president. Medaglia was unable to attend the annual meeting due to illness in his family and Donald P. Quinn presided in his place. Nedaglia's service to the Club was acknowledged in a special resolution expressing the appreciation of the membership. A presentation is planned at a future meeting of the group, it was announced.

Some fifty men and women were elected to the Executive Committee of the Club, these names to be listed in a later announcement.

The program of the Annual Meeting was devoted to the announced Republican Statewide Candidates many of whom put in personal appearances to press their claim for delegate support at the forthcoming Republican State Convention on June 27.

RIX Discount Store Opens In Newton Centre

A new concept in discount retail beauty aids stores becomes a reality today (June 18) when the RIX Corp. opens its 78th retail unit at 24 Langley Road, Newton Centre.

"This is a prototype of our second generation store, larger in size and featuring design element and merchandise innovations that forecast the RIX store of the future," said Richard L. Weinberg, president of RIX Corp., one of the fastest growing health and beauty aid retail discount store corporations in the country.

From the moment one approaches the new store, the differences are apparent. Gone are the advertising posters which usually clutter the windows. Instead, the customer can look through clear glass into the well lit, spacious store.

Inside, wider aisles make leisurely viewing and selection possible. Overhead is a store directory, while wall murals identify the products displayed below.

The 3,000 square - foot store features a greater assortment in each product line. In addition, there will be lines of merchandise not usually found in this type of store.

An extensive housewares department will feature all first quality manufacturers, such as Rubbermaid, Ecko, Pyrex and Thermos. For campers, there will be a wide selection of camper needs, such as plastic containers, while persons going on glamorous vacations will want to visit the better perfumes boutique.

A stationery department will feature supplies for home, school and office. There will be records, paperback books and greeting cards for sale. Paper goods for home and parties will also be available.

Wearers shoppers will appreciate the public restrooms at the rear of the store, a first for stores of this type.

RIX Corp., based in Auburndale, has retail stores and leased departments in 17 states.

Newton Mayor Monte Basbas will officiate at the grand opening ribbon-cutting ceremony this Thursday morning. He will be joined by Larry Eisenhauer of the Boston Patriots and executives of RIX corp., including President Weinberg, Store Manager Joe LaFlamme, Supervisor Sumner

SUN-PROOF

LATEX HOUSE PAINT

$6.97

Many paints crack and peel when your house stretches and shrinks with variations in temperature. SUN PROOF LATEX expands and contracts with the house. Tough Long-lasting. No primer necessary over most re-paint surfaces.

- SUN-PROOF Resists the Ravages of Air Pollution
PITTSBURGH PAINTS research laboratories have done it again. Its technicians developed a formulation that not only inhibits mildew growth but also is unaffected by sulphide fumes. Another first in the paint making art from PPG.
- SUN-PROOF is Fade Resistant
Color retention of new SUN-PROOF Latex is excellent... in white tints or deep tones its paint film withstands all the ravages of air pollution... a paint film with lasting beauty!
- SUN-PROOF is Mildew Resistant
This new SUN-PROOF Latex House Paint is highly resistant to mildew. Zinc oxide gives the paint film a degree of mildew resistance not previously found in Latex house paints.
- SUN-PROOF is Fume Resistant
New SUN-PROOF Latex House Paint will not darken or stain: the presence of sulfide fumes because its zinc oxide formulation is completely non-reactive with them.

Father's Day is almost upon us and the easy way out for me in rushing this column out to print is to suggest a beautiful cool air conditioner for Dad's den. But I'll tell you something dad would like even better and that is the sincere love and respect of his children particularly when it is demonstrated by being a little closer to the old-fashioned adage of application to one's work and motivation to excellence in one's chosen field. Speaking as a father I think I can epitomize our desires — and that is "Make us proud of you!" That would be the best Father's Day gift of all.

Committee Checks On Its $100,000 Advance

John E. Gilleland assistant superintendent for business services, reported to the Newton School Committee at the Monday night meeting on the present status of projects undertaken with the $100,000 advanced to the School Department under the 1970 budget.

Gilleland had outlined needs in February, when he pointed out that provision for work to be done in the summer needs to be made well in advance.

Gilleland reported that he expects the projects will be completed by the end of this summer with the exception of the work at the Weeks Junior High and the Underwood Elementary School.

The Monday night report was made in response to a request by the School Committee's Special Commission on School Buildings, headed by Mrs. Eleanor Rosenblum.

In a May 19 letter, the Commission asked specifically for a report of (1) the projected use of the $100,000 (2) the progress by which the renovation plans are developed, and (3) progress to date in carrying out the actual projects.

It had also recommended the hiring of an architectural consultant to help develop plans for educational renovation.

It was Mrs. Rosenblum's contention that several of the projects underway are the kinds of areas in which an architectural consultation could provide many more options than the administration might be aware of. Based on this year's experience, she was interested in what could happen in the future.

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas stated that he thought it would be illegal for the School Committee to hire an architect, and said that such consulting service is available through the city hall.

He stressed that in using the advance money the School Department cannot bypass the process of going out to bid. The transfer of the money to the school budget actually does not transfer the power to spend it, which authority ultimately rests with the mayor.

Mr. Gilleland said, "I believe you should put the money as close as possible to the responsible party. The School Department should budget its own funds for the repair and maintenance."

Mayor Basbas then asked: "What about raising it?"

The projects now in process, listed according to the priority accorded them, and their estimated cost, are as follows:

Cabot School, Newtonville — Specifications for covering steam pipes and radiators; $4,000.

Meadowbrook Junior High, Newton Centre — Special class needs; $3,000.

Underwood School, Newton Corner — Relocation of library in the stage area instead of conversion of auditorium space as originally planned. (Gilleland pointed to the great time-saving advantage of the School Department's having the authority to change plans without going through the old routine via city hall); $16,000.

Lincoln - Eliot, Newton — Conversion of auditorium to classroom; $3,000.

Weeks Junior High, Newton Centre — Planning and bidding on conversion of auditorium space may extend into early fall; $20,000.

Warren Junior High, West Newton — Ceiling work in Social Studies classrooms has been awarded. Contracts have been awarded for removal of walls in Room 205. Folding partitions are ready for bidding. Remaining portion of project will be out to bid in near future; $18,500.

Davis School, West Newton — Conversion of playroom; $4,000.

Emerson School, Newton Upper Falls — Lighting, sink and plumbing; $10,000.

Williams School, Auburndale — Conversion of auditorium space; $8,000.

Angier School Waban — Ceiling work in music room; $2,000.

Ward School Newton Centre — Sinks; $500.

Franklin School West Newton — Auditorium lighting; $2,000.

Ward School Newton Centre — Basement alterations; $1,000.

Future projects, when funds available.

Cladfin School, Newtonville — Conversion of shower and storage area; $10,000.

Peirce School, West Newton — Conversion of shower and storage area; $2,000.

Newton South High School, Newton Centre — Music room area; $6,000.

Beauty Care Today

By Norman of RONALD COIFFEURS

SHADOWING AND HIGHLIGHTING

Blending, shadowing and highlighting are the keys to success in all make-up.

Blending takes time. There must be no separations or visible demarcations. Rouge must never be apparent as a separate area of color. Apply a small amount to cheekbone, blend back towards ear with a small brush. Use circular motions.

Shadowing can change the shape of your face. Eliminate the suggestion of a double chin. Shadow under the jawbone going from one ear to the other.

Highlighting is the opposite of shadowing and is done for emphasis. Use a prepared highlighter or liquid three shades lighter than your make-up base. Apply to features you want to stress. By putting a blended line of highlight down your nose you can make it appear straighter.

Pamela Mason Says Men Should Demand Equality

By VERNON SCOTT

Pamela Mason, never a female to hide her opinions, directed a barrage of invective against strident feminists and the Women's Liberation Front.

"The are squandering all the advantages of being females," she said, "for the dubious distinction of being a man's equal."

"We're a good deal more than equal, thank you," said the actress-television personality. "We have the best of both worlds right now."

"I'm against the Womens Liberation Front because they would deny the good things and pleasures of being a woman, including motherhood. The accusation of creating thesis uation in which women now find themselves. Nonsense. Women are women by instinct."

"These females who cry out for equality lack the College Notes

Gwen L. Kotzen of 71 Kenilworth st., Newton, received an undergraduate degree from Lesley College, Cambridge at commencement exercises held at the end of May. Miss Kotzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthews Kotzen was awarded a bachelor of science in education degree.

Robin Lewis daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Lewis of Newton Centre, will attend the University of Bridgeport next fall. A graduate of Newton South High she was active in Future Teachers of America, Spanish Club and of United Synagogue Youth.

very instincts of being feminine. Women must keep the nest while men bring home the bacon."

The former Mrs. James Mason does both. In addition to raising daughter Portland and son Morgan, she works regularly in television and motion pictures.

Currently she is developing a new television series, "The World of Pamela," fittingly enough based in Las Vegas.

"We hope to syndicate the show across the country," Pamela said enthusiastically.

"It'll be an hour of exploring the things that absorb leisure time — fishing, sky-diving, horse shows, sailing, golf, tennis, adult night courses in interesting subjects. Even cooking."

"We'll go on location to shooting interesting people involved in a variety of hobbies and activities. Then we'll interview an authority in the field."

As might be expected, Pamela will provide a few of her own observations to add spice to the series.

"Women are not only unfair to men, they are just as uncharitable to other females. That's why there are so few feminine emcees on television today."

"Women keep other women off the air because they'd rather see a man talking to them or selling them soap instead of another female. It's a ridiculous situation."

Pamela lifted a cup of tea, an old British habit, and concluded, "If the truth were known it is the men who should be shouting for equality!"

Mass Brass On Bandstand For Hotel Patrons

Larry Bisso and his Mass Brass musical stylists have taken over the bandstand at the Marriott Motor Hotel's colorful Windjammer Lounge, overlooking the Charles River in Newton.

The Mass Brass is described as the "Small Big Band" and each of the four players sings individually and can double on other instruments. All have their own parts in the quartet vocals for four part harmony.

The Band consists of organ, two trumpets and drums. The organ is where the big sound comes from, and the two trumpets create the group's individual style.

The group is unique, having written over 250 arrangements, and every song is arranged specifically for the group.

The Mass Brass: Larry Bisso, organ, guitar and lead singer; Joseph DeRosa, first trumpet and flute; Wayne Ugolini, drums and vibraphone; Joseph Butler, second trumpet and trombone.

Following six months of study, the First Church of Newton Centre, the Second Church of West Newton and the Eliot Church of Newton Corner decided, at separate meetings, to combine their resources in order that a 2000-member United Parish of Newton may benefit from joint professional staff and projects.

Seventy-four percent of the three congregations voted in favor.

Services of worship are expected to continue at the three locations beginning in the fall, while an educational program will be combined. First draft of bylaws and a combined budget for 1971 is called for in the plan, and total review of the working arrangement is scheduled for no later than February 1972.

Churches of other denominations will be welcome to explore a working relationship with the newly formed United Parish.

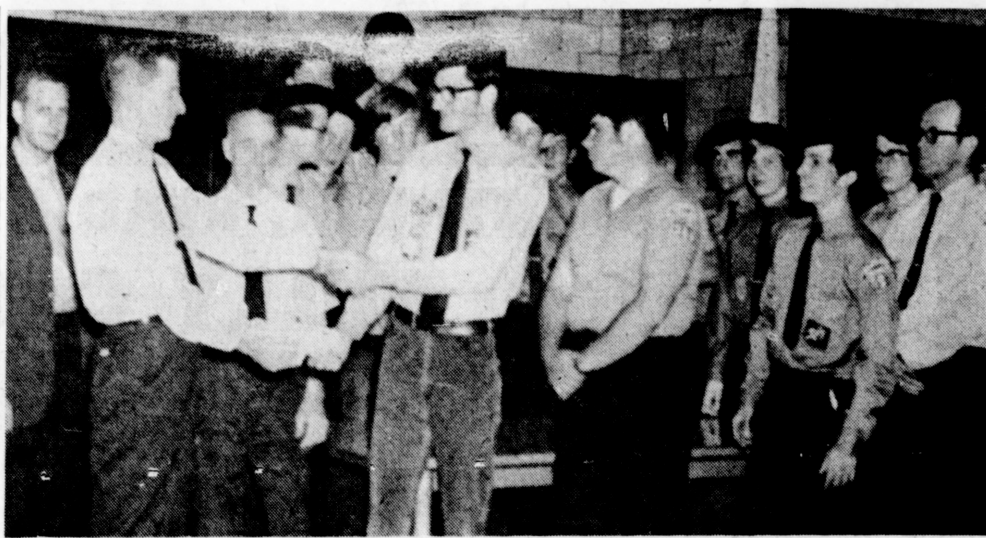

There are historical roots for the new partnership since Second Church and Eliot Church both had their beginnings in the First Church.

Hauer Honored

Thomas F. Hauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hauer of 99 McCarthy road, Newton, a graduate this year at Mount Hermon School, was singled out for honors during the commencement exercises there.

Thomas received the Horace H. Morse History Prize for interest and competence displayed in a high academic record in Social studies at the private boys preparatory school.

The State University of New York, with 286,707 students, has the largest enrollment in the nation.

study is far more valuable for more people than full-time study. At any rate, for those who work during the day, it is the most feasible method of advanced study.

"It's been a pleasant experience," she said, "but I had no one to type my papers. Many of the men had secretaries to do that for them."

And when the papers were due, the deadline often came at a time when she had stacks of Newton High student papers to grade.

Training and education have always been important to her. A 1952 graduate of Smith College, with an A.B. in European History, she went on to complete 30 hours of French Literature at Boston University.

She now has a mix of business, language, and history, which may be an odd lot for most people. But for Carol Horgan, it's a perfect blend. And odd lots are often good investments.

Miss Horgan then worked at the Boston Aetheneum and taught elementary school in Westwood. Next came five years as an editor of elementary reading, social studies, and French texts at Ginn and Company, where she was also responsible for layout, artwork, and proofreading.

She has taught English, French, and social studies at Day Junior High in Newton and just finished her first year at the high school.

A year ago she took a sabbatical to study business administration at the University of Hawaii. While there she taught at the Booth Memorial Home, for unwed mothers, taking over when the director became ill.

Her reward was the granting of high school diplomas to eight of the girls in the home.

Miss Horgan would like to remain in Hawaii because of its variety of activities and life style. The time spent in Honolulu was like a permanent vacation — at home in the morning, then to the beach, university classes in late afternoon and out in the evening. A schedule most people wouldn't argue with.

When possible, she combines travel with education, and spent one summer studying contemporary civilization of the University of Nice extension in Cannes, France.

She's travelled throughout Europe, with jaunts to South America, Australia, and New Zealand but really calls home "a comfortable cape" near Hyannis.

Miss Horgan built the home in 1964-65 with funds she'd invested in the stock market, but says, "I'm out now. I got out before it got bad."

She said, however, "If we're going to have the peace that everyone wants, there's going to have to be a change in 8 Newtonites Get Degrees At Suffolk U.

Eight Newton residents, including a doctor and the son of a judge, received degrees at Suffolk University commencement exercises Sunday (June 14) at the John B. Hynes Civic Auditorium, Boston.

Five of the Newton students were recipients of doctor of laws degrees including Dr. Richard F. Gibbs of 170 Hartman Rd., Newton Centre, senior anesthesiologist at Boston Hospital for Women.

Dr. Gibbs, who attended Suffolk Law School evenings, hopes to apply his law training to legal medicine. While attending law school, he was moderator and a lecturer of the Felix Frankfurter Medical Forum and was also an executive officer of the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

Others receiving doctor of laws degrees were Charles J. Artesani Jr., son of Brighton District Court Judge Charles J. Artesani and Mrs. Artesani of 175 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill; Norman L. Vernon of 27 Loudholm Rd., Newton; Mark B. Bortek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bortek of 55 Woodlawn Drive, Newton and Nelson S. Baker of 283 Lowell Ave.

Roger M. Williams of 22 Middle St., Newton, was awarded a B.S. degree in business administration cum laude, and Leo J. Bowes of 78 Pine Grove Ave., Newton and Richard H. Charlott of 12 Boylston Rd., Newton, both were awarded master's degrees in business administration.

Antlers cast off annually by deer are usually eaten by rodents to satisfy their craving for calcium and other minerals.

3 Graduate at Univ. of Denver

Three Newton students were degree candidates at the University of Denver, Denver, Colo., this spring. Receiving bachelor degrees were Christine Burns of 12 George St.; Bruce Lerner of 142 Randlett Park and Janey Pogatch of 475 Brookline St.

Visit--

Mr. Hill was the guest of Newton Mayor Monte Basbas, visiting and touring City Hall and discussing the mechanics of Newton's form of government.

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. of the Newton Fire Department invited Mr. Hill to inspect the Newton Fire Department on his itinerary. Mr. Hill had expressed a desire to see a modern up-to-date fire department while in the States. He visited Station 2 in West Newton on Thursday for this purpose.

He was the featured speaker at the Boston Rotary Club on Wednesday, June 3rd, and the Cambridge Rotary Club on Thursday, June 4th. His subject was Local Government.

On Monday, June 8th, he visited Mrs. Rose Kennedy in Hyannisport.

Mr. Hill's visit was suggested to him last October by concert pianist Arthur MacKenzie who, later arranged his visit and appointments with the various government officials.

Mr. MacKenzie, long interested in local government, felt that much could be learned of value to the Reformation Problem from a survey of New York City and the Metropolitan Boston area.

This was Mr. Hill's fourth visit to America, arriving here in 1938 as Commander of the Honorable Artillery Company of London.

On that occasion he was the guest of President Roosevelt at the White House and helped celebrate the 300th anniversary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston.

Mr. Hill returned to England to report on his survey to the Government and to the Queen on June 11.

Player-coach Lennie Wilkens set a Seattle Sonic assist record with 633 scoring feeds during the 1969-70 National Basketball Association season.

Library Players To Stage Show at School June 19-20

Cries of "Hi, teach," will fill the air when the Newton Free Library Players production of Bel Kaufman's "Up the Down Staircase" is staged at Meadowbrook Jr. High on June 19 and 20 at 7:30 p.m.

This delightfully distorted look at education, adapted by Christopher Sergel, is directed by Dick and Carole Power, with student Karen Bronk as assistant director.

Weeks Jr. High students Bill Lichtenstein, Amy Tighe, Joe Mitchell and Anne Pasbrig are in the cast along with Newton High's Nancy Woke, Edie Hochberg, Tom Teixeira, Sandra Silver, Stephanie Lent, Cyndi Lacey, Carol Brenner, Hal Bronk, Lillian Spatz, Jim Laning, and Diane Lent.

From Our Lady's High School come Joseph DePasquale, Nicole Marcotte, Susan Whelton, Lisette Marcotte and Jack Terry. Day Jr. High students are David Wolf, Steven Bronk, and Peter Judy Austin, Clark Teixeira, Donna Carleo, Amy Teixeira, and Christine Bresnahan are members of the Players; and sole representative from Newton South High is Mark Tighe. From Needham's Pollard School come Pattie Donahue and Nancy Rose.

Denise Ethier of the Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart and Raymond Ethier of Rivers Country Day School complete cast and crew for the June production. The Players, sponsored by the Newton Recreation Commission and the Newton Free Library, are celebrating their first anniversary with "Up the Down Staircase." Free and open to all Newton teenagers, the Players are now casting for "Winnie the Pooh" and for a group of original plays by the young actors.

The Players welcome new members on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:00 p.m. at Newtonville Branch Library.

WHAT AM I BID? — Committee chairmen for the weekend series of event to aid the Art Institute of Boston, which includes a Beaux Arts Ball Friday evening, June 26, and the Creative Communications Awards Dinner and Art Auction the following evening, all at the Statler Hilton, Boston, select one of the 800 works of art to be auctioned off. Left to right: Herbert A. Abramson, of Newton, co-chairman of the AdVenture Costume Ball; Mrs. Edward W. Brooke, of Newton, wife of the U.S. Senator and chairman of the art auction Saturday evening; and Mrs. Ernest Henderson, co-chairman of the ball.

Bowdoin Awards BA Degrees To Four In Newton

Four Newton students were awarded bachelor of arts degrees at Bowdoin College's 165th commencement Saturday (June 13) in Brunswick, Me.

The degree recipients were Stephen J. Buchbinder who was graduated cum laude with high honors in history, son of Norman Buchbinder of 64 Baldpate Hill Rd., Newton, and Mrs. Lenore Buchbinder of 20 Hammond Pond Pkwy., Chestnut Hill; Bruce E. Cain, seniors to graduate summa cum laude, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Cain of 106 Summer St., Newton Centre; Kenneth S. Lidman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris M. Lidman of 130 Oakdale Rd., Newton, and Mark B. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Snyder of 51 Gordon Rd., Newton.

Another student from Newton, Lawrence C. Kaplan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Melvin S. Kaplan of 35 Placid Rd., Newton Centre, won the college's 1970 Hawthorne Prize, awarded to the author of the best short story.

Kaplan is a member of the class of 1972 at Bowdoin.

Newtonites On Committee For Art Auction, Dinner

A large group of Newton residents are members of the committees planning a series of weekend events starting Friday evening, June 26 in Boston at the Statler Hilton Hotel to benefit The Art Institute of Boston.

Mrs. Edward W. Brooke, wife of the U.S. Senator, is chairman of the Art Auction of the Creative Communications Awards Dinner Saturday evening, June 27, with some 800 works of art, valued approximately at $200,000, will be auctioned off to aid the institute which has launched a general development fund drive.

The Creative Communications Awards will be presented at the dinner to Jacqueline Susann, noted author; Otto Preminger, famed motion picture director; Robert Considine, television commentator and columnist; Harry Hersfield, veteran cartoonist and raconteur; Dr. Eric Lincoln, president of the National Black Academy of Arts and Letters; and Dr. Gyorgy Kepes of the Center for Visual Studies of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Originals and prints from the greatest classic and modern masters, including Wyeth, Picasso, Norman Rockwell, Chagall, Goya, Ganesco, Philip Hicken, Murray Wentworth, Boudin, Conger Metcalf, Norman Baer, Leloir, Raphael Soyer and many others, are included in the impressive array of art to be auctioned.

Herbert A. Abramson is co-chairman with Mrs. Ernest Henderson of the Beaux Arts Ball to be held Friday evening, June 26, and presented in cooperation with the Advertising Club of Boston, the Junior Advertising Club of Boston and the Art Directors Club of Boston.

Titled the AdVenture Costume Ball, guests will come in costume representing television commercials, with prizes to be awarded for the best costumes in four categories.

Judges for the Friday night ball include Dave Garroway, Atty. Joseph Oteri and former Esquire writer and newspaper columnist George Frazier.

R. Abrams Wins Abbott Scholarship

Ralph Abrams, 138 Hartman Rd., Newton Centre, has been named one of 72 students throughout the United States to win a one-year college scholarship from The Abbott Foundation, North Chicago, Ill.

The awards, given to sons and daughters of Abbott Laboratories employees, are based on good grades, need, and good citizenship. The scholarships may be renewed each year.

Eighty other students, already in college under Abbott Foundation grants, have had their scholarships renewed for another year.

Since 1953, the Foundation has awarded 1,717 scholarships worth more than $833,346. The money comes from the estate of Mrs. Clara Abbott, widow of Dr. W. C. Abbott, founder of the company.

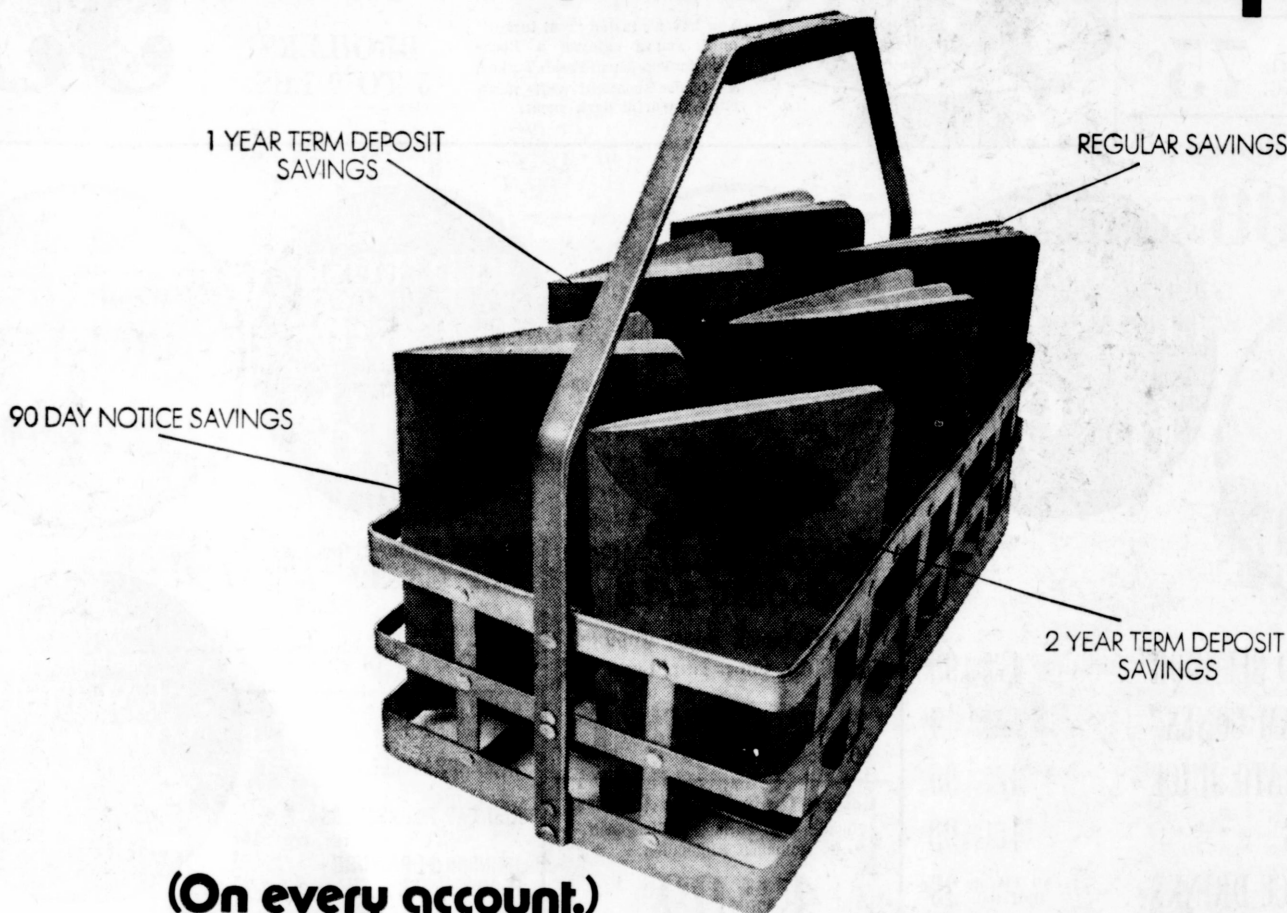

Other members of the committee from Newton include: Mr. and Mrs. Milton Call; Rubin Epstein; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Fialkow; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fisher Jr.; Mrs. Bernice Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kanavos; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pollock; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ravech; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Siegal and Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Stone.

To N.H. College

Nancy E. Grant, daughter of Mrs. Margaret M. Grant, Clearwater Rd., Newton Lower Falls, has been accepted for admission to Mount Saint Mary College in Hooksett, N.H. She expects to major in Elementary Education.

As a student at Ursuline Academy, Dedham, she was assistant editor of the year book and a member of the photography club. Miss Grant participated in the Heart Fund and Cancer Fund drives and is a Girl Scout.

Mann Seeks New Legislation In Pollution Drive

Rep. Theodore D. Mann is recommending new legislation as a result of his recent visit to major Automotive Research and Technical Centers to study new motor vehicle safety features and air pollution controls.

As a member of the Special Legislative Commission which is investigating the subjects, Representative Mann and other members of the Commission have been in consultation with top experts and staff members of Automotive laboratories and are preparing their Commission report for the legislature.

In a preliminary evaluation, Rep. Mann has expressed the opinion that new legislation is indicated as needed.

a. To establish minimum criteria on noise with the requirement that communities require bids on new rubbish trucks with and without anti-noise equipment;

b. To provide safety criteria for new cars sold in Massachusetts, starting in 1975.

c. To require all vehicles to be equipped with anti-pollutant devices starting 1971-1975. Used vehicles to be equipped by 1975, to be inspected by official inspection stations, with equipment and installation determined by the Registrar.

Rep. Mann said that he is hopeful that the new Commission will develop new facts and would sponsor legislation which would implement the program to reduce costs of motor vehicle insurance.

Newton Woman Installed As State Regent Of DAC

A Newton Highland resident, Mrs. Harry Walen was recently installed as Massachusetts State Regent, Daughters of American Colonists, at a special installation meeting at the Hotel Lenox Boston.

Mrs. Walen the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Benson of Somerville, has lived in Newton Highlands for a number of years where her husband is a member of the Board of Aldermen for the sixth term.

She is treasurer of the Board of Deaconesses of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church and Secretary of the Friends of the Jackson Homestead, Inc. in Newton.

As outgoing regent of the Newton Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, she is currently working on the upcoming 50th anniversary of this organization.

Her DAR work has included state duties where she was a State Recording Secretary and is now an American

On Tuesday, June 9th, at the monthly meeting of the Ward Seven Democratic Committee the members had an opportunity to hear a number of people who are interested in seeking the nomination for Representative from the 12th Middlesex District.

Each speaker spoke briefly about his background and views and answered questions from the audience. All agreed it was a most interesting and informative meeting.

Constance Kantar, Vice Chairman, spoke briefly about the progress of the Shea Memorial Fund and explained the workings of the Fund and the purpose for which it will be used.

The next regular meeting will be on July 14th at 8:00 p.m. at Grace Episcopal Church, Edgredge St., Newton Corner. As usual, the meeting is open to the public and all interested persons are urged to attend.

Dr. Vahe Sarafian Enters Race for GOP Third Dist.

Dr. Vahe A. Sarafian of Newton has joined the list of candidates who aspire to the Congressional seat now occupied by Congressman Philip Philbin. Dr. Sarafian announced his candidacy for the Republican Nomination for Congress in the Massachusetts Third District at a recent meeting in Newton's City Hall.

A scholar of international reputation, Dr. Sarafian is a full Professor of History at Suffolk University, Boston, who has devoted some thirty years to specialized study in the areas of Russian and Asian history and anthropology.

A graduate of the Newton school system, he took his Bachelor's degree from Harvard in 1947 (as a member of the Class of 1944, his study interrupted by wartime defense work and family financial crises). While working in Bethlehem - Hingham Shipyard, he served as a labor union organizer for the Shipbuilders Union, CIO, at which time he helped to counter efforts of some persons to make Bethlehem - Hingham a stronghold of the Reds.

After completing Harvard, he began his education in Graduate studies in History at U.C.L.A., after having served as a research assistant to Professor Rafael Lemkin of Yale University in preparing the studies by which Professor Lemkin secured the Genocide Resolution of the United Nations.

DR. VAHE A. SARAFIAN

In 1949, in California, Dr. Sarafian followed up early letters to General Eisenhower, urging him to run for the presidency, by becoming active in Republican affairs there.

Upon return to Boston in 1950, now in the headquarters of the U.S. Air Force Reserves, he began to earn his way through Boston University Graduate School, gaining a brilliant record, which resulted in 1956 in the awarding to him of a Ph.D. degree.

Since then, Dr. Sarafian has taught as a member of the regular staff of the History Department at Suffolk University. He has for some years also served as the Foreign Student Advisor there, and in 1968 served as the State Chairman of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs.

The author of nearly fifty articles on Soviet and Middle Eastern subjects, Dr. Sarafian is a member of numerous professional societies, as well as charitable and community associations in the Greater Boston area.

Dr. Sarafian served as part of the Welcoming Committee for Vice - Presidential Candidate Richard Nixon at Boston Common in 1952. In 1960, he was a member both of the Ethnic Committee and of the Scholars' Committee of the Republican National Committee in Richard Nixon's Presidential Campaign.

A Founding Member of the Republican Congressional Advisory Committee in 1967, Dr. Sarafian again campaigned actively for President Nixon in the 1968 Campaign as a member of the Nixon team.

Deeply concerned with student unrest and propaganda, Dr. Sarafian delivered a major address alerting the colleges of the area in May, 1969, and has since prepared "Counter - Offensive, 1970," a statement of his new Committee for Academic Freedom, which is being distributed to all New England Colleges and Universities to alert faculties, students, and trustees to the dangers in the current situation.

Dr. Sarafian believes in citizens' politics. His campaign is a "grass - roots" campaign which rests on the willingness of every citizen to stand up for American ideals. His funds are drawn from those who believe that the American System is the freest and the best so far devised for workingmen, property owners, businessmen, and minorities.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

When you venture into the world of wine cooking, here are suggestions you'll find helpful. When you cook a meat that requires the addition of a liquid, replace a small part of that liquid with an appropriate wine. The important thing is to start by adding a small amount of wine so it doesn't overpower other flavors. It should blend with the other ingredients, creating a subtle flavor. Wine used in cooking acts as a seasoning only. Remember, if the finished dish tastes strongly of wine, you used too much!

Venture into a world of fine eating when you come to THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Superb Service. Outstanding Food. Reservations accepted for Sunday, June 21, Father's Day. In addition to serving guests in our restaurant, we will cater in your home, office or plant with our "Gourmet Catering Service" — call 332-4400 for information.

HELPFUL HINT: Pour burgundy over hamburger patties as they cook. Great taste!

The Biggest Roast Beef in Boston

You'd better believe it. We've hired us a carver with strong wrists, a sharp knife, and an honest eye.

And here's what keeps him honest. If he ever once carves you a slice of roast beef that weighs less than a pound and a half, you get a second slice free. And he's in deep trouble.

So he makes sure every juicy, succulent slice completely covers the big, oversize platter it's served on.

Here's what comes with your roast beef: a nice big salad, ice cold and crisp. A nice big baked potato with sour cream. Your choice of vegetables. And a golden Yorkshire popover swimming in butter. It's not so much a dinner as a challenge. A roast beef lover's Everest.

Meet that challenge tonight, why not? Just because it's there.

Call Frederick for reservations.

About 60 per cent of total vegetable acreage in Massachusetts is now planted.

Agiculture, and native
weet corn is progressing rapidly. It should be available around the first of July; any "native" corn offered before that date will not be from local farms.

Bay State farmers are now harvesting summer vegetable crops, with supplies heavy and quality excellent.
Wholesale prices, reports the green onions (scallions), rhubarb and spinach. Local

June is known for many pleasant things. It is the month when "I do," is heard over the world. It is National Dairy Month. And it is when the Massachusetts strawberry crop matures and growers begin the harvest. This week you will see excellent native strawberries many roadside stands. Local berries are vine-ripened, so they are juicy and full of flavor when you go in the box. When selecting fresh strawberries, be sure the cap is bright and green. Berries are firm, plump and fully colored.

Newton Native Hits Pay Dirt In Race Field

A former Newton resident has hit pay dirt in the stock car racing field.

He's 27-year-old Pete Hamilton, born and raised in Newton, and now a star on the Southern Speedways.

So far this year, Pete has won two major races and earned $85,000.

Pete took the Daytona 500 in his Plymouth Superbird last March and followed this up by breezing home first in the Alabama 500 at the new Talladega speedway.

In the June 15 edition of Sports Illustrated Magazine, writer Kim Chapin says, "Pete Hamilton is Lord Jim of the Southern Speedways, a sweet zephyr blowing across the cold, hard face of sport business so steeped in cynicism it is beyond tears."

Chapin also writes, "Hamilton approaches every race weekend with the enthusiasm of a kid about to start his first soapbox derby."

Mike Rupert, winner of a Tony Award in 1968, will direct "What Are We Going to Do Without Skipper?" — his first motion picture assignment.

Special Awards Given By Girl Scout Grand Council

Two Grand Council Fires were held in Newton, a yearly event, at which the Camp Fire Girls who have completed the requirements receive their Rank Awards and Special Awards.

83 — 4th graders earned the Trailseekers Award; 31 — 5th graders earned the Woodgatherers Award; 21 — 6th graders earned the Firemakers Award.

The following girls received Individual Torch Bearer Awards: Cathy Perlmutter in swimming and Julie Grossman in Animal Care. The Barbara Tracey Coogan Campership Award was earned by Linda Willis. The Wohelo Medallion, the highest award in the Camp Fire Organization, was presented by the Boston Council to Susan MacDonald. At the Grand Council Fire Newton presented Susan with a special patch in recognition of her achievement.

Special Yearly Awards were presented to those who have been members of the Camp Fire Girls Organization for three, five, seven and ten consecutive years. Many girls have served in Camp Fire for three school years but their full years are not completed until September.

These girls were given a flower at their respective Grand Council Fires as a token award and in the fall they will receive their award from their leaders. 28 Three year awards and 14 five year awards were presented.

The two girls who received Seven Year Awards were Debra Hirschberg and Barbara Shumsker. Flowers were presented to the following leaders in recognition of their service in the Camp Fire Organization — Mesdames Sawin, Janet Shiffman, Noreen Altschul, Susan Cohen, Irving Rubin, Robert Stacey, Robert Grodberg who have served 3 years each; Mesdames Rex Vermilyea and William Tompkins who have served 5 years and Mrs. Eugene Hirschberg who served 10 years.

This year Newton made Special Service Award Patches for girls who gave the required hours of service to the community. The specific number of hours depended on the rank. The following 25 Blue Birds gave 10 hours of required service: Carolyn Herrnstadt, Jill McAvoy and Hall, Lisa Amicangoli, Lisa Patricia Barry, Debbie Rosenthal, Leslie Weisman, Emily Monoson, Deborah Alexander, Molly Doherty, Susan Freidus, Nancy King, Cynthia Manther, Sarah May, Cathy Samson, Jennifer Sawin, Janet Shiffman, Noreen Altschul, Susan Cohen, Irving Rubin, Robert Stacey, Robert Grodberg who have served 3 years each; Mesdames Rex

Nancy Wolff. The following 35 Camp Fire Girls gave the 25 hours of required service: Lesley Cohen, Debbie Lapuck, Susan Lechten, Liz Kellner, Beth Stone, Kim Springer, JoAnne Wise, Susan Wiggins, Karen English, Melissa Rubin, Alison Edwards, Kathleen Greene, Suzanne Casey, Pamela Delaney, Kim McCauley, Susan Cullison, Carrie Papastavrou, Kitty Jerome, April Bloom, Debbie Fine, Ellen Freedman, Holly Rosenfield, Suzy Sudikoff, Nancy Slitnick, Kathy Parnes, Maxine Effensen, Julie Rosen, Emily Wiggins, Carol Bradley, Audrey Garrett, Pamela Wood, Cindy Golding, Meg Herrnstadt, Jill McAvoy and Hall, Lisa Amicangoli, Lisa Patricia Barry, Debbie Rosenthal, Leslie Weisman, Emily Monoson, Deborah Alexander, Molly Doherty, Susan Freidus, Nancy King, Cynthia Manther, Sarah May, Cathy Samson, Jennifer Sawin, Janet Shiffman, Noreen Altschul, Susan Cohen, Irving Rubin, Robert Stacey, Robert Grodberg who have served 3 years each; Mesdames Rex

Saturday Event Helps Get Funds For Girl Scouts

On Saturday, June 20, two Newton Cadette Girl Scout troops of Bay Path Colonial Council are holding a Fair at Albemarle Playground (between Crafts St. and Waltham St.), from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The troops are No. 596 of West Newton — Mrs. David Kendall, Leader; and No. 475 of Newtonville — Mrs. Lawson Gassett, Leader. In case of rain on Saturday, the Fair will be postponed till Sunday, June 21.

There will be many games of skill; a bake table; handicrafts — such as stuffed animals, knitted goods, and ceramics; a white elephant table; an obstacle course; and refreshments — hot dogs, soft drinks, and cotton candy. Fun for all ages!

This is a fund-raising event to assist both troops reach their goals for special trips. Troop 596 plans to go to Washington, D.C., in April, 1971; and Troop 475 will head for the Midwest during the summer of 1971.

Gets Degree At Drew University

Kenneth N. Margolin of 28 Halcyon Road, Newton, received the Bachelor of Arts degree from the College of Liberal Arts at Drew University at the institution's 102nd Commencement May 30. Mr. Margolin majored in Political Science.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben T. Margolin of the above address, he is a 1966 graduate of Newton South High School. During his junior year at Drew he participated in the University's programs in London and Washington, D.C.

In 1814 compulsory apprenticeship was ended by a legislative act in England.

Singing Star Meets Young Newcomers At Marriott Tom Jones Included In Welcome To Newton For 3 Thrilled Gals

There is nothing like a grand and glorious welcome to a new community, particularly when your dad has been transferred clear across the country.

Sharie, 6, Patty, 10, and Laura, 12, were truly thrilled with their welcome to Newton, but it must be admitted it was quite coincidental.

Sharie, Patty, and Laura Madison of Rodondo Beach, Calif., are staying with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. H. Madison at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton, until the family can move into their new home in Newton.

While at the hotel last week, they received the most thrilling welcome to Newton possible from the Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Boston Unit of the American Cancer Society.

able, they met popular Welsh recording star Tom Jones, who was in town last Wednesday and Thursday for a concert at Boston Garden, at the Marriott.

Though a stroke of luck, the Madison family was booked into a suite adjoining that occupied by Jones. When the three young girls learned of their famous neighbor, they decided to get his autograph.

They waited around patiently while their idol was in the elegant Lasell Suite. When Jones was informed by his bodyguard that the three little girls were waiting to see him, he amazed them by inviting them into his suite. He sat Sharie on his lap, exchanged pleasantries with the girls for 10 minutes and gave each of them his autograph before leaving the hotel for the airport.

Miss Seaver Retires From Newton High

Miss Geraldine Seaver, instructor of the voice and choral classes at Newton High School, will retire next week, completing 18 years in the Newton School System.

A graduate of Lowell State Teachers College, she received her master's degree from Boston University. For several years she taught in Northampton, before coming to Newton to teach at the Warren Junior High School. Four years later she began teaching at Newton High where she has contributed a great deal toward the success of the music program.

She studied voice with Professor Alan Lannom of Boston University, worked with Peter Wilousky of New York in summer workshops, and was active in the Music Educators National Conference and the Massachusetts Music Educators Association, having been chairman of the All State Chorus at a recent convention.

Miss Seaver and Mr. James Remy, Supervisor of Music of the Newton Public Schools, will be married in the near future.

OHANIAN BEGINS ALL OUT DRIVE FOR U.S. CONGRESS

THE OHANIAN FOR CONGRESS COMMITTEE announced today, after eight months of thorough planning, that it is now launching the public portion of REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES OHANIAN'S CAMPAIGN FOR U.S. CONGRESS in Newton. The citizens of Newton can expect to know WHO CHARLES OHANIAN is by the time this campaign, one of the largest and most complete, is in full stride.

In the months prior to the September 15th primary, you will be visited by Ohanian and his friends in your home and in public places throughout Newton.

Representative Ohanian will distribute literature emphasizing his realistic approach to resolving the many issues worrying us all. He believes that his statements will inform you why he is the one candidate who can offer the vitality to serve you effectively in Congress.

We welcome your interest and support . . . in the meantime, may we wish you a pleasant summer season.

Legal Snarls Loom In Path Of Local Housing Decision

It became eminently clear this week that Newton's path to low and moderate income housing will be paved with a number of complicated legal snarls having nothing to do with the pros and cons of the concept itself.

At the first working session on the subject held by the aldermanic Land Use Committee on Monday night Assistant City Solicitor Charles Morang pointed up some of the problems in response to questions from several of the aldermen.

After five public hearings on the matter, the committee is studying the results and trying to prepare a recommendation on the proposals of the Newton Community Development Foundation to construct approximately 500 units of low and moderate income housing on 10 scattered sites in the city.

Morang explained that one of the proposed sites, that now house the school department's administration offices on Watertown St. in Nonantum, is under the control of the School Committee. In the opinion of the Assistant City Solicitor the aldermen "do not have the power to rezone property owned by a municipality which is in municipal use."

Sharp Words Liven Meeting

Reach Agreement for Urban Renewal Plans

In a meeting Monday night punctuated by occasional sharp remarks, the aldermanic Land Use Committee and two members of the Newton Redevelopment Authority agreed on specifications for development of the state-aided portion of the Newton Lower Falls urban renewal project.

In accordance with recommendations made by the Lower Falls Project Area Committee the commercial development of the land will be sought for the second time in a request for bids from private developers.

The height of the building which may be erected on the site will be limited to four stories or 40 feet (plus eight feet on the roof for mechanical equipment).

In addition, advertisements 30 days in advance of bidding will be placed and then bidders will have 90 days in which to submit their bids and plans.

The Board of Aldermen recently rejected the NRA's petition for the rezoning of the land to pave the way for the urban renewal project.

The Authority had selected as the developer of the land a firm which planned to erect a new home office for the

Colton Gets Army Fellowship

Robert M. Colton of 12 Solon street, Newton Highlands, has been awarded a Research and Study Fellowship by the Secretary of the Army.

Mr. Colton, who is Chief of the Materials Engineering Division at the Army Materials and Mechanics Research Center in Watertown, will spend the period from July of this year to July, 1971 at the University of Birmingham, England.

While there he will conduct an analysis of high energy forging and deformation processing of high strength alloys.

At Birmingham he will work with Dr. S. Tobias, the foremost expert in the field of high energy forging and plasticity studies.

Mr. Colton will also visit research institutes and universities in Germany, Norway, Ireland, Belgium and the Netherlands during his Fellowship year.

During his 12 years with AMMRC and its predecessor agencies at Watertown, Mr. Colton has authored or co-authored 38 technical publications and reports in various areas of metallurgical research.

Taxpayer Poll Against NCDF Housing Plan

A poll of Newton Taxpayers' Association members indicates 5 to 3 general opposition to the program of the Newton Community Development Foundation as presented to the city, rising to about 2 to 1 when various details were considered, reported Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director this week.

"We took the poll by mail immediately following the public hearings so all the current pros and cons would be available," Muther said.

"27 percent of the 600 members replied within the 12-day poll period. Since this is an unusually high proportion of mailed responses for this group we believe it to be soundly representative," he continued.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

White Is Strong Contender In Battle for Governorship

Even Mayor Kevin H. White's most fervent supporters probably would agree that he does not have as good a chance of becoming the next Governor as he would if he had won the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention.

But White is taking the big gamble that he can become the first candidate since the fabled James M. Curley to lose a convention and then go on to win election to the Governorship.

In a sense White was forced to do exactly what he is now doing. When he announced his candidacy for Governor, he declared that he would run in the primary regardless of what happened at the convention. He is now keeping that commitment. He is a strong candidate.

His work in high energy forming and fabrication of missile components has been particularly outstanding.

In addition, the entire technical community uses his publications and consultations on titanium alloy development as a reference source for current and projected studies.

Mr. Colton also has responsibility for preparing the Five-Year Wrought Metals Plan for the Army Material Command, and is a consultant in Metallurgy to the Advance Research Projects Agency of the Department of Defense.

Awards, Badges Presented To Auburndale Scout Troop

A total of 70 awards in the form of advancement, merit badges, service and other awards were presented to the Boy Scouts of Troop 333 of Auburndale, in an impressive outdoor Court of Honor held at the Nobscot Scout Reservation in Sudbury last Sunday evening, June 21.

Nearly 100 scouts, their families and parents, and invited guests watched the "Light of Scouting" ceremony, following the kindling of the troop campfire.

Led by Scoutmaster Charles W. Walker and Assistant Scoutmaster David Brodie, one candle after another was ignited by the scouts as they repeated the scout oath and law.

The troop welcomed 16 new Tenderfoot Scouts, who received their badges, marking the first step on the road to achievement from Eagle Scout Paul Sawin Jr. of Troop 205 of Newton Centre, who has reached the highest and final step.

Edward Lundquist, Troop 333's Senior Patrol Leader was awarded the badge of Life Scout, the Second highest. His badge was presented by Charles Towers Jr., a former Life Scout with Troop 333, and presently Skipper of Ship 13, the Sea Explorers of West Newton.

Troop warrants were, in addition to Senior Patrol Leader, given to the Assistant Senior Patrol Leaders Greg Davis and David D'Agostino, and to Patrol Leaders Dale Cadieu, Peter Lanciano, Michael Sullivan and Brian Walker.

"Scout of the Year Award," an honor bestowed by the Troop upon one of its members who has best exemplified the spirit of service and loyalty to the Troop was presented to Scout Douglas Maynard.

Presenting of the achievement awards was made by Troop committeeman John Tuckerman, Darrell Yeany Phillip Anderson.

Opening greeting was voiced by Committee Chairman Henry Lundquist, and Father Kevin Horrigan of Corpus Christi Church, the Troop's sponsor, gave the benediction at the ceremony's close.

Boston Mutual Insurance Co. The aldermen objected to the bidding procedure which allowed only thirty days for the submitting of plans by the developer.

They also objected to the plans submitted by the developer selected because they called for a six story building and about 176,000 square feet of floor area instead of the 117,000 originally agreed upon.

Alderman William Carmen suggested that the NRA advertise in national publications to attract bidders from all parts of the country.

Members of the Land Use Committee finally appeared to agree that the land should not be rezoned until after the developer has been selected and his plans submitted.

Committee Chairman Alan Barkin and Alderman Michael Lipof expressed the opinion that this might hamper prospective developers who might be reluctant to invest thousands of dollars in engineering studies and plans without positive assurance of the rezoning that would be necessary to permit construction.

Alderman William Carmen said "Maybe this is the price we'll have to pay for a bad experience."

He told Redevelopment Authority Chairman Mario DiCarlo and Authority

Frankel In New Post With N.E. Telephone Co.

Justin H. Frankel of 131 Brandeis Road, Newton Center, has been named general switching systems manager-Massachusetts for New England Telephone.

Frankel, formerly engineering director-technical services, succeeds John F. Prendiville, who has been named assistant general manager-Massachusetts.

Frankel joined New England Telephone in 1946 as a central office repairman. He received an engineering degree from Northeastern University by attending school at night, and in 1951 was appointed senior engineer in Boston.

Frankel has held several supervisory positions with the company including: general planning engineer and equipment engineering manager for Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, and construction program engineer in Boston.

He was with AT&T in New York as a staff engineer from 1959-61.

A native of Providence, R.I., Frankel graduated from Brookline High School.

He served in World War II and has been a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve. Frankel is married to the former Gladys Becker of Boston. They have two children: Susan 17, and Mark 14.

member Lawrence Sullivan who were present at the meeting "The first time you did not keep your word to neighbors. You agreed to certain things and then put into the specifications something else."

He has served as assistant at St. John's Church, Roxbury; St. Jean Baptist Church, Lowell; St. Joseph's, Salem, and St. Joseph's, Everett, where he became pastor on March 8, 1966.

Rev. Sylvio W. Barrette was also born in Lowell. He studied for the priesthood at Assumption College, Quebec, Canada; and St. John's Seminary, Brighton. He was ordained at Holy Cross Cathedral by the late William Cardinal O'Connell on June 5, 1955.

His long priestly service includes assistant at St. Joseph's, Kingston; Sacred Heart, Amesbury; St. Stephen, Framingham; Assumption, Bellingham; St. John's, Newton; St. Catherine, Graniteville; and St. Mary's, Marlboro.

He was made administrator at St. John the Evangelist, Newton, in March of 1946, and was appointed pastor of the church on September 12, 1946.

Producer-director William Wyler signed Oscar winning writer I.A.L. Diamond to write the screen adaptation of "Forty Carats" for Columbia Pictures.

Developer Charges Newton Tax Loss

Milton J. Roach, a Newtonville real estate broker, whose land was taken 13 months ago to make up the Lower Falls state-funded urban renewal program, has charged that under private development of the land, an office building would now be up and occupied.

From his office in Newtonville, Roach claimed that "the city is losing $5,000 a week in taxes" and then asked of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, "Who needs them?"

The NRA took his land last May by eminent domain and paid him $1.50 per square foot. Roach argues that he was about to sell the property to G. Arnold Haynes, Inc., of Wellesley for $4 a square foot. According to the NRA, Roach's property was necessary for the urban renewal because the city wanted the property developed and bringing in taxes.

A controversy over the bidding award by NRA and other matters has caused the Board of Aldermen to hold up the NRA-requested rezoning. Mr. Roach claims that at the same time Haynes, Inc., was negotiating for the land with him in May, Haynes was also negotiating with another party for land across from Grossman's on Washington St. on the Wellesley side of Lower Falls.

This land now has a four-story office building up and occupied, said Roach, and he added that Haynes also put up an office building across from the Pillar House in Lower Falls last year.

In a new letter to Roach from Haynes, Inc., signed by Robert C. Sechrest, the company repeats their last year's offer in the property, but now the company prefers a six-story office building on the land.

Babson Degrees Awarded to Four Local Residents

Four local residents received degrees from Babson College in Wellesley at commencement exercises held recently.

Mayor Basbas Wants Student Work Funds

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas wants funds to employ 65 young men for nine weeks each at $2 per hour.

These students would be employed in mowing the city's many grassy reservations, cleaning up the parks and public grounds, and assisting the Public Works Department employees in the city's varied housekeeping services.

"This summer our nation's cities will be flooded by students who must find work, and judging by business conditions today, there will be little opportunity for them to find employment."

The Mayor seeks sufficient

Newton Students Are MIT Grads

Three Newton area students, two of them women, have been awarded bachelor of science degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology this month.

Among the 770 graduating seniors at MIT this year were Miss P. C. Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gordon of 124 Brackett road, Newton, who majored in art and design; Mrs. Audrey S. Bund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron N. Solomon of 50 Dudley road, Newton Centre, who concentrated on the humanities and science; and Steven A. Kruger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kruger of Academy is a four-year college preparatory school for Newton, a chemical engineer.

Mt. Ida J.C. Sculptor Wins Nat'l Contest

Mr. Richard Wetterer, sculptor at Mount Ida Junior College, Newton Centre, is the winner of the first prize in the national contest for artists under thirty years of age sponsored by the New York Sculptor's Guild.

Mr. Wetterer won the award for his bronze entitled "Driftbomb II".

Recent Grad At Hebron Academy

Michael Halperin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Halperin, Newton, is a recent graduate of Hebron Academy, where he was sports editor for student publications and was a member of Calendar club, Judo, and Outing club. He won letters in varsity tennis.

In the fall he will enter Steven A. Kruger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kruger of Academy is a four-year college preparatory school for Newton, a chemical engineer.

NEWTON TEACHERS TO BE DELEGATES — Officers of the Newton Teachers Association who will be delegates to the National Education Association Convention in San Francisco, July 1 to 7 are, left to right, Nancy Rosengard, secretary (alternate delegate); Robert Weiser, president; Arlene Fair, vice president; Donald Mitchell, treasurer. Harvey Poock, chairman, personnel policies committee, and Harold Hawkes, chairman, PR&R committee, absent when photo was taken, will also be attending as delegates.

Local Men Are Active In Beth Israel Men's Assoc.

The newly organized Men's Associates of Beth Israel Hospital has more than doubled its initial goal of Founding Members, according to Herbert J. Gorfinkle, President. More than 200 members have joined the organization in the two months during which it has solicited Founding Memberships from Trustees, Young Executives Group and leading members of the community. The original goal of 100 members by June 15 was surpassed early in the campaign and memberships are still coming in at a rapid rate.

Plans for an enlarged membership drive will be made by a Committee headed by Frederic A. Sharf of West Newton. The drive will begin in the Fall and will parallel the 1970-71 activities program which is now being readied by the group. The membership goal for the second phase of the campaign will be set by the Committee.

On the agenda for the Fall are several educational meetings, similar to the gatherings which discussed the drug and birth control problems this Spring. In addition the group may undertake at least one large meeting on a subject of community-wide interest. The Program Committee, headed by Alan M. Schwartz of Newton, is considering alternate possibilities. Another group, co-chaired by William Marcus and James Besso, is preparing a unique Blood Bank Insurance Program for the membership.

"The results of our initial effort to secure members for the Men's Associates have been almost unbelievable," Mr. Gorfinkle declared. "The response indicates that our policy of an active program with deep involvement of members in designing and executing our programs has struck several chords within the community. The first is that the men want to know more about medical advances as they impinge upon their daily lives and in the care of patients at Beth Israel Hospital and elsewhere. The second is that men want to do things, to be intimately involved in the development of programs and in carrying them out. They are not content to join an organization just to help out a worthy cause. They want to be part and parcel of that cause. We intend to build our organization upon those principles."

Other officers of the new organization are: Vice Presidents: Frederic A. Sharf of W. Newton, William J. Besso of Medfield, Samuel J. Greenberg of Chestnut Hill is Recording Secretary; Albert J. Isgur of Newton Center is Financial Secretary; Robert Fields of Newton Center, Corresponding Secretary; Herbert Marcus of Waban, Treasurer; and Leslie G. Stephens of Scituate, Assistant Treasurer.

Sacred Obligation

Highlight of President Lincoln's second inaugural address on March 4, 1865, was concerned with the wounded survivors and the widows and orphans of the Union's armed forces.

"Let us strive," Mr. Lincoln said, "... to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow, and his orphan..."

Early this year there were 437 Civil War widows receiving Veterans Administration's "aid and attendance" allowances provided for those who required regular aid and attendance of another person. It represented $50 extra monthly payments added to the regular pension payments.

More than half of the widows are relatives of Confederates. They were added to the VA compensation and pension rolls in July, 1958 through federal legislation.

It was recently pointed out that the last Confederate veteran died in 1959 at the age of 117 and the last Union veteran in 1956 at the age of 109.

In the discussions of alleged deficiencies in some Veterans Administration hospitals some have made much of the post-war costs which armed conflict imposes on the United States. The fact that we are still paying pensions to a handful of people from the Civil War has been used to underscore the magnitude of this obligation.

According to figures of the Tax Foundation, Inc., expenditures provided in the 1970 budget for veterans benefits and services will place a tax burden of $119 on the average U.S. family.

That is a lot of money. It is money that cannot be begrudged. It is an obligation which Lincoln recognized. It is an obligation which this nation must always stand ready and willing to meet.

We Sit One Out

Americans, with some good reasons, have always considered themselves the most sports-minded of humans. They've poured millions of dollars into the coffers of those responsible for professional and amateur games played on grass, wood boards, canvas, on ice and in the water.

Beginning on New Year's Day and continuing through to the eve of the next year, Americans spend countless millions of hours staring at a TV tube. Church bells pealed in Brooklyn when a professional baseball team left that borough for the promise of more lush financial returns in California. Excited Met supporters tore up large clods of grass with their bare hands when their heroes gave them a chance to savor victory.

Perhaps it's a national asset. Perhaps it serves as a safety valve in a nation in which psychiatry is one of the fastest growing of our professions.

Maybe, too, after those world soccer championship matches in Aztec Stadium, Mexico City, we aren't exactly alone in an insane devotion to sports. Or, possibly we should congratulate ourselves in never really getting around to a top-level addiction to soccer.

As long as Russia remained in the competition at Mexico City, the Kremlin permitted the state-owned Soviet TV facilities to remain open after the 11:45 p.m. deadline. The no-nonsense boys, who run the country, long ago fixed that 11:45 deadline because they didn't want Russian workers to lose a good night's sleep and show up red-eyed for their jobs next morning. What happened when the Russian entry came home without the championship is something else again.

Last year this game of soccer helped Honduras and El Salvador into a hot mini-war, and diplomatic relations are still badly strained between London and Buenos Aires because the English beat the Argentines in a game described as poorly refereed.

Actually, we had a team in the recent world tournament. It was eliminated early in the preliminaries—by Haiti. No suicides were reported in the U.S. over the loss. None of the U.S. broadcasting systems rushed pell-mell to Mexico City to offer billions for next year's airing rights.

Maybe, we're lucky that Americans can take their soccer or leave it alone. It's a break for our football, baseball, golf and all the other widows who've been a bit unreasonable about the nation's man-hour loss to sports.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Submits Questions To City's Aldermen

Editor of The Graphic:

This is an open letter to Chairman Alan Barkin and the other members of the Aldermanic Land Use Committee.

At a recent hearing on the selection of possible sites for low and moderate rental housing in Newton, Alderman Ernest F. Dietz raised a pertinent question—a question which cuts across the rhetoric and speeches and goes to the heart of the issue.

That question may be presented as follows:

How can the Aldermen rezone an A or B zone for multiple use or high density occupancy on the petition of the N.C.D.F. but not do the thing for other applicants?

Can we legally and constitutionally treat petitioners differently on essentially the same issue? Isn't this comparable to treating some persons as first-class citizens and others as second-class citizens?

Wouldn't the city be breaking faith with many of the property owners who have an obligation and duty to protect if some of the applications by N.C.D.F. are approved?

These are the people who bought high-value homes, have been paying big real estate bills to city and expected the city would protect them against any move which would damage their property or lessen its value.

Must the people who reside near open green space or who later purchase homes in such locations always live in fear that their neighborhoods will be rezoned to permit the erection of multiple, high-density apartment buildings?

If the Aldermen approve requests by N.C.D.F. and rezone certain neighborhoods, how can they turn down similar petitions by other developers, whatever type of housing they desire to build?

Is it in the public interest for the Aldermen to give future playgrounds and the last vestiges of open space in Newton to private developers, Alert Fire Dept.

Editor of The Graphic:

Recently a truck parked on our street caught fire. There were high flames, billowing smoke and explosions. The Newton Fire Department sent two engines and handled the situation very efficiently so that none of the many young children on the street were hurt nor were any of the many homes there affected in any way. For this we can be most grateful to an alert and capable Fire Department.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Sidney Leitchook
160 Truman Road,
Newton Centre, Mass.

no matter how noble their intent? Isn't this contrary to everything we hear concerning ecology?

At first glance the idea of scattered sites for low and moderate rental housing seemed good. But since then it has become apparent that many of the sites desired by N.C.D.F. are open spaces which the city for its own well-being should maintain as open spaces.

If Newton is to give away its all too few remaining open spaces, it also will be giving away its title as Garden City and its reputation as a good city in which to live.

Once these green areas are gone, there will be no more sections which can be converted into playgrounds or recreation places.

Wouldn't it make much more sense to take run-down properties and either rehabilitate and improve them or tear them down and build new dwellings in their place? That would improve the city rather than injure it.

Mr. Chairman and members of the Aldermanic Land Use Committee, you can either help Newton or hurt it. You can either protect and improve Newton; or you can wipe out open spaces it cannot afford to lose and without which it will not be a Garden City. Your decision will chart Newton's course of the future.

Defends Prof. Zinn

Editor of The Graphic:

In answer to Mr. Harry Johnson's letter of June 18, 1970 perhaps if he had remained to listen to Professor Zinn, he would have had the facts and not accused him of 'assailing the U.S.A.' We, whether liberal or conservative, dove or hawk, cannot disagree with his remarks about wanting an end to the War in Vietnam. What we may disagree with, and this includes myself, are his methods for accomplishing this. Those are his views and he still has the right to express them wherever he may be invited to speak.

In answer to his desire to place Prof. Zinn at the end of the exercises, please remember, he is also a first class citizen of Newton and deserves the same respect accorded any previous graduation speaker.

To answer Mr. Johnson's question, "Wasn't the ballot stacked in favor?" No! The three choices offered the seniors were the only ones possible at that time. As stated many times before, it would have been impossible to obtain another speaker at that late date. Another vote would have to be taken to obtain the choice of the majority, a letter would then have to be written to the first choice, if the invitation was refused another letter would have to go out to the second choice etc. etc. The only choices open at that time were the three offered.

In answer to his other question, "Why didn't 295 students receive an opportunity to vote?" Every, and I repeat, every senior had the opportunity to vote. The time and place was very well publicized at least a week in advance.

Any and all seniors who so desired, could have made an effort to participate in that vote. Let me ask you, Mr. Johnson, how many voters in a national election? "hippy radicals" when they interrupt such speakers as Hubert Humphrey on the college campus, I, and many I that over 60 percent is a very good showing.

Except for a few rude adults who showed their ignorance by yelling obscenities instead of leaving quietly in vote. Let me ask you, Mr. Johnson, how many voters in a national election? "hippy radicals" when they interrupt such speakers as Hubert Humphrey on the college campus, I, and many I have spoken with since, agree that the graduation exercises were superb, very well done, and extremely interesting. After the standing ovation accorded Prof. Zinn, it was obvious, Sir, that you were in the minority.

One last note of thanks to Mr. Meecham, who under extreme pressure, did not weaken. He stood firm for his belief in the right of the senior class to select its own speaker, irrelevant to the fact of graduation being for the students or the parents. Right on, Mr. Meecham and the class of 1970.

Sincerely yours,
Leonard Baker

The answers to three questions will play an important part in determining how well White will do in his primary fight with Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti.

The first big question is how much strength Donahue gained by winning the convention endorsement. He will have first place in the ballot listing of the four contenders for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He will have a notation under his name on the ballot that he was endorsed by the convention. He received a great deal of publicity in connection with the conclave.

The second and somewhat similar question is how much strength White lost as a result of his defeat at the Amherst convention. Polls published in a Boston newspaper prior to the convention indicated that White was the strongest of the four Democratic candidates for Governor.

The third and perhaps most important question is how well known White became in four successful campaigns for election as Secretary of State and seven years in that office.

Supporters of former Mayor John F. Collins were shocked to discover in 1966, when Collins was running for the U.S. Senate, that some persons in distant sections of Massachusetts didn't know who he was.

Collins had been the Democratic nominee for Attorney General in 1954 and had campaigned across the Commonwealth. He was serving his seventh year as Mayor of Boston in 1966. Yet, there were people in the State who said they had never heard of him.

White has had the exposure of running four times for Secretary of State and is serving his third year as Mayor. He has never lost a primary or an election. In fact, he had never lost a convention until Donahue toppled him recently at Amherst.

This is now a brand new four-way political struggle, and it could prove to be an extremely bitter one.

White comes through on television better than does any of his three Democratic adversaries. He has a pleasing personality on the platform and projects well. He depends more on his own individual appeal than he does on a big political organization.

If he wins election to the Governorship, he necessarily will resign as Mayor shortly after next New Year's Day.

If he is defeated in either the primary or the election, he will seek reelection to a second term as Mayor next year.

White now has made his big move—the move most of his backers expected he would make. The Governorship has been his political objective since he first was elected Secretary of State a decade ago. He ran for Mayor in 1967 because he believed it would be a better springboard to the office of Governor. Time will disclose whether he was right or wrong in that opinion.

Dwight Picked Over Quinlan At Saturday's GOP Conclave

Deputy Governor Donald R. Dwight of Holyoke, the 11th hour, sleight-of-hand candidate for Lieutenant Governor, looms as a winner at Saturday's Republican State Convention.

Spot checks, surveys and polls made by the writer of GOP delegates in sections which would be considered barometric indicate that Dwight will prevail by a fairly substantial margin over State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood.

Dwight's name is not exactly a household word in homes across Massachusetts. But there will be very few delegates to Saturday's Republican conclave who don't know that Donald Dwight is Governor Sargent's right arm, first lieutenant and a highly competent public official.

He will win at the convention for the same reason Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline would have topped Senator Quinlan if it had not been decided that Linsky might prove a liability rather than an asset in the November election.

A majority of the delegates quizzed by this observer expressed the opinion that Governor Sargent should be granted the right to handpick the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor since he will be running as a team with him.

Some of them also remarked that Francis Sargent, regardless of what happens, will be Governor for the remainder of this year, that they will be out in the cold for the next four years if Mr. Sargent is defeated in November and that they are not about to go contrary to his wishes.

There was some understandable opposition to Martin Linsky because of his extreme liberal leanings, his association with the ADA and the perplexing story of his ride with the colored prostitute.

There is no opposition whatever to Donald Dwight. It now is simply a matter of following the wishes of Governor Sargent or disregarding them.

Some political pundits do not understand why Governor Sargent tapped Dwight to be his running mate. The explanation is fairly simple.

When Sargent first picked Linsky, a good many of his friends and supporters told him he had made a mistake. Linsky was too liberal and could cost him the support of some conservative Republicans, they argued.

Sargent stood his ground and insisted that Linsky was to be the GOP candidate for Lieutenant Governor. An effective job was done of lining up delegates for Linsky.

Then Linsky held his strange press conference and announced that he was stopped by two police officers as he was giving a colored prostitute a ride home from the South End. The incident occurred more than a year ago.

Linsky said he was making the incident public because a Quinlan aide had reported it to Senator Edward Brooke.

Despite the fact that Linsky left a lot of questions unanswered, Governor Sargent and his aides were able to hold the delegates for the Brookline law-maker.

However, responsible public leaders began advising Governor Sargent that Linsky had been hurt and that, as Linsky himself later said, his candidacy could become a political risk since there was no way of anticipating what turn public opinion might take between now and November.

Governor Sargent asked one question of persons whose opinions he respected.

What do the voters want most in a candidate for Lieutenant Governor?

Their answer was that a thinking persons wants a man capable of stepping into the Governorship in the event anything happens to the Governor or if he resigns from the office as John Volpe did.

At that point Mr. Sargent turned to Donald Dwight, who has no built-in hostility and has demonstrated his executive capacity as commissioner of administration and finance.

Dwight probably would have preferred to remain in his present job but consented to stand for Lieutenant Governor.

As a ticket mate with Governor Sargent he quite likely will pull more votes to Sargent in western Massachusetts, where he is well known and highly respected, than Linsky would have been able to do in the entire Commonwealth.

Now there is speculation along the political front whether Senator Quinlan will challenge Dwight in the Republican primary if Dwight, as expected, is endorsed by Saturday's conclave in the Hynes Auditorium at the Prudential Center.

A forecast at this point as to the outcome of any primary fight would be premature. But since 1952, when the Republicans revived the State Convention on an unofficial basis, no candidate endorsed by a GOP conclave has been defeated in a primary.

Despite the fact that Senator Quinlan has been about as much comfort to Governor Sargent as would a painful boil on the Governor's neck, his candidacy really was a rather wholesome thing right up to the time when the story of Linsky's ride with the black prostitute became a campaign issue.

Quinlan was defying the Governor of his own party, which is not one of the prescribed methods for getting ahead in politics. But the Norwood Senator was so brash as to be amusing.

He appeared to assume the paternalistic attitude that he was endeavoring to save Mr. Sargent from himself in the selection of the GOP candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Quinlan contributed a measure of excitement and uncertainty over a period of weeks. Political pundits joked that Quinlan might save the convention delegates from death by boredom, and if he were defeated at the conclave he could still run again for the Senate.

But the light touch was wiped out by the story of giving a colored prostitute a ride home—a story which could have an unfortunate effect upon human lives.

Now it is a new political ball game. Linsky is out of the fight for the GOP nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Donald Dwight, his substitute, will be endorsed by Saturday's convention.

Senator Quinlan will be defeated Saturday and must then decide whether he wants to gamble his political life on a primary run in which the odds would be against him.

It isn't funny any more. Suddenly it has become deadly serious.

Democratic State Conclave A Waste of Time and Money

If the next Governor of Massachusetts is a Democrat, which at the moment seems possible but not probable, the likelihood is that the pre-primary convention system of endorsing candidates for state-wide offices will be scrapped.

From the viewpoint of this reporter, who, because of illness, watched it for the first time on television rather than as an on-the-scene observer, the Democratic State Convention was a waste of time, money, and effort.

In most instances the delegates did not reflect the sentiment of the people in the districts they represented; nor did they make any pretense whatever of doing so.

That, of course, is nothing new. The delegates never have reflected the sentiment of anybody except themselves or the ward boss or legislators who hand-picked them to go to the convention.

In the usual city ward the average voter didn't know and never heard of the delegate supposedly representing him at the convention at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

There were exceptions, of course, but in many areas of Massachusetts Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Boston Mayor Kevin H. White received good vote totals in sections where they probably would run poorly in a primary and were beaten in districts where they would get strong public support.

Francis X. Bellotti's convention total hardly reflected the vote he would get in a popular primary and Ken O'Donnell didn't bother to seek the convention endorsement. He could not have got it if he did, but at this stage don't count him out of the gubernatorial fight.

Registrations Being Taken For Center Nursery School

Registrations for the Newton Community Service Center's Nursery School, held in the facilities of the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington Street in West Newton, are now underway for September of 1970.

The school operates five days per week during the hours of 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Stearns, assisted by Miss Judith Freed. A school calendar is scheduled to cover a 39 week period with vacations coinciding with that of the Newton school system.

This program offers young children age three years and eight months to six, their first introduction to a socialization-education experience. Stories and games for imaginative growth, and art projects for creative expansion are among the activities in which these youngsters engage daily.

Games and procedures are geared to foster attitudes of co-operation allied with a sense of the need for personal recognition. The adjustment of the child to others of his own age is one of the primary goals of the Nursery School program.

A program carried out by Mrs. Stearns and Miss Freed, and student trainees provide for a warm and exciting atmosphere for a positive beginning socialization experience for children three years and eight months and older. Transportation is available on a limited basis.

For additional information or a registration application contact the Center at 969-5906 or visit the Center at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

The public is invited to attend services at the First Church of Christ Scientist at 391 Walnut St., Newtonville at 10:45 Sunday morning (June 28).

Instructions given by Jesus to his twelve disciples and to seventy other followers, who were sent out to heal and save mankind, are included in the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon subject is "Christian Science," which is explained in passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. One of the passages states:

"Now, as then, signs and wonders are wrought in the metaphysical healing of physical disease; but these signs are only to demonstrate its divine origin,—to attest the reality of the high mission of the Christ-power to take away the sins of the world."

Hyde School Paper Drive Raises $64

The students and PTA of Hyde School held a paper drive on June 16 to raise money for a trampoline and to encourage recycling paper as a conservation effort.

More than 16,000 pounds of paper was collected and delivered to the processor in trucks and station wagons. This effort earned $64.00 for the trampoline fund and more important "saved" 119 trees.

The Hyde School community is being asked to save papers this summer for a similar drive in the fall.

MARKET AIDS PROGRAM — Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Chairman of the Civic Beautification Program for the Auburndale Garden Club receives contribution of one-hundred dollars from Robert F. Haley, store manager, Auburndale Star Market, for beautification of a small park adjacent to the library on Auburn Street.

Star Market Gives Lift To Beautification Plan

In response to the request of the Auburndale Community Association to help the Auburndale Garden Club in its new Civic Beautification Program, the Star Market Company contributed a check of one-hundred dollars to Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Chairman of the Program.

The presentation was made by Robert F. Haley, Store Manager of Auburndale Star Market. Monies will be specifically used for the beautification of a small park on the vacant land adjacent to the library on Auburn Street. With the planting of lovely trees and shrubs... as well as the inclusion of several benches, a previously useless area will be beautified and used for a convenient place to rest when doing errands or to read. The entire village will thereby benefit.

The Auburndale Community Association has already had a gratifying community response from the city of Newton, several civic organizations, members of the business community and interested individuals.

Murray Road Breaks With Tradition

Written Evaluations Used To Replace Letter-Grades

Murray Road School has replaced the letter-grade system with written evaluations. Students evaluate teachers and teachers evaluate the students.

Teachers' written evaluations concern motivation, personality and the students' role in class as well as his academic achievements. Students appraise their academic achievements and their roles in each class. They also describe how they have changed, and evaluate each teacher.

When the student and each teacher's evaluations are complete, they are all passed to the student's adviser. The resulting compilation may be 25 pages, evaluating the semester's work for a student.

The adviser digests the material about each of his 17 advisees, and arranges a conference with each to discuss the evaluations. After this process, parents confer with the adviser.

Together, the parents and adviser read through the teacher and student evaluations and discuss them. Such detailed evaluations give the parents a much more precise knowledge of the student's accomplishments than a letter grade has ever given.

When college-bound students chose excerpts of these evaluations as college transcripts, colleges generally accept this break with the conventional system — the replacement of letter grades with both student and teacher commentaries.

CVS Opens 4 New Stores in Greater Boston

CVS (Consumer Value Stores), which made Greater Boston retailing history last November with the opening of seven stores on one day, continues its penetration of this market with the opening of four stores this week.

David Porter, CVS advertising director, said the new stores are at 478 Boylston street and 112 Tremont street in Boston; at 304 Walnut street in Newtonville; and at 1892 Centre street in West Roxbury. These stores will be open seven days a week. Less than three weeks ago CVS opened its second Waltham unit.

CVS is currently in the midst of an expansion program that will bring its total number of stores to more than 100 by the end of the year. The chain now has more than 75 stores in operation and in the New York - New Jersey area.

Porter said, "The opening of these new health and beauty aids stores is further indicative of the continued growth of CVS." "What we've been striving for," he explained, "is to give our customers a better environment in which to shop. The reception that we have received in our existing area stores confirms our ideas that people like to shop in clean, bright, spacious stores."

A staff of professional beauty consultants and trained cosmeticians is on hand at many of the stores to help customers get the most dramatic results from the products they buy. CVS features famous brand names.

In addition, CVS's own brand can be found on many other items. These products of carefully controlled quality are priced well below the national names. CVS also offers bulk and packaged candies, and in some stores, toys, housewares, records and other items usually found in the finest drug stores.

Expansion plans call for more than 100 stores by the end of this year.

Jewish Center Auxiliary Holds Gala Garden Party

The official opening meeting of the Brookline - Brighton - Newton Jewish Community Center Women's Auxiliary, for the 1970-71 season, was held recently, preceded by coffee, at the home of Mrs. Zolman Helfand of Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Samuel Crasnick presided.

The Bat-Mitzvah-year plans for the Fall-Fest luncheon to be held at Anthony's Pier 4, on Monday, October 26, were announced by co-chairmen, Mrs. Jerry J. Weinberg and William Goldberg, William Landau, and Jerry J. Weinberg.

For their years of service to the Auxiliary, the pourers selected were: Mesdames Trustees Benjamin Fields and James Baumstein and Board Members Harold Rosenberg and David Swartz. Proceeds were allocated towards Center needs.

The Auxiliary is a strong arm of the Center and has supported its aims by raising funds to aid those of all ages interested in having a Center experience which they might themselves be unable to afford. Through the Jewish Welfare Board, contributions have been sent by the Auxiliary for our servicemen both here and abroad during Chanukah and Passover. Special projects outside the Center are also supported from time to time depending upon current events to determine priorities. The Center is a constituent agency of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies and is also a member of the Associated Jewish Community Centers.

Country Players Install Officers at Pomroy House

Mrs. Bertram (Mikki) Krassin of Newton Highlands has been elected to serve as president of The Country Players of Newton after two years' tenure on its executive board.

Installation ceremonies took place at Pomroy House this week, where George and Florence Cohen were given a silver Paul Revere bowl in appreciation of outstanding contributions to the Players. A president's plaque was presented to outgoing president Mrs. Leon (Pat) Fellows by former president Danny Kosow.

Entertainment was provided by The Curtain Time Players of Revere, with a performance of "Snow Angels," produced by Irwin Mandell.

Entering its 14th year, the Players is a non-profit, philanthropic association comprised of local residents who, as an avocation, are actively engaged in the development, expansion and assistance of theatre activity on community and educational levels.

Other officers elected include Mmes. Martin Annis and Irving Sloan, and Miss Paula Grossman, vice-presidents; Mrs. John Vitello, treasurer; Mrs. Arnold Felton, financial secretary; Mrs. Malcolm Kates, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Benjamin Berman, recording secretary; and Mark Aronson and Mmes. Leon Fellows and Richard Thorman, members-at-large.

Trustees elected to three year terms are Martin Cohen, Daniel Kosow, Mrs. Burton Kramer and Harvey Silverman.

Mrs. Krassin served on the Executive Board in the capacity of vice-president during the past year, produced the Players' Fall musical "Little Mary Sunshine" and executed the role of Chantal in Genet's "The Balcony," both in the mid-winter production and in its entry into The New England Theatre Conference Annual Drama Festival at Brandeis University last month, for which she received honorable mention for her performance.

She also portrayed leading

roles with the Players as Grandma in "The American Dream," Vera Claythorne in "Ten Little Indians," and Elizabeth Corban in "Catch Me If You Can." A graduate of Ithaca College, she performed there in "Antigone," "Lady Macbeth," "Kassandra" and as Judith in "The Devil's Disciple."

With the Malden Bridge Playhouse, N.Y., she appeared as Elaine Harper in "Arsenic and Old Lace," Rebecca Gibbs in "Our Town," Fifi in "Love Rides the Rails," Pat Stanley in "The Male Animal," Susan in "Detective Story," Stella Livingston in "Light Up the Sky," Margaret in "A Hasty Heart," Donovan (Good Fairy) in "Love of Four Colors," Miss Tripp in "Silver Whistle," Patty in "The Moon is Blue," Jenny Gregory in "Holly and the Ivy," Miss Willie in "Curious Savage," Miss Medcalf in "Dark of the Moon" and Edith Chauvenet in "Harvey."

Other areas in which Mrs. Krassin has involved herself with the Players include stage manager, business manager, house manager, ticket chairman, sponsor, scholarship program book, set design and construction, refreshments chairman, usherette chief, reading committee and hostess.

Incumbent trustees are (two years): Mmes. Barbara Levy, Elaine Stiegel and Harriet Wilson, and Ira Gerler; (one year) Joel Dorfman, Arnold Felton, David Wolf and Mrs. Ruth Boynick.

The Nominating Committee included Chairman Harvey Silverman, Bertha Berman, Sandra Gorin, Danny Kosow and Pat Fellows. Hostesses for the Installation Meeting were Mmes. Cookie Kates, Pat Fellows, Dona Thorman and Shirley Vitello.

For information concerning individual membership or theatre party sponsorship, write P.O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159 or phone 969-9737.

MRS. HAROLD G. ROSNER

Pretty June Bridal Unites Miss Connolly, Mr. Rosner

The marriage of Miss Veronica Christine Connolly to Harold George Rosner of 27 Hollis street, Newton, took place on June's third Saturday, the 20th, at St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connolly of 179 LaGrange street, West Roxbury. The groom is the son of Mrs. George Rosner of Long Island City, N.Y., and the late Mr. Rosner.

The Rev. John A. Saunders performed the 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony which was followed by a reception in the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown misted with pearl motifs and banded at the neck and cuffs of sleeves with bugle beads.

A matching jeweled headpiece held in place her full length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white orchids with Stephanotis.

Miss Paula M. Connolly of West Roxbury, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Francis Thomas of Framingham was her cousin's bridesmaid. Both the attendants were dressed alike in flowered organza over beige. Their straw hats were caught with lime green velvet ribbon and they carried bouquets of blue daisies.

C. Roy Scammell of Waltham served as best man. The ushers were Alan Miller of Waltham, Michael J. Connolly, 3rd, of West Roxbury, and Gregory N. Connolly of Greenville, R.I., both brothers of the bride.

Following a trip to the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Rosner plan to live in Kankakee, Illinois, Ill.

The bride was graduated from Notre Dame Academy and received both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Boston State College. She has been a teacher in the Boston public schools.

Mr. Rosner was graduated from Stuyvesant High School and City College of New York, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, he did graduate work at Columbia University, and is now divisional sales manager for Miles Laboratory in Illinois. (Bradford Bachrach photo).

Paula A. Carr, art major at Emmanuel College, graduated during commencement exercises there this Spring and plans to teach in elementary school in the Fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Carr of 252 Auburndale ave., Auburndale.

Tiny Tidings

Rabbi Gordon accepted the invitation of Temple Emanuel because he felt the challenge of building a good program of religious education. He believed that "the preservation and transmission of a people's faith came through the education of our children" and sought to develop them into positive, wholesome, Jewish personalities.

He eliminated the one-day Sunday School and started instead the three-day Hebrew School and later the intensive five-day program. In 1961, he pressed for the physical plant to adequately house the children of our school with dignity and respect.

This program has an afternoon schedule which he worked out with Dr. Gores, who was then Director of the Newton Public Schools, and now of the Ford Foundation.

This building has 15 modern classrooms, a Chapel for daily services, a modern library, as well as the Community Hall for the Holiday Dual services and for multiple social usage throughout the year. During the period of construction, Temple classes were held at Andover - Newton Theological School. Parent education was involved in the systematic program of transferring the school with the primary importance of Hebrew School Studies.

Dr. Gordon's work on the Hebrew School curricula has been recognized nationally. The school won the Solomon Schechter Award for excellence by the United Synagogue of America.

By 1953-54, the Hebrew School was the largest in the Boston area, and the three-year old building could barely take care of the growing enrollment; consequently two shifts were established, and because of lack of space, the Nursery School was discontinued and a Primary Department was established on Sunday morning.

Rabbi Gordon believed in equality of the sexes within Jewish tradition and very soon the registration for girls equalled that of the boys. He introduced the Bat Mitzvah service for girls on reaching the age of thirteen, just as the boys had the Bar Mitzvah Service and at the beginning a minimum of three years of study was required, and gradually the requirement was increased to four years, then five years, and by 1968, most of the Bat Mitzvah students had completed six years in the school.

Rabbi Gordon also developed the High School Department. He secured the assistance of Dr. Martin

Brighton Woman Winner of Drawing At Marshall's Department Store

A Brighton woman is the winner of a drawing held by Marshall's Department Store at 1210 VFW Parkway in West Roxbury in connection with the kickoff of its big First Anniversary Sale which starts at noon next Wednesday (July 1).

The name of Mrs. Eileen Keegan of 1673 Commonwealth Avenue, Brighton, was drawn as the winner of $200 worth of merchandise at the West Roxbury department store.

The drawing was held last Thursday afternoon by store manager William F. Panza and Miss Lorraine Landry, assistant manager.

Goldstein as Educational Director, and always maintained an open-door policy so that every operation of the school was thoroughly discussed with him and his School Committee.

He also sponsored the organization of the Solomon Schechter Day School which the Temple now houses. On September 10, 1953, members of the Temple voted Life Tenure for Dr. Gordon. He continued his intensive and ambitious programming in all activities of the Temple, including Mr. Chester Rubin as Youth Activities Director on a full time basis.

In this way, the after-school study program was well integrated with sports, Boy and Girl Scouts, dramatics, music and other recreational activities.

He worked closely with Mr. Abraham Staden, Executive Director, Cantor Gabriel Hochberg, and the Sexton, Reverend Lewis L. Lorie, in addition to the program chairmen of Sisterhood, Brotherhood, Couples Club and P.T.A., and insisted upon a high cultural standard.

The Golden Age Program developed in 1953 with 18 members; has over 100 members today, with occupational therapy programs in cooperation with the Beth Israel Hospital, as well as cultural and social activities, open to all aged of the community.

The Adult Jewish Education Program was ambitious and highly successful. It is now co-sponsored with Temples Mishkan Tefila, Emeth and Reyim. Rabbi Gordon also served as Chairman of the Commission on Jewish Education for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

Believing that good community relations depended upon "knowing our neighbors' religion and their knowing ours," he developed a warm friendship with Bishop Eric MacKenzie and Father

Thomas J. Carroll, and the men "on the hill."

He taught courses in Judaism at Andover - Newton Theological Seminary since 1952. After his death, the Andover - Newton School established the "Albert Isaac Gordon Chair of Judaic Studies" in his memory.

It is hoped that the gifts to this Chair will insure the teaching of Judaism in perpetuity. The Seminary Board voted $50,000 toward the fund.

Dr. Gordon was a member of the Human Relations Council in Newton, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, of the B'nai B'rith Institute on Judaism, and on the faculty of Boston University School of Sociology, and Boston University Board of Governors.

Dr. Gordon was the author of four well-known sociological books on the American Jew. "Jews in Transition" published by University of Minnesota Press

Reservations Coming In For Center Summer Camp

With summer already here, the Newton Community Service Centers continues to accept registrations for its summer camps.

There are some vacancies in all sessions of the eight week camp program. There are four two-week sessions, with period one running from June 29th through July 10; period two, July 13, through July 24th; period three, July 27 through August 7th; and period four, August 10th through August 21st. Children may be registered for any number of periods with each child obligated to enroll for at least one two-week session.

The Kinder Kamp is located at the Warren Junior High School in West Newton. Children 3-1/2 through 6-1/2 will find an interesting program awaiting them daily.

Miss Bonnie Algeri, Kinder Kamp Director, stated that Kinder Kamp is a program designed to give a rewarding and beneficial group experience to the three to six year old. During the camp day the children will take part in many activities in assigned areas: art, swimming, games, stories, music, and most important those activities created from imagination by the counselor for the campers.

Campers will have cookouts once every 2 weeks and have trips to farms and other points of interest such as zoos and play areas. They will bring a lunch and will be served milk, in addition to a morning snack of juice and crackers.

The Day Camp according to G. Michael Gardner, director, is located on a private camp site situated at the picturesque Robert Sever Hale Camping Reservation in Westwood. This facility includes 30 acres of tree covered land, swimming facilities, cookout accommodations and 300 acres of long winding nature trails for boys and girls 7-12 years of age.

Day Campers leave from Warren Junior High School by bus each morning at 8:00 a.m. and return at approximately 4:00 p.m. Activity is varied with swimming (both instruction and free swim), arts and crafts, hikes, sports, cookouts and trips.

In 1947, "Jews in Suburbia" 1957, "Intermarriage: Interfaith, Inter-racial, Inter-ethnic" in 1960; and "Conversion" 1963, published by Beacon Press.

Mr. Lawrence L. Suttenger, President of Temple Emanuel, expressed the hope that Temple Emanuel and "The Rabbi Albert I. Gordon Religious School of Temple Emanuel" would continue the high standards and noble purposes of the late Rabbi Gordon. Rabbi Gordon died November 5, 1968. Rabbi Samuel Chiel succeeded him to the pulpit.

3 Area Students Are Graduated

Three Newton students were among the 280 to receive bachelor of arts degrees during commencement exercises at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Ct., recently.

Graduating cum laude was Jeffrey Elson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elson of 52 Byfield road, a graduate of Newton High; also graduating was Janis Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Greene of 87 Clifton road, who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and prepared at Newton South High and Peter B. Martin, son of Mrs. Guillian Martin of 42 Truman road, also a graduate of Newton South High.

This year cruises in Boston Harbor are being planned, highlighting the regular camp program by offering a fun filled day observing the historic Boston waterfront from a boat cruising in the harbor. Another innovation in this year's program is the possibility of a boating program for the older groups.

As with Kinder Kamp, children bring their own lunch and are served milk. Campers may be registered for any number of sessions desired. Pick-up and return service to and from designated elementary schools is available for an extra fee.

For additional information, contact the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. at 969-5906 or visit the Center at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton. Office hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:00 - 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Chapter Named for Hero Is Widow of Revolution

Whiting Chapter, DAR, Marks its Golden Jubilee at Gala Luncheon

Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on June 16 with a festive al fresco luncheon, featuring a decorated birthday cake, at the Weston home of Mrs. Joseph P. Maloney.

Officers of the Massachusetts Society, DAR, were special guests, and Miss Madeline Foster, of Newton Highlands, sole surviving charter member, was honored.

At the meeting which followed the luncheon, Mrs. Edward Fletcher read a history of the chapter, which is named for a courageous widow who is recorded in the seventeenth volume of Records of Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the American Revolution as having given service to her country in 1778.

Mrs. Whiting, left alone during the war with two little daughters, supervised the nine employees of the Medway mill of her late husband, and aided the cause of the Revolution. Tradition says she used a gun.

The chapter was founded by Miss Annie Sanford Head, a direct descendant (fifth generation) of Mrs. Whiting, and the daughter of the late Ex-Governor Nathaniel Head of New Hampshire.

From its beginning, it has provided perpetual care for the Whiting lot in Evergreen cemetery, West Medway, and each Memorial Day a wreath is placed on the grave of Lydia Partridge Whiting. But its most important activities have been concerned with translating into action the DAR objectives of furthering education, patriotism, and awareness of history.

It has been especially active in projects to aid young people, giving considerable amounts of money to Hillsdale School for Boys in Marlborough, as well as helping support other DAR schools and scholarship funds. Officers for the term 1970-1972 were installed by the State Chaplain, Mrs. Ralph W. Coe, of Bedford.

Mrs. George C. Houser, of Chestnut Hill, State Regent, was introduced, and spoke briefly. Other state officers present were, besides Mrs. Coe, Vice-Regent Mrs.

Decision--

All of the sites involved in the NCDF proposal require rezoning by the Board of Aldermen before any further action on building the proposed town-house projects can occur.

Before the aldermen can act to rezone the old Stearns School property in Nonantum (now the school administration offices) the School Committee will have to release it to the city and then it will have to be declared surplus or not required for city use by the Mayor.

In 1967 the School Committee voted that on completion of the new Day Junior High School and the new Newton High School the Stearns School property would be released. Construction on both of these projects is barely underway. In November of 1968 the School Committee revoked its vote pending further information on population trends and school needs in the Nonantum area.

Two other of the NCDF proposed sites fall in the same category of municipal use.

Hunnewell Hill is under the control of the Recreation Commission and would have to be released by them. The site on Beacon St. in Waban is partly under the control of the Recreation Commission and partly under the jurisdiction of the Park Department. According to Morang, parklands can only be released by a special act of the state legislature.

In addition, three city owned sites are under the control of Mayor Monte G. Basbas; namely the Goddard and Christina site in Newton Highlands, the Lakeview Ave. site in Newtonville and the Pine St. site in Auburndale.

The Land Use Committee voted unanimously to ask the Mayor to communicate his intentions with regard to the city owned land which he controls.

The committee also agreed to ask the School Committee for a copy of the recently completed demographic survey of the city so that an assessment of the impact of the housing on the schools could be determined.

The committee, in addition, asked for a complete ruling from the city solicitor on the availability of city owned lands and just what action might have to be taken to acquire them.

There was also some discussion among committee members concerning the procedure to be followed during the deliberations on the highly controversial matter which drew about 50 residents to City Hall on Monday night.

Some members, including Committee Chairman Alan Barkin, indicated some preference for having all members of the Board of Aldermen sit in on the working sessions since the rezoning petitions will require a three-quarters vote of the city fathers.

Some Committee members and Robert Casselman, president of NCDF, said that some of the work should be done in private sessions out of the public eye so a more candid, relaxed exchange of facts and ideas could occur.

The committee did finally withdraw into executive session for a short while at the request of Alderman Joseph McDonnell to discuss personalities.

No formal vote was taken

Franklin R. Swan, Arlington; State Organizing Secretary, Mrs. George O. Tapley, Lancaster; State Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald E. Riley, North Attleboro; Assistant State Treasurer, Mrs. Irving R. Merriam, Dorchester; State Registrar, Mrs. Jerome C. Sisson, Sandwich; State Historian, Mrs. Robert H. Hunt, Worcester; State Librarian, Mrs. George H. Norton, Auburndale. Also, State Counselors, Mrs. Hubert P. Cushman, Winthrop; Mrs. Donald M. Guiler, Lexington; and Miss Elizabeth B. Storer, Needham. Each told something of her work at the State level.

Mrs. W. A. Hurley, newly installed Regent, presented Mrs. Harry L. Walen, retiring Regent, with a gift from the Chapter.

This was a "DAR Magazine Chairman" pin, which she is entitled to wear by reason of her former service as DAR Magazine Chairman for the State. She is currently State Chairman of American History Month Committee.

While at Columbia, Lee drew up and directed a pioneering extra-curricular program to involve students in community affairs.

Dubbed the Citizenship Program, it became one of the most important activities on the Columbia campus, placing student volunteers in a variety of community and governmental work. The program has since been imitated at many other colleges.

At the U.S. Office of Education, Lee served as assistant director of the Division of College Support.

In this capacity, he aided in the development and implementation of numerous federal programs providing aid to higher education.

In addition, Lee has served as a staff associate at the American Council on Education. While at ACE, he planned the organization's annual meeting on the theme of "Improving College Teaching: Aids and Impediments."

A native of New York City, Lee earned his bachelor of arts and law degrees at Columbia, and holds master of laws and doctor of juridical science degrees from New York University.

While attending college and law school, Lee worked full time as general manager of his family's Chinese restaurant, the oldest in New York.

Lee is the author of numerous articles and books. His books include Chinese Cooking for American Kitchens, Chinatown, U.S.A., and One Man, One Vote.

In addition, he has edited and contributed to two major books published by the American Council on Education: Improving College Teaching and Whose Goals for American Higher Education. Lee's latest book, The Campus Scene, 1900 - 1970, is scheduled for publication in the fall.

Lee and his wife, the former Beverly Song, live with their two children in West Newton.

but agreement was apparent that all members of the board should be invited to sit in on the committee sessions.

There appears to be no doubt that the committee will deliberate all during the summer. If, however, the Board has not acted on the NCDF petitions within 90 days of the hearings, new public hearings would be required, according to law.

Beauty Care Today

By Norman of RONALD COIFFEURS

DEEPSET EYES

Are deepset eyes your problem? You should never put eyeliner all the way to the inside corner next to your nose. This will only deepen the hollow. Extend the line from the middle of the eye outwards. This will appear to cut the depth almost in half.

No woman should wear a dark line under the eye. For deepset-eyed women this tends to sink the eye in even further. On most women the effect is very hard and artificial.

Eye shadow is also a peril for the woman with deepset eyes. She must be specially sure that she puts her shadow heaviest close to the lash line. It must then extend outward. Never bring it all the way in, towards the nose.

MRS. DAVID N. ENEGESS

Garden Reception Followed Enegeess-Church Wedding

St. Brigid's Church in Lexington was the setting for the June 20 wedding of Miss Jean Deborah Church to David Norman Enegeess.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thomas Church of Lexington are the bride's parents. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leonard Enegeess of Newton.

The Rt. Rev. George Casey officiated at the 12 o'clock noon ceremony which was followed by a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's empire gown was made of silk organza and Alencon lace, entraine. A cap styled of matching lace leaves held in place her elbow length sheer illusion bouffant veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids with stephanotis.

Miss Christine Mary Mallon of Towson, Maryland, was her cousin's maid of honor. Her blue silk and linen sleeveless empire gown was styled with a soft ruffled neckline. The panel which accented the back of her gown was fastened with a bow at the waistline. Pink and white flowers were arranged in her old fashioned bouquet.

The bridesmaids, who were identically attired, included Miss Virginia King of Norwood, Miss Jay Leland of Duxbury, and Mrs. Thomas O'Shaughnessy of Lexington.

Others wearing the same costumes were the junior bridesmaids, Miss Karen Enegeess, sister of the groom, and Miss Mary Jane Mallon, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Paul Haynor of Toledo, Ohio, was in charge of the guest book.

Barry Enegeess of Newton, brother of the groom, served as best man. S. Thomas Church of Wappingers Falls, Kenneth Kobus of Middlefield, Ct. served as best man. Ushering were Peter Castoldi of Waban, William Shutzner of West Newton, Jeremy Rosevear of Dorset, England, Roderick Ward of Wokingham, David Paton, Jonathan Teare and John Spence, brother of the bride, all of London.

Mrs. Spence chose a gold silk ensemble with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Uehlein, mother of the groom, wore a white cotton brocade on a lime green background and chose white accessories. The couple left on a trip to Tunisia, North Africa. The plan to live in Newtonville.

The bride is a graduate of Millfield School, Somerset, England, England Inns of Court, Middle Temple, London. Her clubs are Middle Temple and English Speaking Union.

A graduate of Browne and Nichols, Cambridge, and Trinity College, the groom will enter Boston College Law School in the fall. A member of the Army Reserve, his fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon.

The Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens is teeming with mice. But they're not running up and down the halls and walls.

Some 23,000 of the little rodents representing 23 generations of the same genetic strain, were imported from the Miami (Fla.) University School of Medicine to be used here in cancer research. The fully-documented genealogical record of each mouse is an important factor in the study of immunity to cancer, according to the project's director, Dr. Daniel S. Martin, head of the CMC surgery department.

This research project, funded by the National Institute of Health, is aimed at development of broad-based therapy for breast cancer. Mice of the same genetic strain are vital to the experiment because they can be expected to show a similar degree of natural immunity to cancer cells.

Beverly Rich Is Bride-Elect Of Robert Kahn

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Rich of Weston, formerly of Newton, which makes known the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Beverly Louise Rich, to Robert Mark Kahn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Kahn of Silver Spring, Maryland.

Miss Rich was graduated from Newton High School. She received her B.A. degree from Dickinson College, Pennsylvania, and attended the Dickerson Center for International Studies at Bologna, Italy.

Having received her master of Arts degree in political science from Columbia University, class of 1970, she plans to attend Indiana University Graduate School in the fall, where she will be a candidate for her doctorate in political science. Her sorority is Alpha Delta Epsilon.

The future bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Edward J. Pease and Mrs. Walter S. Rich, both of Newton. Miss Rich's father is a practicing Newton attorney and a former alderman in the City of Newton.

Mr. Kahn is a graduate of Dickinson College, summa cum laude. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and is now attending Indiana University Graduate School where he is a candidate for his Ph.D. in Political Science.

The prospective groom is the grandson of Mrs. Harry Kahn of Silver Spring, Md. His father is president of the Kahn Paper Company of Maryland.

A late summer wedding is planned.

N.Y., brother of the bride, Timothy Crowell of Harwich, Steven Emery of Newton and Barry Falkoff of Melrose were the ushers.

Mrs. Church, mother of the bride, wore a rose colored Italian silk dress with a headpiece made of pink, rose and white flowers. Her accessories were bone and she carried a purse topped with a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Enegeess chose a yellow nylon ensemble with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

After a honeymoon at the Princess in Bermuda, the couple will reside in Virginia where Mr. Enegeess will begin a tour of duty with the Ordnance Corps.

The bride was graduated from Lesley College, class of 1970. Mr. Enegeess is a graduate of Tufts University, class of 1968, and received his master's degree in chemical engineering the following year from his alma mater.

He was commissioned 2nd lieutenant in the Army. (Photo by Bradford Bachrach)

2nd Place Spot for Kates At Lynn Invitational Meet

Newton South High outdoor track captain Rich Kates earned a second-place medal in the Lynn Invitational summer track meet, last week clearing 5-10 in the high jump. Kates' height was the same as winner Bob Prue's of Haverhill but the decision went to Prue on fewer misses.

In the famous run to the top of Mount Washington, 8-1/2 miles straight up, Newton High trackster Danny Penzer finished an impressive seventh in the time of 78:31. The temperature difference at the foot and at the summit of the mountain was about thirty degrees, with the range between 40 and 70.

Jay Sidman and Mike O'Brien, two more Tiger distance men also competed. Sidman was 27th and O'Brien chugged home in 47th.

Mike Gallagher captured the race for the third straight year.

Newton High Varsity Teams Set Up Brilliant Records for Year

By JEFF GROSSMAN

Newton High Varsity Sports teams enjoyed fantastic success this last year winning over 84 of their total contests. Their actual record was 125 wins, 38 losses and two ties.

Included in this were five Suburban League titles and numerous close seconds. The fall season was the beginning of the three varsity teams combined for 28 wins and four losses for an .86 mark.

The football team went 8-1 while tying for the Suburban League title and finishing way up in the Class A ratings. The Soccer team won the Suburban League title with a 9-1 record and went to the semi-finals of the State Tourney before falling to New Bedford 3 to 2.

The cross country team had the lowest Suburban League finish of any team coming in a lowly second with a 7-1 mark. They also finished second in the league meet and fifth in the State Class A Meet.

For the football and soccer teams it was fine seasons which could've been even better if it weren't for one moment for each.

For the football team it was the Arlington game and the controversy surrounding the contest. Arlington won the game 20 to 14 but the decision could easily have been reversed.

Arlington scored their first touchdown when George Norcross fumbled the ball after a five yard run. The call was premature (as movies of the play show) and fullback Mike Butts actually came up with the ball.

The Spy Ponders went on to score and later win with two second half touchdowns. For the soccer squad it was one period which ended up to be their undoing.

In the semi finals of the state versus New Bedford the booters got off the mark sluggishly and gave away a fat 3-0 lead at the end of the first period. Newton fought back however, but finally lost 3 to 2.

A Brockton fumble and a Keefe to Beatrice aerial set up the second TD which Wargin eventually scored on a 5 yard explosion. An interference call set the final first half score as George Norcross then went through the middle for six points.

Newton scored easily enough to begin the second half. Junior linebacker John Murphy intercepted a Barry Tucker throw at the Brockton 25 and Keefe promptly hit Beatrice with a touchdown pass.

Co-captain Bob Wargin scored the final Newton tally on the second play after a Brockton center snap was fumbled on a fourth down punting situation.

With the second string and sophomores dominating final period play Brockton looked impressive but could not overcome the five touchdown margin they had spotted Newton and lost 35-22.

WEYMOUTH — For the six years Newton had engaged the Maroon in football they had never been able to win against them. This would be their last chance to as next year Weymouth will be split up into two high schools and the achievement of beating them would not be the same.

For almost four complete periods the two squads battled each other to a standstill but with 32 seconds left Brian Keefe went over center for the only score of the day for Newton's biggest win up to that point.

With 2:04 left in the game the stymied Newton offense finally began to move. The 68 yard eleven play drive began with Wargin running for two and Keefe hitting Beatrice on a down and across at the 41.

Keefe was thrown for a 13 yard loss which put quite a damper on Newton hopes but Keefe then hit Beatrice over the middle with a perfect spiral which Beatrice put at the Weymouth 40 and was finally dragged out of bounds at the 28 by two Maroon defenders. It was not to be the only electrifying moment Beatrice was to be involved in during the fall season.

Norcross was sprung for four and Keefe spotted and hit Beatrice at the 16. Norcross swept end and Wargin banged up to the three yard line. Butts was halted but Keefe went over.

Both teams had threatened earlier but neither could score. One of the keys to victory was the timing of all everything Tom McMahon who had averaged 150 yards a game of offense last season.

RINDGE TECH — The Technicians were never really in the game as Newton worked a 36 to 0 win at Russell Field, Cambridge.

After a blocked punt Norcross scored on a scramble up the middle. Newton picked up two more points before the end of the opening period when Rindge safety Ray Pena intercepted a Keefe aerial on the two and then stepped into the end zone and was brought down.

In the third stanza Keefe and Butts went over from short distances for Newton's second and third TD's. In the final period Keefe fired a pass to Mark Lennon way out in the flat with only open spaces in front of him but he dropped in front of the pass. One play later the same play went for forty yards and a Newton score.

Jimmy Doolin added the final Newton score with a left end scamper in the waning moments of the final period.

ARLINGTON — With 3:44 left in the game Arlington held a 20 to 6 lead over the home town Newton team. With fourth and long yardage Arlington's John Lyons punted and the ball landed at mid-field.

An Arlington player tapped the ball to seemingly halt play but George Norcross realizing the ball was not dead took it on a bounce and sped down the sidelines to bring Newton back into the fracas.

Kozlowski hit the point after but Arlington's bullish Paul Manderino picked up the attempted onside kick. Arlington promptly moved but gave Newton one more shot with 1:23 left and 79 yards away.

Keefe missed Beatrice and then hit Chuck Pendergast with a long, beautifully arched shot at the Arlington 45. Keefe hit Beatrice at the 40 and Mike Butts went to the 33 on a draw.

After an incomplete pass the usually ponderous Keefe galloped to the 24. Passes to Beatrice and Wargin fell incomplete and on fourth down Keefe once again looked the sure handed Beatrice.

All afternoon however, Sullivan as company and rare after an exchange on punts

Janet Schreiber, a Senior at Newton South High School, is an experienced counselor at other camps. Roberta Morton is a Senior at Boston University who has had staff positions at both day camps and residence camps.

Hanging Pants, Wide Lapels For Men's Clothes

By WALTER LOGAN

Most of the big name designers have displayed their fall offerings of men's wear and there is remarkable unanimity on straight hanging pants and lapels four to five inches wide. At that point individuality takes over.

The ranks of American designers have been increased by the addition of Oscar de la Renta. And such well known foreign designers as Hardy Amies and Pierre Cardin have been joined by Italian Nino Cerruti whose shop is in Paris, French Gilbert Peruch, Italian Emilio Pucci and Italian Carlo Pazzi.

Here are the highlights of the shows to date:

Oleg Cassini: The stand-out is something simple called "jacket." It is of imported cut velvet in a single breasted, three button model with wide notch lapels. Worn with formal pants and accessories it is for evening. Worn with slacks and a sports shirt it is a sports jacket. "And worn with Levi's and a T-shirt it becomes a status symbol," he said.

Bill Blass: Blass pioneered the maxi coat for men and this year it is two inches longer than before. His gangster suits were back but new velvet suits for daytime wear in Navy, deep green, beige, brown, and a textured corduroy. Even newer were printed suits - patterns printed on textured fabrics; in shirts and ties he showed geometric prints.

Franklin Boer: His No. 1 suit was the "Lowdowner," named because of the exaggerated low gorge almost to the waist, one button notched lapel which was slightly belled and reached almost to the shoulders, squared off shoulders, no flare in the skirt and deep side vents. Pleated pants had deep cuffs.

Hardy Amies: Suit silhouettes were all Amies-long coats with a flared skirt and a natural waistline. Solid knits for fall in a range of eight colors. Even newer were geometric prints including one that looked like a square bull's eye. There were stripings in very bold effects and huge plaids.

Carlo Pazzi: Many woven jacquard designs in geometrics and shirts and suits in the same woven pattern, the shirt pattern slightly smaller. Lots of leather midi coats. Narrow lapels for a slimming effect, body hugging lines with high armholes. A definite return to elegance with lots of velvet suits.

John Weitz: Newest idea were deep U-neck pullover sweaters worn with his country clothes and casual business suits. One evening suit was worn with a slipover sweater. He showed "plus two" knickers for the country. Coats were of checked tweed or black leather with fur collars.

Allen Case: Case used a robust midwestern approach or western cut - single-breasted suits had straight fronts, like a western marshal might wear. He showed a blazer suit with drinking man's pockets - slanted so you could stick your hands in easier. Most suits had surgeon cuffs, meaning they turned back. Furs are his specialty and he showed everything from a midi nutria, double breasted, to shaggy Spanish lamb mackinaws.

Oscar de la Renta: His were among the most elegant with a lavish use of fur on evening overcoats - collars and sleeves in fur. Business suits also were elegant but evening clothes were more so - he explained he was designing them for the man who takes out the girls who wear Oscar de la Renta clothes. Outstanding were his blazer suits; the backs had a yoke across the shoulders and were semi-belted.

Gilbert Feruch: Lots of maxi coats, elegant business suits and more use of knitted fabrics and cardigan cut jackets than anyone else. Some evening jackets were cut in cardigan style without collars and looked very formal with fancy shirts. He also showed a plaid knicker jump suit and a knitted maxi coat.

Emilio Pucci: The man who made geometric silk jersey prints a household word used them in men's wear for ties and coat linings. He used gray flannel and blue herringbone in business suits - and went all out in beachwear with an after-the-swim cape in cotton velvet in black and white zigzags on bright orange.

Pierre Cardin: Suit silhouettes were long and lean with trousers built high on a five inch waistband. Overcoats were up to 50 inches long for young men. One outfit was made up of an overcoat, high rise trousers, a sleeveless sweater, printed wool shirt, and no jacket. Newest was a three piece outfit teaming a Donegal tweed suit with the grandfather sweater - skinny, long and sleeveless - and matching wool crepe shirt, open at the neck with the collar outside the coat.

Nino Cerruti: There were many velvet sports jackets in a variety of colors. Pants were two inches higher at the waist and looked like tuxedo pants - and not for the pudgy. Printed silk trousers were shown with navy blazers. A favorite was a long velvet jersey pullover worn with a belt. The Cerruti suit was single breasted, two buttons with very wide lapels.

THE FALL SPORTS SEASON FOOTBALL

EVERETT — "Everett is starting a lot of sophomores. We'd like to get to them early before they have a chance to get settled." A few days before the Newton High football premiere head coach Jim Ronayne hoped for the above and he got it as the gridsters scored the second and third times they had the ball and ran up a 27-0 lead by the half.

The final score was 34 to 14 and a sweet win for NHS foot ball followers who over the years have seen the Crimson stop Newton 26 times while losing only seven and tying five.

It was an incredibly easy win over the team which just a few years ago ruled the Eastern Mass. Class A football ratings almost every year.

Offensively Newton unleashed a powerful running attack which collected a little over 200 yards in a little over a half of play. The Tigers also showed a willingness to cash in on breaks as they score via that route three times.

After failing to move the ball Newton punted and Everett controlled in their own territory. After gaining a first down however, linebacker Mike Butts, an eventual All Scholastic pick forced quarterback Gary Moore out of the pocket and junior Chuck Pendergast picked off his wild fling and returned it to the Everett 40.

After working down to striking distance Bob Wargin squirmed 13 yards through a hole on the right side to score. Place kicker Kieth Kozlowski, who hit four for five that day converted.

Steve Frager (NHS's other All Scholastic pick) set up the next Newton score barely a minute later as he recovered an Everett fumble. George Norcross, showing why he was one of the top 50 yard dashmen in the state streaked down the left sideline and scored on a play covering 35 yards.

Newton stretched their lead to 21 to 0 early in the second quarter on a seven play drive which covered 38 yards and climaxed with 6'1" Brian Keefe falling into the end zone.

Everett then threatened as they drove to the Newton 15 but Marc Simon and Steve Frager and then John Myerson and John Murphy broke through to throw Moore for big losses.

With three minutes remaining in the half Keefe drove the offense 78 yards for a 27-0 halftime lead. Dargin accounted for 52 yards on the drive and end Jerry Beatrice scored on a 2 yard pass. With a defender on him Beatrice went up, batted the ball from the halfback and then grabbed it inches off the ground.

In the second half many of the younger players were put in but the defense came up with four more interceptions. Pendergast grabbed a second while Ray Bill had two and Frank DiReubis had one at the final gun.

Another highlight of the Newton win was the emergence of Skip Lawson as a punter. The lanky senior averaged an amazing 42.2 yards in his first punting role.

BROCKTON — Newton traveled from friendly Dickinson for the first time and trounced Brockton by a deceptive 35 to 22 count. Newton opened up a 35 point lead in the opening moments of the final period and went the rest of the way with the second stringers.

Skip Lawson started the game in fine fashion by taking the kick-off and returning it 70 yards for the touchdown. Kozlowski converted on the first of his five conversions.

Weymouth was next and Newton recorded an easy win over Weymouth at Weymouth on a rainy Friday on the 26 mile course. Tomb shaded Sidman by two seconds with O'Brien in close pursuit.

Blake, Caggiano, Dan Pender and Jim Boates all finished within seconds of each other for the other places. Against Arlington supposedly a tough team Tomb won with Sidman again on his tail. O'Brien, returning from illness, was fourth and Blake and Caggiano followed in the sixth and eighth.

Next was the Brockton team, a not supposedly but proven team which had captured the New England title for the last three years. Brockton with individual strength as well as depth were easy winners.

Mike Bessette tied the course record of 13:10 and Steve Boen was second. O'Brien set a personal best while chopping into the Brockton monopoly. Sidman set a personal standard but Brockton was just too much.

Five days later Tomb led a Newton sweep against hapless Cambridge, Latin, Sidman, Blake, Boates and Penzer followed their captain.

In the final regular season action Brockton was shutout with Tomb winning and Sidman following. Next was the State Meet and Newton fell one man short of placing. Y. needed five men finishing in approximately the top 30 spots to hope to place and NHS could only fit four men in this category.

Tomb finished sixth for the highest finish ever by a Newton harrier, the year before he had set that precedent beating Bob Tennant's twelfth with a tenth out of the field that usually numbers 175 harriers.

Sidman, running one of his best races finished ninth and Mike O'Brien, bothered by shin splints was 24th. Dave Blake was 29th but after him it was a long way to the fifth man.

In the league meet the following Tuesday Doug Tomb and Jay Sidman ambushed a somewhat cocky and weary Brockton team and finished one, two individually although Brockton captured the team title.

After slaughtering Newton the first time Brockton figured it was safe to practice. Hard the day before the League meet so as to be ready for the All State Meet that Saturday.

Brockton managed to win but Tomb and Sidman bushwacked Brockton's Bessette in somewhat of an upset. Mike O'Brien was tenth, Blake was fifteenth and Steve Caggiano (recovering from a knee injury) as his co-captains. Jim Boates and a junior varsity which finished second in the league should make up the rest of next year's squad.

Against Medford Emilio Mattola started the scoring on a pass from high scoring Paul Aronian. NHS ended the half up by two as senior Tom Donovan scored from in close.

Aronian garnered his initial goal of the season as he outmaneuvered Medford goalie Joe Daly after receiving a pass from Bob Doyle. Aronian scored his second of the day with an assist going to Mazzola.

Against Cambridge Latin, in their first season of soccer, sophomore Tim Tsochandaritis poked in the first goal and Jeff Copeland accounted for the second one with Aronian picking up an assist. Tsochandaritis tallied the final goal on a penalty shot.

The team showed no ill effects from a 4-2 licking it took from Brockton and returned to Belt Newton South twice over and Brookline. Brockton converted two penalty shots and NHS missed two.

Aronian and Abe Oros scored in the losing effort. Emilio Mazzola and company came back against the Wealthy Towners of Brookline as Mazzola demonstrated fine defensive ability and also deposited two shots in the Brookline nets.

Aronian, tri captain Jim Broderick and Abe Oros added the other Newton scores. Newton played South back to back (to make up for a washed out game) and demolished Southie twice by a total score of 9 to 3. Oros and Aronian scored three times while Broderick, Mazzola and Chuck Wolf tallied the others.

Coming down the home stretch of the regular season Elliot "Crucka Cry" Baker proved to be a stalwart in the Newton nets as he whitewashed Medford 2-0 and Brockton, 1 to 0 in overtime.

Tim Tsochandaritis put in the overtime score which averaged Newton's only loss of the season. Bob Doyle and Jeff Copeland scored the Medford goals as Newton outshot the Mustangs 20 to 10.

The booters wrapped up their regular season by taming Brookline 2 to 1 on goals by Aronian and Mazzola. Once again Newton outshot their rivals by a 2 to 1 margin.

The Newton High soccer team opened the tourney at Framingham's Dennison Field by swamping Andover 5 to 2 on a rainy day. The Tigers exploded in the final half for four goals to break away and win by the final 5 to 2 margin.

Abe Oros started the scoring in the second period on a pass from Tom Donovan. An-gover standout Leon Sharpe came back to score and that's the way it stood going into the final half.

In the third period Paul Aronian scored with an assist going to Jim Broderick but Sharpe, a track standout who was New England triple jump champion scored again.

Abe Oros put the team in front as he headed in a Paul Aronian corner kick and Newton was never headed. Aronian scored the fourth goal on a break away and Emilio Mazzola scored with an assist going to Broderick just before the final gun.

If the weather was bad for the first game it was worse for the second round Braintree game, also played at Dennison Field. Braintree was third seeded in the tourney but couldn't contain the Tiger offense or split the defense and thus fell 2 to 0.

Goalie Elliot Baker was particularly outstanding making numerous acrobatic saves on the muddy field. Tim Tsochandaritis scored first in the second stanza off a long Tom Donovan pass.

Braintree goalie Dexter Legg, who was also out standing under the conditions

Brookline threatened to get back in the game as Tom Mahon scored but Jay Wilton, John Myerson and particularly Mike Butts stopped Mahon short of the goal in a very key play.

U.S. COMMANDER TERMS CAMBODIAN DECISION "BRILLIANT"

THE COMMANDER of the major U.S. unit operating inside Cambodia summed up the two-month offensive Wednesday as "a brilliant" move. There were new reports of American warplanes flying direct support missions deep inside Cambodia. "It was a brilliant decision that really changed the military balance here in Vietnam," said Maj. Gen. George W. Casey of the orders that sent American and South Vietnamese troops into Cambodia on April 29 to destroy Communist sanctuaries. "The enemy may well be forced into a guerrilla type of war, at least in the immediate future," he said. Casey is commanding officer of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, a unit which has been operating in the Fishhook area of Cambodia. Casey's men reported seizing enough supplies in the area to equip Communist troops for "over a year" and he said would prevent them from launching major attacks on allied positions in South Vietnam. Casey said field commanders were accelerating the departure of American troops from Cambodia to meet President Nixon's June 30 deadline for complete withdrawal. American air power will fill the gap when the ground forces are gone.

NEW U.S. PEACE INITIATIVE FOR MIDDLE EAST REPORTED

A HIGHLY PLACED Lebanese political source said Wednesday in Beirut that the United States had proposed a three-month "peace pause" beginning July 1 to the Arab states and Israel during which intensive efforts will be made to solve the Middle East crisis. The Arab-Israeli war went on, however. The proposal was included in a new U.S. peace initiative, according to the sources in Beirut. The proposal also pledged Washington will not supply new Phantom or Skyhawk jets to Israel during the period, and suggested both sides withdraw 12 miles from the banks of the Suez Canal. The United States was reported to have submitted the proposals to Israel, Egypt and Jordan. Details have not been officially disclosed pending the expected formal announcement by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in Washington today. Arab political and diplomatic circles remained tightlipped on the reported proposals. But diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said Israel officials feared the plan would create a crisis in Premier Golda Meir's National Unity coalition government.

SENATE VOTES TO REPEAL GULF OF TONKIN RESOLUTION

THE SENATE voted to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution Wednesday, five years, 324 days, 40,000 battlefield deaths and countless words of acrimony after it was rushed through Congress in 1964 at President Lyndon B. Johnson's urgent request. On a roll call vote of 81 to 10, the repealer was made part of a $300 million foreign military sales bill that will require House approval and President Nixon's signature before it becomes law. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who supported the resolution in 1964 but bitterly denounced it afterward as a piece of Johnsonian deceit, voted against repeal Wednesday. His reason was that Nixon administration forces had made an end run around his Senate Foreign Relations Committee in violation of the "integrity of the procedure which is important to the Senate."

4 WORKMEN KILLED, 7 HURT IN FALL FROM N.H. BRIDGE

A BRIDGE construction platform on which 15 men were working collapsed Wednesday, dropping 11 feet 95 feet to the ground. Four men were killed and seven were injured, three seriously. As the movable platform beneath the highway bridge to Kittery, Maine, from Portsmouth, N.H. gave way at one end, three workers grabbed girders and one got caught in a rope. They were rescued. Though no official cause was given for the accident on the bridge under construction over the Piscataqua River a workman said, "I think human error caused the platform to come down." The platform was beneath the six-lane roadway of the $21 million bridge which when completed will link Interstate 95 to the Maine and New Hampshire turnpikes. Construction began in 1968 and is scheduled for completion in 1972.

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL VANISHES AFTER HARLEM DEFEAT

ON WEDNESDAY, Adam Clayton Powell was nowhere to be found in Harlem, the black sub-city which he had represented in the House since 1945 — though largely on an absentee basis in recent years. State Assemblyman Charles B. Rangel, who defeated Powell in the Democratic primary, said Wednesday that Harlem "could no longer afford the luxury of an Adam Clayton Powell." Whatever the reason, voter support which had kept the flamboyant 61-year-old Baptist minister in public office since 1941 had dwindled until it was no longer strong enough to bring him victory in Tuesday's five-way race. His 7,599 votes made him second to Rangel who received 7,804. Powell disappeared in the early morning hours. Typically, Powell didn't even bother with the niceties of election protocol. He just slipped away somewhere in the night in his powder blue pants and open pink shirt without conceding to 40-year-old Rangel. Not many people questioned later in the day in Harlem's stifling streets seemed to care.

HOUSE REJECTS FUNDS FOR DICKEY LINCOLN POWER PROJECT

A MOVE to gain planning funds for Maine's Dickey Lincoln Hydroelectric power project failed Wednesday when the House refused to place the money in an appropriations bill. On a 90-60 no-record vote, the House turned back an amendment to allocate $807,000 in public works appropriations for the preconstruction planning. It was the last chance this session for supporters of the public power project to place the funds back into the public works appropriations bill through amendment. Approved by the House Appropriations Committee, the money for the controversial, long embattled project was knocked out of the bill last week in committee on a motion offered by Rep. Robert Giallino, D-Conn., Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., one of the major opponents of the project, said it was a "wasteful and unneeded project," that would flood thousands of acres of woodland. Proponents of the electric power project have for years maintained it would bring about lower power cost in New England, and provide employment for an estimated 2,000 persons in Maine during the six years it would take to construct. Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., urged approval of the amendment, arguing that "we are better off with Dickey-Lincoln than we would be with its alternatives." Harrington said if the power project was not constructed within the next two years, "the exasperation caused by power failures" would lead to construction of other types of electric power facilities, which he claimed would increase environmental pollution.

BYRNE OFFICE GUARDED IN AFTERMATH OF THREATENING LETTER

THE OFFICE of Suffolk County District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne was under the guard of detectives Wednesday after Byrne received a threatening letter. FBI and officials of the Post Office also were investigating the incident. The letter, postmarked June 21 in Boston, contained a note which said, "You are next. Keep away from 'combat zone' night life." The so-called combat zone is an area of the city where there are a number of bars and dance halls.

Guzzi Enters Contest For Seat in State Legislature

Paul H. Guzzi of Newtonville has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the office of state representative from the 12th Middlesex District, which includes Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7 in Newton. Guzzi, who resides at 9 Joseph Rd., is 28 years old. In his announcement statement he said: "The unrest and turmoil that we are experiencing demand from each of us a commitment — a commitment to become involved in the resolution of these conflicts, and to improve the quality of our society and its institutions. Citing the many divisions among us, 'between the young and old; the blacks and whites; the rich and poor; the so-called liberals and the so-called conservatives; and between those for the war and those against it," he added: "At times they are violent, and always they are destructive. They are destructive because complex problems are never solved without communication, understanding, and consideration for different points of view. I am entering this campaign in an effort to bridge some of the divisions and open the channels of communication between these divergent groups."

A graduate of Newton High School where he was president of the junior and senior classes and a member of the National Honor Society, Guzzi majored in political science at Harvard University and graduated with honors in 1965. Returning to Newton High Guzzi is the son of Mary and the late Alfred R. Guzzi, a former alderman and well-known member of the Newton political community.

Teachers of Immorality in One Important Particular

We are all familiar with the three classical little monkeys — they "See no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil", and are accepted symbols of morality.

Lo and behold, comes Oveta Culp Hobby, former U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and denounced them as "teachers of immorality"! Her argument comes down to this — that it is the moral duty of a good citizen to inform himself by keenly observing, attentively listening to evidence of what is evil in our society, and loudly and courageously speaking out against it. We think that she has something there.

And among the evils which sorely afflict our society few or none are more shocking and ominous than the appalling cruelties of experiments on helpless animals in the grim laboratories of heartless men and women vivisectioners.

NCDF Plan Is Self-Defeating

Editor of The Graphic:
The NCDF scattered site plan to place 500 families in housing projects throughout the city has the potential for seriously undermining the social, educational, and the economic structure of Newton.

The "scattered site" term, as used by NCDF, is a generalization like saying "we believe in peace." The Russians and Chinese say they are "peace loving nations", but they don't add "as long as you go our way." So it is with the much publicized scattered site concept.

These are merely words. The practice of this concept to meet local needs and conditions is what determines its success or failure.

In this regard, the NCDF approach has four self-defeating constraints:

(1) Financial, i.e., costs
(2) The rigid 10 village concept

(3) The site selection policy
(4) Political administration - not in the sense of government - but in terms of institutional management.

NCDF states it is a non-profit organization. It is also a non-loss organization. The truth of the matter is that NCDF is a business organization, rendering a service for which it will receive income. It will buy land, contract to build houses, borrow money, receive rent, pay salaries, charge management fees, and file accountings of its income and expenses.

We take no issue with this but because NCDF must be concerned with making sure its income meets its expenses, it is forced to weigh social needs in terms of financial constraints and as a result, it has had to fit the scattered site concept to a financial package, disregarding the specific sociological needs of the area.

For example, NCDF tells us we must build 500 units. What's the magic in 500 units? Why not 1,000 or 2,000? What is the specific need in Newton?

What will it be two years from now when these units are actually available for rent? Is our need a "one shot crash program need" as proposed by NCDF, or will it be a continuing need year after year, even if 500 units are built?

NCDF tells us the 500 units is the number that makes financial sense for NCDF. Whether this number makes sense in terms of the social implications for Newton is a job for the Board of Aldermen to decide.

NCDF tells us the optimum number for each site is approximately 50 units. Why 50? Wouldn't 10 or 20 or 30 units make far better social sense for many of the sites in terms of zoning restrictions, neighborhood characteristics, school conditions, traffic and transportation problems? Again, the 50 units per site makes economic sense in terms of the size of the site and construction costs, etc.

The Board of Aldermen cannot concern themselves with construction economics for each site. Their evaluation has to be on the basis of the sociological implications of the proposed density of each site for both the new residents and the present residents of the area.

The cost of the purchased land, and the amount of city donated land are critical to NCDF in meeting FHA loan requirements for maximum land cost per unit. Again, NCDF has to consider the financial constraints in its land acquisitions.

It is unfortunate that some of the religious organizations that gave birth to NCDF did not see fit to offer some of their own underdeveloped land as sites.

We take no issue with NCDF's need to be a self-sustaining economic entity. However, Newton is putting its social life and its education quality on the line in this adventure, and NCDF economics cannot compromise Newton's actual needs.

The second self-defeating constraint of NCDF is the rigid one-site in each of Newton's villages concept. NCDF seeks to minimize the reaction of the public and the aldermen that they are discriminating against any one village in the city by proposing one site to a village - a very practical approach for NCDF.

However, this forces NCDF to seek site location based on availability in each village, rather than specific needs of the people in each village. Certainly there are villages in the city that need more low and moderate income housing - even on a scattered site basis, than others.

The third self-defeating constraint in the NCDF plan is the site selection method. This is where NCDF has its biggest problem. Limited suitable land for purchase and lack of availability of city surplus land has forced NCDF to compromise on site selections.

The selection of sites for a monetary aid of the parents city-wide plan with such far reaching social consequences should not be left to a private developer, and NCDF is a private developer. This plan must meet Newton needs as to location and the sites should be chosen by the Newton City Government on the basis of a master, balanced, city plan that takes into consideration open space needed for park, recreational, and future school needs, as well as space needed for low and moderate income housing - present and future. When this master plan is approved, the specific private land involved should be acquired by eminent domain.

The last and the most important self-defeating constraint of NCDF is its political administration. NCDF is waging its campaign in the press and television, seeking national publicity as a prime objective. NCDF has compromised the recommendations of the 1968 planning board study as to sites and densities to suit its own needs.

NCDF worked with Newton elected officials to gain approval of their scattered site plans, but they ignored the people who might be most concerned with the specifics of their plan - the residents of Newton - on the assumption that the Board of Aldermen were the decision makers and not the Newton citizens.

It is unfortunate that NCDF failed to grasp the need for unity to put their proposal through and unity is based not upon the authority of elected city officials, but on the consensus of Newton citizens. At one of the aldermanic land use hearings, we heard how NCDF proposed trade-offs on specific sites in return for political support of NCDF plans. At the site hearings, we kept getting one message from NCDF - "The end justifies the means."

Newton citizens should not put their faith in an organization that operates under this principle, no matter how well intentioned it seems to be.

After listening to the arguments on the ten sites, one got the impression that, in most instances, the site selection was not thought through in terms of human values and visual and sociological compatibility with the neighborhoods. It appears that the Board of Aldermen will have to reject several sites as being unsuitable.

The proposed tenant selection plan of NCDF smacks of the same kind of rationale as their site selection process. In any subsidized plan, the tenant selection process should be in the hands of Newton city agencies professionally qualified to make selections under the city's master plan; and in keeping with city, state, and federal guidelines, not in the hands of private tenant selection committees with their own private brands of discrimination.

It is indeed unfortunate that the words "low and moderate income housing" and NCDF have become synonymous. We hope NCDF as a name will pass into oblivion. Affordable housing needs for all income levels will be more critical for several years to come than any time since the rent control period following World War II, and it would be most regrettable if the animosity generated by NCDF closed the door of public opinion on any proposed master city housing development plans for Newton.

A realistic plan cannot be a "crash, one shot" project that the city will have trouble digesting educationally, socially, and economically.

With the population explosion, the circle inside Route 128 will tend towards one big megalopolis by the year 2000; and if Newton is to control its identity for the quality of its education, the dedication of its elected officials, and the pride of its residents, it must have a master plan that provides for the introduction of new housing for all income levels - low, middle, and high - both homeowners and rental types, and rehabilitation of substandard housing on a planned, systematic, continuing basis for several years to come.

Answer To A Letter

Editor of The Graphic:
I am addressing this letter to Mr. Johnson's letter of last week in which he criticized Mr. Mechem's conduction of the Newton High School graduation and the selection of the knowledgeable and prominent Professor Howard Zinn as the Class of 1970.

As a graduate of the Class of 1970, I would like to comment publicly Mr. Mechem and all other people who were involved in the planning of the graduation.

Secondly, in regards to whom the graduation was given for, it was given for the graduates of the Class of 1970. Obviously, it was the Morse of 68 Park Lane, Newton Centre, Mass., is among 14 Lake Forest College seniors elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship fraternity. Miss Morse received the bachelor of arts degree with honors in English at the June 13 commencement ceremonies. She also received special honors for her senior thesis on "Camelot and Corbin: Malory's Morte Darthur."

Miss Morse was given honorable mention this spring as a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship designate, listed among "the most intellectually promising" 1970 graduates planning careers as college teachers.

A 1966 graduate of Newton High School, Miss Morse has been accepted at New Hall, the woman's college of Cambridge University in England, for a two-year program which will conclude with reading for an honors degree. On her return she expects to continue her studies for a Ph.D. in English at Princeton University.

During her four years at Lake Forest, Miss Morse has been a member of Program II, a special independent study curriculum for gifted students. She has been editor of Tusitala, campus literary magazine, and spent the 1967 fall term at the University of Dijon in France under the LFC study abroad program. She has been president of the campus chapter of Phi Sigma Iota, Romance language honor society, as well as a dormitory counselor and a reporter for Stentor, campus weekly.

Miss Morse will spend the summer as chaperone and guide for three Lake Forest teen-agers on a European tour.

Babson Degrees Awarded to Six Newton Girls

Six Newton residents were among 650 students to graduate recently from Bryant and Stratton Junior College in Boston.

Receiving degrees were: Janet J. Fishman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Fishman, of 24 Glendale road, Newton Centre; Janet Hynson, daughter of Mrs. Grace Hynson of 367 Newtonville avenue, Newton; Jean A. Trumble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Trumble, Newton; Jean M. McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McDonald, of 365 Cherry street, West Newton; Marleen Pinto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Pinto, of 484 Lowell street, Newtonville; and Marcia A. Lucetta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lucetta, of 24 Melville avenue, Newtonville.

that allowed Newton High School to exist, but it was the graduates who attempted vigorously, but sometimes painfully the efforts to increase their knowledge of the world in which they live in, in order to gain a better understanding and a better awareness of the social ills that unfortunately exist today. Hopefully now, and possibly with college and work ahead, they can tackle these problems with solutions resulting.

In regards to the graduates choice of Professor Howard Zinn as the guest speaker, the majority of the graduates who voted, cast their votes for him. It is sad that there were approximately 295 graduates who did not exercise their right to vote when given the opportunity.

Moreover, the suggestion of inviting a second speaker with a different point of view was heard, but overruled by the majority of the graduates who felt graduation was no place for a debate.

Finally, whether Professor Howard Zinn advocates peace, revolution, or anarchy is irrelevant. The point is that he represents a point of view, and it is our democratic process that permits him to express this point of view, even if it assails our government.

Sincerely,
Gene S. Devore

Answers 'Why Newton?'

Editor of The Graphic:
To those who ask the question, "Why Newton?" I would quote the following from the philosopher Hillel, substituting the name of Newton for the pronouns in the quote:

"If I am not for myself, who will be?"

"If I am only for myself, who am I?"

"If not now, when? And, if not you, who?"

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rohna A. Shoul,
Newton Centre.

Newton College Chapel Scene Of Cully-Feeney Wedding

On Saturday, June 20, at the Chapel of the Most Holy Trinity, of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, Miss Patricia Ann Feeney became the bride of Edmund Joseph Cully Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Joseph Feeney of 115 Woodard road, West Roxbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Joseph Cully of 294 Kenrick street, Newton, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. James J. Keating officiated at the 11 o'clock single ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza A-line skirted gown appliqued with peau d'ange lace. The empire bodice had a high wedding band neckline embroidered with pearls.

Similar lace appliques marked the full length illusion veil caught to her Dior bow. She carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Dorothy Marie Feeney of West Roxbury, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. James Ryan of Quincy, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Kimball of Newton, sister of the groom. Young Lorraine Schmidt of State College, Pa., was her cousin's flower girl.

Newton Women Attend Reunion At Conn. College

Four Newton residents were among nearly 400 women from 24 states who gathered recently on the campus of Connecticut College in New London Conn. to attend the annual Alumnae College and Reunion Weekend.

Ladies of honor throughout the June 12-14 weekend from the Newton area included: Miss Ruth L. Kaplan, 82 Halcyon road, Newton Centre; Mrs. Arthur N. Garden, Jr., of 20 Hunter street West Newton; Mrs. Paul I. Mann, 137 Temple street, West Newton and Mrs. Earle W. Wilkins, Jr., 110 Highland street, West Newton.

The academic portion of the weekend was planned to inform alumnae on the various aspects of America's environmental crisis so that they will be able to contribute to environmental preservation activities in their home communities.

Prison bulges

The Philippine National Penitentiary, built nearly 40 years ago to hold a maximum of 3,500 prisoners, had 8,346 inmates as of February, 1970.

Pvt. Jutras Is Graduate Army Missile Course

Private Lucien N. Jutras, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore J. Gorgone, 11 Star Rd., West Newton, graduated recently from the Chaparral/Vulcan Crewman Course at the U.S. Army 1st AIT Bde (Air Defense), Fort Bliss, Texas.

He was assigned to B Battery, 4 Battalion, 1st Advanced Individual Training Brigade.

During the course the trainees learn all phases of the firing and tracking systems of the Chaparral/Vulcan air defense weapons.

Playground--

1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Five playgrounds are also open for evening sessions from 6:00 p.m. to dusk; Brewer at Newton Centre, Burr at Newton Corner, Cabot and Carr Schools at Newtonville, and Lyons at Auburndale.

Brewer, Burr and Lyons have regular leadership and tennis court coverage on weekends also.

Games and crafts and special events for school age children from 5 to 15 years will be planned during the eight week playground season at the following areas:

District I Miss Fran Towle, Supervisor; Albermarle, Boyd Park (Lincoln-Eliot School), Carr School, Charlesbank, Hawthorn, Stearns;

District II William Barry, Supervisor; Lyons (Auburndale), Davis School, Franklin School, Burr School, Warren Junior High School, Wellington, West Newton Common, Williams School; District III Robert Doherty, Supervisor; Burr (Bigelow Junior High, Cabot, Joseph Lee (Highlands), Memorial School, Thompsonville, (Bowen), Thompsonville, Ward School, Hyde School; District IV James Murphy, Supervisor; Angier School, Emerson School, Lower Falls (Hamilton School), Brewer (Newton Centre), Richardson, Upper Falls.

Again this year the new Burr School in the West Newton area will be assigned leadership as it was for the past two years. Leaders will not be assigned to Murray Road School and River Street as they were before the Burr School playground was available.

Hyde School in Newton Highlands will also have leadership assigned this year as was the case for the past two years. Leadership will not be provided at Peirce School again this summer because of very low attendance in 1969 and previously.

Instead leaders will be assigned to Warren Junior High School athletic field as was the case in 1969. No leaders will be assigned to the Newton High School this summer as was the case in 1969 because of low previous attendance and the construction activity underway for the new building.

Farlow Park will not be assigned playleaders this year because of conflict with summer school programs.

Special features planned include MDC Traveling Zoo appearances, Newton Centre Improvement Assn. Independence Day Celebration, benefit carnivals, trips to museums and beaches, Junior Olympics, dramatic performances.

Arts and Crafts for boys and girls will be featured on all playgrounds. The city-wide crafts program is under the direction of Recreation

MRS. MARK J. LOWENSTEIN

Miss Arlene Roth Becomes Mrs. Mark J. Lowenstein

Wearing a traditional gown designed with jeweled motifs on the empire bodice as well as on the shoulders of her bishop sleeves, Miss Arlene Judith Roth became the bride of Mark Jack Lowenstein.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roth of 20 Wendell road, Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lowenstein of 70 Cricket lane, West Roxbury, are the couples' parents.

Rabbi Shalom Padvol officiated at the six o'clock double ring service which took place at Temple Emanuel in Newton. A reception followed at the temple.

Miss Karen Roth of Newton was her sister's sole attendant. Howard Lurie of Framingham was the best man.

Now living in Brighton, the couple took a trip through the Adirondacks in New York while on their honeymoon.

A graduate of Newton South High School, the bride expects to be graduated from the Boston University College of Liberal Arts in January.

Mr. Lowenstein was graduated from the Huntington School and the University of Vermont. He is now attending Suffolk Law School. (Russ photo).

The bride's mother wore a champagne lace dress. The mother of the groom wore an ensemble of pink silk.

honeymoon trip to Bermuda. The bride's traveling costume was a white silk ensemble.

Mrs. Waters Jr. is a graduate of Norwood High School. Her husband graduated from Newton High School and Northeast Institute of Industrial Technology and is presently employed as a drafting supervisor.

They plan to make their home in Auburndale. (Sharon's Studio).

West Germany produces about 12.5 per cent of the world's raw steel, and its share of total output is growing.

The worldwide increase of raw steel production during 1969 was 8.6 per cent, to 560 million tons, the Institute of German Industry reports.

West Germany's raw steel production during the same period rose 10.1 per cent to 45.3 million tons.

Department full-time leaders Mrs. Robert Toher and Ralph Hamilton.

Mrs. Toher and Mr. Hamilton will train playground leaders and will travel to all playgrounds. Mrs. Martha Thompson, an experienced crafts trader and teacher, has been added to the crafts supervisors staff this year.

Tennis instructor will be Mrs. Carolyn O'Connors who will hold lesson sessions regularly at all playground courts. Specific information as to time and place schedules for tennis instruction can be obtained from local playground leaders.

Sports leagues in boys baseball, girls softball, and boys basketball will be a part of the summer playground schedule.

Dick Power, Director of the Youth Theater program sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department and Newton Free Library Department will conduct regular dramatic workshops in each of the four playground districts leading up to performances. Specific location and times of these workshops can be obtained from local playground leaders.

Doctor Retires As President Of Thoracic Society

Dr. John Tyler, 75 Clinton Place, Newton Centre, has retired as president of the Massachusetts Thoracic Society after a two-year term as that organization's head.

The Massachusetts Thoracic Society is the medical segment of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease League.

Parent organization of the MTS is the American Thoracic Society which has the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association as its lay organization.

During Dr. Tyler's administration as head of the MTS several projects concerning the medical interests of the organization came into focus. These included a well-attended and well-reported seminar on "Lung Transplants" and a published statement from the organization outlining its policy on chemotherapy in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Dr. Tyler is succeeded in the post by Dr. Sanford Chodosh of Wayland who is associated with Tufts University Medical School and the Tufts Lung Station at Boston City Hospital.

Newton Soldier Completes Army Special Course

Army Private Kenneth P. Butler, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Banks, 51 Green St., Newton, recently completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

During his guerrilla training, he lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on "enemy" villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading, land mine warfare, communications, and firing the M-16 rifle, M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

Bloodmobile Visit A Success 133 Donors Take Part In Memorial School Program

Due to the splendid recruitment done by Mrs. Maurice Skoler, Blood Recruitment Chairman of the Oak Hill Park Association, 133 donors came to the Memorial School to donate blood to the Red Cross.

This means that Red Cross will be able to continue to cover blood emergencies and be able to keep the blood bank full.

In addition to the usual corps of Red Cross volunteers who serve at these bloodmobiles the following ladies from the Oak Hill Park Association volunteered: Mrs. Charles Goldberg and Mrs. Lila Siddons.

The following teenagers served as baby-sitters: Susan Goldberg, Rhonda Schuster, Ellen Lerner and Richard Faber. Other members of the Oak Hill Park Association provided casseroles, salads, rolls and dessert for the workers. This graciousness was most appreciated by the Red Cross.

The Red Cross volunteers who served that day were: Mrs. Joyce Levine and Mrs. Miriam Kaplan were the supervisors. They were assisted by Mrs. Russell Clark, Mrs. Marion Davidson, Mrs. Alice Blackall, Mrs. Charles Henlev, Mrs. Harold Amidon, Mrs. Edwin Hawkridge, Mrs. Walter O'Neil, Clair Bowes of Red Cross Youth, Harry Moore, Mrs. Miriam Blau, Mrs. William Peakes, Mrs. Agnes Nicoletti, Mrs. Eleanor Young, Mrs. Phyllis Julian, Mrs. Lawrence H. Sloan.

Folk Drama The For Presbyterian Service Friday

Fifteen high school youth from Saginaw, Michigan, will conduct a worship service with a modern sound at the United Presbyterian Church in Newton, Park, Vernon & Eldridge Sts., Friday, June 26th, at 7:30 p.m.

The service, which is designed for people of all ages, will include Scripture readings in modern language, contemporary prayers, and folk music.

A religious drama will be presented as the sermon. Though the service will have a 1970 ring to it, it will contain all the elements of a traditional ritual.

The play tells of a boy who argues with his parents, leaves home and goes to New York to live with a group of hippies. The boy marries a girl with a narcotics problem. Several of their friends try to help avoid the approaching tragedy. Attempts are made by the boy and his parents to communicate with each other.

It is the story of a boy and his parents' search for meaning and happiness in life. It attempts to show in practical terms the relevance of Christ to a person living in the 1970's.

This is the third such Conference conducted by the Saginaw area Presbyterian churches. In 1968 the group went out as far as Colorado Springs, Colorado and in 1969 they traveled out to the Black Hills and Rapid City, South Dakota.

Mrs. Adam Miller, Mrs. Charles Smith, and the following other members from Red Cross Youth: Linda Carmel, Nancy Lampert and Linda Horlick.

Overholt Is Assoc. Dean On BU Staff

Stanton R. Curtis, dean of student affairs at Boston University, has announced the appointment of an associate dean from Newton to fill an administrative position on his staff.

Dr. William A. Overholt, of Newton is associate dean of students affairs, with overall administrative responsibility for urban educational services; leadership consulting service; International Student Center; liaison with the George Sherman Union, and studies and research within the area of student affairs as a basis for new programs, administrative procedures and organizations.

Overholt, a Methodist minister, has been Protestant chaplain at BU for the past 16 years but now leaves the official religious structure of the University.

During much of his time at BU, he has served as executive of the Student Christian Association and the Greater Boston YMCA branch at the University.

He is a native of West Virginia and graduate from Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, W. Va., where he returned recently to give the Baccalaureate Address.

He received his master's and doctor's degrees at BU. He holds an appointment as assistant professor of religion in higher education in the faculty of the School of Theology and the Graduate School.

In 1961 and again in 1966 he led student exchange groups to the Soviet Union, and in 1963-64 he made a study of student personnel services in universities around the world and taught one semester in the Philippines.

He is the author of more than 30 articles and pamphlets, most of them dealing either with student life or campus ministry. His home is in Newtonville, Mass.

School Teachers, Parents Lunch Is Held at Memor'l

Memorial School held its annual Parents and Teachers luncheon recently. This luncheon is a gesture on the part of the parents to show the faculty a small measure of appreciation for all their hard work and dedication to the children during the year.

Appreciation was also given to Library Chairman, Mrs. Anna Sebok, Creative Arts chairman, Mrs. Sue Ulin and the Room Mothers and the many Mothers who volunteered their time. The Luncheon Committee included: Mrs. Edith Cohen, Mrs. Iris Kingsbury, Mrs. Goldie Ungar and Mrs. Ann Goldstein.

Cocktail Party, Meeting Launches Newton Chapter

Twenty-two Newton area parents of Franklin Pierce College students recently attended a cocktail party and meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Elkins, 128 Harwich Rd., in Newton.

The occasion opened the Newton area chapter of the college's National Women's Committee, of which Mrs. Elkins is chairman, and three FPC representatives were present to familiarize the parents with the college. The Newton chapter encompasses the Massachusetts communities of Newton, Newton Center, Brookline and Chestnut Hill.

Representing the college was acting dean of the faculty Dr. Ian R. Sinclair who spoke on the academic program and social activities at FPC; John M. Seddon, Jr., development director, reported on the college's various development programs in progress and future plans; and the function of the various National Women's Committee offices was explained by Mrs. Lewis I. Brodsky, director.

In addition, newly elected chairman Mrs. Elkins, addressed the group on the purpose and plans of the committee including tentative plans for a benefit, proceeds of which will be used to buy books and periodicals for the college's library - resource center.

Organized about a year and a half ago and comprised of parents and friends of the college, the National Women's Committee's purpose is to make the Franklin Pierce College library one of the finest.

Lee Loumos Says:

Summer is officially here but you wouldn't know it from the weather we have been having recently. However, by the time this reaches you, the weather man promises to have the seasonal warm weather back on schedule. As far as I'm concerned I'll settle for pleasant week-end weather and not complain too much as what happens during the mid-week. At any rate, if you don't want to gamble on the inside weather—all you have to do is call us for an air-conditioner or two and insure pleasant weather in your home throughout the summer.

UN Medals Are Available Now At Local Bank

The United Nations will mark the 25th Anniversary of the signing of the UN Charter June 22-26 with the release of a Sterling Silver commemorative medal. A limited supply of these medals are available to the public now at Newton National Bank.

Delegates of 50 nations signed the UN Charter on June 26, 1945, in San Francisco. Since then, the UN has grown to include 128 nations.

Secretary-General U. Thant will present Sterling Silver specimens of the medal to heads of state or government participating in the General Assembly's commemorative session this fall.

The face of the medal features the famous statue "Swords into Plowshares," in front of the UN building. Encircling the illustration is the 25th Anniversary theme "Peace, Justice, Progress" in all five official UN languages, Chinese, English, French, Russian and Spanish.

The medals were authorized by the UN General Assembly especially for the occasion. Newton National Bank will have all these sizes of medals available. The 2 1/4-inch size, with metal display stand at $30.00; the 1 1/4-inch size, in a clear Lucite display stand, at $10.00; and the 1 1/4-inch size, in a display card, at $5.00. The United Nations benefits directly from the proceeds.

Solomon Schechter School To Move Kindergarten Here

Plans to move the nursery and kindergarten of the Solomon Schechter Day School from Weston to Newton are underway.

This department of the school will be housed in the fine facilities of Temple Mishkan Tefila on Hammond Pond Parkway in Newton Center. Grades one through six of the school will be housed at Temple Emanuel at 385 Ward Street in Newton Center. The school is deeply indebted to both of these Temples for the use of classrooms and for their cooperation.

Because of the closeness of these two temples, there will be more joint programs and coordinated efforts between the Nursery-Kindergarten and the Elementary departments. Mrs. Mildred F. Axelrod will be the head teacher of the Nursery.

Miss Nadine L. Karsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Karsh, 60 Hatfield Rd., West Newton, received her bachelor of science degree in medical illustration at recent commencement exercises at the Medical College of Georgia, in Augusta.

She plans to return to the college for her master's degree.

Former Newtonite Receives Doctorate

David A. Brent of Royal Oak, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brent, 36 Hamlin Road, Newton, was one of 66 Ph.D. candidates who received doctoral degrees from Wayne State University in Detroit, Saturday, June 20.

Brent is a native of Newton, and graduated from Newton High School. He did undergraduate work at Boston University before completing his doctorate in Chemistry at Wayne State.

MRS. MILDRED AXELROD Kindergarten department and will be teaching the kindergarten class.

Mrs. Axelrod who is a graduate of Harvard University has also taken graduate courses in Early Childhood Education at Wheelock College. She has had extensive experience working with children from the ages of three to six years.

Mrs. Axelrod was the head teacher of the Nursery department at Temple Beth Shalom in Needham for six years and has also taught at Temple Shalom in West Newton where she has taught Hebrew, music, and directed the junior choir for the past six years.

Last year, Mrs. Axelrod was the head teacher of the Weston branch of the Solomon Schechter Day school.

Mrs. Axelrod brings to her position years of valuable experience in working with children and combines this experience with a deep concern for the values transmitted to children today.

Mrs. Axelrod constantly reinforces "her children" with her own love of life and her warm feeling towards Jewish customs and tradition.

Small Club In 3rd Straight Win In League

Former Newton South High star hurler Frank Hurvitz and Bill Josephson combined for a two-hitter to pace the unbeaten Small Club to its third consecutive victory in the Newton National Division, last week, 4-2, over the Boys' Club.

The win was Hurvitz's second in a row. He fanned four while issuing four free passes.

Hurvitz, now a student at Boston College, scored the winning run himself in the sixth inning when he walked, stole second and third and then came home on an error. Steve Zimbel had a perfect three-for-three effort for the victors.

Dana Goodchild and Chuck Pendergast had the two safeties for the losers.

In other action Upper Falls topped the Matthews Club, 10-5 as southpaw Paul Selby scattered six hits and whiffed 11 enemy batsmen. Upper Falls could only muster three hits but made the most of 12 walks.

Carl Mullen Award Given At Memorial

The winners of the Carl C. Mullen Award were presented at an assembly in Memorial School on June 15 by Edward M. Hallett Jr. representing the Oak Hill Park Association.

This award was established in 1961 as a tribute to Carl C. Mullen who headed the Veterans Housing Authority of the City of Newton which was responsible for the great success of the Oak Hill Park community.

Starting in 1962 the award has been made every year to a student from the fifth and sixth grades of Memorial School whose qualities of good citizenship are deserving of recognition.

On some occasions there have been Honorable Mention award certificates presented, but this year there were two winners: Glenn S. MacKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacKenzie of 101 Spiers Rd., and David A. Zonderman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Zonderman of 30 Marvin Lane.

The boys were given appropriately inscribed American Heritage Dictionary.

Political Highlights

The balloting for the candidates for the Democratic endorsement for Lieutenant Governor was a bitter joke.

Representative Michael Dukakis of Brookline won the endorsement for second place on the Democratic State ticket as a result of an extremely effective organization job by himself and his supporters.

That he would have added as much strength to the Democratic ticket as would State Senator Beryl Cohen, also of Brookline, seems doubtful to this onlooker.

Senate President Donahue obviously made no attempt to dictate the choice of a candidate for Lieutenant Governor after winning his own fight. If he had done so, it is highly unlikely he would have tapped Dukakis since the two are not really friendly despite the act they put on at the convention.

The vote for Dukakis, Cohen and the other candidates for the Democratic endorsement for Lieutenant Governor hardly reflected the totals they would receive if they were running in an open primary.

Channel 2 did a reasonably good job in televising the Democratic State Convention. It would have been a better job if the commentator in charge had not decided to make some comments of his own at the precise moments some vote totals were being reported for the candidates for Governor, preventing his listeners from hearing what they were waiting for.

Former Governor Foster Furcolo and political columnist Abe Michaelson were excellent in their roles as interpreters of what was actually happening on the floor and behind the scenes.

One of the most unusual things this writer has witnessed in politics was the fight made for Boston Mayor Kevin H. White by his supporters after White had publicly conceded his defeat on television. White's convention hall backers obviously were unaware of what he had said on TV.

Paradoxically, Senate President Donahue, who emerged as the big winner at the Democratic conclave, sought to wipe out the convention system back in 1967 but was unable to achieve the enactment of a bill he sponsored.

Donahue's victory at the Amherst conclave placed him in a position where he now has a chance at the Governorship. He is still an underdog, but underdogs have won long-shot victories in the past.

One thing this writer has discovered is that the Democrats in the towns are disposed to vote for the convention choice, and the smaller the town, the higher the percentage of support is likely to be for the convention winner.

Donahue's problem is that he does not project as well on television as a Francis Sargent or a Kevin White. But people who meet and hear him personally are impressed by Donahue. He also is not really as bad on TV as some of his critics imply.

Some of the happenings at the Democratic State Convention are still worth reflection.

Francis X. Bellotti was a delegate to the conclave from Quincy. But when the Quincy contingent was polled, Bellotti was not on hand to vote for himself. He was reported as absent.

That was not surprising because candidates usually are not on the floor of the convention hall. But if Bellotti did not intend to be in attendance to vote for himself, why did he have himself made a delegate?

And if he was not going to stay around in the early morning on Saturday to cast a vote for himself, how could he reasonably expect other persons to do so? One incident was difficult to understand as reported on television. This is what happened as the writer was able to piece together the facts after the conclave.

A woman monitor fainted as she was about to announce the vote totals for her delegation. A bystander, who was not a delegate, was not a member of that delegation and apparently had no right even being on the convention floor, seized the microphone and announced that the delegation "passed."

If that happened at the Prudential Center where some delegates are prone to fortify themselves with a little spirits, the proceedings, almost certainly would have been enlivened with fistcuffs, as they have been for lesser occurrences in the past.

Spaulding Is Seen Winner Over McCarthy at Conclave

While the spotlight will be centered on the battle for the Republican endorsement for Lieutenant Governor at the GOP State Convention this Saturday, interesting contests also will be waged for the convention nods for U.S. Senator, Attorney General and Secretary of State.

Opponents in a contest for the right to run as the GOP candidate against Senator Edward M. Kennedy are former Republican State Committee Chairman Josiah Spaulding and former State Administration Commissioner John J. McCarthy of Chatham.

Some Republicans have been complaining that Spaulding stands for much the same thing as does Kennedy, but he is expected to prevail over McCarthy at Saturday's conclave.

McCarthy for a time planned to head up an independent slate in the November election, but it developed he could not get the 61,000 signatures needed to place his ticket on the ballot.

Technically, McCarthy is not eligible to contest at Saturday's convention since he allowed his Republican enrollment to lapse when he moved. But Spaulding has said he would not challenge his right to do so.

Former Assistant Attorney General Donald Conn should win the nomination for Attorney General over

Hawkrige Wins Scholar's Prize At Vt. Academy

Leslie Hawkrige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Hawkrige, 92 Windsor Rd., Newton, was awarded the "Man and His World" Prize at Vermont Academy's 89th commencement. The prize is awarded annually to the senior receiving the highest over-all average in the survey course conducted by visiting lecturers from colleges and universities.

Hawkrige also qualified for the Headmaster's List for the spring term as well as for the year by maintaining an academic average higher than 80. In the fall he captained the school's varsity soccer team.

Vincent Celeste who was the Republican nominee for U.S. Senator back in 1958.

Perhaps the most interesting clash will be that between Representative Mary Newman of Cambridge and Ron Burton of Framingham, former Patriots football star, for the endorsement for Secretary of State. A third candidate, Harry Chicles of Wakefield, is not considered to have any chance of winning.

If Burton wins, he will be the only Black on either State ticket. If Mrs. Newman gets the nod, she will be the only woman on either ticket. She probably has an edge over the former gridiron great.

37 Flabby Tons Lost Here, But Without Regret

There are 37½ tons of fat missing in Newton but they're not missed! The members of the Diet Workshop which meet here have lost all that weight during the past five years and they don't want any part of it nor will they issue a reward to the finders. It's gone and good riddance!

No one has ever collected a pile of fat but perhaps it's time someone did. The strain that fat puts on the body becomes quite apparent when a person tries to carry around a 10-pound weight all day.

But for those people who still have trouble visualizing, that 75,000 pounds would about equal 25 large automobiles piled one on the other! That's a lot of weight!

With all this weight gone, the Newton residents should not only be looking much better but they must be sleeping better nights knowing that they'll live longer and healthier.

Diet Workshop members only lose about two pounds a week which seems slow to most people, but that becomes 100 pounds in a year and this is the safe way that doctors want their patients to lose.

since good health is the prime concern.

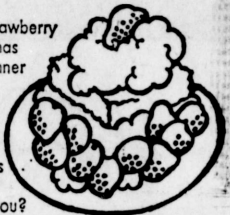

If any other Newton residents want to contribute their share of pounds to this already impressive total, they may do so by dropping in at any of the weekly meetings as new members are always welcome. The main office in Newton Corner can supply more details.

Temple Shalom of Newton announces that Frank Silverstein has been appointed Religious School Director of the Temple, located at 175 Temple Street in Newton.

Mr. Silverstein is uniquely qualified in the field of religious education. He was a religious and Hebrew school teacher at Temple Israel, Boston and at Temple Tifereth Israel, Malden, for many years. Most recently he was principal of the Temple Emanuel - El Religious School in Marblehead, the largest religious school on the North Shore.

Mr. Silverstein holds a Master's degree from Boston University and has pursued graduate study towards a Doctorate at both Harvard and Boston Universities.

As a teacher in the Malden School System, and currently as the President of the Malden Teachers' Association, Mr. Silverstein is active in the National Education Association, the Massachusetts Teachers Association, the National Association of Teachers of English, Association of Teachers of English and the New England Association of Teachers of English.

A member of the National Association of Temple Educators, and its School Consultative Committee, several of his articles have been submitted for National awards.

On the local level, he has been involved in camping as head counselor and assistant director. In the area of community service, he has served as Vice - President of the Big Brother Association, volunteer worker at the Children's Hospital, Coach and Manager of the Babe Ruth Baseball Teams, Committeeman to the Democratic party since 1960, and a member of the Malden Community Council.

He is married and has one son who attends Massachusetts College of Art. Further information about the Religious Education program at Temple Shalom of Newton may be obtained by calling the School office at 632-9550.

'Flowers and Flame' In Oils Theme Of Library Exhibit'n

Flowers and Flame, a June showing of oils by Nancy Campbell, are aglow in the new exhibit at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Mrs. Campbell, who says, "I was artistically turned off in elementary school," has made a magical comeback, inspired by oils and brushes which were a Christmas present from her husband, David, Assistant Dean in psychology at Boston University's Metropolitan College.

Now a student of Xenia Angeros Lipson at the Creative Art Workshop, Newbury Street, Boston, where emphasis is on the creative process, Mrs. Campbell is developing creative painting ability she never knew she had.

A native of Worthington, Ohio, and an Ohio Wesleyan graduate, Mrs. Campbell lives in Newton Lower Falls and is the mother of two Hamilton School students, David, Jr., who is 9, and Laura, 5.

Focus of the Newton Free Library exhibit, which is Nancy Campbell's second one-man show, is an informal reception for the artist on Monday evening, July 6, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Main Library. Simple refreshments will be served, and all are welcome.

Fire Fighter Saves Life Of Stricken Man

Off-duty Fire Fighter Edward J. Daley of the Newton Fire Department put his training to good use Monday, June 15th when he applied mouth to mouth resuscitation to revive Alfred Bartelny of 19 Webster Court, Lynn.

Mr. Bartelny was stricken while driving his car through Newton on Route 9. Fire Fighter Daley noticed the car on the sidewalk with the operator slumped over the wheel. The victim appeared to be unconscious and to have stopped breathing.

The fire fighter applied mouth - to - mouth resuscitation and Mr. Bartelny began to regain consciousness when the police arrived with oxygen and removed him to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A Gas Company employee, also assisting at the scene, credited Fire Fighter Daley with possibly saving the man's life.

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of the Newton Fire Department stated that once again a fire fighter's training has proven invaluable. Fire fighter Daley, appointed to the department this year, recently completed an extensive Fire Department Training Program.

Father of Five Gets Doctorate At BC Recently

To most men, being the father of five (young) children, and all sons, at that, would be a considerable task in itself.

However, Robert E. Sacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Sacher of 25 Allen Ave., Waban, not only handled this major parental assignment but surmounted it, and went on to earn his doctorate degree.

This redoubtable father of five received his Doctor of Philosophy in Chemistry at the recent Boston College commencement exercises.

Dr. Sacher is a graduate of Northeastern University where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering. He is associated with the U. S. Government Army Materials and Mechanics Research Center.

He is married to the former Susan Elizabeth Linsky of New Rochelle, N. Y., who received her Bachelor of Education degree from Boston University.

Yes, this busy couple has five sons, the oldest of the quintet being six. They reside in Holliston, Mass.

$20,000 Ford Fellowship To Local Student

Jeffrey Paul Lennard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Lennard of 41 Lakeview Ave., Newton, has been awarded the Ford Foundation Fellowship in Political Science.

This $20,000 Fellowship was awarded to the Newton resident to continue his education at the University of Chicago until he receives his Ph.D.

He was graduated with distinction this month from George Washington University and at the top of his class in Political Science.

At commencement, he also was honored by receiving the Joshua Evans III Memorial Award for his "signal ability in social and political sciences."

Jeffrey graduated from Cabot Elementary and Day Junior High School in Newton and Miami Beach High School.

His sister, Amy, was a member of the Class of 1970 at Newton South High School. She will attend Skidmore College in the fall.

Some Additional Funds Are Needed

Mental Health Center Opens Summer Handicapped Project

Ten handicapped and ten normal children will be playing together this summer in a special six-week program in a pre-school and kindergarten children.

The Newton Mental Health Center is sponsoring the program using facilities donated by Grace Church in Newton and a swimming area at Crystal Lake provided by the Newton Recreation Dept. The sessions run from July 7 - Aug. 14 from 9 to 12.

The program, which is unique in this area, will give attention to the individual needs of each child and strive to help all of them develop greater sensitivity to each other's needs.

The staff will try to encourage friendships and positive interactions among the children and acceptance by the children of their many individual differences.

It is believed that such a program will greatly benefit all of the children involved. The sessions will be carefully supervised and evaluated as a model for future programs.

Most of the handicapped children come from a class for retarded children sponsored by the Newton Mental Health Center and most of the normal children are past or present students from the Grace Church Nursery School.

Virginia Odell, director of the class for retarded children, and Joanne Williams, Director of Grace Church Nursery School are co-directors of the program. About half of the cost will be paid by parents in the form of tuition.

An additional $1200 is urgently needed to meet expenses. If you can help please send your check to the Newton Mental Health Center, 398 Walnut St., Newtonville, Mass. 02160.

Checks should be made out to the Newton Mental Health Center - Summer Nursery Program. For further information call Joanne Williams at 244-6996.

Newton GOP In High Gear For Fall Election

The Newton GOP moved into high gear with activities set for the fall at the Executive Committee meeting this past week.

William H. Wolf and Henry J. Wilson were appointed to the Committee for the location and establishment of Newton Republican Election headquarters.

State Committeewoman Mrs. William L. Bruce, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. G. Nicholas Dawson, co-chairmen of Ward Seven, head the committee which will make arrangements for a gala theatre party for the benefit of the Party's treasurer to meet campaign needs.

The Committee heard reports of high praise given the recent Newton GOP Policy Statement on "Drugs in Newton" and the committee extended its thanks to those who served on the Issues Committee which prepared the report.

Participants in the session were Julius L. Masow, Chairman, Newton Republican City Committee, who presided; State Committeewoman, Mrs. William L. Bruce, State Committeewoman, Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Robert Corbett, Melvin B. Clayton, Mrs. Eugene M. Hirschberg, Miss Charlotte Thornbury, David A. Lurensky, Mrs. Joseph Walsh, State Committeeman Joseph I. Weinreb, Mrs. Maynard M. Slessinger, William H. Wolf.

Newton A.A. Fair To Be On Saturday

The Newton Athletic Association Football League is sponsoring a Fair at the Newton Centre playground from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday (June 27).

All are invited to come and enjoy the food, 'dunk - the - clown', prizes, pony rides, pad-wagon rides, cake sale, balloons, games, and white elephants.

Community Center Opens Day Camp Season Monday

At 8:00 a.m. on Monday morning, June 29th, Mr. G. Michael Gardner will give the signal for the buses for this summer's Newton Community Service Centers' Day Camps to start their rounds of camper pick-ups.

Over 250 youngsters will be serviced during the first weeks camp program through one of the three specific Day Camp operations. Registrations are still underway for the first as well as all other camping periods.

In commenting on the three specific programs, Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Centers stated that we are most fortunate in that the administrative, training, and program leadership for all camps has remained intact for the third consecutive year. Mrs. Stanley Aston continues as the program's registrar.

Mr. Gardner, Day Camp Director, will be assisted this year by Miss Judy Freed who will act as assistant director. Miss Freed has been on the camp staff for five years and brings to the program a wealth of experience and training in dealing with children in a variety of programs.

The waterfront headed by Miss Diane deBettencourt will include free swim as well as formalized Red Cross instruction and testing. Assisting on the waterfront are: Claire Weiss, Anne Cronin, Terry Arsenault, and Thad Cline.

Arts and Crafts activity is being coordinated by Jamis Bergman. Exciting creative arts activity include the preparation of collages and use of junk material will be part of the arts and craft sequence.

The campers this year will enjoy the special nature activity program arranged through the staff of the Sever Hale Reservation. One of the unique features of the camping site is a nature trail with various key spots designated by signs prepared in braille. Each of the Day Campers will walk the trail blindfolded and thereby experience some of the feelings of blind persons in their ability to enjoy nature.

In keeping with the tradition of outstanding play days, contests, and cookouts the program should enjoy a tremendous amount of success in the coming summer.

Miss Bonnie Algeri, Kindergarten Director will be assisted by Miss Mary Kelleher, Martha Ward, Leslie Stone, Joan Hasner, Anthony Quintiliani, and a staff of experienced and capable senior and junior counselors.

Parents interested in enrolling their children at one of these summer camps are encouraged to contact the Newton Community Service Centers at 969-5906 or visit the administrative offices at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton.

Former Textron Head, Born Here, Dies At Age 64

Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., former president and chief executive officer of Textron, Inc., a native of Newton, died Tuesday at Rhode Island Hospital after an extended illness. He was 64.

A memorial service will be held in Central Congregational Church, Providence, tomorrow, Friday. Private burial rites will be conducted in Chillmark, Martha's Vineyard. He leaves his widow and two sons.

Born in Newton, Thompson attended Brown and Nichols School, and received an A.B. degree from Dartmouth College in 1928. He later attended the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth.

After Dartmouth, Thompson returned to Newton as a banking trainee at the Newton Trust Co., and started evening classes at Suffolk University Law School. He received his law degree in 1934. In 1937, he joined the Providence National Bank. He was named its president at the age of 37 in 1943.

He was a principal in effecting consolidation with other Providence banks which resulted in the formation of

$3,400 Holdup At Newton Restaurant

The Howard Johnson Restaurant on Route 128 in Newton was robbed of approximately $3,400 early Monday morning by three armed bandits.

Night manager Chandler Atkins phoned police at 1:14 a.m. to report the theft after releasing himself and a waitress from a freezer compartment into which the bandits had forced them to remain.

According to Atkins, the drama began shortly after closing when a man who had been crouching behind the cash register suddenly stood up with a gun in his hand and ordered him to the rear kitchen, where two other gun-wielding men were waiting.

Shortly thereafter, waitress Laura Rivero, 16, of 44 Sheridan St., Newton, entered the kitchen and was forced to lie down on the floor.

One man then went to the front of the restaurant to serve as a lookout. A second man covered Miss Rivero while the third put a gun to Atkins' head and forced him to open the safe.

Atkins and Miss Rivero were then forced into the freezer where they were told to remain for five minutes, after which Atkins used an emergency lock to open the freezer and then called the police.

Police departments of all the surrounding towns were notified immediately but an area search failed to turn up the burglars.

It is believed by the police that the bandits gained entrance to the restaurant by removing a window from the boiler room at the rear of the building.

Air Medal To Major Martin In Air Action

U. S. Air Force Major Edwin C. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius P. Martin of 134 Crafts street, Newtonville, has received the Air Medal for air action in Vietnam.

Major Martin, an operations staff officer at Phan Rang Air Base, was cited for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions.

He is assigned to the 35th Tactical Fighter Wing, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific area.

Major Martin, who served during the Korean War, was commissioned in 1953 through the aviation cadet program and holds the aeronautical rating of senior pilot.

A 1949 graduate of St. Charles High School, Waltham, he received a B.A. degree in business in 1952 from Burdett College.

His wife, Carol, is the daughter of Warren C. Tyler of Ware.

Sp4 DAVID M. YOUNG

Viet Veteran Returns Home From Ft. Sill

Sp 4 David M. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew E. Young of 171 Christina st., Newton Highlands, will arrive home tomorrow from Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, following his discharge from the U.S. Army.

A graduate of Newton South High and Northeast Tech, David volunteered for the army in 1968 from the Kennet Hydraulics Corp. of Newton where he was employed as a senior draftsman.

While in basic training in Fort Dix, N.J., he distinguished himself as the high scorer in basic rifle marksmanship and was awarded a trophy to signify the achievement. He was one of eight men in 5000 to achieve this distinction and is entitled to a place of honor among the ranks of the "Proud Rifles" as a result.

His parents and his wife, the former Janet Johnstone of Waltham, formerly of Newton, attended the ceremonies in Ft. Dix at that time.

While in the army he served for a year in the Central Highlands of Vietnam. He has been training OCIS candidates in long-range artillery fire the past three months in Ft. Sill, Okla. He has also won the good conduct medal for his term of service.

Newton Artist $500 Winner In Sculpture Show

In the Silvermine Guild of Artists' Exhibit at New Canaan, Conn., in which more than 300 artists participated, the $500 Olivetti prize for sculpture was won by Peter T. Sheehan, formerly of 64 Gray Cliff road, Newton Centre. The award winning work is entitled "Black Forms #10".

Mr. Sheehan is presently an instructor in sculpture at the New Paltz, New York, College of the University of the State of New York. He is also a candidate there for a degree of Master of Arts in Fine Arts. Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sheehan, residents of Newton for nearly 40 years.

He now makes his home in New Paltz with his wife and small daughter. His studio is in an old barn on farm property.

the Industrial National Bank of Rhode Island, of which he was vice president until 1956.

At that time he became affiliated with Textron, Inc., at the invitation of its founder, a close friend, Royal Little. Textron was beginning to expand from its original base as a manufacturer of textiles to other manufacturing lines. Thompson was a pioneer in the development of Textron, Inc., one of the nation's oldest conglomerates. He served both as president and chief executive officer until his retirement in 1969.

Freedman A Notary Public

Gunner B. Freedman of 146 Woodward St., Newton, has been appointed a Notary Public, the office of Secretary of State John J. X. Davoren, has announced.

The Newton man's nomination by Governor Sargent was confirmed by the Executive Council. The term of the Newton Notary Public will expire in 1977.
